The other bouts were to have been of ten rounds' duration between Sam Kelley and Casper Leon, at 110 pounds, while Solly Smith of Los Angeles and Kid McPartland of New York City were to meet at 122 pounds. The crowd was a representative one, too, including club members, men about town, bankers, brokers and many New York sports. Two Staten Island ferry boats were packed. The steamboats, which were densely packed, did not land any of their passengers at the dock, and the passengers, as well as those who arrived by rail, were disappointed when Manager Early informed them that the police authorities had decided not to allow the bouts to go on. VALE AND HARVARD WILL NOT PLAY

No Time Now to Settle the Differences Between the Universities. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A special from New Haven to the Press says; "I see no possible chance for a Yale-Harvard foot ball game this season," said Manager Foote of the Yale eleven. "I thought last Friday that there possibly might be a reconciliation, but now I see no opportunity for one. One thing is certain. Yale will make no offer for a provisional game with Harvard, as rumored. Yale has not altered her position, and she will not. There is no change in Yale's attitude. East spring a letter was written to Harvard asking whether certain statements derrogatory to Yale's players were true. We did not ask Harvard to apologize, as certain Harvard authorities interpreted the communication.

"We have made Harvard no offer to play this fall," he continued, "and we have heard nothing from them up to October 5, that being the last date on which a game can be arranged. There has been no direct communication with Harvard looking toward a game, and, considering the difficulties regarding playing rules and the small space of time left for arrangements, I don't see how there can be a game."

Manager Foote admitted that the sentiment of the undergraduates of both universities was for a game, and regretted that circumstances made one apparently impossible.

The case of C. Hunt of Baxier

Springs, charged with gross im-morality by the elders of his church, was taken up. The charges were preferred last March, but a thorough investigation had never been made, and was brought up a second time before the bishop, that he might appoint a committee to sift the matter to the bottom. A committee of seven was ap-pointed to go to Baxter Springs and confront the accusers and the accused and make a report to the bishop.

The names of Revs. Daniel, Smith and Hunt were handed in that the men might be reprimanded at the hands of Bishop Handy for not attending strictly to business. Their cases were deferred, the bishop saying he preferred seeing them in private.
