There are more politics to the square inch in Ohio than to the square foot in any other state.

When it comes to making cabinets President Cleveland is the only cabinet-maker whose handwork really counts.

The money plank of the Ohio republican platform ought to serve as a reliable guide post for any republicans whose financial views are still unsettled.

When the district court bailiffs finish their judicial slaty the people will be informed whom they do not want upon their district bench.

How easy to increase the expenses of municipal government! And how difficult to reduce those expenses when changed circumstances demand unusual economy!

If ex-Congressman Breckinridge really keeps out of the senatorial contest pending in Kentucky he will have given evidence that he is again on the road to the recovery of his senses.

That sea serpent sighted and photographed in Lake Michigan is a trifle early in the season. The parties who saw it must have begun to celebrate the Fourth of July ahead of time.

The city electrician is sure he can save money to the city by employing an assistant. Is there any city official who thinks he can save the city money by dispensing with an assistant?

If the president is experiencing any trouble in finding material for the vacancy in his cabinet the list of democratic members of the last congress turned down by their constituents is still available.

The Board of Education will in a few weeks engage the janitors of the public schools for the next year. Are there no members of the late Douglas delegation to the legislature who want one of these lucrative jobs?

The Nebraska populists are going to hold their state convention at Lincoln, August 28, and they don't care who knows it. The other parties may fix their conventions before or after that date as they may see fit.

It is said that the free silver democrats appointed to Governor Holcomb's staff have such a repugnance to gold in any form that they intend having their uniforms made up without the customary decorations of dazzling gold braid.

The temperature in Illinois is nearing the free silver point as June 5, the day set for the convention of free silver democrats, approaches. By the time the convention meets the mercury in the thermometer will have been transformed to silver.

Another year of the public schools has ended. For many of the pupils, not alone those who have graduated after completing the full course of instruction, it is the last year of such schooling. We pride ourselves on a public school system so graded that no matter when the pupils may be withdrawn, they shall have had thorough training up to the point which they have reached. Our whole citizenship rests on the public schools as a basis and it will later be for those who are now reaping their benefits to see to it that they are preserved and constantly strengthened.

As might have been anticipated, the parties implicated in the brutal lynching at Danville, Ill., last week have escaped even the semblance of being brought to answer for their crime. The grand jury which investigated the matter has adjourned without finding a single indictment. Although over 100 witnesses were examined, many of whom admitted having seen the affair and had mingled in the throng about the jail, not one person could be found willing to say positively that he recognized any of the lynchers. The hanging was one entirely without justification, yet the sentiment of the community is not strong enough to insist on meting out punishment to the culprits. The instances where lynchers are actually arraigned for their crimes are few indeed, and the instances where they are convicted still fewer. The most powerful preventive of resorts to lynch law must be an intelligent public opinion and a local pride that revolts from the thought that the reputation of the county and state must receive an ineffaceable blot from every such deplorable occurrence.

GRESHAM AND HARRISON.

The death of Judge Gresham has very naturally revived the stories that had been afloat some years ago concerning the relations of ex-President Harrison and Judge Gresham and the alleged disappointment of Judge Gresham over his failure to be appointed to the supreme bench of the United States during Harrison's incumbency of the presidential chair.

There is another matter with relation to Judge Gresham which should be cleared up. General Harrison when president was repeatedly charged and since he left the office has been often charged with having declined to make Judge Gresham a member of the supreme court of the United States because their personal relations had become strained. Their personal relations were strained. The fact, however, was not the reason why President Harrison did not place Mr. Gresham on the supreme bench, so far as Mr. Harrison himself was aware of the influences which restrained him from doing so.

FOR A THIRD TERM. The New York Sun having been asked its opinion regarding the report that President Cleveland seeks another nomination replied that it believed he is now a candidate for a third term and that his present political maneuvering is shaped with a view to that end.

CHAMBERS OF THE CIRCUIT JUDGE OF THE UNITED STATES, CHICAGO, Feb. 17, 1895.—E. Rosewater, Esq: My Dear Sir—Allow me to thank you for your letter of the 15th.

W. Q. GRESHAM. This letter clearly shows that Judge Gresham had neither asked or expected the appointment to a vacancy on the supreme bench at the hands of President Harrison.

HOME RULE FOR CITIES. The general conference of the Municipal League of the United States, which has been in session at Cleveland for the past two days, is attracting wide attention through the instructive discussion of the progress which municipal reform has made and the remedies deemed essential for securing honest and efficient municipal governments for our cities.

BY NO MEANS HOPELESS. The advocates of free and unlimited silver coinage at 16 to 1 independently by the United States are just now adopting a new tack.

Right You Are. Abundant rains have fallen in all parts of Nebraska, especially in last year's drought-stricken region, and have put an end to the hot spell and its attendant pestiferous conditions.

An Old-Fashioned Oak. The snails which were beginning to appear in Iowa country have all been ironed out by the rain which has fallen from one end of the state to the other.

OTHER LANDS THAN OURS.

It does not seem possible that Japan will permit the Russian occupation of Manchuria and Korea without something more than a protest, nor can Great Britain stand by while such an assault on her prestige in the east is being made.

SHALL WE OBLITERATE PATRIOTISM? The magnanimity of the loyal people of the United States toward those who sought to dismember the union and establish a government which should perpetuate the institution of slavery commanded the admiration of the world.

RELICS OF THE ANCIENTS. Wonderful number of the most valuable antiquities in Copenhagen—a description of its rare contents—Priceless treasure in a quaint structure.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN. The leader of this department is a special letter on alfresco toilets—Gowns for garden parties and afternoon functions; the very latest ideas in spring fashions.

THE HILL HOUSE MOVEMENT. Miss Stella Crowley, now a resident of Chicago in a special letter treats of the significance and results of the Hill House movement in Chicago—Scope of its work and achievements of its promoters.

CABLE AND TELEGRAPHIC SERVICE. The old world news of The Sunday Bee is unrivaled. Its leased wire Associated Press report is always full and complete and its special telegraphic news service is fully up to the standard of the metropolitan press.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE. The spirit of sentiment. Cincinnati Commercial. Returning prosperity, in spite of all the demerits could do to delay it, is doing its good work in destroying the miasma for the free, unlimited and immediate coinage of domestic silver.

VOICE OF THE STATE PRESS. Hebron Republican: Wheat is climbing toward $1, and silver isn't a bit sympathetic.

Atkinson Graphic: We had supposed that the Bradford nuisance had abated, but it seems to have broken out afresh. There is not one case of destitution in Holt county that we have been able to discover.

Hastings Democrat: How about the $5,000 of the state's money that Governor Crouse's state oil inspector did not turn over to his successor or to the state treasurer? If the surplus has been recovered we hope that the attorney general will make the fact public.

Premont Leader: While the farmers and business men of the state are groaning under their taxes, which have been increased the past year, the railroads are allowed a reduction with much less cause for reduction than merchants and farmers. This is one of the evils coming out of allowing corporations and hoodlums to control the dominant party.

Minden Courier: Dr. Hay has been at the public crib for many years. He has been ordered out by the governor, a process that has heretofore been considered regular; he has been tried and ordered out for cause, and now holds his office by virtue of dilatory and prejudicial courts. There is a lesson in this.

All fair-minded people denounce Dr. Hay. Why? Because his actions are irregular, dishonest and without reason or precedent.

Nebraska City Independent: By the way, let us figure a little. Bill Dorgan commenced to work for Charley Mosher about five years ago at $75 per month. Now, figure $75 per month for five years, equal $45,000. If you were Charley Mosher, would you pay $75,000 of his salary and then be owed him (Bill) $75,000 more for something else. Now Bill asks the state for $150,000 for tools, etc. Do you see any African near your fuel supply?

Holbrook Herald: A Nebraska farmer has sued the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway company for $7,800 under a statute which imposes a penalty of $50 for each time that a train does not whistle at a public crossing. He claims that in three months last summer he kept a tab on such failures and counted 1575 of them. If this man had devoted as much attention to his farm as he has to the railroad whistle he would probably have been the gainer.

LEADING FEATURES.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE. MEN OF THE MOSS HAGS: Current chapters of S. H. Crockett's great serial story, artistically illustrated.

GLIMPSES OF PACIFIC ISLES: William Preston Harrison, formerly of the Chicago Times, writes a charming letter from the Fiji group. He tells of the reformed cannibals and graphically describes the king on dress parade—How a queer people are governed. This letter is highly interesting, exclusive and original.

SCHOOLS OF THE PEOPLE: Exposition of "Fad Evils" of the public schools—Compulsory education in Pennsylvania—The first free public school—Educational notes—Books and periodicals.

THE CRAZE FOR CYCLING: Omaha is not to be outdone by any city in the west when it comes to cycling matters. A leading article on the sporting page describes cycling tours, showing how a party of six wheelmen can enjoy themselves right royally. Local whippersnappers of the wheel will contain everything of interest to cycle enthusiasts. This is the greatest year of outdoor sports in the history of the country, and the sporting page will cover everything of interest pertaining thereto.

WHAT SHALL THE HARVEST BE? Frank G. Carpenter speculates on inevitable results of the China-Japan war; what the Japs will do with Formosa, and the new opportunities that await enterprising Americans through the new treaty.

ANECDOTES OF W. Q. GRESHAM: Incidents in the career of the soldier, jurist and statesman—Antiquities of Copenhagen—A description of its rare contents—Priceless treasure in a quaint structure.

IN BERMUDA, THE BREST: Scenes and sentiment in the fairland of the tropics—Observations of an Omaha tourist—An interesting sketch.

PASSING OF THE BAD MAN: Recollections of western characters and the fluency of their guns—How Wild Bill once met his match.

IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN: The leader of this department is a special letter on alfresco toilets—Gowns for garden parties and afternoon functions; the very latest ideas in spring fashions. There are also household hints and a chapter on feminine portraiture, describing the new method of obtaining portraits in oil. Illustrated.

IN LOCAL MUSICAL CIRCLES: Every local musical event of importance is chronicled in The Sunday Bee.

WANING SOCIAL SEASON: Movements of society people; prospective summer outings and functions of the week are recorded on the society page.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION: Once a week The Bee presents a few features of special interest to boys and girls, which have proved to be very popular. Tomorrow there will be a story, "The Cossack Mail Driver," illustrated, and a thrilling account of the heroism of Richard Dule, also illustrated. Other features of great merit.

THE HILL HOUSE MOVEMENT: Miss Stella Crowley, now a resident of Chicago in a special letter treats of the significance and results of the Hill House movement in Chicago—Scope of its work and achievements of its promoters.

CABLE AND TELEGRAPHIC SERVICE: The old world news of The Sunday Bee is unrivaled. Its leased wire Associated Press report is always full and complete and its special telegraphic news service is fully up to the standard of the metropolitan press.

JUNE JOBS.

Washington Post: We are confident that the coming man will have too much sense to bleach his hair.

Detroit Tribune: "Senators" terms are fixed by law, are they not? "Oh, no," legislators are free to get whatever there is in it.

Chicago Record: "This," said the young man, as he pulled out his pawn ticket and counted out a roll of bills, "this, I suppose, is what Mr. Carstairs would call redemption money."

Indianapolis Journal: "I have often heard," said Mr. Hancock, as he watched the movements of the tired man, "I have often heard of idlers walking in their sleep, but you say positive the first man I ever seen that slept in his walkin'."

Chicago Tribune: New Man after the exhausted clerk has shown him everything in the store—Well, I'll call again. I wasn't wanting anything today.

Boston Transcript: Mrs. White—And do you mean to say that you and your husband always agree about everything? Mrs. Black—Always; except of course, now and then, when he's in the humor, or pigheaded, or something of that sort.

Chicago Record: "And what is that building?" inquired the visitor in the great twentieth century metropolis. "That's the asylum for people who refuse to ride bicycles."

Indianapolis Journal: Wabash—I was sorry to hear of your divorce, old man. Couldn't you live happily together? Van Buren—Oh, yes, happily enough, but matrimony was too expensive. You see, I'm trying to save enough money to buy a bicycle.

Chicago Tribune: Committee of Anxious Fire Insurers. Agents at telephone—is this Brother Moody? Voice at the other end of the wire—Yes, committee—Have you any engagement for the Fourth of July?

Detroit Free Press: Weary Walker—How much did your work that got for us, itasy? "The victory was too expensive. You see, the word 'work' to me, it's unperishable."

THE SUNDAY GAME. Kansas City Journal. "Young man," the solemn stranger said, "What's going on in here?" "A base ball game—right innin' played." "The building sported." "Base ball sported this mornin' day?" "O wicked, sinful land! It—in the ninth now, did you say?" "Young man—how do they stand?"

A CYCICAL STARR. Washington Star. This world is but a fleeting show, And little joy he gains, Who ardently undertakes To look behind the scenes.

It is not what the player does That in the long run tells, In rounding out his base ball fame, But what the umpire yells.

The fleetest racer sometimes falls The victory is not in his hands, 'Tis not the horse that gets in first, But the one the judges name.

And so it is with all success That human life may see, 'Tis not the man that counts, but what The man is thought to be.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Powerful for Good. Globe-Democrat. Dr. Parkhurst has asked that the $28,959.57 raised as a testimonial for him be applied to the maintenance of the City Vigilance League, and the money will be used as he desires. It is refreshing to discover a reformer who is as powerful for good as a political boss is for demerit.
