LAST WORDS FOR REFORM

Citizens' and Democratic Mass Meeting at South Omaha.

VOTERS RALLIED BY THE HUNDRED

Reasons Why the Dark Lantern Crowd Should Be Downed Again Stated—Some Comparisons of Candidates.

The Citizens' league and democrats held the last rally of the campaign at Koutsky's hall last evening. Fully 300 voters were present.

Judge J. J. Breen was chairman. Those occupying seats on the platform were E. Rosewater, J. Rosicky, Judge Levy, Henry Mies, J. J. Maly, Morgan Heaffy and Thomas Hoctor.

Judge Breen as an introduction said that the meeting had been called to enlighten the voters on the subject of reform, and every honest man should be interested in seeing business men elected to office. The fact that 59,000 pieces of property in Douglas county had been offered for sale by the county treasurer showed that something was radically wrong, and unless vital questions were at issue the people would never have seen the combination of parties, fighting to down the greatest blight on the face of the earth, the American Protective association.

Mr. Rosicky spoke to the assemblage in Bohemian. He impressed upon his hearers the importance of the coming election. The questions to be met today were in the first place whether the people should govern or be governed by a star chamber combine that had brought misrule upon them; whether they should have a clean, honest and economical government, or continue under the misrule of a dark lantern order. Before this order came into prominence the people enjoyed the liberty that was asserted in the Declaration of Independence. Now they found themselves confronted with a secret influence which was ostracizing a certain class of citizens because of their religious belief. If this influence were allowed to grow, what would become of liberty?

The speaker pointed out how the judiciary is controlled by this pernicious influence and recalled many acts of injustice on the part of Judge Scott. He also mentioned the dirty work of Scott's henchmen. The judicial nominees on the nonpartisan ticket were commended and every voter was urged to cast his ballot for the reform ticket.

OPPORTUNITY IS TODAY.

Mr. Rosewater said that today the people would have the opportunity to free themselves from the reign of that secret organization which had ruled Omaha for the past four years. It devolved upon the voters to strike the blow which would liberate them from the rule of Judge Scott and his ilk.

"I am not in the habit of kicking corpses," said Mr. Rosewater, "especially political corpses. I consider Scott dead, politically, especially in Douglas county, and we will pass him by for the time being."

In connection with the county commissioner's office, the speaker said that every man elected to that office was obligated to those who elected him, and asked who Jim Walsh would be under obligations to if elected. Why the A. P. A. of course. Walsh would certainly be obliged to support and sustain that same crowd if elected, and would naturally keep such heelers as George Stryker in office.

"You do not want that kind of man in office," said Mr. Rosewater, "so vote for Tom Hoctor. The Board of County Commissioners needs new blood. Let us infuse a little life into the board by electing Tom Hoctor." (Cheers).

Coming down to the judicial ticket, Mr. Rosewater stated that Judge Baxter was elected two years ago as a nonpartisan. He defeated Eller, who was subsequently arrested for robbing widows and orphans, but who was turned loose by Scott because he did not steal all of the money in one lump. "Yet today we see Baxter and Eller walking down the street hand in hand."

POINTS SHOULD SUCCEED HIM.

Every voter should support Points. Sutton, the present county commissioner, had tried while a member of the last legislature to have the salary of the county judge increased to $3,000 a year, because he owed his appointment to Baxter. The salary of county judge was $2,000, and with the perquisites, such as marriage licenses, etc., he made fully $3,500 a year. Baxter before he was elected was a cheap lawyer and could not have made over $1,200 a year.

"It is very important," continued the speaker, "to re-elect John Drexel sheriff. I will ask the question, will you people of South Omaha better yourselves if you make a change? Drop all personal feeling and vote for Drexel, as he is opposed to this A. P. A. crowd and will not pack juries with members of that order.

"If John McDonald is elected, what chance have you if you are not an A. P. A. You want a sheriff who is honest and is not associated with a lot of cutthroats and tricksters.

"I say you ought to vote the entire Citizens' ticket. Every man should have the same right and opportunity to promotion in public service, regardless of religion. What message are you going to send out from South Omaha? I hope you have the manhood and courage to protect each man and see that each man has equl rights before the law."

Thomas Hoctor, candidate for county commissioner, spoke for a few moments and asked the voters while making a cross after his name on the ballot not to forget Judge Breen, who was a candidate for the short term.

Judge Levy, candidate for justice of the peace, made a few remarks.

Grocery Store Closed by Creditors.

The grocery store of Hobart Williams, at 1407 Douglas street, was closed yesterday morning by creditors. The stock was mortgaged for over $4,000. The chief mortgagee is the Omaha National bank, with a mortgage of $3,220, by whom the store was closed.

Yesterday afternoon the West Point Creamery company began suit in the county court against Williams for $505 on a note and an account. Williams confessed judgment.

A. G. Bartley of Magic, Pa., writes: "I feel it a duty of mine to inform you and the public that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of a very bad case of eczema. It also cured my boy of a running sore on his leg.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS'

Experience Hear His Testimony.

I came here about seven years ago. I left Iowa on account of my health. I would break down at times and have a spell of sickness, generally rheumatism. Since coming here I have gained in health and strength every year, and now at the age of 57 I feel like a boy. We can grow almost everything that you can in the north. Even wheat can be grown here. Oats, corn, rice, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, beans, peas, cow peas, cabbage, turnips, tomatoes, and everything in the vegetable line. Cabbage, turnips, spinach, etc., grow all winter. Cotton is the staple among the native farmers. Fruit grows in great abundance. Strawberries come in about April 1 and last until June 1. Plums ripen in May. Blackberries are abundant. Grapes ripen about July 10. Louisiana sugar cane does well, and sorghum grows finely. Peanuts do well. This is a good country to raise stock. They can grow and become old without winter feeding, but do much better if they have a little hay and dry shelter during the winter rains. Stock is getting to pay, too. Some of the live merchants are buying them in large numbers and fattening them on cotton seed meal and cotton seed hulls. One firm has from 300 to 500 feeding now. Cattle get very fat on grass, if the pastures are not over-stocked. Horses can be raised very cheaply. Hogs often grow up in the woods and get fat on the mast. They are often brought tot own and sold for meat without any feeding. This is a great country for flowers. At this date our front yard just sparkles with roses of all colors, cape jessamines, tube roses, morning glories, verbenas, zenias, dahlias, etc. I came near forgetting the lovely chrysanthemums, in every shade from pure white to dark red. They are just in their glory now and will last for weeks.

The more I see of this country the better I like it. It is such a comfortable country to live in. Even in July and August there are so many cool, cloudy afternoons. The nights are almost cold. Some winters we do not see any snow. The winters do not deserve the name of winter; it is only a little fall weather. We like the people. We were never treated more kindly.

THURSTON TALKED CAREFULLY.

Singled Out No Candidates for Whom Republicans Should Vote.

The announcement that Senator John M. Thurston was to speak and the rumor that there might possibly be a mob demonstration at the county jail drew to Washington hall last evening a few hundred people.

Senator Thurston was introduced by Chairman Sudborough. He was announced to speak on the local situation, but he handled the subject very carefully. He avoided mentioning any candidates' names, but urged republicans to vote the straight ticket, because if they did not they could not expect a republican state convention to give to Douglas county any more senatorships. Then, too, he said that he would not be able to ask President McKinley to do anything for Douglas county if he had to confess that Douglas county was not strictly in line. If, on the other hand, they voted the ticket straight, Douglas county might expect to have both from the state and the United States anything in sight.

Judge Scott was announced as the next speaker. It took Senator Thurston twenty minutes to make his speech. It took Scott an hour to make his.

"They say," said he, "that this is an A. P. A. fight. Then there are nine out of every ten of the citizens in Omaha who are A. P. A's. (Hisses). This is no religious fight. But when a certain church is arrayed against the republican party, then we republicans must stand shoulder to shoulder against that church, and it will be settled tomorrow which will come out on top."

Ed Cornish filled up a good deal of time with a good many words. During his speech the audience began to crowd out, and when Baker and Fawcett were announced they had few to talk to. They tried to keep the crowd by saying that they would make their speeches short, but they finally gave it up and the meeting adjourned.

The Monroe Doctrine.

ARCHER, Neb., Oct. 25.—To the Editor of The Bee: Please give us a short and plain history or explanation of the Monroe doctrine. Also a short statement of the trouble or dispute between the United States and England over the Venezuela boundary lines. C. D. CHAPMAN.

The Monroe doctrine was first communicated in a message to congress delivered in 1823 by President James Monroe. It was embraced in the statement since that time accepted and enforced by our government to the effect that all further acquisition of territory upon this continent by foreign powers would be construed by the United States as a menace to our peace and safety.

The Venezuela affair arises from a dispute over the boundary line between Venezuela and British Guiana. Great Britain, charged with extending the boundary to acquire more territory, refuses demands for a settlement of the dispute by arbitration, and thereby virtually challenges the Monroe doctrine.

AMUSEMENTS.

Neither the impending election nor the threatened lynching had any appreciable effect last night upon the size of the audience at Boyd's, which comfortably filled the house on the occasion of the opening of the engagement of the Trocadero Vaudevilles. It was an audience which knew what it liked, and liked what it saw, for the company is composed of artists each of whom is at the top of his class.

The Lucifers, who came first on the bill, would appear to have lost none of the friends whom they made by their feats of agility last year, their act being substantially the same as before. Then Kaufmann, the trick bicyclist, came on from the M. M. side, careering about the stage on a sort of step-ladder on wheels, his breast a dazzling expanse of medals. A small boy on a lesser vehicle of ordinary make accompanied the star, and though but a single medal adorned his bosom, he showed abilities which will infallibly win him many decorations in future. The senior, after performing all the feats done by other masters of his art, went about the accomplishment of still greater wonders, and set gravity at naught and confuted all the known principles of statics. He was followed, when the audience would let him go, by Miss Josephine Sable, in gorgeous apparel, who sang songs, suggestive and sentimental, with a vivacity quite extraordinary.

Then Amann, his mobile face as seen between his impersonations looking more than ever like James Whitcomb Riley, entertained a while with his clever specialty, which differs little from former efforts, except by way of the reception accorded the nation's chief magistrate, who was not hissed this time, probably because he was shown in the guise of a fisherman, wielding a landing net and crowned with a double-peaked hat. Three were loud demands for pictures of local celebrities, whom it would appear that not even Amann's skill avails to portray. And Mons. O'Gust (there's a name for you!) was very amusing with his imitations, and more amusing still with his attempts at English speech.

The first part closed with the turn of the Jordans, Mr. Ziegfeld having asked on the bill the indulgence of the audience for the delay caused by the spreading of the net, which wa scheerfully granted, the occupants of the parquet seats plainly showing that they would rather have the net than not. The elder Jordans launched each other through space with their accustomed lightness and freedom, while the children spun and gyrated on trapeze up aloft, and the baby, moved by mysterious and eccentric impulses, whirled weirdly in the dome. There were accidents and narrow escapes enough to preserve the keen edge of enjoyment, and the curtain fell to the accompaniment of a general gasp of relief.

Then it rose again, and Sandow appeared, displaying his mighty muscles under the lime-light, a picture of vast strength in a red velvet frame. And he played with great weights, and handled men and horses and enormous dumbbells with such ease and grace as to make his phenomenal achivements seem things of small account. The entertainment, a thoroughly good one in every way, ended with the blonde Prussian giant's feat of upholding three horses and a massive platform on his bridged body.

The engagement terminates Wednesday night, a special ladies' and children's matinee being announced for that afternoon.

Ward & Vokes continue to amuse good sized audiences at the Creighton, the engagement closing with two performances tomorrow. Complete election returns will be announced from the stage this evening.

At Boyd's theater Friday and Saturday next Herrmann will give the theater goers of this city another opportunity of seeing his illusions and marvels. The claim is made for Herrmann's entertainment which he will produce here that it is the most elaborate one he has ever given. Mme. Herrmann's dances will complete the entertainment.

Arrangements have been made to get the latest and most authentic election returns and have them read from the stage of Boyd's theater during the performance of Sandow and the Trocadero Vaudevilles this evening. Persons attending Boyd's theater tonight will get reliable returns even quicker than people on the streets.

Many times since its organization the Primrose & West Minstrel company has visited Omaha and found substantial welcome. Their entertainment this season is said to be especially attractive in songs, introductions original and entertaining. This organization opens a three nights' engagement at the Creighton, commencing with Sunday matinee, November 10.

On Sunday and Monday next Sedley Brown's comedians, under the management of Mr. Gustave Frohman, will give two performances of the delightful three-act comedy entitled "The Colonel's Wives." The newspapers of the Pacific coast spoke in great praise both of the play and the company. Mr. Charles E. Pemberton, representative of Mr. Frohman, is now in the city.

A slight fire in the kitchen of the Model restaurant, 1605 Howard street, called out the fire department about 10 o'clock last night. The fire originated from a gasoline stove and the damage amounted to less than $10. Miller Bros. are the proprietors of the restaurant and the building is owned by C. L. Wright.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING.

Minor Routine Matters Occupy the Attention of Members.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night Superintendent Pearse reported that the total attendance at the end of the second month of school was 13,604. This is an increase of 338 over the total on the same date a year ago.

The list of judges and clerks of election as selected by the city and county authorities was approved.

The contract for constructing and repairing blackboards in the schools was let to Henry McElvin. The expense involved will approximate $16,600.

The teachers' pay roll for October, amounting to $25,309.85, and that of the janitors, amounting to $2,900, were allowed.

At this stage in the proceedings the members indulged in their customary pastime of gossiping for a couple of hours over coal. The committee on supplies recommended that all bids be rejected and that the secretary be directed to ask for new bids. Rhoades objected on the ground that several of the bids received were very low. He said that coal rates were billed to rise November 15, and the board would lose money by re-advertising. Several members had his views, and after a tedious discussion the whole coal muddle was referred to the committees on heating and ventilation and supplies and the attorney.

City Treasurer Dumont notified the board that a large amount of special taxes, some of which had been delinquent for several years, was due the city from the board. The principal items were those on account of paving and sidewalks adjoining the High school grounds, for which the city has previously refused to pay on the ground that the property was technically the property of the city. The matter was referred to the committee on judiciary.

TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS.

Progress of the Local Committee in Making Plans.

Arrangements are progressing at a rapid rate for holding the transmississippi commercial congress. Mr. Henry R. Whitmore is fast working toward a conclusion as to what the program shall include. Already at the hotels rooms have been engaged, and the landlords are wishing they had larger accommodations. Many of the officers of the congress believe that the number which will be present will be greater than at any other congress held west of the Mississippi. Many delegates have been appointed; but to further hasten the nomination of delegates a circular has just been issued, which earnestly requests that every state, county, city and business organization within the territory included in the notice appoint the full number of delegates to which it is entitled. "The time seems opportune," continues the circular, "and the condition of business seems to warrant a gathering of those representing its various interests for consultation and for discussion of those questions affecting the welfare and development of this section of the country and for effort to increase reciprocal trade among its people. By well considered and judicious action such a body of men can, without doubt, exercise a powerful influence toward securing such legislation as these interests demand.

"It is expected that at this session some plan of permanent organization will be effected, by which the work of the congress will be so carried on, after the adjournment of each session, as to secure the objects at which it aims, and without which it is useless to expect the best practical results."

Against Snyder and Bondsmen.

The civil suit against Adam Snyder to recover $6,900, the amount of alleged shortage in his accounts when he left the office of the county treasurer, was completed yesterday and given to the jury.

After being out a short time the jury returned, finding a verdict in favor of the county and fixing the amount at $8,300, being principal and interest.

Perfect Manhood, Health, Strength and Vigor TO A RIPE OLD AGE.

The sins of youthful ignorance, the dissipation, the weakness that proves a barrier to marriage—these are the things that are daily plunging thousands of men into a condition of utter ruin.—The wasted parts, emissions, nervousness and physical debility all resulting from abuses and excesses, continue to sap the life away simply because the sufferer in his ignorance is too bashful, too far gone in a shrinking fear of discovery to make known his condition or to seek out a friend. It is this lack of courage, this blighting, backward fear that has prompted me to make known to every man, weak and worn out from dissipation or secret sins, that there is a chance for you, an opportunity whereby you may be lifted out of that state of dread and despair to a happy condition of self respect and manly courage. I, too, had secretly suffered for years but through the agency of a remarkable remedy I am now a happy, vigorous man enjoying to the fullest measure the blessings and privileges that only complete manhood can bestow. I will send (sealed) the recipe of this wonderful remedy FREE to any sufferer who will write to me. It cured me after everything else had failed, and it will cure you. Address,

A Contented Woman.

In Hoyt's farce, "A Contented Woman," a certain ward heeler, a person of a somewhat tough character, is decorated with a pretty black eye by one of the officers of the Law and Order League, who, as he claims, struck him with brass knuckles. It is difficult to realize that our present heated election campaign is fought on different principles.

May the most sincere faction win.

But there are other things worth fighting for besides economy in public administration—A wage earners savings is by far a greater factor than the rich man's taxes.

To save $8.00 on a daily necessity—a suit of clothes. Precisely what we are at just now. Selling the best possible $20.00 suit

For Twelve Dollars

And loads of 'em to pick from. Every blessed one well tailored and finished elaborately. Direct from the hands of the tailor, fresh—new—pretty—stylish—and everything else.

Bought them advantageously a fortnight ago. It was a fruitful catch and a feather in the cap of our buyer.

And we most emphatically guarantee that $20.00 buys, in majority of stores, a poorer article, and the minority could not possibly offer a better suit for the 20.00. If it is not true—one of the suits shan't cost you a penny—'Tis yours for the proving.
