was about the dinner hour, so passed several places and went on to where they were running a routette wheel, where cigars were the nominal premium, but it was really a game for money. You selected a paddle with a number running from one to six, corresponding to numbers on the wheel. There were three "stool-pigeons," confederates, who each took a paddle, while the operator held two paddles himself. On the face of it there were 5 to 1 against you, but in resitty it was 1,000,000 to 1 against you, but in resitty it was 1,000,000 to 1 against you, because the operator controlled the wheel with a wire. COMES FROM CONEY ISLAND. One the other aids was a stand where they were playing the Coney Island plate game, which gave you a chance of winning watches and revelvers and other valuable prizes for an outlay of 10 cents. The top of a low table was covered with tin disks about four liches in dismeasure the advance of of a low table was covered with the disks about four inches in diameter, the edges of which touched. The object was to completely cover a single tin disk with four brass disks by throwing them onto the table from outside the ropes, a distance of about five fest. I watched the attendant throwing them, and if anybody should have been an expert it was he, for he stood their throwing them all day. Out of twenty trials he succeeded the extinces, and he had trials he succeeded the times, and he had the advantage of about two fee by being within the ropes. And yet there were plenty of fish who bit on this bait.

"Well," said Mr. Dutton, "I am mighty rry to know that this has the going on, but I assure you that neither the commander of the camp ner our committee were aware of it. Your state fair in Omaha and the various county fairs are about to take place, and I want you to show this Those games are nothing but plain robbery, and that is all. If the man-agement of fairs and reunions knew about them they would not be permitted."

On the street connecting the two avenues was a table marked off in squares on which were displayed watches, revolvers and the cheapest displayed watches, revolvers and the cheapest kind of cheap jewelry, key-rings and brass trinkets. The squares were numbered from twelve to forty-five. For 15 cents the dealer gave gon a hand of eight cards, and you benumber of which corresponded to the square the the numbers on your cards. No one but one of the paid "stool-pigeons" ever received any prize worth more than 3 ceals. It did not take long to see how it was worked. The big prizes were all or below fifteen. The sum of the eight cards from a deck which contained only a few ones and sixes could never add up more than forty

On good authority I learned that there was a three card monte game going on in one of the tents. It was not public, but neveral steerers were out gathering in the unsophis-ticated lambs and leading them to be fleeced. There was one man whom I saw with a pocket full of pennies, who doubtless was an expert at matching and was plying his trade. There were other games which were tried for a short time, but did not run more than a day. One was pitching a quarter at a wash bowl about twelve feet away, with a chance of getting 50 cents if successful. I saw at least $10 thrown, and not a cent returned, so it was profitable business. At that distance the angle was such that a coin thrown a half inch too high would go over the bowl and too low would strike the edge, so there was about one chance in a million in getting into the bowl. Besides this were fake strength-testing machines, which displayed prizes never to be gained. Other fake games

f a similar nature were also on the grounds. There is little doubt in my mind that an organized gang was working this reunion for all it was worth. I know that the cigars used on one game were supplied by another fakir on the other side of the grounds. After I was engaged for a while in watching the games I found that I was no longer solicited to play and they seemed to have an idea that I was spying on them, so it is probable that they had some bond between them. This class of sharpers travels from one fair and reunion to another, and unless their managers adopt strict regulations they will continue to fleece unsophisticated.

IN FAVOR OF PRIMARIES AT YORK. Mass Meeting of Republicans of that City to Discuss the Matter.

YORK, Neb., Sept. 1 .- (Special.) -- A mass meeting of republicans was held last evening for the purpose of determining which would be more agreeable to the candidates for nominations before the county convention, which is to be held here September 10, to hold caucuses or primaries in the city of York in selecting delegates. Dr. Reynolds of this city was chosen chairman and I. A. Baker secretary. There seemed to be much feeling that primaries should be held in York, but what caused much discussion was whether or not it would be better to instruct the delegates for those receiving the majority of the votes cast, or to have them represent the candidates in proportion to the number of votes the majority would rule and the one receivmajority of the votes would be repre sented by the delegates from that ward Throughout the county it is probable that caucuses will be held.

Where the Governor's Cup and the Dispute Over it Will Be Carried. Members of the Omaha Guards authorize he statement that they know where the Governor's cup, which disappeared at Hastings, is and that today it will be taken to Lincoln and placed in the hands of the governor as commander-in-chief of the state militia. It is the intention of the Guards to make him an arbiter of the sorry dispute that arose at the state encampment, attorney has been employed to present the claims of the company before the governor and a willingness to abide by the executive's decision is expressed.

The position of the Guards in the main is that as finally but one company, the Nor-folk company, appeared in the drill, there was no competitive drill, and that therefore the Guards should retain the cup. They reicterate their complaint that they were dis-criminated against by Brigadier General

It is stated that before the drill was over at Hastings the cup was on its way to Omaha.

For several hours yesterday the people of Omaha were given an imitation of what it would be to be without street car facilities. Early in the morning a break in the mahinery at the Nineteenth and Nicholas streets sower house occurred, shutting down the Farnam, Walnut Hill and Twenty-fourth street lines during the greater portion of the As a result, trains were laid out all clong the lines and most of the down-town suburban attendants. The break was patched up in the afternoon and trains were run at ntervals until night, when the repairs were completed, and upon all of the lines trains went back to schedule time.

Passing of Major Sylvester. WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.-Major Richard Sylvester, the oldest and one of the best known journalists in Washington, died here today. Major Sylvestor has been identified with the Washington Post as an editorial writer since its foundation, in 1879, and up to the year before his death had scarcely missed a day from his death for any cause. As a political writer he was looked upon by his contemporaries as an authority without particulability or prejudice. A widow and four children survive him. The deceased was born in New Hampshire in 1839.

In addition to these attractions and at intervals during the afternoon and evening numbers of an informal program were rendered, which were festitvities were early begun by shooting contest, in which there were forty-two entries. The winner of the contest was Fritz Elvers, who obtained thirty-five points out of a possible thirty-six, while August Schagum and Berhardt Behrens were respectively adjudged second and third, each making a score of thirty-four. The winners were awarded prizes. On the sporting program there were a number of foot races, three for boys of different ages and a like number for girls and women, prizes being awarded in each event. A number of games were also played, an incentive in the shape of a prize being offered.

The most pleasing part of the entertain-ment was on the platform in front of the band stand late in the afternoon. Here the Omaha Saengerbund assembled, and after they had sung "Der Wacht am Rhine" Dr. dead at the Elkhorn depot this morning. Join Lewd Company. Patrolman Clark was suspended yesterday from the police force pending investigation on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and absence from his post while on duty. At an early hour yesterday morning the commanding officer at the city fall was informed that Patrolman Clark, whose beat covers the greater part of the burnt district, was away from his post and that he and Block Watchman Brown were making themselves merry in a notorious bawdy house.

A detail of officers in charge of a sergeant was sent down to investigate the rumor, as complaints had been made at various times by people in this neighborhood that they without police protection after 2 or o'clock in the morning. The squad sur-rounded the house and made a search of the premises, but found no "copper." There was a room that was locked, however, and the keeper of the dive refused to unlock it.

The police were stationed about the place but no one appeared.

The officer in charge ordered the men back to their quarters. They walked around the corner, but at once reappeared and found Clark coming from out the house. His helmet was crushed and his uniform looked as though he had been in hiding in a cellar or storeroom. He was ordered into the station and suspended. Brown also was found coming rom out the house.

The cases against the patrolman and watch man will be laid before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners tonight. The police say that Brown has passed a good examination for the position of patrolman on the Churchill-Russell police force and has been qualified and accepted. He is an ex-policeman. Clark has been on the force for six years and has heretofore borne a good reputation as an officer. He was formerly secretary of one of the councils of the A. P. A.

Ex-Governor Crounse and his daughters he Misses Gretchen and Marle Crounse, returned yesterday after a stay of almost seven months in Europe. They went by Gibraltar to Italy. A month was spent in Rome, some time at Florence and four months at Paris, where the Misses Crounse continued their studies in music and French. They were in England only to take ship at Southampton, and after landing at New York spent several days with friends on Long Island.

He said that in his absence he lost the thread of political events in Nebraska and was therefore not prepared to discuss matters pertaining to the administration of

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS

Tuesday is the day for the school bond election. It is a hard matter to obtain the general sentiment of the people, as very little interest seems to be taken in the affair. Indeed hundreds of people in town do not know that of the different clubs of the Western Base there is a special election on the tapis. No Ball league held a secret meeting at the one except heavy property owners are heard Great Northern hotel this morning. There to talk about the election, and it is doubtful were present B. B. Johnson of Cincinnati. If a heavy vote will be polled. The proposition president of the league; J. H. Manning, is to vote $40,000 in bonds to keep the schools running for another term, the bonds to run fifteen years and draw 5 per cent interest. In case the bonds do not pass the 20-mill levy assessed by the county commissioners for school purposes will be collected. Should the bond proposition pass the entire levy will be

Not Afraid of Texas Steers. The Texas fever scare at the Kansas City stock yards does not in the least alarm the managers of the Union stock yards here. It is true that Texas cattle are received here almost every day in the week, but every Texan shipped here must undergo an inspection at Kansas City and another examination here. All of the Texas stock shipped to this market come besides from above the fever belt and consequently there is no danger, it is thought, of the disease breaking out in English Medical Expert Talks of the Terror of London. NEW YORK, Sept. 1 .- Dr. Forbes Winslow of London, a well known specialist on suicide and insanity, says that "Jack the Ripper," who by his crimes terrorized London a few years ago, is incarcerated in a county lunatic asylum in England, Dr.

Winslow says this fact is known to the doc tors, but they hushed it up. The doctor has come to New York to attend the Medical congress, which will be held September 4, 5 and 6. He will be chairman of the department of insanity and mental medicine, and has prepared a paper on "Suicide Considered as a Mental Epi-demic." The doctor told the following story: " Jack the Ripper' was a medical student of good family. He was a young man of slight build and light hair and blue eyes. He studied very hard, and his mind, being Long Island.

Mr. Crounse says that after a stay of a few days in the city he will go to his farm near Calhoun, to permanently reside to the cevery morning at St. Paul's, His religious fervor resulted in homicidal mania toward the women of the street and im-pelled him to murder them. He lodged with a man whom I knew, and suspicion was first directed toward him by reason of the fact that he returned to his lodgings at unseasonable hours, and that he had innumer coats and hats stained with blood. "I have in my possession now Canadian moccasins stained with blood that the 'Ripper' wors while on his murdering expeditions. I notified the Scotland Yard authorities, but at that time they refused to co-operate with me. Subsequently the young man was placed in confinement and removed to an asylum, where he is today. Since his incarceration there has been no repetition of the horrible murders that he perpetrated.

These facts are all known to the English

be the subject of a public trial and there was no doubt of the man's hopeless insan

Another Side of the Case. OMAHA, Sept. 1 .- To the Editor of The Bee: In your article in The Bee of August 31st, entitled, "Must Await the Hour," you make it appear that the new ordinance re garding hucksters was for the benefit gardeners in order to give them a chance get a place for their wagons. As a matter of fact the ordinance is only for the benefit of the commissioners who sell part of the sidewalks and streets to Council Bluffs gardeners, and are now using the new ordinance to carry out their favoritism toward those Council Bluffs gardeners and against Ne-braska farmers, who have not paid these commissioners for the privilege of using the streets, I am a Nebraska farmer, and not a huckster. I raise my own goods and bring them to town to sell. This morning I was driven off the street, together with other gar-deners, to make room for a few favorites and I was surprised to hear myself referred to in the paper as a huckster. The whole who look out for illegal gain and are try ing to get the sympathy of the public by making it appear that the ordinance was for the benefit of the poor gardeners and again the friendless huckster. I protest hereby against this trickery and perversion of facts.

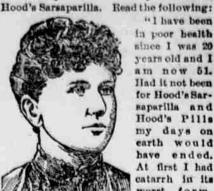

47 Half Howard Street. Not a Blessed Pencemaker. J. W. McCall and William Reid became involved in a quarrel late yesterday afternoon at Thirteenth and Leavenworth streets, which ultimately developed into a fight. As both were somewhat intoxicated, one of McCall's friends, Ike Hart, attempted to play the part of a peacemaker, and interferred. As a reward for his efforts he received a blow the mouth from McCall. At this moment policeman arrived on the scene and arreste
