president of the Board of Visitors, and Jor John M. Carson, one of the best mill- y critics in civil life, was secretary, the board urged in strong language an increase it the cadet corps and recommended the methods by which it could be accomplished. suggested that besides one from each con gressional district, to be selected on the rec-ommeniation of representatives, the president should be permitted to appoint ten each year should be permitted to appoint ten each year, instead of being permitted to maintain ten, and that one be selected by each senator of the United States. The board made many suggestions as to the examinations of cadets and the methods to be pursued in their selection, and insisted that with the large plant maintained by the government at West Point there should be a much greater output, and that it might be desirable if three times the number who now sirable if three times the number who now have the advantage of a military education at West Point could be turned out as finished military products from the scalemy. Of course it was not expected that all who might graduate under this increase of material could or would obtain commissions in the army.

Probably two-thirds of those receiving the splendid education there afforded would be glad to return to civil life, to take up the more profitable avocations there to be found. The suggestion was made that those entering civil life could be required to report quar-terly to the adjutant general of the army, so that their whereabouts could at any time be ascertained, and when an emergency de-manded their services they could be commismanded their services they could be commissioned for any increase of the army that might be needed. The board devoted considerable time to the question whether the strength of the corps of cadets as now established by law should be increased. This is not a new question. It has been discussed in congress, in the public pers, and in the reports of former boards of visitors. Opinion has been discussed touching the general prop-

in increase should be made and the methods "To maintain 1,000 cadets at West Point not be impracticable, but would be impolitic, for several reasons, not the least of which is that of expense. The work performed at the military academy is admittedly of the highest importance and value to the nation. If we are to consider the academy merely as the means of furnishing the necessary material for supplying the annual casualties of the present army in time of peace, no change in existing laws governing the number admitted is required. military academy has been established and brought to its present high standard of excellence and efficiency by years of labor and experience and large expenditure of money. It has capacity for training and educating at one time at least 400 students without material increase in the annual cost of its maintenance, and the board believed It would be good policy to obtain for the army and the country the full fruition of the institution by increasing the strength of the corps of cadets, so that it may be at all times, after providing for casualties, nearly equal to the membership of the house

DIFFICULTY THAT EXISTS. "One of the difficulties to which General Schofield has frequently called attention in his reports, not only since he has been in command of the army, but when he was superintendent of the military academy, was the lack of mental preparation, that, while it might permit the youth to enter the acad-emy, did not qualify him, although he might very studious during the first year, to pass the examination at the end of the first year at the academy. General Schofield has frequently urged that the states should maintain preparatory military schools, and that the selections for cadetships at West Point should be made from these schools In talking with him on his last visit I sug-gested that I didn't know a better opportunity to inaugurate this experiment or better place to establish such a school than cid Fort Omaha, when it should be aban-doned by the troops. He said he greatly hoped this might be done, and that he cer-tainly would lend all his influence to bring about this result. It would, of course, require legislation, for in the bill providing for the building of Fort Crook it is provided that Fort Omaha, when Fort Crook is pied, shall be sold under the direction of the secretary of war. I have no question, how eyer, but that our accomplished representatives from Nebraska in the senate and house be able to produce the legistration that shall donate old Fortha to the state of Nebraska Omaha for a state military school for preparation for West Point Military academy and the As napolle Naval academy. The state could well afford to accept the donation and take upon itself the maintenance of such a school. The youth selected for it should be divided among the congressional districts and should be se lected from the brightest and best of the pu-pils of the higher grades of schools, nominated, perhaps, to pass a mental and physical examination by the representatives in congress, and appointed finally by the governor. The best of these pupils should, after the preparatory course has been had, be selected to be sent to West Point and Annapolis. I have no question of the entire success of this experiment if it should be inaugurated. M. impression is that The Omaha Bee some year age made suggestions similar to this, and believe that the journals of the state would

GROWTH OF MILITARY SPIRIT. "The growth of what some are pleased to call the military spirit, throughout the coun-try during the last ten years, is remarkable Citizens throughout the whole country are seeing the advantage that is to be gained to the youth of the country by military drill and discipline. It helps both body and mind, teaches habits of cleanliness, sobriety, order and subservience to established authority When I entered upon my duties on the committee on military affairs I found that comparatively few army officers were permitted to be detailed for military instruction in state schools and universities. Three separate times as a sub-committeeman I recommended favor-ably bills to enlarge the number, until now 110 officers of the army and navy are per-mitted to be detailed to state institutions of learning to teach the military art.

with one accord favor it.

"The next commanding general of the army is that most distinguished and experienced soldier, General Nelson A. Miles. I feel warranted in saying that in this matter he is in full accord with the views expressed by Gen-eral Schofield, and I firmly believe that he will lend his influence to the establishmen the Nebraska State Military school at Fort

"While upon this subject I woul! like to urge upon the commissioners of Douglas and Sarpy counties the necessity of a new boulevard or driveway from Omaha to Fort Crook, passing over the high bluffs that overlook the Missouri river. The expenditure of but a small amount of money would make a magnif-leent highway that, adapted for the use of trolley cars, carriages and bleyeles, and lined with trees, would be one of the most attrac-tive in the country. No citizen will visit the new post as 't will look when completed, who will not favor the expenditure of the money needed to build this highway."

BROTHERHOOD OF LABOR.

Window Glass Workers of America Will

Assist the Belgian Strikers. PITTSBURG, June 8.—Preliminary steps with a view of forming an international federation of the Window Glass Workers' assoclation for the protection of its mutual interests have been taken. At the coming convention of the association, which will meet in this city June 18, the proposition will probably be one of the most important on record and an alliance with the amalgamated workmen of France and Beigium negotiated.

A strike has been in progress in Belgium for several weeks and the American work-men desire to ascertain the status of the trouble, with the object of giving them financial aid. Immediate action is urged by many members of the Window Glass Workers' association, as it is recognized that the defeat of the Helgians will work hardships upon the American workmen and will eventually result in the demoralization of the wage rate ers' association have urged that money be contributed at once to support the Belgian strikers, if they are in need of it. The crisis abroad has led to the consideration of the benefits of an international union of the craft organizations. Such an alliance was maintained between the workmen of American and Beiglum for many years, but the Americans withdrew.

Trade Returns Fairly Satisfactory. NEW YORK, June 8 .- A special cable dispatch from London to the Evening Post says: The trade returns for May are fairly satisfactory. The increase of exports was mainly due to increased American demand. Three hundred thousand pounds worth of worsted manufactures and £90,000 worth of woolen mats were taken by the United

INVENTORY AND ESTIMATE FILED

Cost of the Eighty Cells and of the Stout Invoice Deducted from the Value of the Dorgan Property-Churchill Thinks it Safe to Pay Dorgan.

LINCOLN, June 8 .- (Special.) -- State' Prison Contractor W. H. Dorgan will receive from the state $33,408.90 for his plant at he pen and his unexpired contract.

The Board of Public Lands and Buildings seld a meeting this morning at the office of Land Commissioner Russell. There were present by invitation of the board Governor Holcomb and State Auditor Eugene Moore. Appraisers W. J. Broatch and A. H. Gale and Umpire J. N. Gaffin submitted their report of their findings, together with a com- he added that the state could save $1,000 a plete inventory of every- article within the walls of the penitentiary. The total amount of property found, including an allowance of $3,000 for the alleged unexpired contract, was $55,328.33. The appraisers say that the contract is well worth $20,000 a year, and it has fifty-three months to run. But they allowed Dorgan but $9,000 net for this item. They then deducted $21,919.43 from the sum total, leaving Dorgan's share $33,408.90. This is exactly the amount which The Bee stated he would receive, being $35,000, the sum appro-oriated by the law passed at the last session, ess the cost of appraisement, $1,531.10. The total transaction can best be shown by

he following table:

For Dorgan The board allowed the two appraisers, Broatch and Gale, and Umpire Gaffin $500 each for their labors, and the experts $91.10.

CAN SAFELY PAY IT TO DORGAN.
There was nothing said about the side sgreement existing between Dorgan and Mosher, but Attorney General Churchill, who was present, said that the state would be per feetly safe in paying Dorgan for the property and the appraisers and umpire for their work. Following is the prefatory statement of the appraisers to the "Inventory of the Dorgan property at the Nebraska state penitentlary and appraisal of same in conformatory to legislative enactment, approved April 11, heir report and finding.

"The papers herewith attached comprise the inventory of property found, reports of experts called in, architect's estimate for constructing cells, value of the Stout invoice and statements of contractor and sub-con-ractors. 'From the gross value of Dorgan's contract rd property is deducted the estimated cost f constructing eighty cells, and also the esticatel value of the Stout invoice. In estinating the value of the contract the appraisers have left out entirely the profits acruing to Contractor Dorgan for sub-letting: his item in itself far exceeds the entire mount of the award, and will check up over $20,000 per year.

Board of Public Lands and Buildings Makes

Him Superintendent at the Pen-LINCOLN, June 8 .- (Special Telegram.)-Ex-Warden Beemer is back in the penitentiary. Following the meeting this morning of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings, at which the apprelisers of Dorgan's property made the report, the board held another session this afternoon and appointed Al Beemer as superintendent and steward of the penitentiary. This action created profound surprize in the vicinity of the capitol building. Mr. Beemer was seen this morning by a re porter for The Bee and asked if he expect any such action on the part of the board. replied that he was not prepared to say, month by locking the convicts up instead of paying 40 cents a day to a contractor for their maintenance. Whatever work was got out of them would be so much gain for state. He thought that the broom factory and the harness shop would be paying adjuncts to the penitentiary under state control. In hi pinion the convicts could be maintained for 30 cents a day per capita. Subsequent to the appointment of Beemer was interviewed. Holcomb Governor He said: He said: "I was very much sur-prised at the action of the board in appointing Mr. Beemer steward of the penitentiary. In the light of past decisions of the supreme court it is clearly illegal. The board has the right to manage the prison but I think that it must do so 346,328.23 cers appointed by Warden Leidigh and my-2,080.66 self. The appointment of a superintendent self. The appointment of a superintenden is something in the nature of a fifth whee to a coach. All that he can do the warder state. The appointment of a steward is, I think, unconstitutional, and I have an idea that Warden Leidigh will carry the matter nto the courts. There will have to be decision on this matter, as such innovations on the part of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings will have to be explained. Dorgan, is it understood, proposes to adiately evacuate the prison, regardless Judge Tibbetts' decision in the injunction case brought by the Illinois banks. This, by the way, does not seem to trouble Dorgan is the least. Governor Holcomb says that b believes the state is safe in purchasing th property of Dorgan and paying whomever the court shall say has a right to the money. THINKS THE MEN SMILE AT HER Arrest on the charge of Lunacy. LINCOLN, June 8 .- (Special.) -- Miss Louise Loretzen, an unfortunate young woman re cently asked to withdraw from the State miversity, where she manifested many peculiar symptoms of insanity, is now under arrest on complaint of fellow lodgers in the old Oriental hotel building, who declare that she is insene and ask her commitment. Her latest craze is that gentlemen roomers smile at her in the halls. She has been at tempting to maintain herself by dressmaking since leaving her classes in the "U., where she was addicted to taking down he hair during recitation periods and otherw innoying the professors.

Justice Spencer this morning handed down an opinion in the Buckner bigamy case, holding that the hearing given the case in the district court at Omaha does not constitute such a trial as would debar a trial here in the county where the crime was committed He also held that the Omaha court have furisdiction of a crime committed i Lancaster county. This decision is based upon the ruling of the supreme court in the celebrated Olive case, heard many years ago, and which presented a similar law point. He therefore overruled the plea in abatement and bound the accused over on a charge of bigamy. In default of the $300 bail bon l asked the prisoner went to the county jail

BRAYTON IVES IN COURT AGAIN. Will Try to Open the tase Against Henry

Villard. MILWAUKEE, June 8 .- Brayton Ives will shortly come into court and ask for a hearing on a motion to instruct the receivers of the Northern Pacific road to sue Henry Villard for shortages alleged to have been discovered in the Northern Pacific and Manitoba ransactions, both by Master Carey and by the comptroller of the company. The mo-tion, if granted, will bring up the former petition of Ives in which he asks that the receivers be instructed to bring suit against not only Villard but Messrs. Colby and Hoys for alleged irregularities and illegal manipu-lations in the transactions of the Cooke City & Rocky Fork and the Northern Pacific . Manitoba branches and the Chicago terminals. The petitlen filed last October has never been pased upon by the court.

It is the intention, it is stated, to secure an investigation somewhat similar to that of Receiver Oakes, when Villard will be given an opportunity to defend himself. This, it is understood, will be favorable to the receivers. The investigation is desired by the company as it is liable to lead to disclosures of things not now understood by thers than Mr. Villard. Failing in the attempt to secure an invest! gation Brayton Ives will urge that the receivers bring suit against Villard at once. If suit is brought there is a probability that it may include all of the counts with which Carey charges Villard in his report The petitions are now under consideration by Colonel Silas Petit, Ives' attorney, who will present the argument to the courts and appear for the company in subsequent processes.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED.

Charges of Bribery Withdrawn and New Conds Issued.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8 .- The trouble between N. F. Cleary, the mining man of Leady.lle, who represented English capitalists in the bonding of the Rawhide gold mine, owned by A. W. Neville and others, have been settled and the suits are to be dismissed. Cleary sued Neville to compel him to give extension of the bond. Mr. Neville sued for $200,000 damages, ing Cleary with an attempt to bribe himself and S. M. Shortridge, one of his attorneys. "Mr. Cleary has dismissed the suit, paid all the costs, and gives our attorneys, Del-mar and Shortridge, a contingent fee of $25,000," said Mr. Neville. "He gave up the bond and all the other papers. Ther we bonded the mine anew to E. W. Fielding of London for $2,000,000 for thirty days, and include with the mine the Tuolumer ditch. This means about 200 miles of direct On July 1, to get further extension of the bond they must pay a forfeit of $50,000. VICTORY FOR THE PULLMAN. Judge Eunis Fails to Get the Big Salary

CHICAGO, June 8 .- The jury in Judge Hencey's court returned a verdict in the Pullman-Ennis case, finding for the plaintiff and awarding him $180. The verdict was not satisfactory to Judge Ennis and he at once asked for a new trial. The amount he was suing for was $49,000. Judge Ennis brought suit against the Pullman company for salary as general counsel for the road for a period of six years that he claimed was in arrears Judge Hencey in instructing the jury tole it that by the statute of limitations the it was the last two months of ered by it was the last two months of Judge Ennis' service with the Pullman com

Unique Swindler Working the West. CHICAGO, June 8 .- Formal notice has een received from Postmaster Dayton of New York that a swindlir, calling himself George P. Turner, is defrauding dressmakers and milliners in Wisconsin, Minnesota and elsewhere in the west by obtaining payment elsewhere in the west by obtaining payment in advance (after showing samples) for goods to be shipped by "H. Adams & Co., Union Square, New York City," whose agent he professes to be. There is no such firm in New York, and several complaints from his victims have been received at the New York office. Postmaster Dayton writes: "It will be doing a public service to give warning in their papers of the fraudulent character of this man's operations. He may possibly assume other names than that mentioned

Refused to Renew the Preachers' Licenses ST. LOUIS, June 8 .- A refusal to continue the licenses of H. A. Hart and A. C. Magan caused a very animated discussion at the session of the St. Louis district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church Morning Star Houge Sta scuth yesterday. Messra, Magan and Hart have held local preacher's licenses for the ceived their licenses at the request of their fellow members. For some time past, how-over, they have been touring the country on vangelical missions and the refusal of their icenses for the coming year was based on the position that the church does no recognize the office of an evangelist.

Fatal Ending of an Indiana Fend. HUNTINGTON, Ind., June 8 .- A bloody tragedy occurred at a dance at Bappus, ten piles north of here, late last night. A feud had existed between the three Vaught brothers and Charles Christman, all of whom were at the hance. Fields Around Grand Island in Excellent Condition at Present.

Double that of Last Year and the Indications Are that the Crop Will Be Above the Average in Quality.

ACREAGE IN THE STATE UNUSUALLY HEAVY

GRAND ISLAND, June 8 .- (Special.)-The sugar beet fields are in an excellent condition. At this time of the year they have never been more promising. The recent heavy few acres south of this city the seed was blown out by the early strong wind, but these acres are very few in number and only make the exception to prove the rule. The acreage of the companion of bests and the secretary of bests and the secretary of the secreta rain has done them immense good. In a of beets put in by individual farmers this this year. The officers of the Oxnard Beet of a long run of the factory this winter.

ARLINGTON, Neb., June 8 .- (Special.)-There is planted to sugar beets in this vicinity about 300 acres. Those fields that were up before the late rains are a good stand and have been worked over. They are in fine condition and growing nicely. The seed that was not up before the rains has a hard crust formed on top, which has to be broken before the plant can come through, which is now being done, and the plants are coming up well. Some farmers did not have good seed for their first planting, and consequently had a replant, but the replanted crop is now up and is growing fine. Take the beet crop all through this vicinity, it promises now to be very good. The contractor from Norfolk was here a few days ago and expressed himself as well satisfied with the outlook.

NORFOLK, Neb., June 8.—(Special.)—The acreage of sugar beets this year is greatly in excess of that of any former year. The condition of the crop is somewhat in advance of the season. There has been suffi-cient rainfall, and the beet fields are in most excellent emdition. Most of them have already been thinned and some cleaned for the first time. Farmers are taking hold of sugar beet culture with a firm conviction that beets are altogether the safest and most profitable crop for them.

Corn, wheat and oats are a good stand with an acreage slightly in excess of last year. Winter rye is also a good stand, though some of it on low land was some what damaged by late frosts. copious rains, of course, greatly benefited all crops.

WAS VERY AFFECTIONATE Private Letters of Miss Barrington Read

The witness is a 12- British will play a bold game in order to year-old boy residing in the flat below the scene of the tragedy. The man's back was turned to the street and the boy did not see his face, so that he can give no description. There is every reason to believe that this man, who was in the act of ringing when observed, is the murderer, but the police have paid no attention to the lad as a witness, not ven interviewing him.

At the coroner's inquest, which was begun day, the private correspondence of Miss Harrington was produced in court and threw no light on the tragedy, nor did the letters prove as sensational as the detectives had inimated. The writing on several notes was identified by Frank M. Buck as that of his "Nell." one being signed "Ever Your Darling Nell." The only letter produced significant of improper relations between the two was dated Chicago and written on a letter head of Porter Bros. "The control of the steamer Carlisie City a few days ago, were sold at the same average price. Nine-teen American horses." Porter Bros. The penmanship was not posi-tively identified as that of Buck. Frank Buck. when asked to explain the familiar way in which his father addressed Miss Harrington. frankly stated that it was because of his

He says that any convention that may be called by the silver men if they were to ignore the authority of the democratic national committee would be but a "rump" convention and would not be representative of the democratic party. Al-though he admits there is a strong feeling in the south and west in favor of free coin age of silver, Mr. O'Nell says the views of the extremists who were present at the Springfield convention do not represent the sentiments of the majority of the people of the country nor even a majority of the demoratic party.

"If they persist in their course," said Mr. O'Neil, "in my belief it will result in the further degradation of silver rather than its advancement, because the more this question is discussed before so an intelligent jury as the people of the United States, it seems to me the worse it is for the extreme advocates of silver."

Suit to Wind Up a avings Institution. ST. PAUL, June 8.-The state of Minnesota through its attorney general, says that the Tontine Savings association of Minneapolis is a swindling concern and a gambling scheme and has applied to the court to have its busines wound up, for the appointment of a receiver and for an order restraining the offi-ters of the association from performing any of their functions. The legal proceedings instituted in the United States district court before Judge Otis are to be heard one week from today. While the principal office was in Minneapolis, it is alleged, that the principal business in carrying out the swindling and gambling scheme was carried on in Chi esgo, where a large number of bonds were sold. S. W. E. Devore is president and general manager of the association; R. M. Sweet, vice president; N. A. Strong, secretary and treasurer, and W. D.
