LEGISLATURE IS IN DOUBT

Prospect that the Anti-Prize Fight Bill May Not Get Through.

DALLAS PEOPLE ARE WORKING HARD

Measure Has a Clear Track in the Senate, but the Fight Management is Confident it Will Be Killed in the House.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 30.-Only twentyfive members of the legislature have arrived up to tonight, and judging from present indications It is hardly probable that a quorum will answer to the roll call tomorrow. A careful poll of both houses by interested parties develops the fact that from public Sterances and the wall known sentiment of the members the anti-prize fight bill will go through the zenate with the emergency clause, with votes to spare. It was anticipated that the fight on this clause would be made more successfully in the senate than in the house, but this was a mistake. The fight to kill the emergency clause will be waged hitterly in the house by the Dallas people. A committee of business men will arrive tomorrow from Dallas and will plead with the legislative committees to knock out the emergency clause, on the ground that it will confiscate thousands of follars worth of property in Dallas which have been expended on this fight. Up to the present writing, of the eighteen members of the house here nine are opposed to the emergency clause, and of this number four are out and out antagonists of any antiprize fight bill at all. The fact that up to the present time one poll of the house breaks even gives the friends of the Dallas fight management cause to feel good, and their attorney, W. P. Allison, tonight stated that he believed the emergency clause would be defeated in the house.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 30.-Bob Fitz. SAN ANTONIO, tex., Sept. 30.—Bob Files-simmons and party, who arrived here yes-terday afternoon, left on the noon train to-day for his training quarters at Corpus Christi, where he began his work immediately.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Prior to his departure for his training quariers in Texas, Corbett today gave New York an exhibition in Madison Square garden of how he is training for his coming fight with Bob Fitzern races. He arrived in this city about noon to day, accompanied by his brother, his trainer and sparring partners, and immediately re-paired to the big garden. There were nearly 1.000 persons in the building, and they gave Jim a rousing reception when he appears I on the arena dressed in black tights and a red searf tied about his walst. Despite criticism, he looked very well, albeit he showed a look of training, but as he has a month in which to put himself in trim for the hig contest, there is little doubt that he will come to time for the big contest fit and well. Corbett started with his usual day's train ing by working the chest and wrist machines. ing by working the clest and wrist machines, purching the bag, wrestling and boxing with O'Donnel. He followed this with a very lively game of hand ball, and finished with a three mile run, and although he had scarcely a minute's rest during the entire two an ene-half hours he finished up strong A 8:30 tonight the entertainment was resumed and between 6 000 and 7,000 sports were present. There were about 1 0 policymen in the lar den, in charge of Inspector Brooks and Captai Pickett, who controls the once famous tender-loin district. Consequently there was very little slugging by the various boxers of secondary reputation who amused the specia-ters until Corbett appeared. Stove O'Donnell of Australia and Jim Dwyer of Elizabeth, N. J., who were formerly

Dwyer of Elizabeth, N. At the end of the third and last round the men shook hands, but many of those who saw the bout declare that Maher would be more than a match for the big Australian if O'Donnell does not improve ond of the first round from the effect of Dwyer's glove. At the end of the third and last round the men shook hands, but many of those who saw the bout declare that Maher would be mare than a match for the big Australian if O'Donnell does not improve before they meet in Texas.

At II o'clock Corbett jumped through the ropes for a bout with Tom Forrest of Sheepshead Bsy. In response to a demand for a speech, Corbett said: "Ladies and Gentle-

Corbett said: "Ladies and Gentleam going to Texas to get ready to meet Bob Fitz-I have the utmost fidence in the Florida Athletic club and what I have seen in the papers you can easily see that we are willing to fight and we don't wish to come back from Texas without settling. For my part, I am willing that the Florida Athletic club shall pull off the light wherever they choose."

The champion looked fat, but he can easily reduce the haunches he is carrying within a month with steady training. He sparred three rounds with Forrest and followed it similar go with Stave O'Donnell and showed that he had not forgotten any of his clever ring tactics. This wound up the show.

according to their respective interests, The case was first taken before the local land office and as a result dissenting opinions were filed, so that it came to the land office for decision. The register's decision was in favor of the city, holding that the tract hav-ing been under the municipal government of Fort Pierre at the time Templin made his entry, the same was "invalid and should be cancelled." The receiver, however, found "that Templin, the claimant, having made settlement upon the land before Fort Pierre was incorporated, and being the only actual bona fide resident that has ever been upon the land, I believe his claim in equity and justice to be superior to that of Fort Pierre, and recommend that the contest be dismissed." In deciding the case Secretary Smith praccally sustains the decision of the receiver of e local land office. The secretary's decision in this case is one of the most voluminous that has been rendered for some time. The entire history of the case is recited, which, ogether with the text of the secretary's de cision, constitutes twenty-two typewritten charge of collusion is sustained. In fact, the contestant, upon whom rests the burden of proof, did not offer any testimony on this point in the case in chief. That which he did produce was in rebuttal, after the positive denial by both the entryman and the produce with whom the contribute was a contribute of the contribute of the contribute of the contribute was a contribute of the cont person with whom the conniving was charged. The secretary gives at length the history of the townsite, the history of Templin's connection with it being given also. It appears that he built a house on the three lots that he purchased and otherwise improved their contents. proved them, and established his residence there is the latter part of April, 1890, and has continued to live there with his family ever since, having put some $1,200 worth of improvements on the tract. An interesting incident in this case is brought out by the statement of the facts. It seems that when the application to enter this part of the town marched to the Grand hotel, where a reception was held. This afternoon the Cincinnati Reds and the champions paraded the principal streets of the city in tallyho coaches. The team will be banqueted Saturday night.

The secretary says he does not think the

Racing at Sheffield Satisfactory.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The second day's racing at the new Sheffield track was extremely satisfactory. The events went off with spirit and closeness. Judge Murphy "sat" Jockey H. Malloy down for the balance of the meeting. Summaries:

First race, six furlongs: Lucania (2 to 1) could not make the entry as suggested with-out committing perjury, and he then concluded that he would take up the land in his own name as a homestead, which he did on August 13. There is an attempt to show that immediately after this entry was made and on the same day he promised these par-ties to carry out the original agreement, but the secretary says he does not think the testimony is sufficient to warrant such a conclusion. The secretary also says that he does not think there is any testimony in the case that shows that the town of Fort Pierre ever extended its jurisdiction over the land in ontroversy. "This being true," he says, "and there poing no other residents upon the tract, it would seem as if the land was subject to the entry of Templin. He certainly was maintaining his residence thereon at that time in

The secretary says that it seems to him that this contest preceding an application to enter this land on behalf of the mayor was not made in good faith or from an honest desire to acquire additional territory for the city, as it is shown by an agreement for the city, as it is snown by an agreement made between the officers of the city and the former claimant of lots on the land in controversy that the latter paid all the ex-penses of this contest and that the city was put to no cost therefor whatever. There is no apparent necessity for additional territory at Fort Pierre. The tract was not embraced within the limits of the townsite, and there was no actual settlement on the land for townsite purposes,

In concluding, the secretary says: "It is not the intent of the law to withhold from settlement and entry such laids as indi-vidua's might designate or select without authority as the site for a probable or prospective site or town."

GAMBLERS IN CLOSE QUARTERS. Sloux Palls Tin Horns Charged with Seducing Two Young Girls.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Sept. 30,-(Special.) The bonds of the two gamblers charged with seduction and criminal assault have been raised from $500 to $2,000 each. They could not furnish even the smaller bonds. At their preliminary hearing Saturday the evidence was so strong against them that the cour-raised their bends. Their names are Charles Hell and Joe Shannon, two poterious tin horns who have made themselves more or less obnoxious around here for years. The young girls, Ella Deinkwater, aged 14 years and Maud Odell, aged 15 years, told a sad story of being enticed to the rooms of the gamblers and kept there for three days, some days being dealed anything to cat except fruit and wine. The girls implicated a well known married man of this city in their downfall. It scarcely needed the array of pretty things with which the booths were loaded to complete the illusion, and when the booths were peopled with their quota of brightly arrayed and enthusiastic young women no passerby could refuse to contrib-ute his mite toward the Home that has kept many a soul from ruin. In the balcony overhead an orchestra dis-coursed music which was in pleasing har-mony with the bright colors and pretty costumes and all over the hall the managers were kept busy attending to the people who came and went. Father McDevitt had gen-eral charge of the undertaking, and he was assisted by a numerous corps of ushers and attendants. The booths 'ine three sides of the hall and vary only in the arrangements of the colors. Festoons and rosettes of colored tissue paper furnish the greater part of the decoration and the colors in each booth blend with the others into an effect of general harmony. The first booth on the right of the entrance contains the confectionery, which is dispensed by Misses Emma Falconer, Lizzie Costers, Julia Mullen and Nellie Thompson.

Next comes the booth prepared by St. Pat-rick's and the Sacred Heart parishes, which is devoted to a display of various attractive items in fancy articles, which are to be prizes. This both is in charge of Mrs. J. T. Burke, Mrs. George Cleffner, Mrs. James Lindsey, Miss C. Knight and Miss Cannon. St. Peter's and St. Cecilia's have a booth in common, which also shows a display of pic-tures and fancy articles. Here hold sway Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. T. J. Foley, Mrs. E. A. Walter and Miss Mary Thempson.

One of the prettiest of all the attractions is the tissue paper booth which is charge of Misses Anna Daxon, Nannie Hannan and Marie Burke. The booth is profusely burdened with scores of artistically contrived ornaments in varieagated colors which set off the lighter shades of the pavilion.

Misses Etta and Clara Creighton have charge of the flower booth, which is designed in the same attractive colors. The flowers and potted plants which line the interio show in striking contrast to the general pink and white effect and help to form one of the brightest pictures in the hall. This booth contains the handsome upright plane which will be the chief prize. The Good Shepherd's display of fancy work ccupies one booth, which is in charge of Mrs. General O'Brien and Miss Francis. Another fancy work display is presided over by Mrs. Martin Kennedy, Mrs. J. J. O'Connor, Mrs. T. J. Dunn, Mrs. John Little and Mrs. Thomas McShane.

The doll booth, which is literally loaded with dells of all sizes and varieties, according to the control of the control of with dolls of all sizes and varieties, engages the enthusiastic attention of the children, and so attractively are the toy babies arranged that the children are not their only admirers. Misses Nellie Heelan, Lillie Mullen, Katie Heelan, Goldie Murphy and Bessie McElroy have charge of this booth.

An ice cream booth at the left of the en-trance furnishes light refreshments during he evening, and this is in charge of Misse Maggie Fagan and Anna Gleason will continue for two weeks, and the large at-tendance of the first evening promises more than the usual success. NAMED THE COMMITTEEMEN.
