While he was speaking E. E. Hart came into the clerk's office at the court house, where the talking was going on, and, on being asked as to his attitude on the question, said: "I'm as anxious as anybedy to get the banks out of politice. Of course, though in dividing the money among the banks think it ought to be divided in proportion to the party activity of the men connected with the banks. On that basis I suppose the Citizens' bank should receive about $10,000 to $5,000 given to the State Savings bank and the Council Bluffs Savings bank. And you just watch the new treasurer's bond, and you will see that what I say is true—the banks are out of politics."

"If you want to get the banks out of politics for good," somebody suggested, "why don't you try to get a bill through the legis-lature providing that the county funds should be deposited with the nighest responsible bidder?" "What could I do?" was Dawson' reply

"The only way such a bill could be gotten through the legislature would be by going down to Des Moines and living there, to counteract the efforts of the country ers, and most of the city bankers, to defeat

it. And I don't feel like doing that."
"The Citizens' bank would be about the only institution of the kind in the state that would favor the passage of the law, would was asked. "That's true," replied Hart, "I'm in favo

Adler, having gained his confidence, induced him to turn over to him $220, which he had in the form of a certificate of deposit, "just to keep for him." When Adler disappeared the money disappeared with him, and even since Adler went to the penitentiary in New York Keller has heard nothing more. When Keller went to live at Scherrer's place it was with the understanding that he was to receive $20 a month and his board for one year. At the end of the year he stayed on, and he had been there for a period of six years before he was finally taken ick and sent to the hospital. He claims th contract went right along through the six years, while Scherrer claims that for the last five years he was to receive only his board and lodging.

Sight and Unseen. For the past two days A. T. Elwell and Harry Inman have been engaged in selling unclaimed packages that were in the possesgion of the United States Express company. In very few instances did any one know the centents of the package on which he was bidding, and the element of uncertainty was one thing that made the bids come in so fast and furious. One man put 40 cents and pulled out a neatly gold-washed watch and chain. The next package that was put up looked exactly like it, and another man put up 50 cents for it. On opening it he found he was richer by a gross of in Favor of the City. The test case which was to decide the right of the special policemen who were appointed by Mayor Bemis and the Board of Fire and Police Commisioners last August, t collect their salaries from the city, was decided by Judge Duffle in the district court yesterday morning. The contention of the city was sustained and the right of the policemen to their pay denied.

The case in question was that of Martin

Shields against the city. Shields sued the city for pay for three days' service as special policeman. The case was tried before Justice the plaintiff. The city took an appeal to the district court and the attorneys stipulated that all of the special police cases should abide the decision in the Shields case. the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, of which Mayor Bemis was the chairman ceased to exist on August 1 when the new bill went into effect. Therefore that board was without authority to appoint special policemen on August 2. He also held that or ordinance in which the galaries of special policemen were designated When the salary of an official was not designated it was presumed that his services were gratuitous, and therefore the special policemen could not collect a dollar unless

C. F. Stark, from the interior of Iowa came to Omaha yesterday afternoon for the purpose of experiencing a slight taste of metropolitan life. When it grew dark force of habit demanded that he at once seek a bed and retire. He registered at a lodging house and was shown to a room. The rum ble of drays over the stone pavements jarred Mr. Stark's nerves severely, and about 11 o'clock he had reached that stage of Irritability that bordered on insanity. He though of thieves, sudden death and destruction There was no gas in the room to occupy his attention, so he at once came to the conclu-sion that there was a man under the bed. With a bound he sprang through the glass panel of the door, and yelling theyes, rob-bers and murder at every jump, appeared like a spectre in abbreviated attire before the night clerk. A call was turned in to the police station, and several officers were sent to the scene. A thorough search failed to unearth any suspicious characters, so Stark was given an opiate till morning and advised

Among the resulting symptoms were beliching of gas, bloating and sourners. I had what the doctors called acid dyspepsia and bowels, with great nervous prostration. My digestion and sleep were wretched—to such a degree that I could hardly retain my business position. But under Dr. Shepard's care I improved from the start, and am in excellent health—much better, in fact, than I have been for years. It is over a year now since my cure, and I know it is permanent."

A NEW LIFE.

W. A. Belknap, Webster Street Depot.

"When Dr. Shepard began treating me I had been pestered for about 10 years with a catarrh that did great damage to my head and stomach. The usual nose and throat symptoms of the disease were aggravated by a soreness through the head, thus pure feel that this part of the system was affected through and through. More of less mucus from the throat was swallowed, especially in sleep, and soon the stomach suffered from a sort of slow catarrhal infection.
