INTERVENORS IN CANAL CASE

They Propose to Be Heard in Supreme

A VOLUMINOUS BRIEF

Not Willing to Be Put Out of the Con troversy by the Lower Court -Contention Made by Them.

Another move has been made in what is known as the Douglas county canal case. The intervening property owners of Omaha. who were barred out finally by the bane of district judges from farther participation in the suit, have made their appearance in supreme court. They come to the surface in this new arena with a voluminous brief, which their attorneys have just prepared in support of the separate writ of error they have sued out. The canal mandamus suit was filed by D. C. Patterson on May 2 last. After it had been fairly started, Guy C. Barton, John A. Creighton, William A. Paxton, Charles W. Lyman, Alfred Millard, John A. Horbach, James B. Kitchen, Joseph H. Millard, Andrew J. Poppieton, Henry W. Yates and Curtis W. Turner, citizens and taxpayers of Doug'as county, appeared in the district court and asked the privilege of intervening for the purpose of making a vigorous fight to oppose the construction of a canal. It was not without encountering many difficulties that on May 29 the intervenors were allowed to remain in court. Neither side seemed willing to concede an inch. Arguments were made and the case taken under advisement until June 9, when the case was decided in favor of the canal project. The intervenors were dismissed from the suit. It is from this order putting them out of the case that the intervenors appealed to the supreme court. The written argumen's which Messrs. Offutt and Poppleton have filed in behalf of their clients in the appeal case are advanced for the purpose of showing that after once having been admitted to the case the intervenors had a right to remain there and should not have been dismissed. After dilating on this proposition the intervenors assail the canal law on the same ground as that taken before the district beach, though they go much more into details. In addition to the alleged unconstitutionality of the act the position is taken that the petition addressed to the county commissioners, signed by 2,500 voters and more. is wholly defective, in that a route the pro posed canal should follow is described in the prayor of the petition. It is also contended that the county board, having refused to call an election cannot be compelled by mandamus to do so, as its action was a matter

When the canal case is before the supreme court these intervenors will claim a right to be heard when the arguments of the canal oters are made.

IMITATING A STORY GIRL.

Nellie Kuntz Tries Shoplifting and Cries When Caught. Officer Ryan yesterday afternoon arrested a girl who gave her name as Nellie Kuntz, but who in the same breath said that it was not her right name, on the charge of shoplifting. She was caught while in the act of carrying off a roll of silk valued at $50 in Hayden Bros,' store and admitted that she intended to steal it. According to her own statements, the girl has started out with the intention of becoming an expert shoplifter. She said that some time ago she read a story in which a female shoplifter figured as the heroine. The wo-man made a business of stealing from stores until she accumulated several carloads. Then went into the country and sold them to the farmers. In this way she made a snug

Mrs. Kerrigan's Purse.

Mrs. Kerrigan had an adventure with a pyrotechnist time to prepare his explosives highwayman last night near the corner of Eighteenth and California streets, in which the highwayman came out best, but not until after a struggle.

Mrs. Kerrigan lives at 613 North Twentyfirst street. She was in the center of the city in the evening shopping, and about 10 o'clack started home. When she reached the corner of Eightsenth and California streets she met a colored man, who grabbed her hand satchel, but at first he was not able to get it, as Mrs. Kerrigan held fast to it. Vic and Tom McCarty, Tom Gallagher and Billy Simpson were arraigned before County Judge Langdon at Papillion Friday after noon and were held without ball until the preliminary hearing, which will be held at 19 clock next Saturday morning. In reference to the wound on Simpson's head County Attorney Lefler insisted that an examination be made by physicians. Attorneys for the defense advised Simpson not to submit to an examination and then the county attorney stated that if the prisoner refused he would use force in making the exemination. Simpson was taken into a private room and the wound, which he says was made by a pop bottle, examined. The docors refuse to state what conclusion they arrived at and say they will not until the trial comes on and they are called as witnesses. It was reported in South Omaha yester-day by friends of the Case family that Jesse and John McCarty called at the Case resi-dence Friday afternoon and wanted to have a talk with the injured men, but admittance was refused. Up to the time when Simpson was turned over to the Sarpy county sheriff he insisted that he had been in a fight at Murphy's saloon. Both Murphy and his bar tender state that there was no disturbance in the place Wednesday night and that they do not know Simpson.

Ever since the McCarty-Case assault Chief Brennan has tried to keep the condition of the revolvers found on Vic McCarty and Tom Gallagher a secret. When questioned by a reporter Brennan said that he would turn the revolvers over to the sheriff of Sarpy county, but he positively refused to tell whether any of the chambers in the revolvers were empty.

The revolver found on Vic McCarty was a 44-caliber and only two loaded shells were in it when Vic was searched at the city jail. In Tom Gallagher's revolver there was one

At the meeting of the library board Ben jamin H. Barrows of Omaha was elected to fill that position, receiving six out of eight votes east on the first formal ballot.

There were present at the meeting of the board Messrs. Chase, Knox, Haller, Sudborough, Wallace, Rosewater, Reed and Mrs. McIntosh. Before proceeding with the election of librarian several new applications and endorsements of applicants were received and read. The full list of formal applicants included the following names: C. F. Catlin. Richard Stebbins, Robert B. Peattle, Margaret O'Brien (present assistant librarian), B. H. Barrows and John H. Huelff of Omaha; Mary E. Ahern of Indianapolis, J. Henry Wood of Buffalo and John F. Davies of Butte, Mont.

An informal discussion was had of the diferent possible candidates and their respective qualifications. After the vote was taken and the result announced a resolution was adopted that Mr. Barrows' incumbency of the librarianship begin at once, but that he be given a two weeks' leave of absence without pay in order to familiarize himself of the library methods in vogue in the leading libra-

The board, by a unanimous vote, instructed its book committee to draw up a formal resolution expressive of its thanks to Miss Jessie Allan, the retiring librarian, for her long and faithful work in the service of the library. The board also, by a divided vote, adopted a resolution to continue the ex-librarian, Miss Allan, on the pay roll at $150 for the month of September. Benjamin H. Barrows, the newly elected librarian, was until recently chief of the advertising department of the Union Pacific railroad. He has long been a resident of Omaha, During President Arthur's administration he was appointed consul to Dublin, a position which he held for a number of years. Mr. Barrows is a man of considerable literary culture and has always indulged his taste for good books. His own private library is said to be one of the best and choicest collections in the city, both as to selection and arrange

ing Mrs. Lamick. Richard Lamick, living at Twenty-fourth treet and the Union Pacific tracks, was in colice court yesterday and filed a com plaint against Mrs. Haddin Kasptkik, charg ing assault with a deadly weapon with the intent to do great bodily harm. The families are neighbors and for some time there has been trouble between them on account of a property line that runs between their houses.

The Kasptkiks have at different time built a fence on what they claim is the di-viding line. The Lamicks raised violent obections, saving that the building of the fence eral times have torn the fence down. Fri day the fence was again erected, much to the annoyance of the Lamicks, and at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning Richard La-mick went out and proceeded to demolish the partition. His mother was standing some little distance chind him, while he was making the lumber fly in all directions. Mrs Kasptkik ran out f her house and, picking up a brick bat, hurled it at Mrs. Lamick, striking her on the left side of the head. She fell to the ground unconscious. The neighbor woman threw another missile of the same kind and barely missed the head of a hired hand who was standing near by. The wounded woman was carried into the house, bleeding from an ugly gash across the ear and temple. dcian was called and dressed the wound. The assailant was arrested.

The average blue-jacket, as I knew him ong ago, says a writer in the North American Review, was always a good fellow, bu you seldom knew where to have him. He was unquestionably a drunken fellow, and he used to manage to get dead drunk faster than any other class of men with whom I have been acquainted. He was not steady. Apart from als officer he seemed almost a reed shaken with the wind, though his personal courage was always lionlike when roused. He was proud of his officer, es-pecially if the officer was hard on him. He was somewhat of a fatalist, quick to imagine that fate was against him and to give up the struggle against it. He was quarrelsome in his cups, but almost always dis-tinctly witty out of them. He preserves his humor to the present day. A story is told of certain "Bill" standing at the corner of street in Natal during the Zulu war, when certain general just landed, covered with glass, the compass, the note book, etc., passed near "Bill" and his companies "Jack."

"Who's 'im, Jack?" asked Bill. "Dunno," said Jack," seems to be one of them new generals just come ashore."
"H'm," returned Bill, preparing to put his pipe in his mouth again, "looks like a bloomin' Christmas tree!"

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A special to the Chronicle from Montreal says: The greatest arson conspiracy that has ever been concocted in America was unearthed here to-day. Warrants are out for ten of the most prominent merchants in the city and three of them have already been arrested. The thing started with the arrest of three men, Jenkins, Moore and Clores. About five weeks ago these men were arrested for set-ting fire to the wholessie stationery store of Boyd, Gillis & Co. Boyd, the senior member, suddenly left for Effects, and when Clores, after his arrest, turned queen's evidence it was found that Boyd was connected with the scheme, approved of it and procured part of the receipts which the insurance adjuster awarded as damages. A number of young Indians, descend-ants of former scouts, should receive com-pensation, but cannot because they remained on the reservation and were parties to the 1839 agreement. The same law provided that the regular annuities should be paid only to those on Sisseton reservation. FREIGHT MEN FEELING BETTER. Talk of Reviving the Old Trunk Line

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 .- The freight officials of the western roads are generally feeling highly encouraged over the outlook for bus iness this fall. They are feeling so confident that they will have a great amount of business to handle that a strong effort will probably be made in the near future to revive the Western Trunk Line committee which went to pieces a short time ago. The committee was allowed to lapse because the volume of business was so light that some of the roads would not put themselves in a position where they were likely to be de-barred from making an effort to secure as much of it as possible. When in a com-mittee agreement they would be compelled to take whatever percentage the agreement allowed to them, and this they were not willing to do. Now the amount of traffic in sight is so large that there is a disr to revive the committee and prevent the rates from going to a point where the roads will be likely to lose the best opportunity they have had for many a month to recour themselves for the reduced earnings they have faced so long. A circular looking to circulation among the western roads for some time. It has received so many signatures that there is a strong probability that a formal meeting will be called at a pearby date to discuss the best manner of getting formal meeting the committee on its feet once more to the Extent of $40,000. TERRE HAUTE, Sept. 7 .- J. D. Farden, he cashier of the Adams Express company, and J. R. Barnett, city ticket agent of the Vandalia, have disappeared, also a package of $16,000 deposited yesterday by Revenue Collector Jump for shipment to the Cincinnati subtreasury. No evidence of any crookedness has yet been found in Barnett's acounts. Farden gave a receipt for the $16,-000. He was formerly a pension examiner and stationed four years in Indianapolis under Harrison's administration. He is 38 years old, and has a wife and three children. Proof is now conclusive that Barnett was in the steal with Farden, and the police at mid-night authorized the statement that the amount would probably reach $40,000, and that the two men had literally cleaned the office of the entire day's receipts. Alexander Sanderson says that both Farden and Bar-nett called at his saloon last night several times, asking for each other, and that they both appeared to be in a state of intense nervousness and excitement. The affair has caused a sensation, and the Adams express office has been surrounded all night by John Stiles became very much intoxicated yesterday afternoon. He got somewhat boisterous when he drove up to a commission house on South Eleventh street with a load of chickens, and became mixed up in a fight with a number of men. When he emerged from the conflict one of his injuries was a badly cut lip, which required two stitches to mend. He was arrested on the charge of being drunk.

She Lost Her Money. M. J. Need, who lives at 501 South Thireenth street, was considerably excited when he rushed into the police station last night and reported that Mrs. L. Wirth, his motherin-law, had lost a small valise, containing a draft for $1,000 and $700 in currency, and also a hand satchel containing $62. A big burden had evidently been lifted off his mind when he came in again an hour later and said that the value had been found, although the satchel was still missing. Mrs. Wirth has lived in Sioux City, but ame to Omaha last night with her son-inlaw. She had a large number of bundles in addition to the value and satchel when she left the train at Council Bluffs and boarded a motor for Omsha, but thought she had taken everything with her. When she left the motor, however, the value satchel were gone. The Omaha and Council Bluffs police were informed, a message was sent requesting that the train on which Mrs. Need went across the river to do some searching himself. No trace of the missing valuables could be found and Need came back home. A search of Mrs, Wirth's bundles was again made, and the valise was at last found, stowed away in a doll's carriage. The satchel, however, was no
