VENEZUELA QUESTION

Discussed by the Current Topic Club Last Evening.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA BOTH REPRESENTED

Dr. Byles Describes the General Foreign Policy of Great Britain-Messrs. Smyth and Kilpatrick on Monroe Doctrine.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Current Topic club last evening in the Young Men's Christian association hall. It was the first meeting of the new session, and was presided over by Thomas Kilpatrick. The subject for discussion was the Venezuela question.

Dr. Byles, an Englishman, gave a brief sketch of the general foreign policy of England. He said that whatever he might say must not be construed as an act of friendliness toward Lord Salisbury. He thought Sal-Isburk was a perfect brute, and cited acrs of the premier to support his opinion.

As an Englishman, he believed that, tak ing English colonization as a whole, it proved itself a great benefit to the world. He said that the effect of English colonization in South Africa had been to civilize and christianize great numbers of beathens. Bellevers in England's foreign policy were not necessarily jingoists. He denounced the jingo party. Its policy of grab and greed was far from being the sentiment of the nation. It was very easy to say that England should go to Armenia to stop the outrages there, but to do that was a very different and an extremely difficult thing. According to the Berlin treaty, which he said was a most scandalous instrument, England could not pass the Dardanelles without the consent of France, Russia, Austria, Italy and Ger-many. To act rashly meant to precipitate a horrible war throughout Europe.

The liberal party, of which he was a member, had always been in sympathy with Rus If only the liberal and the tory particould agree to allow Russia to occupy stantinople, all would go well. could then promote Christianity in the east without interruption.

Dr. Byles said he was in sympathy with he Monroe doctrine, but thought that it was a fair question for argument whether or not it applied to the Venezuela question He thought that this was the position of the greater part of the English people. He said the great danger to the United States was that if it pushed the Monroe dectrine too far it would be compelled to support a standing army, and this, he declared was on of the greatest curses that could befall any

C. J. Smyth defended President Cleve land's attitude in reference to the Vene zuelan question. He first traced the his tory of the Monroe doctrine and described what it was and what part it had played in the nation's history. He said that England had approved the instrument in 1823 as was shown by documents in the pos-session of the Department of State, and that Lord Salisbury could now frown upor it only with poor grace. In 1861 Secretary Seward informed France that it had a perfeet right to collect any debt against Mexico or any other country on this hemisphere but that the United States would regard as unfriendly any unjust encreachment beyond proper redress. Again in 1865 he told France that it could not maintain a standing army in Mexico without incurring the enmity of this country. The size of the country offended by European powers made no difference; it was the principle that the United States sought to maintain. It did so in 1823, 1848, 1861, 1865 and again in 1895. Venezuela gained its independence in d proper redress. Again in 1865 he told Venezuela gained its independence in 1814, but was not recognized until 1840. In the meantime England encroached on the territory of the little republic to an extent equal to the area of New York state. Probably England might be right in claiming this ground. All President Cleveland designed sired was to examine the evidence and de-termine the true boundary line. The popu-lar notion that the United States was to go down to Venezuela, establish the boundary line and then fight for that line, was all

Isaac Adams, who was to have spoken in reply to Mr. Smyth, was not present. Several members of the club participated in the discussion and the question was argued pro and con. Mr. Kilpatrick brought the meeting a close with a timely review of the and con. Mr. Kilpatrick brought the meeting a close with a timely review of the debate and an expression of his own views on the matter. He said that, although an ardent admirer of Grover Cleveland, whom he considered the greatest American since Lincoln, he thought the president had made the greatest mistake of his life when he issued his message on the Venezuela questioned. issued his message on the Venezuela ques-tion. He deprecated war between two Christian nations and thought that the whole dispute was due to an extension of the Monroe doctrine rather than to any ex-tension of territory on the part of England.

MEETING OF FIRST WARDERS. Want Vacancies in Council Filled from Their Ward.

The South Side Improvement club met at 1015 South Eleventh street last night, ostensibly to consider the regular business of the club, but in reality for the purpose of propelling a few councilmanic booms. At least that was the purpose of several gentlemen present, but as it appeared that more than one candidate had his friends out in force, no one was ready to make a break, and the meeting adjourned without taking any action relative to candidates.

The committee on the Thirteenth street boilevard reported progress and was given further time, and then Pete Back suggested that while the club was not a political organization, there was one subject which was just now of paramount interest to the First ward. That was the selection of two members of the city council to fill the vacancies recently created. Morris Morrison, John Powers, Ike Hascall and half a dozen others made speeches in which the alleged scheme ide speeches in which the alleged schemto deprive the ward of one councilman was vigorously condemned. It was broadly devigorously condemned. It was broadly de-clared and roundly applicated that any councilman who voted for any outside man wouldn't get enough votes to excuse his candidacy the next time he came up for office, and a resolution was finally adopted setting forth the claim of the First ward to both vacancies in strong terms, and John Rasicky, Morris Morrison, John Butler, E.

J. Cornish and Peter Back were applinted a committee to see that the resolution was not overlooked by the council.

Committee Appointed to Solicit Funds-Effort to Transfer Sam Payne from Penttentlary to Insane Asylum.

At a mass meeting of colored people held last night in the chapel of the church of St. Philip the Deacon, at 1119 North Twentyfirst street, a movement was started to assist in the effort to raise sufficient means to carry to the supreme court the case of George Washington Davis, the negro re-H. E. Clark was appointed special policeman | cently sentenced by the district court of Lancaster county to twenty years in the penitentiary for the wrecking of a Rock Island train near Lincoln, in the fall of 1894. The same meeting decided to raise a sufficient amount of money to present to the supreme court the condition of Sam Payne, who was convicted of the murder of Maud Rubel, and sentenced to life imprisonment by the court of this district, and who is now alleged to either the removal of Payne to the insine asylum, or to obtain a new trial on the ground of insanity.

In the case of Davis the following resolution was reported to the meeting by a com-mittee and was unanimously adopted: Whereas, One George W. Davis, charge with wrecking a passenger train on the Rock Island railroad in December, 1894, has been sentenced to a term of twenty years in the state penitentiary on insufficient and circumstantial evidence and has been de-nied a new trial by the district court of Lancaster county, Judge Holmes presiding; and

and
Whereas, Additional evidence can be adduced in the form of sworn affidavits signed by reputable citizens, which, if true, would clearly establish the innocence of the said George W. Davis. Be it therefore Resolved, That we, the citizens of Douglas county in mass meeting assembled, condemn the action of the court in refusing a new trial to the said George W. Davis and do hereby pledge ourselves to co-operate with the attorneys of the said George W. Davis and the citizens of Lancaster county in their efforts to appeal the case to the supreme court, and we do further pledge our moral and financial support to the end that justice may be meted out to the accused.

Upon the adoption of the resolutions a Upon the adoption of the resolutions motion was passed to appoint an executive committee to take charge of the matter The committee is composed of Mrs. T. P Mahammitt, Rev. John A. Williams, G. F. Franklin, M. F. Singleton, M. L. Wilson and J. W. Long. The committee is empowered to ask the churches and social, fraternal and charitable clubs and societies to contribute funds in aid of the object and to solicit aid for the purpose of bringing the case of Sam Payne to the attention of the supreme court, it appearing to be the unantmous sentiment that the man was innocent and ought at least to be removed to the

The meeting was called under the auspices of the Afro-American league and was called to order by the chairman, Dr. W. H. Stephen-son. Dr. Stephenson briefly announced the object of the meeting. G. F. Franklin gave an account of the crime with which Davis was charged and of its progress in the court, ending in the sentence of Davis to the penitentiary after three trials had been held. He argued that the sentiment of the people was that Davis was innoient of the crime and was simply used as a scapegoat. By discovering some one who could be held responsible for the crime, he said that the railroad would escape damage suits which could be brought by the heirs of those killed in the wreck. He asserted that Davis was a poor man and could not contend against the influence and money of a corporation like the railroad, and that therefore the colored men of this vicinity should take the necessary steps to raise enough money.

approximately $500, to carry the case to the While the assistance of Davis was the ostensible object of the meeting, during the course of the proceedings the question of aiding Sam Payne came up. It was held that this rtruck nearer home, as it was very possible that the heirs of the killed in the wreck would see that the Davis case would be carried higher in order that they might be in a position to bring civil damage suits against the company. The sentiment was that Payne was innocent of killing the Rubel girl, but that through ignorance and a weak mind he had convicted himself. In view of these facts it was decided to take steps to bring the case to the attention of the supreme court. The cost was estimated at $50.

Mrs. T. P. Mahammitt spoke as a member of the Woman's club and stated that that body was willing to assist in the matters as soon as it was discovered what steps the colored people intended to take. Among others who spoke were E. H. Hall, V. B. Walker, J. B. Bell and M. L. Wilson, Bond Signed by His Father-in-Law Last Reening. Henry Bolln secured a signer for his $12,000 evening shortly after 5 o'clock and was released from the county jail in time to go some to supper. The bondsman is his father-

L. H. Bradley, attorney for Bolin, appeared n Judge Gordon's court shortly after the day's business had been transacted and stated to the judge that he would like to have him make out the proper papers for Bolln's release, as he had a man with him who could qualify for several times the amount required. Assistant County Attorney Jefferis was engaged at the time, and it was not until 5:30 that he could give his attention the matter. Beckman awore that he had farm property in Washington county worth $45,000 and was fully responsible for the amount of the bond which he wished to sign. The papers were made out and a release for Bolln put in the hands of an officer and sent to the county jail.

Boiln seemed somewhat surprised when told by the Jailer that he was a free man for a time at least. He said that he did not know that his attorney had returned to the city. While the patrol wagon was at the county jail a hurry call was turned in to the police station from Tenth and Dodge streets and Bolln was bundled into the wagon and taken along. He seemed to enjoy the ride and conversed with the other occupants of the wagon freely.

Beckman has lived at the Bolln residence on Wirt street for several years. He stated that he would have gladly gone on the bond when his son-in-law was arrested, but that Mr. Bradley was called unexpectedly out of the city and that it was impossible to act in the matter until his return.

SWEDISH ORATORIO SOCIETY What Its Alms Are and How it is Officered. In response to an invitation from a committee appointed by the choir of the Swedish Lutheran Immanuel church to the various Swedish musical organizations in Omaha and Council Bluffs, a large number of music-loving people assembled in the chapel of the church last Wednesday evening with the view of organizing an oratorio society on a large scale. Prof. Adolf Edgren was chairman for the evening. A short musical and literary program was given. After Dr. Sward and Prof. Edgren had delivered short speeches on the import of the meeting, the society was organized and

About Shoes

There is more chance to cheat in making shoes than in making anything else that men wear, and this chance is being taken advantage of by some manufacturers since the recent slight advance in leather. True, shoes are higher-but not so much as some dealers would make you believe-our shoes are made JUST AS GOOD as formerly-we will not allow the manufacturer to slight a shoe in order that we can make a few cents more profit on it. This IS NOT OUR WAY. We have established a reputation in our shoe business the same as in our clothing business-we know thousands of our customers TRUST TO US MORE THAN to their judgment as regards the quality and make of a shoe-and they come to us knowing that at "The Nebraska" they always get full value for their money-and more than elsewhere-they know WE GUARANTEE OUR SHOES and THAT'S ENOUGH for them.

Our new $2.50 Goodyear welts for spring, '96, are now coming in-All we have to say is that they are just as good as the many thousands which we have sold before-NEVER WAS THERE A BETTER SHOE placed on the market at that price
