Advices have just come to hand from the Earl Fruit company indicating that there is a possibility of the freight on oranges being reduced to 31 per cwt. to all points which now take the rate of $1.25 per cwt. This reduction would make a difference of about 26c per box in the freight charges. The present charge is 90c per box and the dollar rate would make the freight 72c per box.

Reports from Florida rather indicate that her paimisest days in orange growing are over for a rima at least. Of course there will be lots of oranges shipped from that state so long as oranges shipped from that state so long as oranges are grown anywhere, but it will be some time before Florida will be what it has been in past years, so far is a heavy yield is concerned. The blg freeze of last winter was the straw that broke the came!'s back. A great many of the groves there have been owned by nonresidents, who hired managers to look after their property and in some instances the manager would have a half dozen groves to look after their property and in some instances the manager would have a half dozen groves to look after from frost or other drawback, prices ruled too low to place the cultivation on a paying basis and many of these nonresident owners began to get discouraged. Then came the big frost last winter, which not only destroyed a year's crop, but in many parts of the state the trees as well. Since then these parties have withdrawn from business, have abandoned their holdings and are offering orchards at low prices. Quotation:

HOPES FOR THE FUTURE ARE VERY BRIGHT

Reports from All Sections Tributary to This Market show Renewed Confidence Among Business Men - Values in Some Lines Are Advancing-

With the opening of the current month trade conditions became far more promising, owing to the improved crop pros-

While the volume of business falls far short of what would be expected in an ordinary season, it is much better than it was a month ago. It is not to be underlargely upon the actual wants of consumption.

A month ago the dry weather discouraged buying and merchants generally let their stocks run down, and, now that the prospect is more hopeful, they are forced to stock up, and jobbers, without exception, are reporting an increase in the number and size of their orders.

There is not very much more money in circulation than a month ago, but it is generally believed that a continuance of the present bright prospects will before long bring it out. Low prices, with the prospect of an advance, will be a great temptation for investment on the part of those who have money.

PRICES GROWING FIRMER.

PRICES GROWING FIRMER. PRICES GROWING FIRMER.

In the line of hardware there is a strengthening of values, and the whole market is on the upgrade. Nearly everything in the line of staple goods, in which material cuts any figure, has advanced 5 to 10 per cent. Barb wire has gone up 15 cents per hundred during the past week. It is figured that the advance in the raw material, together with the advance in labor, amounts to about 10 per cent, and the manufacturers are forced to put up prices to avoid an actual loss on their goods. Manufacturers of pretty much all staple products are now running on good time, and some of them turning out supplies to almost a normal extent. Increasing cost of iron and metals influences hardware to a considerable extent.

plies to almost a normal exteat. Increasing cost of iron and metals influences hardware to a considerable extent.

In the grocery line the market has been steady on most lines during the past week and there have been few features of any great importance. The prices now being realized, while generally higher than they were at the beginning of May, are still below the figures ruling at this time last year, and much lower than those current in May, 1833, when the period of depression began. Grocers in the east are pointing out that there is an increased demand for fancy groceries, which is a sure sign of returning prosperity. This branch of the trade has languished for a year back, but is again getting into a more healthy condition, in the east, at least.

It is between seasons with the dry goods people, and no great activity is looked for, and yet the improvement in the feeling extends to this branch of the trade, as well as to others. In consequence of the bright prospects prevailing in the country, preparations for the fall trade are being made on a scale indicating that a large business is prospected. Prices in dry goods have firmed up, though they are not back where they were before the dull times came on, and, with the purchasing power of the people increased by a good from the fall trade in the dry goods line cooled hardly be otherwise than most satisfactory.

The shoe trade has experienced about the same improvement as other lines of the jobbing trade. Orders for delivery next month, or later, are being peoked very freely at the present time. It is really a surprise to jobbers that there should be such a short space of time.

FACTORY FACTS.

FACTORY FACTS. The Medessa Mineral Water company has erected a building, 25x50 feet at its springs and have put in a complete plant springs and have put in a complete plant of bottling and carbonating machinery. It has also put two wagons on the street. This new Omaha industry starts but with employing four men and several boys.

of the World, and they are productively stractive.

Aaron Hene and Oscar C. Hene, the cigar manufacturers of Burlington, Ia, were in the city yesterday, and have practically decided to move their factory to this city. They will manufacture for the jobbing trade exclusively, and are are making arrangements to employ fifty men at the Signs of Prosperity.

The local representative of the Snow, Church & Co., Commercial Agency, in view ing the business situation, sums it up as fol

The business situation in Omaha and Nebraska during the week just ending has been decidedly good as compared with pre-vious weeks. The farming community throughout the state is happy, contented and jubilant and the business community. and jubilant and the business community, of course, dependent almost entirely upon the agriculture of the state, is consequently feeling good. The crops are everything at present, at least so far as corn is concerned, that could be desired. There has been plenty of rain and none would be needed, as we are advised from creditable and reliable sources for ten days or two weeks.

and reliable sources for ten days or two weeks.

Omaha's trade in the far west is being pushed very rapidly and large bills are being sold. The only had feature that we know of in selling in the extreme west is the large expense in getting the orders. Omaha houses selling in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming report payments with a fair degree of promptness. All lines handled by the Omaha merchants, particularly drugs, oils and boots and shoes, show a satisfactory and growing business. There is practically no change in the furniture or hardware trades.

Omaha has just got through with another convention, that of the druggists, and the members of the association from all parts of the state report themselves as well pleased with the treatment they received while here. Omaha cannot have too many conventions. They bring not only the distinct members of the body to the city, but they bring a great many strangers who all do more or less advertising for the city.

It is gratifying to note that the head of one of the very large dry goods houses of New York thinks well enough of Omaha to establish what will eventually grow into a

New York thinks well enough of Omaha to establish what will eventually grow into a very large department house here and we understand that it is the intention of this gentleman to open a house with a preliminary stock of goods of at least $10,000 in value. This certainly shows that Omaha must be considered a good point for this class of business and it also shows no fear on the part of the projector that Omaha is going backwards. It has been generally supposed that the Goldgrabers of Lincoin and Fremont were to open this store. This is not true. They may have something to do with it, but merely in a clerical capacity.

Tables

Taking everything into consideration, abundant crops promised and the satisfactory condition of business, the cutlook is certainly encouraging and it is to be hoped that Omaha and the state will receive no setback and, as far as can be judged at this time there is not even the smallest cloud on the horizon.

BETTER TIMES ARE ON THE WAY.

predicating his conclusions upon climatology and meteorology. The weather is all that we can desire and the effects of the change from drouth to meisture constitute the basis for our busicess confidence.

The spring grain crop is not so seriously damaged as was supposed. Rye will be short and wheat short, but oats will reach almost an average in most sections. Corn is making all the progress to be desired and farmers are now very sure that the season will prove profitable.

It is suggosted that possibly the zone, perhaps the hemisphere and possibly the earth at large is experiencing some sort of insteorological revolution and that we shall be obliged to wait a few years before we shall be able to forecast weather and crop conditions with any sort of success. Florida oranges were frozen last winter, and northern fruits suffered from frosts late the present spring. The storm which wrecked the Colima was unusual on the Pacific and it swent from the Central American equatorial belt to the far northeast, losing itself beyond the great lakes.

Extreme heat in April and extreme cold in May, together with many other incidents of the year or two past, suggest the possibility that the present years are epochal in climatology.

At South Omaha business is extremely duil. One day this week the receipts were fifty carloads and the market was so listless and indifferent that the shipper sent the stock on to Chicago. The packing houses are open, but they are not active and but little stock is coming in. Within thirty days, however, range cattle will be fat and desirable. The market will then awaken and business in the packing suburb will resume its old familiar propertions.
Cattlemen say that there are plenty of cattle on the plains and they anticipate a very active market this summer and fall.

With the wholesale houses everybady feels pects, and the past week has witnessed no change in the general situation. From all parts of the territory tributary to this market the reports are the same, all indicating splendid crop conditions. Business men are becoming more confident every day, and are preparing for a prosperous season to come.

The jobbing trade of this city, after a prolonged period of quiet, is once more taking on the appearance of activity. While the volume of business fails far short of what would be expected in an ordinary season, it is much better than it With the wholesale houses everybody feels was a month ago. It is not to be understood that there is anything like a boom in sight, but only a gradual improvement, which keeps pace with the growing crops. Sales of merchandise are still based very largely upon the actual wants of consumplarion.

A month ago the dry weather discourant on the discourant of the limit, will be ordering largely. The largely are sold down to the limit, will be ordering largely. We shall all be happy yet.

The weather was still dry in the winter wheat area and wet in the spring wheat region. The chief items of early news comprised the publication of the state crop reports of Michigan and Illinois and the particulars of the week movement. The Michigan report gave average condition for the state at 50, or about 10 per cent reduction for the the week movement. The Michigan report gave average condition for the state at 73, or about 10 per cent reduction for the month. The Illinois report gave the average for the state at 62, as compared with 32 per cent on May 1. These reports, bad as was the state of affairs they indicated, were not quite so bad as the imagination of some of the speculators had pictured the conditions, and consequently their effect was bearish rather than buillish. The Argentine shipments were smaller for the week, according to a private Liverpool cablegram, but that also as a piece of news fell flat in consequence of having been expected. The week's shipments of flour and wheat, as published by Bradstreet's, amounted from both coasts to 2,381,000 bu., 801,000 bu. of which was from the Pacific side. The total on the week before was 2,482,600 bu., and on the corresponding week of last year 2,742,000 bu. The aggregate decrease of wheat and flour in the United States and Canada for May, as given by the Daily Trade Bulletin, was 19,333,000 bu., in Europe and affoat, the net amount of the world's decrease for May was 15,33,000 bu. During the last hour of business there was a general improvement in prices. Sugar advanced is per cent, but receded is per cent in the final sales. Susquehema & Western preferred gained is per cent and reacted is per cent. The market closed strong and in the main higher.

Speculation during the week was at times extremely apathetic, and while somewhat irregular the movement of prices was in the main downward. The official declaration of a reduction in the Northwestern dividend rate had a temporarily depressing influence on the stock and the market in general. The action of the Sugar directors in declaring their regular dividends had an enlivening effect on the stock, which made a material advance on the anominement, but later resided. Notwithstanding the better tone of the crop news and the receipt of a number of traffic returns showing increased carnings, the bears seemed to have little opposition in forming down prices. The local operators were added considerably in their efforts by the attitude of the foreign traders, who were mostly sellers. The sales of the week were 1 109,500 shares and 150 stocks were dealt in. The trading in bends during the short session today was notice and generally strong. The total sales were 50,000,000. The trading was in a great measure contined to issues of the seculative class and marked declines were developed therein, particularly in the Reading mortages, in which the recessions were of a pronounced character. Compared with last Saturday, prices are in the main lower. The sales of the week were $9,779,000.

New potatoes have taken quite a drop during the past week and there is every prospect that they will go still lower in the near futrue. They are now as cheap as old potatoes, Arkansas stock selling as low as $0c. Culifornia new potatoes are held at $1 and it looks as if they would have to give way to Arkansas stock.

Tomatoes are lower, and it is expected that they will now move more freely. Lotterhas & Co. of Crystal Springs, Miss., the largest shipping point for tomatoes in the country, have a car on the road, which is expected to arrive here on Tuesday. Crystal Springs ships car lots of tomatoes to all the large eastern and northern cities, but has left Omaha out in the past. It is now proposed to give this market a fair trial and the first car is on the way.

There were only a few Missouri strawberries on the market, but the demand was not large, as Friday's car of Oregon berries had filled up the trade.

Raspberries were in good demand at steady prices. There is said to be a good crop at shipping points.

An occasional case of blackberries is received. In spite of the frost, which destroyed some of the fruit crop in Califordia this year promises to be an immense one. Thausands of acres of new orchards will come into bearing this season. Advices from Sax Francisco state that the 700 ventilated cars ordered some time ago, in anticipation of increased shipments in this line, are nearly ready for use. In fact, some of the cars are going west now. The rush of basiness in handling California soult will not begin before the middle of June. For six weeks after that date the powerful engines on the mountain division will be tested to their full espacity in quotations:

GOSSIP AROUT NOTED PROPER.

The Bookman tells a story of Mr. P.

Cope Whitehouse, who recently spent five years in Europe. He had been long in conflict with both British and Egyptian authorities on the question of irrigating a certain district, and found them almost equally conservative. After a time he met Lord Cromer, just arrived in the country, and was received with a chilling coolness. "I really can not go into these matters with you," said Lord Cromer, "because I hear that you treated my predecessor with great discourtesy." "Discourtesy? Discourtesy of what nature?" "Oh, I am informed that you accused him of er-in fact, that you insinuated he was untruthful," "I? Oh, dear me, no! Not at all. The truth of dear me, no? Not at all. The truth of the matter was just this: I had to charac-terize his attitude in some way. Now, you see, I couldn't speak of his simplicity, because it would not be exactly complimentary. Of course, I couldn't speak of his multiplicity, because that wouldn't be Of course, I couldn't speak of true, you know. So, naturally, I had to call it duplicity, don't you see? It really was forced upon me, you understand."

Senor Canovas, the prime minister of Spain, rejoices, according to a New York Tribune contributor, in the nickname of "The Monster." From the purely physical point of view he merits the soubriquet, for he is without exception the "ugliest statesman of any recombination in the Old World man of any prominence in the Old Short, squat, awkwardly built, a close-cropped, scrubby mustache failing to conceal his irregular and discolored teeth, coarse-featured and squinting violently, he adds to all these attributes an almost ungovernable temper and a most undisguised and unmitigated contempt for his fellow-crea-

Canovas, it seems, began life as a subordinate railroad employe; then he tried jour-nalism as a profession, next he drifted into law, and then into politics. He has won-derful powers of oratory, which stand out pre-eminent in a country where all are eloquent, and his patriotism is described as "above reproach." The prime minister of Spain does not "hit it off" very well with the queen regent, owing, it is said, to the brusque and inconsiderate way in which he behaved toward her at the time of her husband's death.

Nor does the premier stand high in the good graces of the little king. Entering the royal lad's presence some weeks ago, the conservative leader addressed him as Bubl. the pet name used by his mother. The familiarity greatly offended the 8-year-old monarch, for, with an air of disdain, he exclaimed: "I am only Bubi for mamma, for you I am el Rey (the king)!"

A resident of Cincinnati who knew Sousa, A resident of Cincinnati who knew Sousa, the bandmaster, when he was a boy in Washington, says: 'His mother was a German and his father a Spaniard, and though they had other children Mrs. Sousa would always talk of 'my Chonny,' as if he was the only one. 'Chonny' had every whim gratified. He wanted a plane, and got it; a violin, and got it; a drum, got it; a horu, got it. His parlor was like a music store. He played everything with ease. He was at first a drummer boy in the army, but later got charge of the Marine band, whether by influence or merit, I do not know. That gave him room to develop, and he did to an amazing extent. He is now handled by a syndicate, which furnishes him musicians, pays all his expenses and gives him a net salary of $6,000 a season. Besides he has the profits from his musical publications. His managers are making money on him, and Sousa is enjoying the tour, for he has absolutely no responsibility but the conlucting of the band at concerts.

In the English Protestant cemetery, writes a Rome correspondent of the Cleveland Leader, and but a few feet distant from the tombstone of Shelley, lies a marble slab over the grave of a well known authoress. She was a Cleveland woman in former years, and many are the admirers of her numerous writings. As I looked upon her grave I could not but regret her untimely taking off, for her life gave still greater promise of usefulness in the literary world. But God's finger touched her, and she slept, and the inscription upon the stone is: Constance Fenimore Woolson.

The Inscription is sufficient. No laudatory epitaph of high-sounding words is required, for her writings and a beautiful life have reared for her a most fitting monument, which will outlast bronze and marble, which is perishable.

Miss Ume Tsuda, head of the English department in the Peeresses' school, Tokio, Japan, tells in the Independent a touching story of the aged mother of Sakamoto, commander of the war ship Akagi, who was killed in the thickest of the fight during the great naval victory of the Yellow sea. Com-mander Sakamoto left an aged mother, a wife and three young children. As soon as his death was officially ascertained a messenger was dispatched from the Naval department to convey the sad tidings to his family. The communication was made duly to the wife, and before the messenger had left the house it had reached the ears of the old mother, who, tottering into the room where the officer was waiting, saluted and greeted him duly, and then, with dry eyes and clear voice, said: "So it seems by your tidings that my son has been of some service this time.'

Admiral Meade, says the Chicago Times-Herald, is first cousin to General George Gordon Meade of Gettysburg fame, and is known as one of the implacable union men. He belongs to a class of which Congressman Boutelle of Maine, himself a former navy man, is a typical representative. Boutelle is one of the best fellows in the world. He is brave, manly and generous. Yet for the life of him he cannot get over a certain feeling about the former officers of the confederate army.
