LINCOLN, Oct. 24 .- (Special.)-In the federal court today an ineffectual effort was made to get on trial the case of Architect Fiske against the Lincoln school district. The amount sued for is something over $2,800. Fiske drew a set of plans for a building for were thrown to the ground. Miss Tedrow which bonds to the amount of $100,000 were voted. Public pressure demanded a cheaper quite badly hurt about the head, building and the architect drew up another set to fit the changed conditions. The supreme court subsequently held the bonds invalid and the proposed edifice was abandoned. The school board incidentally discovered that it had no money wherewith to pay St. Londs. Fiske brought suit in the federal court to recover his money. The reply of the school board was that so long as it had account to recover his money and left this morning to join his mother and sister in Washington, where school board was that so long as it had accepted neither act of plans it did not owe the architect anything at all. The question of the authority of the school board to contract for the plans was argued this morning and the prosecution finally announced its user-mination to dismiss the suit in the federal court without prejudice to a new action in the district court of Lancaster county. COREAN LEGATION MAY LEAVE. Recent Events in the Hermit Kingdom May Change Its Policy. WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 .- There is much regret in official circles because of the probability that the turmoil through which Corea has recently passed is likely to embarrass and possibly discontinue the Corean legation in Washington which has long been one of most picturesque features of diplomatic the most life here. The legation has received no offcial advices from the new government and it is becoming apparent that those in control at Seoul represent the old ideas against intercourse with foreign powers.

It was only a few years ago that the Coreans began their relations with outside countries and it was regarded as an advance toward civilized methods. The first legation established was in Washington, as the Coreans regarded the United States as a country most friendly to them. Since then a consular agency has been opened in London, but the United States remains the only country with At the time Ebright purchased the franchise it was said that he had decided to give Sloux City the benefit of the pennant winners of 1895. Since then he has carefully looked over both fields and appears to regard the Nebraska metropolis as the most promising. The Western association next year is likely to comprise Omaha, Des Moines, Sloux City, Dubuque, St. Joe, Quincy, Rockford and Peoria.

United States remains the only country with a Corean legation. The queen, recently assassinated, was friendly to these foreign assassinated, was friendly to these foreign assassinated, was friendly to these foreign repair to the core in the control of the comprise of the control of the foreign legations and such mediums of comication with outside powers, and this doubtless accounts for the fact that Corean officials here are receiving no word from

Many Mining Men. WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Commissioner Lamoreaux has received no information of the actions of Special Agent Brockenborough in California, but says the reports of his seizing timber are no doubt true, as he has been working in that direction for some time. The commissioner says the worst timber depredations the department has to con-tend with are in the mining districts, where the law allows timber to be cut for mining purposes. The office is in constant receipt of complaints that the men operating mines are stripping the public lands of forests. One charge, he said, is that Marcus Daly, the manager of the Anaconda Mining property, in Montana, has cut about 75,000,000 feet of umber. The commissioner has recommeded in his annual report that the law permitting imber to be cut for mining purposes be re-cealed, and that the forests of these regions be put under a forestry system
