WENT AFTER DR. ABBOTT.

Meanwhile General J. R. Webster has not been tille. This morning information in quo warranto proceedings were filed in the discourt, signed by Attorney General Churchill. This step followed a consultation between General Webster and the attorney general. The present new proceedings are in the nature of a writ of custer, directed against Dr. L. J. Abbott. The information filed by Attorney General

Churchill sets forth that Dr. Hay was ap-pointed superintendent of the Lincoln asylum in March 23, 1893, that no charges have ever been filed against him with the Board of Public Lands and Buildings, and that he claims the right to act as superintendent for four years more. Notwithstanding no charges have been filed, Governor Holcomb has ap-pointed Luther J. Abbott, and claims to have removed Hay by the service of a notice of re-moval for cause good and sufficient to the According to the attorney general the situation of both claimants is that each is fitted by medical knowledge to fill the office and each gives it out that he is the only real superintendent. That the seemly conduct of public affairs requires a speedy judicial deter ination of the rights of the parties and which is entitled to the office, and that the one without any color of right be ousted. He therefore asks that both by required to appear severally, answer this information, and show by what right each claims the office. He anks that the court speedily hear the case and the one found guilty of unlawfully claiming office be ousted. The defendants have until June 17 to answer.

Governor Holcomb today removed Dr Luther J. Abbott from the superintendency of oln hospital and reappointed him soon after. The removal was made for cause. The reappointment dates from today, and followed soon after the communications to Drs. Hay and Manary, notifying them of the governor's decision in the investigation, were sent to the doctors. Dr. Abbott has filed his official bond, which has been approved by the governor. The effect of this move will be to make all legal proceedings at present in-stituted against Dr. Abbott void. This is in Hns with the plan foreshadowed in this morn ing's Bee.

exhibition drill, including bayonet exercise, which for perfect time and ease of movement would be hard to excel. At the close of the drill Hon. C. D. Caeper, one of the bonorary members of the company, who, with a few invited guests, occupied the stage of the

The country is in-fested with Bedouins, and for our protection we traveled all the time with a shelk for our guard and carried our provisions on burrow and mules. Aside from the packers carrying provisions and several extra horses. there were General Smith and his daughter, myself and five others in the caravan, and about ten other packers. The sheik and our guide, Selim, a very reliable fellow, is in charge of the party. On the way we passed nerous caravans, in all perhaps 5,000 to $,000 people. The roads are only fifteen to eighteen feet wide, rendering it difficult to pass except at the widest points on the road. From Jerusalem to the Dead Sea is thirty to the hermits. About twenty-five miles from Jerusalem, over a tortuous road of macadam, we came upon sections of the old acqueduct, constructed between the seventh and eighth centuries, of which thirty or forty feet remain, and is about eight feet wide and built of stone. We arrived at Jericho, which (our guide says, as also does General Smith) contained at one time near 1,000,000 people and was a city of two miles square, which was walled. The walls are nearly all gone. except perhaps 1,000 feet of the acqueduct. From the roof of the Hotel Jordan was peinted out to us Mount Temptation, where the Devil offered to Christ the kingdoms of the earth. On the morning of the 21st we resumed our trip at 7:30 o'clock, arriving at the Dead Sea at 10 a. m. Returning, we stopped at the bend of the Jordan, a stream about thirty or forty feet wide, and got our lunch within 100 feet of where it is said St. John baptized Jeaus. We left this place at 2 p. m., and arrived at the Hotel Jordan at 3 p. m. On our return we came to the Apostle's well about noon on Monday. the leper. Now you may want to know what I think of Jerusalem and its people. I will give you my opinion, and that is that three-fourths of the population are monumental liars and in Nebraska they would not be believed on oath. I will, in another place, give you my views, teiling you of their habits, filth, etc., from personal observation. They are the worst liars on earth and will kill you for 5 cents, or less. The natives are as black as our ne-groes, but without the thick lips, and much better featured than the negro. The same is true of the natives of Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, and the Samcans. Here you will find some of the characteristics of the Jerusalemites. They are, the dirtiest, filthlest vags I have ever seen. The streets vary from eight to twenty-five feet wide. You can't drive a wagon through three-quarters of them. You have every six or ten feet to some fifty or 109 yards above Whitings step down a step of six inches, and many of them are paved with stone similar to our Sioux Falls granite. They never had any surveyors to lay out streets and never seemed o have had architects. You can't turn a corner that a demand for money is not made on you; "Backsheesh," "Backsheesh," that is the demand, in their language, for money. I have heard it thousands of times. We go tomorrow on a drive and Friday or Saturday we go to Jaffa from here to catch a steamer for Athens and Constituents of the steamer for Athens and Constantinople, about eight days from now Truly yours. JOHN A. HORBACH.

Death of Mrs. R. F. Morse.

It was also claimed that the plan was fully in accord with the policy of the Presbyterian church, and those who objected to recourse to the civil courts by ecclesiastical bodies, were characterized as "superspiritual advocates." The speaker pro-ceeded to consider the attitude of the semi-naries and regretized their unwillingness of indersembly indisposition to do what the last assembly suggested, and urged by an overwhelming vote. After reviewing the position of the seminar-ies and showing that its plan is impracticable, ies and showing that its plan is impracticable, in regard to some of them, Judge White urged that the matter be dropped. He asked what the cause of the distrust in the church has been, and a voice from the audience called out, "Union seminary." "Yes," replied the speaker, "and because Union did it therefore Princeton must give

When mention was made of the report that had gone out of Cincinnati regarding Lane seminary directors a commissioner jumped to his feet and made a point of order against such mention. The moderator refused to rule on the question, but requested the speaker to exercise care in the line of his discourse. The remainder of Dr. White's address had ref erence to the history of Lane seminary, show ng that its original endorsements had been made on a liberal basis and charter, and stating that there had been changes in the con stitution of Ohio which make alterations in the seminary charter impossible, without af feeting all the educational institutions in the Strong objection was made to the state. appended statement of Dr. Young made yes-terday that no seminary is a Presbyterian in-

He addressed himself first to the objections that assembly control would affect the title to trust funds and that seminaries which cannot make the changes proposed are undenominational and nonpresbyterian.

OMAHA AS AN EXAMPLE. Answering the question as to how the con-ditions proposed by the committee could be adopted by the seminaries, he cited the case of the Omaha seminary, which had put them into its articles of incorporation. He asserted that the funds of the Union seminary in New York are held under a charter which is as free from the control of the courts of the Presbyterian church as the Standard Oil company is and that any type of theology can be taught there which is not repugnant to the laws of the state of New York. The semi-naries were said to be civilized corporations and therefore creatures of Caesar which may justly be brought before Caesar for judgment. The general assembly is not a legal entity and cannot have a standing in the courts of the country unless the right is given by the seminaries through changes in
