SHORT PIECES

Of Carpets of every grade, remnants of Matting, odd lots of Lace and Silk Curtains, odd pieces of Furniture, a few Rockers, Chairs, Folding Beds, Bedroom Suits, will accumulate in a stock like ours as a natural result of a busy year's retailing. We will commence tomorrow to

Make a Clean Sweep

Of them all. If you want something exceptionally good at a funny price come and see what we have laid out for our June Ceanup. This funny price will make you laugh and leave a good big margin in your pocketbook

Three pieces, Hardwood Bedroom Sult-18x22 Mirror in Dresser, June Clean Up Price only

Every Business Man

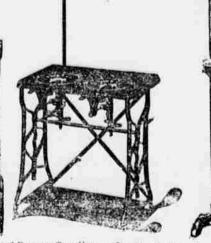

sacrifice their goods in order to realize the cash to carry on business.

Understands how we can sell the best Furniture and House Furnishings at so low a price. During the last year many large manufacturers were obliged to on the ground and bought largely-carload after carload of Book Cases, Folding Beds, Bed Room Suits, Chairs and all kinds of Furniture and Carpets, 'way below cost of production. Then, too, we buy directly from the manufacturers in carloads, thus getting quantity, prices and discount and freight savings from 10 to 20 per cent. These advantages and benefits we are giving to our We do not issue circulars to mislead the public, but endeavor to show you in the daily papers exact illustrations of many of the bargains, and what we do not show, tell you how we can best serve you, and give you the benefit of $45.00 Upright Folding Bed, June clean-up sale.....

Carpet or Tapestry Cover, nicely made. June C.ear Up Price..... Our space is limited, so we can show only a few of our wonderful bargains, all over our immense establishment; but from them you will get an ilea of the prices offered. We give you our former prices and prices we will sell them for in our JUNE CLEANUP SALE.

$10 00 worth-$1 07 down-

Our Terms

Our 75c Tapestry Brussels Carpet, June clean-up sale.....

Our Secret | Low Prices, Cash or Weekly or Monthly Paymeets. $10 00 worth—$1 07 down—
$1 00 week, $4 00 moath
$20 00 worth—$2 00 down—
$1 00 week, $4 00 moath
$1 50 week, $5 00 moath
$50 00 worth.....$2 00 week, $5 00 moath
$75 00 worth.....$2 50 week, $8 00 moath
$100 00 worth.....$2 00 week, $8 00 moath

Open Saturday and Monday Evenings, A Good Refrigerator—

SmallProfits

$50.00 Bed Room Suits, June clean-up sale $35.00 Bed Room Suits, June clean-up sale Refrigerators and Ice Boxes.

Bedroom Suits-

Of Success: Easy Terms A Good Ice Boxonly..... only.....

22.00 Extension Dining Tables.

A Good 6-foot Dining Table..... A Good

Kitchen Table.....

Free to Every Customer.

$10,00 purchaser a Plated Sugar Spoon A Rug to every Carpet customer; A fine Engraving to every $50.00 purchaser.

We Are the Largest House Furnishers in the West.

Whatever Others Advertise You Will Find Our Prices Lower.

PROGRESS AMID POVERTY

Significance and Results of the Hull House Movement in Chicago.

SOCIAL AND INTELLECTUAL REFORM

Two Energetic Women Found an Oasis in a Desert of Poverty, Crime and Uncieanliness-Scope of the Work and Its Achievements.

CHICAGO, May 30 .- (Correspondence of The Bee.)—If you wish to keep up with the and hear, and beyond a friendly greeting to carry on an Italian conversation. In the art exhibit room Mile, Vallerie is holding a study sociology. You must not only have such knowledge of the subject as can be gained from books and lectures, but you must have such knowledge as has been gained by actual experience. To get this experience you must be perfectly familiar with the city as set forth in Hull House maps and notes.

so exactly that you know just where to go hor the dark blue parts of the map show you where the Italians live, and the red shows their services free. the Polish quarter. In the same way yellow indicates that here live the self-supporting poor, while the purple districts are inhabited by what is known as the "relief" class. Other races and other classes are indicated by other colors. These maps were prepared by residents of Hull House and this brings me to the subject of my story. It is not a reformatory, it is not a charitable institution in the ordinary sense of the word, since every one pays for what he gets there, but it can perhaps be best defined as a social experiment.

POVERTY IN PLENTY. The Nineteenth ward is the most densely erent mationalities are represented by its to the something frightful to contemplate. Plenty been found sufficie of children here, half clad, half fed and charged feelings. wholly neglected. How could it be other-wise? Whole families live in one room and in thousands of cases the joint earnings of ward. such families do not amount to $5 a week. As you wander about through the narrow, flithy alleys and miserable tenements you nithy alleys and miserable tenements you to a people who are greatly in need of begin to understand the why and the wherefore of the anarchist, and go away feeling utterly helpless and miserable. feeling of helplessness did not overcome two brave women who five years ago came to make their home in the very midst of this squalor and want and sin. They believed that social intercourse could best express the growing sense of the economic unity of

Think of attempting to influence such a amunity through its social life, where the only gatherings were about the doors the police drag out the participants in a fight or in the halls of beating his wife and children. But these brave women believed that the saloons were the social centers because they had no rivals and that many men and, horrible to add, many women who frequented them, would soon desert them if something better were provided.

ORIGIN OF THE MOVEMENT. No child growing up in that district today can complain that something better has not been provided, for the two rooms into which Addams and Miss Starr first invited a women of the neighborhood to take tea with them, much to the surprise of that with them, much to the surprise of that seldom invited few, have grown to Hull House, which aims to be and is a social center about which these people may group their various organizations and enterprises. Hull House does not make the common distake of trying to reach people only through their desire for improvement; it has provided amply for those who can only be reached through their desire for amuse-liard rooms for months, who at length, either out of curiosity or sheer idleness, have dropped into a chair near the door of a ecture or class room and discovered that there were other things in Hull House than billiard rooms and other things in life even more enjoyable than billiards. It may not be all chance that the way to the billiard rooms lies through a reading room and by the doors of some lecture and class rooms The residents are all men and women of culture both of brain and heart. They do not pounce upon the newcomer or the oftcomer, either, and talk to him about his body or his soul. He having eyes and ears is allowed to come freely where he may see

AMUSEMENTS PROVIDED. Besides the billiard rooms there is a spalous gymnasium, big enough to play a game of ball in, and provided with everything in There is a fencing way of apparatus. club where marks, folls and gloves are pro vided, and members of various clubs and classes are permitted to use one of the halls for dancing parties. So you see Jack need not be a dull boy at Hull House for the want These locate the different races and classes of a chance to play. Intellectually the house has made extraordinary provision for to find what you want. For instance, all its frequenters. Over 100 professors and teachers connected with the universities, colleges and public schools of Chicago give The University extension of the University of Chicago gives a course of lectures each year and the best speakers for occasional lectures. If half a dozen people desire to study some certain branch they form a class and a teacher is provided. Not for charity, though, each member pays 50 cents a term. This pays for gas and heat and removes the feeling of getting something for nothing. Every department in the house has grown from a discovery made through natural and reciprocal social relations. SANITARY CONDITIONS. Miss Addams has given special attention to the sanitary conditions of the ward and has railied to her assistance every mother in it. populated district of Chicago. Nineteen dif- These women have made life such a burden inhabitants and the sanitary conditions are supply of d's in Miss Addams' name has not found sufficient to relieve their over-ged feelings. Mayor Swift has re-This gives to an already busy woman deal in the way of cleanliness and health

> In art, literature and music Hull House it offers no other. The lectures and concerts are exactly such as are given before audiences of scholars and musicians.

And now how does Hull House appear to the casual visitor? In a region where space is so valuable that a foot or two is often the source of much costly litigation, and where every person and thing seems to be cramped and squeezed in just as much as possible you suddenly come upon a vacant lot, bounded on two sides by a woven wire fence at least ten feet high. This is the playground made this spring by tearing House, I found a bowl of roses, an open pian down two very low tenements. It is only with Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" on the control of the control treeless as yet, but there are tents and awnings and hammocks and sand piles and buckets and spades and balls and tennis and croquet, and men and women who are children again for the sake of the children. Watching them you decide that each of the nineteen nationalities has contributed its share, but just let me show you how much Chicago is in the crowd. On the opening day the gates were kept closed until a certain hour, but the children who were accustomed to riding under the rivers and over the roofs were not to be delayed by a trifle such as a ten-foot wire fence. It afforded no foothold for climbing, so they burrowed out the sand with their naughty little hands, crawled under and opened the Hull House play ground some hours before

THE HOUSE AT NIGHT.

Around the corner from this play ground you come upon a house with a door yard.

Door yards are not common on Halstead with the poor woman whose baby was kept alliances of this country. THE HOUSE AT NIGHT.

ment. I think, however, that this has been street. At night the doors are open and it clean and happy in its nursery, and whose done in order that the desire for amuse-ment may lead them where a desire for stranger to determine what he had come who explained that "H. H.," the mark used something above and beyond it may have a upon. As you pass you catch stray gampses on its belongings, stood for half heaven, chance to reach them. Indeed, young men of pictures and statuary and well filled bookhave been known to frequent the free bil-cases, and hear snatches of music that you ceived and whose brain directs it all, even think must have wandered here by mistake. might have come direct from the tower of Babel, and it is composed of "all sorts and conditions of men," women and children. You turn to the resident under whose es plonage you are seeing the house, and ask "Is this a gathering place of the nations?" But he answers cheerfully, "Oh, Bo; we have

> You go in, and if it chance to be a na tional reception night you are sorry in the library that your German vocabulary habeen allowed to dwindle to "Yah, Fraulein, and "Nein, Mein Herr," while in the dining room you discover that because you can French reading; in the Octagon Miss Starr has a class in Dante, and in the drawing room Mr. Edward Gregg is lecturing on Bohemian history. In the kitchen Miss Welch, A. B., is conducting a cooking class, and a cash girl's club is holding a meeting in one of the halls. Miss Crim's class in English and letter writing occupies the studio, and it goes straight to the heart of the average woman who can write three times as fast as she can talk, and talk very fast, indeed, to see the amount of time and labor some poor, toil-stiffened fingers must put into a few badly spelled lines.

LECTURING UNDER DIFFICULTIES. On the night of my first visit Prof. Moul-on of the University of Chicago was delivering a lecture on Shakespeare's "Temp-The audience would have made good study for Shakespeare himself. It was however, and Prof. Moulton earned and witty, as he always is. He is fine reader, and as he read, "Be not afeard; the isle is full of noises," up through the open windows came the regular Halstead street choruz of crying children and fighting dogs. When he reached,

"Sometimes a thousand twanging instru

nents, Will hum about mine ears," wo bands in rival resorts were playing, one "Tommy Atkins," and the other, "He Golden Hair Was Hanging Down Her Back. But only the frivolous spectators noticed these things; the real audience was utterly oblivious to them.

In the Fencing club I witnessed some doughty deeds that would have roused the envy of even your Dr. Desprecher and Mr. Mullen. One young Italian, whose eyes, in cently added to their woe by appointing Miss Mullen. One young Italian, whose eyes, in Addams garbage inspector for the Nineteenth his excitement, fairly blazed through his wire was as lithe and graceful as a tiger. The Omaha young man dubbed him a transplanted Romeo, and gave him the rose from his button hole, which was the only language they had in common.

KITCHEN AND NURSERY. No matter how utilitarian the idea, the artistic is never lost sight of at Hull House The kitchen is a copy of an old English inn, with low, dark rafters, diamond windows, and a large fire place. Besides serving luncheon, the foods cooked here are delivered by the cutation of the cooked here are delivered for the cooked for the co ered hot by the quart or pound for home consumption.

In the day nursery are cleanliness and omfort, and charts and pictures of famous Madonnas. In the pariors of the Jane club, the home of fifty young women, who occupy fine flats under the chaperonage of Hull rack, a number of really fine pictures, some of them presented by the artists who painted them, and what seemed very natural considering the time and surroundings, a youn man and woman holding a very confidential conversation about the weather, no doubt. The club is composed of working girls, and capita. No religious services are held at Hull day afternoons concarts are given, but they are not what are called sacred concerts. Prof. Tomlins, who directed the World's fair choruses, has undertaken to train a chorus of 500 working people at Hull House. He has also offered prizes for the songs that will best express, both in music and words, the home life and aspirations of the working grateful, not-to-be-outdone-Chicago, canno find a name good enough for her. STACIA CROWLEY.

RELIGIOUS.

A handsome new Roman Catholic church for colored people, to be known as St. Katherine's, has just been opened in New Or-

C. M. Bailey, a Maine manufacturer, said for years employed a band of evangelists to The Episcopal fund of the diocese of New Hampshire, amounting to more than $50,000.

is largely invested in western securities which now yield little or no income, and the Episcopalians of the diocese are wonder how the salary of Bishop Niles will be raised. A Roman Catholic street preaching mission is being organized in Cleveland. Its work will be similar to that of the Salvation army, but it will not adopt the fantastic methods of that organization. One of the most promifient workers in the movement will be Father Elliott of the Paulist Fathers church of New York City, who is an en-thusiast on the subject of propagating Catholicism among Protestants. A new religious sect has been started in Missouri. The members elect an "angel."

whose business it is to fly to heaven every little while and find out what God wants the members to do. Contrary to what might be expected, the members had no difficulty whatever in finding a man who was both able and willing to fly to heaven as often as was desired. But when he makes the rip he insists on being absolutely alone.

LABOR NOTES.

The English shoe workers' strike has been ompromised. Cleveland is about to adopt the Pingrepotato plan.

Kansas City iron molders struck against reduction and won their point. Cabinetmakers of France want to form an alliance with American craftsmen.

The organized hatters in Newark, N. are talking of another great strike. The bricklayers, numbering 10,000, of St. Louis, are on strike for higher wages. John McBride and P. J. McGuire attended he musicians' convention in Claveland. The increase of wages among the Ohio wire and nail workers affects 6,000 men. Roustabouts on the Mississippi steamers ter was compromised. The headquarters of the International Asociation of Machinists is to be removed from Richmond, Va., to Chicago. The strike of the St. Louis garment workers against the sweat shop contractors ended the school authorities are unable to supply in a victory for the strikers. Five thousand New Jersey potters have organized a national union, which has been affiliated with the American Federation of London county council has six bills before the British parliament asking the privilege of municipalizing the waterworks for $175,-

The machinery molders of Cleveland, after a short strike, succeeded in obtaining a uni-form wage scale. The minimum rate is P. J. McGuire, general secretary of the carpenters, has lately addressed large meetings in Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus and adjacent cities. The American Federation of Labor executive board has given the brewery workers to understand that they must withdraw from either the Knights of Labor or the federation. According to Bradstreet's about 75,000 workers received increased wages pril, two-thirds of whom received the same without striking.

THE SCHOOLS OF THE PEOPLE

A New York Illustration of the "Fad" Evils in Public Schools.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION INPENNSYLVANIA

Documentary Proof of the First Free Public School-The National Convention at Denver-Commencements -Educational Notes.

The New York legislature passed an act o compel systematic teaching in all the schools as to the effects of alcohol and to bacco on health. A similar law was enacted some years ago, but it was not enforced, and the superintendent of the New York City schools has filed a protest against the present act, which must be approved by the city authorities before it becomes a law. The superintendent says that while the act cannot pos sibly accomplish any good purpose not already adequately provided for, "it makes inordinate demands upon the time of the Discussing this point and "fads" in gen eral, the New York World says: "It would be a good thing if the legislature could be induced every year to give heed to that one wise little sentence. The great majority of pupils in city public schools have only a very few years in which to get any educa tion at all. Bread winning necessity reduces the period of their school attendance to a minimum. They have barely time at best to learn to read, write and cipher, and, in fact, the greater number of them learn these nec essary things very imperfectly. Every hour, every minute, of school time devoted to anything else robs them of instruction which they orely need to equip them for the work of arning honest livings.

"The 'faddists' are the curse of the schools They seem never to reflect upon conditions. They proceed as if all the school children had before them the full period of education which is granted only to the children of the

'The patent fact is that our schools are unable to do adequately even the necessary work that lies before them. They cannot provide even rudimentary education for all the children who have a right to claim it They turn thousands away every year instruct the others very imperfectly. So long as this state of facts exists every suggestion to introduce other instruction than the necessary teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic is distinctly wrong.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION. Philadelphia is confronted with a condition similar to that complained of in New York. School accommodations are inadequate. It is estimated that 20,000 children are shut out of the schools at the present time, because the necessary buildings. Notwithstanding this fact the legislature has passed a compulsory education law, which imposes severe penalties on parents who fall to send their

Under the new law every child in the com monwealth between 8 and 13 years of age must attend for at least sixteen weeks in each year a school in which the common English branches are taught. The law is sweeping in its requirements, excepting only such children as are certified by parents or guardians to be mentally or physically in-capacitated, or who live two miles or more. The s om a public school, or who are being instructed in other schools or by private teachers in the common English branches which are taught in the public schools.

The law is highly penal in its provisions. A fine of $2 is imposed on parents or guardians in every case for the first offense against the law, and for each succeeding offense the fine is $5. This fine is imposed by the school board, but an appeal is allowed to the court of quarter sessions of the proper

In order that the law may be fully enforced, and that none may escape its provisions, a census of the school children of each district time that the annual assessment is made, and that list is certified to the secretary of the school board of each district. Teachers are required to report to the board monthly the names of all children who have been ab- Five million dollars have been appropriated sent without satisfactory reason for five suc-consider days. Thus the school board will The number of schools on the accredited cessive days. Thus the school board will be fully advised as to all children who fail to comply with the compulsory law. If the forty-eight. Nearly secretary of the school board shall fail to ifornia is represented. comply with the provisions of the law he will be liable to indictment for misdemeanor and to a fine of $25.

According to the Times of Philadelphia the city must provide for 20,000 additional school children immediately, or else the law will fail of enforcement in that city. Like conditions prevail in other cities of the state, and a vast outlay will be required to give effect to the provisions of the law.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION. The authorities of Greeley, Colo., Chevenne, Wyo., have united in extending invitation to the delegates to the convention of the National Educational association to visit those cities at the close of the convention. The convention meets in Denver the second week in July, and is expected to conclude its labors by The hustling cities on the north have arranged to take the delegates on a special train, which will leave Denver on the mornof the 13th, stopping several hours at both points, and return to Denver in the evening. A more interesting excursion could not be made, and those who fail to accept the hospitality of Greeley and Cheyenne will have cause to regret it.

FIRST FREE PUBLIC SCHOOLS. By means of an old deed exchanged be-ween two of the earliest merchants of Boson, C. E. Ridler locates the site of what nany scholars believe to be the first recorded free public school in America, supported by general taxation-namely, on the south side of Cornhill, near Washington street, triangular block bounded by Court The Washington and Cornhill was, says the ton Journal, originally devoted to the follow-ing public beneficent purposes:

A town corn bin on Cornhill, a prison or louse of correction, established in 1632; the school, the first meeting house, occupying the commanding position at the corner of Dock Square and Cornhill, and a tavern where the Ames building now is. Opposite on Washington street was placed the par-Opposite sonage, the shop of Cogan, first merchant; the first market place, where the old state house stands, and the armory. Near by were the great dock, the powder magazine, spring on the hill above, the aqueduct, great cistern and other safeguards against Indian cemetery, only a few steps away from the earliest burial place of the whites; the town house, the legislature, the criminal and twelfth. Promotions in these grades will be civil courts and the marshal.

The meeting house having been planted in 1632, Cornhill became one of the very earliest streets of Boston. Starting from the site of the meeting house in Washington street, the first great thoroughfare into the interior. His conclusion is strengthened by the fact that there are in the neighborhood picturesque old alleyways, notoriously crooked streets, and ten so-called public squares. Just above are the three hills, Pemberton, Mount Vernon and Beacon.

Here also is Tremont Row, where lived Governor Vane, Governor Bellingham, Governor Endicott, the second schoolmaster of Boston; Rev. John Cotton, teacher of the church; his son, Seaborn, and John Hull, the mint master. Here Tremont street begins, another great, but newer thoroughfare. The newer Shawmut, on a hill overlooking the valley and the neighboring ocean, was begun by the whites on the spot where the red men The school was started voluntarily in town meeting, April 23, 1635, 260 years ago. COMMENCEMENTS.

Invitations to college commencements are trooping in. Princeton comes in college colors with a program of exercises extending over five days. The preliminary is a base ball contest with the Yale nine on June 8. The final exercises will be held in Alexander ball,

The silver anniversary of the founding of Carthage college at Carthage, Ill., will be celebrated on the 29th inst. The exercises will conclude with a banquet in Odd Fellows must by taken by the assessors at the same academy, Notre Dame, Ind., will be held June 13.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES. The New York school board has purchased sites for twelve additional school building list of the university of California is now forty-eight. Nearly every section of Cal-

The first woman to be graduated from St, Andrew's university, Scotland, is said to be Miss Blackadder, the daughter of a Dundee architect. She is 19 years old.

In the name of the overseers of Harvard. President Ellot has offered a site for the posed college infirmary. It is intended to make the infirmery a memorial to the late Dr. Peabody.

The new register of the university of California shows the total number of students enrolled at the colleges at Berkeley to be 1,124, of which 399 are women. This is an excess over the sister university at Palo Alto of twenty-four, they having increased 13 per cent, while the State university increase is 36 per cent. Including those enrolled in the affiliated colleges in San Francisco, the grand total amounts to 1,781.

It has been decided by the senate of the University of Michigan to hold elaborate exreises a year from this coming commencement to celebrate the successful close of Dr. Angell's first quarter of a century as president of the university. A committee was appointed consisting of the deans of the various departments to take the matter in charge and prepare a plan for the celebration. It was also voted to ask the regents to appoint similar committee to join in the undertaking. Germany hap adopted the system of separating the bright pupils from the stupid ones in the public schools. The sorting is to be ione not by the teachers, but by medical

Miss Nellie Temple, a graduate of Vassar with high honors in 1882, has been engaged by he University of Leipsic to assist Dr. Ratzel ts American professor of history, in the prep ration of a work on the United States. Miss remple, it is said, was pushed for a professorship in the university, and only the rules of the institution prevented her election.

The University of Pennsylvania will hold examinations for entrance to the college next June in over a score of cities located in dif-ferent parts of the country. As the university draws students from almost every state in the union, these local examinations will enable many applicants living at a distance from Philadelphia to avoid the expense of a long journey for the purpose of an examination. The examinations will be held June 17 and 18, and will all be of the same character as those held upon the same dates at the iniversity in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia school board has abolished June examinations in all grades below the made on term averages.

The board of regents of the University of Michigan recently took the first steps toward the reorganization of the homeopathic medical department. The department was declared by resolution to be distinct and independent of every other department, and a committee to draft a new set of rules and regulations for it was appointed. Luther academy, located at Wahoo, Neb., has issued its twelfth annual catalogue, giving detailed information regarding the college.

THE VOYAGE.

Sam Watter Poss in New York Sun Out from the harbor of the Shadowy Shore
We sail into the gladness of the day;
A breath of spice from islands far away
Aliures us on to where the deep seas roam
The lightnings play about us, and before Our cleaving prow the tempest works its

With broken wrecks, but still we cannot A voice beyond the storm calls evermore. We spread our satis to eaten the wind and breeze, The wandering zephyr, or the simoon's breath;

And on we sail, nor strength nor purpose
fails,
Till through the sunset of alluring seas,
Through twilight spiendors do we drift toward death;
The silent isle of Unreturning Sails.

Pittsburg, Kan., boasts of a growing Labor church, where true Christianity is preached by Rev. Dr. Morrison, who will deliver Commencement exercises of St. Mary's series of sermons on "Christ the Socialist