Russell then presented the governor with a paper, which recited that inasmuch as the chairman of the board had refused to call the esting, the board itself called one to be held at 10 a. m., on Friday, August 2, at the office of the commissioner of public lands and buildings. The two lower lines of this document were filled in with the names of Russell and Campbell. The upper line was left blank. It is still blank.

This scene was witnessed by Judge Grimmison of Schuyler, Private Secretary Maret, Clerks Nelson and Mary of the governor's office and members of the press. The governor read the document through carefully, and, turning, said, with a smile:

MAINTAINED HIS POSITION. "I think, gentlemen, you understand my

He then turned to his desk, and Russell and Churchill went back to the former's office and joined Tom Majors, where a secret conference was held. Shortly after noon two letters were sent in to the governor, one each from Russell and Churchill. In point of fact they were letters of apologies. Russell said in his epistle that he did not intend to be discourteous to the governor. If he had done o he regretted it. He then went into an exhaustive review of the constitution, as, he under cod it, and said if Commissioners Brown and Deaver could defy the legislature they could defy the courts. He ad-mitted that all of the correspondence emanating from the governor had been clean and dispassionate. The letter was, in short, a semi-apology and complete back-down in many respects from his former position.

Churchill's letter is in very much the sam strain. He makes, however, the audacious claim that the governor has not pointed out a way in which the matter can be amicably adjusted. He overrules the supreme court by saying that the only way it can be got into court is by first appointing the commissioners, when the court has said once that an agreed case could be made up.

CONSPIRATORS ARE CONFUSED. It is evident from the back-down today of the conspirators that they are confused and somewhat at a standstill, despite the backing of Tem Majors, who was awaiting their return from a fruitless mission.

The intimation that the governor may legally call the board together within the thirty days allowed by the bill confuses them. Neither Russell nor Churchill seems

Paul Vanderwoort came down from Omaha today and held quite a prolonged interview with Governor Holcomb. He said, in advance, that Colonel Foster, W. J. Broatch and himself were the ones who were to be selected by the appointing board as fire and police commissioners for the city of Omaha. He was also desirous of convincing Governor Holcomb that it would be to the best interests of the latter to sign his commission. He outlined the policy which he thought would be carried out following the appointment. It was to have que warranto proceedings com-menced in Judge Scott's court, the old board

It so happened that when the Churchill-Russell bill was drafted it provided that the term of one of the appointers would expire in December, 1895, one in December, 1896, and the third in 1897. None of the three short term. This information was conveyed to the Churchill-Covell-Scott headquarters the New York Life building yesterday afternoon, and a session was at once held upon the three appointees. They were given to understand that if they were not satisfied to take their chances on the long and the short terms they could step down and let other men slip in, as there were plenty who would accept without asking questions concerning how long they were to continue in office. Having done this, C. B. Scott and a number of others who were backing up the Churchill-Russell fight, commenced to indulge in the oil pouring business. They offered to sacrifice several things in the interest of harmony. Things would not turn

BEST CONTEST SEEN HERE THIS SEASON

Each Side Was in the Game from End to End and the Ball Was Kept Rolling Stendily All the Time.

One of the very best and prettiest games of ball played in Omaha this season was that between the University club team and the strong aggregation from Wahoo. The contest feeldedly brilliant. The playing of the University team, despite the fact that it Boston was not out in its fullest strength, was the best it has done this season. One error alone At 4:30 p. m. Tom Majors arrived at the capitel and stalking past the door of the governor's office joined Russell and Churchill the office of the commissioner of public lands and buildings. Then, accompanied by Russell and Churchill, the three moved on the rooms of the governor. Governor Holcomb had previously notified them that he would not take part in any meeting of the kind, nor could it be held in the executive of the commissioner and attorney office. The land commissioner and attorney marred the score, a must by Ittner, who is some of his stops and pickups being of the the equal of any professional work seen in Omaha this year. Eddle did not give a single base on balls and Arthur nailed every man quick and accurate at short and Reynolds was au fait at second. Empera Beat the Odds on Favorite. ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—The surprise of the day at Fair Association park was in the fourth race, when the world beater Tartarian was defeated. Tartarian was a prohibitive favorite at 1 to 4, but the 10 to 1 shot, Emepra, beat him out rather easily in the fast time of 1:304, which is within onequarter of a second of the track record for the distance, seven and a half furious.
Empera went to the front at the start and made the running, while Tartarian raced along with Rey del Mar. Around the stable turn Empera increased her lead, while Tartarian drew away from Rey del Mar and went after her. He could not catch her, however, and finished second, with Rey del Mar third. Summaries:

ADJUSTABLE RATIAN COUCH

Here is one of the greatest treats of the warm season. The coolness of this adjustable Rattan Couch can scarcely be realized until it is tried.

The entire top is of closely woven rattan, which gives that extreme flexibility which no other furniture can ever attain. The frame is of selected white maple, and while light has great strength.

. There are ten different adjustments to the head! No chair or sofa over devised can boast of over half this number. Every person can find his exact need supplied in one or another of those adjustments.

It can be changed in a moment! You can read with the body at one angle, smoke at another, talk at another, doze at another, and so for every pursuit the chair can be adjusted for any taste or person.

It costs only $7.50.
