IDENTIFIED BY SEVERAL. Evidence Implicating Howard and Frank

in the Brosnihan Robbery.

Evidence is constantly being accumulated against the alleged safe robbers, Howard and Frank, and it now begins to look as though they could not escape conviction. Howard has been identified by Pawnbroker Hascall of South Omaha, as the man who tried to pawn a diamond belonging to Jim Lowry, the South Omaha saloon keeper, and which was one of the articles stolen from the Anheuser-

The diamond is a handsome stone, with the exception of a slight flaw, exactly in the center. This is not apparent without a magniflying glass, yet it serves as a medium telle Forbes of Omaha, Miss Marie Donnelly for its positive identification.

On the day following the Anheuser-Busch robbery a man entered Hascall's place and asked him how much the jewei was worth. Hascall examined the stone with a glass, detected the flaw, and said that it was not worth more than $15. He refused to buy it even at that price. He states that there was something about the man's actions that aroused his suspicions. Hazcall was at the police station yesterday, and declares that he can swear that Howard is the man police station yesterday, and declares that he can swear that Howard is the man who offered the diamond for sale.

The Brosnihan women have also identified Howard and Frank as the men who robbed their house in South Omaha the morning before they were arrested. The little girl is also sure that they were the men, as they made her get up and show them where her father and nother slept. She had ample opportunity to observe them closely. DEAF MUTES GRADUATED.

ommencement Exercises at the Nebraska Institute Friday. About 500 Omaha people were present a he graduating exercises of the Nebraska

School for the Deaf Friday afternoon. Upon entering the crowded audience roon one would think the glorious Fourth was at hand. "Old Glory" was everywhere, with bunting and stars and crescents and flowers and sweet children in profusion. Nothing was left out to make it a great gala day for the deaf pupils and their invited guests. A school exercise of very small children conducted by Miss McCheane, was the first on the program. These children had been taught by speech and hearing methods. Last is the most complete work of the kind ever fall they were practically deaf and dumb. With nine months' training they can hear and speak several hundred sentences. The ears are trained to catch the different sounds of bells, whistles, voices, etc., and the lips taught to speak. These little tots spoke in each other's ear, and repeated sen-tences after each other in a way that seemed to a stranger marvelous. Little Bessie Speaker of Omaha is one of these "fluent talkers. Miss Regnier's class came next. They have had two years' drill in the same manner, and can do one year's more talking than the primary class. After a wonderful showing of hearing and lip reading and talking, they went through a flag drill, keeping step to music, followed by a pretty little colored girl dancing a fig to "Yankee Doodle." Daisy kept good time, in her head, for she can't hear. In this class

Mabel Scanlan talked through an imaginary telephone to her papa in Kearney and told him what was going on. She said: "I have the floor now," and repeated in a good voice "Now I lay me down to sleep." talked in her ear, and together they showed much training and great improvement. Miss Connett's class, third year, recited a geography lesson by speech, and it was noticed that though "deaf mutes" it was all done with no signs, and as any speaking school would recite, provided the hearing school had an up to date teacher.

Another class, taught by Miss Rudd, made a fine showing. Miss Rudd is totally deaf berself, and teaches by the manual method. She had a pantomime, in which Sir Walter Raleigh was smoking, and his ignorant and new servant, thinking he was on fire, poured water over him. This little incident was pantomimed by two boys, written out in cor-rect English by the teacher, taken in quickly by the class, crased, then written out in a moment by the pupils. This is one way of giving the children a knowledge of lan guage, called the complete thought method, and has proved a great help in securing good English, free from deafmuteisms. Miss Rudd has been in the school from her childood, is a fine talker, an expert lip reader and a wonderfully successful teacher.

The graduates who are totally deaf and have never been taught speech were: Miss Esof South Omaha, and Mr. John Flood o Sydney. Miss Donnelly's oration on "Erin" was read by Mr. Stewart, while she delivered it in signs, a beautiful exercise, en-joyed by all.

showed that the deaf graduate was not one whit behind the more fortunate hearing boy in the public schools.

Estelle Forbes had the valedictory. Her thoughts were beautiful and gracefully expressed. The sign sluging, as usual, was an interesting feature of the exhibition. These songs, always touching, bring tears to the many friends who follow the program. The major was always resembled to the major was always resembled to the program of civiling triends. many friends who follow the program The major was warmly greated by army through, with wonderment, sympathy and civilian friends. ove.

At the close the superintendent asked the audience to stand and sing the doxology, while the pupils, too, joined in the sign language. Then the great audience was invited into the art room, where the accomplished artist, Miss Murray, received them and exhibited her children's work. The walls of the room were covered with beautiful studies in oil, crayon and water colors. nicely mounted and ready for framing. It is claimed that no work so good can be shown in any of the public schools. Those connected with the educational department in the Nebraska shool are Mr. Mosely, Mr. Stewart, Miss Rudd and Mrs. Camp in the deaf department, Mr. Taylor, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Connett, Miss Reguler and Miss Mc-Cheane in the auricular and oral depart-

JUDGMENT HOLDERS EAGER

Refunding of Money for Poor Farm Lots Urgently Insisted On.

LAW READ TO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

If an Extra Levy is Not Made Mandamus Proceedings May Be Begun-Saturday Half Hollday for County Employes -Furnass is Decapitated,

Eighty-five thousand dollars of judgments n a single bunch came into the hands of the county commissioners at their meeting yesterday afternoon. These judgments are rendered in favor of twenty-one distinct plaintiffs, being those parties alone represented by Judge Doane and C. B. Keller.

Attached to the list of judgments was a ommunication informing the board that the parties mean business. After referring the ounty board to the particular sections of the statute under the title of "Revenues," dealng with the method which the county must pursue to pay its debts, when in the shape of judgments, the creditors go on to state that they are informed that a rumor is current that the board intends to make no extra levy above the ordinary levy made last January the amount of which it is supposed would just pay the current county expenses, besides being up to the full statutory limit. The creditors ask the county to divest itself of the notion that nothing will be done by them if an extra judgment levy is not made and cite law to show that the county has full legal authority to make such a levy to pay its debts.

These judgments are a portion of the poor farm judgments. The commissioners express themselves variously upon the subject as to what can and will be done to meet these judgments. A mandamus suit is threatened if nothing is done in the way of a levy.

The board determined to allow county employes a Saturday half-holiday. Commis-sioner Jenkins offered a resolution fixing the hours in the court house on Saturday from to 1 o'clock. Chairman Williams opposed the change on the ground that there was no distinction between raising salaries and cuting hours. Jenkins, Livesey and Sutton, the balance of the board present, favored the idea, calling attention to the city offices, banks,

The sheriff asked for more clothing for the prisoners. Objection was made to allowing the clothing because he has filed no in-ventory of stock on hand.

The South Side Improvement club sent two eprsentatives, Isaac Hascall and Ernest Stuht, to push the claims of the proposed ex of South Thirteenth street from the city limits to Fort Crook. They asked count aid to the Sarpy county Ine, after which they said they felt assured this driveway would be properly attended to by Sarpy Friday afternoon the club will b granted a hearing.

The public is demanding the lecture bureau and seems to be drifting ectures and musicales in preference to plays from opinions expressed judging one by leading men down east, who ought to be posted. I find that there is a decided rivival in public interest for lectures.

"The money question is the absorbing topic everywhere, but I believe that the American public is able to settle it and settle it right."

Was Frank Dana's Sister.

Francis Dana, formerly of this city, but ow located in Chicago, received the sad intelligence last week that his sister, Mrs. Whiting, and her two children were lost on the Pacific Mail steamship Colima, which went down off the coast of Mexico. Several years ago Prof. Whiting resigned a chair in the faculty of Harvard college and accepted a like position in the University of California, being induced to make the change by reason of ill health.

Planet Lodge Will Not Secede.

There was a rumor affoat that the German members of the Knights of Pythias of this city would follow the example of their brethren in some other places and withdraw from the order, at the same time joining the recently established order of Knights of Pythias in Indiana. The latter, as will be remembered, was founded shortly after the last convention of the supreme council decided that the work in all the lodges of the order should be done in English. Planet lodge of Omaha, composed solely of German members, has recently resolved to stay with the old order.

BOOKCASES.

The accepted arrangement or scheme of urnishing in nearly every library today proides for a line of low bookcases, leaving a wall space for pictures equal to at least three-fifths of the total height of the room. Such low cases, finely made throughout, and with little or no adornment, are rarely, found in the stock of an ordinary furnture store. They can always be procured of us, however, and at about half the price you
