ARMY IN FINE CONDITION

Secretary of War Lamont Files His Annual Report with the President.

CHANGES WHICH WOULD BE BENEFICIAL

Reorganization on the Three-Battalion Pian Again Recommended —Work of Const Defenses Progresses Slowly.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The annual report of Secretary of War Lamont has been awaited with no little interest, not only in army circles, but in almost every department of the government. During the year just ending Secretary Lamont made a personal inspection of the army posts and it has been generally understood that the observations would now be covered by a similar battalian inspection of the army posts and it has been generally understood that the observations would take the form of many radical recommendations in his forthcoming report. In some respects those who anticipated an interesting report have not been disappointed. In some respects those who anticipated an interesting report have not been disappointed. Secretary Lamont made a personal inspection of the army posts and it has been generally understood that the observations would are the colonel could see and direct will be deadly at range of 2,000 yards, or at severy department of the government of the secretary of war points of the country, are of vital importance to the nation.

The secretary of war points out two diagers.

That part of the report in which the secretary of war takes up the discussion of sea-coast defenses is, perhaps, the most interest-ing to the general public. It is made doubly important by reason of the recent diplomatic omplications which have arisen in the Cuban inefficiency of the regular army under its and Venezuelan questions. That part of the present form of organization and the other report is, in part, as follows: present form of organization and the other and Venezuelan questions. That part of the report is, in part, as follows:

In your annual message transmitted to congress in December, 1886, attention was directed to the urgent necessity for seacoast actenses in these words: "The defense-less condition of our seacoast and lake frontier is perfectly palpanle; the examinations made must convince us that certain of our cities should be fortified and that work on the most important of these fortifications should be commenced at once. The absolute necessity, judged by all standards of prudence and foresight, of our preparation for an effectual resistance against the armored ships and steel guns and morstars of modern construction which may threaten the cities on our coasts is so apparent that I hope effective steps will be taken in that direction immediately."

Since that time the condition of these defenses has been under grave consideration by the people and by this department. Its inadequacy and impotency have been so evident that the intelligence of the country long since ceased to discuss that humiliating phase of the subject, but has addressed itself to the more practical undertaking of urging more rapid progress in the execution of the plan of defense devised by the Endicott board in 1886, with subsequent slight molifications.

That plan contemplated a system of fortifications at twenty-seven ports (to which Puget sound was subsequently added), requiring 677 guns and 824 mortars of modern construction, at a cost of $97,782,800, excluding $28,595,000 for floating batteries. By an immediate appropriation of the subject and propriation of the subject and an annual appropriation of is the entire inadequacy of our national system of cosst defenses. Upon these two Epitomized, the annual report, now made public for the first time, deals with the present strength of the army, some pertinent suggestions as to the pay department, a strong recommendation for the adoption of the three-battalion formation, a plea for staff reorganization, an intelligent discussion of the means to be employed for the develop-ment of the state national guards and finally a strong, plain-worded statement of the pressing needs of adequate seacoast defenses. The full strength of the army as at present born. The strictness of the examinations, physical, mental and moral, may be measured from the fact that 38,240 applicants were immediate appropriation at that time of $21,500,000 and an annual appropriation of $29,500,000 thereafter, as then recommended, the system of land defenses could have been completed in 1895. Excellent progress has been made during the year in the construction of new barracks and quarters. Fort Harrison, at Helena,

PROGRESS HAS BEEN SLOW. PROGRESS HAS BEEN SLOW.

The original plan contemplated an expenditure of $87,782,800 by the end of the present fiscal year. The actual expenditures and appropriations for armament and emplacements have, however, been but $40,-631,600. The first appropriation for guns was made only seven years ago and the first appropriation for emplacements was made only five years ago. The average armual appropriations for these two objects has been less than $1,550,000. The work has therefore been conducted at about one-seventh the rate proposed.

If future appropriations for the manufacture of guns, mortars and carriages be

If future appropriations for the manufacture of guns, mortars and carriages be no larger than the average authorized for the purpose since 1888, it will require twenty-two years more to supply the armament of the eighteen important ports for which complete projects are approved.

If the appropriations for the engineer work are to continue at the rate of the annual appropriations since 1890, it will require seventy years to complete the emplacements and platforms for this armament for the ports referred to.

Secretary Lumont gives in detail the prog-The trials by general court martial for the year ended August 31, 1895, were 1,728

That part of the report dealing with the subject of battalion formation is probably annually thirty-five guns of the type re-quired, or enough to enumerate the eighteen ports referred to within ten years. The govtrament also has a plant for the manufacture of gun carriages, which, with the aid of pri vate establishments, can supply the car-riages required as rapidly as emplacements for guns and mortars are completed. The development of a satisfactory type of twelve inch disappearing gun carriage is alone lack-ing in the mechanism of coast defense, and the secretary adds, without doubt American ngenuity will soon supply that desired fea-

By a carefully prepared estimate the ner retary states that it will require an expendi-ture of $82,000,000 to put the coasts in a sat isfactory condition of defense, and that the outlife work can be completed in ten years. The rate of progress, he adds, will be slower in proportion as appropriations are kept below the amount which can be advantageously expended, MISSOURI RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.

In that part of his report treating of river nd harbor improvements, the secretary

The expenditures for continuing the improvement of the Missouri river during the year were $706,523.80, and the balance available for the present year was on the 1st day of July, 1895, $990,671.22. The continuing contracts which were authorized by con-gress expire with the present appropria-tions, and the further instructions of congress should now be had.

The present scheme of improvement in-volves the expenditure of a large amount of money, and the completion of the work s that practical benefits can accrue for any con-siderable extent of river will require many years of time. The total amount appropriated for the improvement of the Missouri is $8,896,000, a sum quite disproportionate to its present or prospective commerce. With the modern means of quick transportation, furnishing sharp competition, and the presence in our statutes of easily applied rema-dies against combination or extortion, it may be questioned if the familiar argument in favor of these costly improvements for the purpose of regulating the rates of freight charges still obtains in a degree sufficient to at this time justify large expenditures in further attempts to provide and maintain a navigable channel over a long stretch of a shallow and shifting river, in the face of constant natural obstacles, and where practically no commerce has existed for many

ILLINOIS HAD A ROUGH PASSAGE. More Than a Weck Overdue but Came Into Port Undamaged. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The steamer

Illinois, Captain Beynon, reached this port today, a week overdue. The Illinois left Antwerp November 6, and two days later she was seen southeast of Starto point, since when, up to her arrival off the Delaware capes Wednesday morning, she has been buffeted by a succession of hard gales, reaching at times hurricane force, and swept by mountainous seas. The ship was kept on her course throughout the entire time, but some days made scarcely a mile an hour. Her best day's work was 168 miles in the twenty-four hours, while the average runs did not reach 100 miles. For several days during the height of the storms she made less than fifty miles in the day, while on one occasion only thirty-four knots were reeled off. Among her 283 passengers two deaths were reported, one a man end a second a child. Both deaths were the result of natural

Six weeks ago I suffered with a very severe cold; was almost unable to speak. My friends all advised me to consuit a physician. South Dakota Organization Which Proposes to Do Good Work. SIOUN FALLS, S. D., Nov. 29.—(Special.) -Secretary Huntley was issued a call for another meeting of the "conference of committees" to be held at Mitchell on Dicember 10, 1895. This organization, which was started a couple of months ago at Huron, is made up of committees from the different religious and reform organizations of South Dakota. The chairman is W. H. Thrall. In the call sent out is a recommendation that Sunday, February 2, 1896, he designated as "Christian Citizenship Sunday," and that all pastors in the state hold such services as best fester a higher regard for law and its enforcement on the part of our officials and our citizens." The recommendations are made "irrespective of party, denomination factional considerations."

ther says;
"We deem that the highest interests of our state are involved in the issue of what seems to us the greatest present day question that is to come before our people—whether the saloon is to be reinstated and legalized in our state. We regard with deepest concern our state. We regard with deepest concern the alarming growing disregard of the en-forcement of law on the part of many of our forcement of law on the part of many of our people who encourage our officials, both state and local, to discriminate between lawswhich ones they shall enforce and which override. Any official who has taken his oath of office, which requires him to enforce law, should be taught that it is not his privilege to ignore laws which he, personally oes not think the best or most politic believe there is a widespread, public sentiment on the question lying der-mant that needs to be aroused by our pastors and leaders throughout the state. Let everyone sound this note without fail on 'Good Citizenship Sunday and other appropriate occasions."

It is understood that when the call was issued for the first meeting of the people interested in this "conference" the intention was to lay plans for the organization of a distinct prohibition party in this state, but on account of the small attendance and the apparent lack of interest in such a move, the scheme was changed to the above.

South Dakota Wheat Shipments. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 29 .- (Special.)

The wheat shipments in this section are falling off to a large degree, while in the northern part of the state they are just at this time booming. Colonel T. H. Brown, who returned last evening from Watertown, explains it in this way. He says that while 80 per cent of the threshing is done here, not over 50 per cent of it is done in the northern part of the state. The farmers hereabouts have rushed to market with a part of their grain in order to get a little ready money. This done, they have stopped marketing their products and will hold them until prices advance. In the north the threshing began later in the season, and the big move ment of grain there is due to the same reason as caused the rush here last month. E. W. Jordan of the Milwaukee road says there is no danger of any grain blockades, and he anticipates that not much more grain will be marketed until early in the spring.

Iron Nation's Proposed Monument. CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Nov. 29 .- (Special.)-A monument to be erected to the memory of Iron Nation, the former head chief of the Lower Brule band of Sioux, has arrived here from Yankton, where it was constructed, and will be eracted over the grave of the dead chief on the Lower Brule reservation. The money for the monument was raised by popular subscription among the Lower Brule Indians. Iron Nation was in the past one of the most warlike of Sloux chiefs, but during the closing years of his life his voice was raised in behalf of peace, and the rapid advancement of the Lower Brule Sloux is due principally to his efforts. So far as known, this will be the only instance where a monument has been erected over the grave of a chief by recoular subscription and a Life. chief by popular subscription among Indians. It is certainly the only instance in the history of the Sioux nation.

Frenks of the Old Missouri. CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Nov. 29 .- (Special.)-Captain H. J. King of this city, a Miscouri river steamboat man of thirty-five years' experience, has kept a record of the construction of equipment necessary for sea-const defenses. At the present time the govhe commenced keeping the record. Parties who recently sounded the river between the east bank and American Island, opposite the city, state that the deepest water found was three feet. This is in the main channel of the river, where twenty years ago large side-wheel steamers were constantly plying. In a few hours the river recently fell eighteen inches. This is believed to have been caused by an ice gorge forming farther up the river. Gold Cure Provokes Insaulty SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 29,-(Special.) -H. E. Brandt, a well known business man iere, has become violently insane. He persists in making attempts to kill himself, and at one time yesterday it was necessary to place him in jail to keep him from doing him-self some great injury. It is thought that the attack has been brought on by trying to care himself of the drink habit the second time by gold treatment.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completaly cured her and she says it sayed her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottle at Kuhn & Co.'s drug store. Regrets Some Newspapers Published Abroad. NEW YORK, Nov. 29 .- In his Thanksgiving sermon, in Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Parkhurst took for his subject the prevailing lawlessness and its cause. For the first time in fifteen years his congregation broke into cheers during his sermon. It was when he asserted that he was proud of his Puritan ancestry and wished there was a ridge of Plymouth rocks from the Battery to Westchaster. The sermon contained some sensational features, one of which was an allusion to the Rome boy train wrecker, who, he said, should be tried and convicted within a week and hanged within a month for the good of society. After discussing the excise law and recent political movements, Dr. Parkhurst attacked the papers.

He said: "And it is one of the most starti-ing and appalling features of the entire situation that there have been newspapers that with brazen audacity have sided and abetted these anarchists and conspirators and that zeven days in the week, besides extras, have flaunted their criminal sympathy with crime, and have resorted to every villainous journalistic device to make ridiculous the officials that undertook to do what they swore they would do, and to make appear repetable criminals that trampled on the law and that ought to have been treated to a cell and not

"Some of these papers that for months made a steady practice of instigating crime, if they had been published in Berlin would have been confiscated with all the publication machinery, and their managers retired to enforced privacy and a diet of bread and water.
