"Resolved, That it is the sense of the citizens of Omaha, here in mass meeting assembled, that the business men of the city, would be justified in view of the facts in refusing to ship or receive a pound of freight over any of the roads refusing to come into and use such depot, and we urge upon them to follow such a course, assuring them that they have our hearty support in such righteous warfare; and "Resolved, That the proposed location at Ninth and Farnam streets would be the most advantageous, for the reason that it would be the most accessible for all the roads and for all the people, and for the further reason that travelers coming into and passing through the city would then form a favorable impression and see Omaha in its proper light, and we therfore urge the erection of said union denot at that location and according to the place drawn and published by the East Omaha Bridge and Terminal company; and

"Whereas, The traveling public and shippers of Omaha have endured inconvenience and ill-treatment in depot accommodation for many years, and "Whereas, Some of the railroad corpora-

Resolved, That the workingmen of the city of Omaha, in mass meeting assembled call upon our mercantile and traveling classes to refrain from patronizing the freight or passenger equipments of such roads as refuse to co-operate in giving this city such depo accommodations as the importance of Omaha justly entitles it to."

An effort was also made to pass a resolution which was in effect that the merchants of the city should sign an agreement not to patronize the railroads which refused to enter the proposed depot, and pledging them the support of the working people. It was held, however, that it would be impossible to in-duce the merchants to do this, as they would be afraid to do so, and consequently the resolution failed of passage.

SOMETHING BESIDES WAGES. Mayor Brootch was not present to oper the meeting as was expected, and in conse-quence H. C. Waller acted as chairman. He called upon William C. Boyer as the first speaker. Boyer stated that the merchants of the city complained that the workingmen were prominent in no other movement than the raising of wages, but he cited as an indication of their progression the fact that many of them were present, whereas the merchants were not.

He commented unfavorably upon the atti-ade of the railroads which refused to agree to enter the proposed depot. He also spoke of the advantages of the two depot sites and was in favor of the one at the foot of Farnam He made favorable mention of the terminal company, which he said was acting setter toward the pe ple of the city than other corporations.

John G. Kuhn was in favor of refusing to patronize the railroads which refused to agree to go into the new depot, as the best method by which to bring them to terms. He reasted these mads. He also expressed himself in favor of the Farnam street site, although he held that the people of the city would be glad to get a deput anywhere. W. J. Bowman did not think that the merchants of the city were very enthusiastic in favor of a depot, or at least did not show it. He thought that they ought to come out flat-footed and refuse to patronize the road which refused to come into the depot scheme. He held that the crection of the depot would be of great value, as it would help to tide over the dull times. The $2,000,000 which the ter-minal company proposed to put into the buildwould keep many families in the city is starving, and the expenditure of that money would attract new enterprises to the city. He favored the Farnam street site because it would enable strangers to obin a view of the city, even if they did not thought that the work would start other enterprises, as it would convince capitalists of other cities that Omaha was progressive in spite of hard times.

Attorney McDonald pictured the poor impression of the city that travelers simply passing through it obtained from a view of the shed on Mason street. The effect was that they went away with the idea that Omaha did not have the energy of a town one-tenth its size. Even if a mitable structure was erected on Mason street, he maid that a very unfavorable view of the city would be obtained, and therefore he spoke emphatically in favor of the Farnam spoke emphatically in favor of the Farnan street sile.

Chairman Waller took occasion to inject a few emphatic and pointed remarks into the A mass meeting was held in the hall of Labor Temple last night to discuss the proposition of the erection of a union depot at the foot of Fernam street. There was a fair audience present, which consisted largely of laboring men.

The meeting seemed to be enthusiastically in favor of the depot project and unanimously passed the following resolutions regarding it, which are to be presented to the mously passed the following resolutions regarding it, which are to be presented to the members of the State Board of Transportation, which he denominated a curse, with the transportation.

"Well, we got our annual kick on regular time," said a talkative street railway man on the Farnam street line.

"Why, the kick about the service rendered by the conductors and motormen on this line. Last year the complaint was made that the cars were not stopped at the proper place at the Thirty-sixth street crossing. That is a double crossing, the street to the north being about fifty feet west of the street to the south. If we stop at one side passengers liv-ing on the other side inevitably grumble. "This year the kick is that the cars do not wait long enough at the terminals. Some of the people living at the west Farnam street end are accustomed to have the conductors knock at their doors and tell them when the car is ready to start, and if they miss a car they think it is the conductor's fault for not waiting for them. At the South Tenth cial, who up to yesterday rode on a pass, who stands on the purch picking his teeth until he sees the car start off, and then yells at the conductor to stop and wait for him. His kick means that he or some of his neighbors must have missed a car once or twice of late. The result has been a order telling us that if we fail to wait at terminals for pissengers who are a 'little' way off, we will be placed on waiting orders dropped off the pay roll altogether."

The boys had been attempting to dispose of the property when arrested by the detectives.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 16.—The court of appeals today reversed the life sentence of Jesse Fields and Joe Adkins of Perry county, who were sentenced for the murder of County Judge Combs. Facie Evidence of Embezzlement-Direct Proof for Whole Case Difficult.

As a result of a conference between County Attorney Baldrige and Assistant County Attorday Day, the two additional informations which Day had prepared against ex-City Treasurer Bolin, and which were ready

The two officials have determined to set about the prosecution of Bolin in such a manner that he may at once be charged elry. with the entire amount of the shortage in the treasurer's office, as reported by the ex-

If any of them were not proven, it would make the amount of the embezzlement so much less, and in the eyes of the law Bolin would be correspondingly less guilty and liable to a lighter sentence, if convicted.

Upon investigating the case, Assistant Atorney Day has come to the conclusion that it would be possible to convict Bolin of only a comparatively small embezzlement in this way. In fact, he says that he has found that there are only four instances in which there is sufficient evidence to prove that Bolin converted city money to his own use. Two of these furnish the grounds on which the two informations on which Bolin has been arrested were based, and the other two were incorporated in the two new informations which it was intended to file The amount alleged to have been embezzled in these aggregate about $11,000, "an insignificant amount in comparison with the estimated shortage of from $115,000 to $125,000," adds the attorney.
"The difficulty is found in the fact that no proofs of conversion can be easily found.

In the four instances cited conversion is shown by checks drawn by Bolln, on which he obtained money which he failed to credit on the books. Regarding the balance of the shortage, no such evidence is found. on the books. Regarding the balance of the shortage, no such evidence is found. The money appears to have been taken in amounts of from $100 up, and into the thousands, but all the indication of this that is given is found in slips, but in nothing which directly connects Bolln with obtaining the money." It is held by the county attorneys, therefore, that the point might be raised that the money could have been taken by others in the office besides Bolln. In their opinion the result would be that it by others in the casult would be that it their opinion the result would be that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossi-ble, to convict Bolln of embezzling the en-

WILL TRY ANOTHER PLAN. In view of these facts the county attorneys Bolln to account for, or make settlement for, the entire shortage, and his failure or refusal to do so will in the eyes of the law furnish prima facie evidence of em-bezziement." The section of the statutes reads as follows:

"Any refusal to pay over the public money or any part thereof, by any officer or other person, charged with the collection, receipt, transfer, disbursement or safe-keeping of the public money or any part thereof, whether belonging to the state, or to the county or precinct or school district, or organized city to account to or to make a settlement within easonable time after a notice so to do with any proper or legal authority of the official ints of such officer or person, shall be beld and taken as prima facle evidence of such embezzlement."

"Under the construction of the statute by the county attorney it will be possible for a formal demand to be made upon Bolln to settle or account for the entire shortage the office," says Day, "And if he fails or refuses to make this accounting or settlemen will constitute prima facle evidence that he is guilty of the embezzlement of the en-

Day says that he is ready to admit that prima facle evidence thus shown would be as strong as evidence of conversion, but he is of the opinion that it would be strong enough to convict. Moreover, he has ex-pressed himself of the opinion that in no other way can the entire shortage be charged

Continuing, Mr. Day says: "All that remains is to discover the proper legal authority for making this demand. Naturally, it is upposed to be the mayor and the city council, and possibly the present city treasurer." The matter will probably be considered at the next meeting of the council.

In the meantime no more complaints will be filed against Bolin and no steps will be taken in his case beyond the acquisition of as much evidence as possible. In case the council and the mayor decide to follow the course indicated by Day, and in case the demand is made and not complied with, a new complaint will be filed against Bolin, charging him with the entire amount of the short age, less the amount already incorporated in the two complaints filed.

An Abstract Caused the Trouble. Egbert E. French, a real estate man, and S. M. Sadler, a well known abstractor, were arrested last night on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Officers of the Mutual Investment company allege that on May 2, 1893, they loaned French $900 on four lots in Central Park, on which he said there were no encumbrances except a judg ment of $143. This claim was supporte by an abstract from Sadler. A few day ago the company began proceedings of for closure on account of non-payment of inter-est, and discovered that the property had been sold under an execution issued on a judgment for $2,905. Sadler says that when he made the abstract he did not know for what purpose it was to be used. The cases were called this morning, and continued until January 22, although Judge Gordon stated that the hearing might be held earlier.

Quarreled About a Fence. Paul Juckniess has caused a warrant to be saued for the arrest of William Bennett, alias Light, on the charge of assault and battery. The two live in Sheeleytown and on adjoining lots. It appears that recently the Juckniess family patched up a hole in the fence which divided the two premises. Bennett looked upon this bit of thrift as an affront to himself, as previously the hole allowed him a view of the other yard. It is alleged that the two met in Didam's galoon in Sheeley Wednesday night and had a fight,

HIS CONFIDANT: TALKS.

Otto Berger, the young German bound over to the district court for entering the flot of J. B. Rhinehart on South Thirteenth street, is said to have made the statement to a fellow prisoner that he would never be sent over the road by any judge, as he had plenty of funds with which to secure legal talent to fight the case. He stated that, though only 21 years of age, his career in crime had been a lengthy one, that he had been connected with a celebrated "fence" of thieves in New York City, that he had been engaged in a large number of diamond robberies and that he was still possessed of a large amount of the plunder which he and his pals had secured. Berger is said to have tald his Refusal or Failure Will Be Prime secured. Berger is said to have told his friend, who afterward divulged the secret to the police, that his atetmpt at robbing the Linton block on Thirteenth street was not an accident as to choice, but that he thoroughly planned the job beforehand. Tales Berger is Alleged to Have Told His Cellmate. SOUTH OMAHA NEWS

One of the agents of the Union Stock Yards company in Montana writes that the storm of last week did no damage to cattle on the northwestern ranges even as far north as the Canadian border. The thermometer dropped down for three days, but as there was very little snow on the ranges, no ill effects were felt. The weather has been mild and the cold snaps of such short duration that all classes of cattle will be able to pull through the winter with little The stockmen who shipped inconvenience. to this market from Montana last summer and fall appear to be pleased with the prices received and the treatment accorded, and the stock yards company expects big shipments from the northwest country as soon as the spring round-up is over.

Stenling Lumber from the City. Complaint was made to the mayor and chief of police yesterday by Street Commissioner Ross that the old planking which is being taken from the vinducts and hauled to the tool house, at Twenty-sixth and O streets, is being stolen every night. It was the intention of the mayor and street commissioner to save all of the planks fit determined to put him behind the bars. The police say that Berger made a number of valuable disclosures to his cellmate that will be of considerable value to the eastern authorities in the sidewalks. No and as a result very little, if any, of the cover the individual amount that Bolin therities in regard to locating some noted is alleged to have converted to his own use at any one time, until the it gives immediate relief—we mean Sal-

Not Troubled by Tramps.

Only three tramps have been arrested so far this month. As a rule when a member of the tribe shows up in front of Judge Christmann he is given such a cold reception that when he gets out of the county jail he sends word to all his pals to steer clear of South Omaha. There has been very little begging in the city this winter take part Saturday night in the bright little and only fifteen vagrants have been locked oketch, "Rosberry Shrub, Sec," revealed to up since December 1. The only reason for this, it is claimed by the police, is the severe treatment tramps and vagrants receive at police headquarters and in police

Work on the Streets Stopped. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Johnston or lered Street Commissioner Ross to stop all work on the streets for the present. This order will not, however, interfere with the relaying of sidewalks, as the cost of such improvements is paid by the property owner. The street repair fund is nearly exhausted and the mayor wants to make the money on hand hold out as long as possible. Twenty-fourth street, from I to O streets, needs cleaning, as does N street, from Twenty-fourth to the tracks, but nothing will be done satil there is a thaw.

She and the Agent Fought. Mrs. M. Uzedic, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of R. M. Sorrenson on a charge of assault, turned the tables on Sorrenson and caused his arrest for assault and battery. Sorrenson is a sewing machine agent, and he said that while he was trying to take a machine from the Uzedic house which had not been paid for, he was assaulted with an ax. When the woman was brought into court she said that Sorrenson used force in taking the machine, and therefore caused his arrest. An Omaha busness man went on Sorrenson's bond, Board of Charities' Ball.

Tonight the entertainment and ball given under the auspices of the South Omaha Board of Charities will be held. There will be a fine musical program at the First Presbytechurch for those who do not care to atlend the dances. One ticket will admit two persons to the church entertainment. A masked ball will be held at Sanger ball, and dances at Knights of Pythias hall and the Young Men's Institute hall. Supper will be served at a restaurant.

Stone Pile Project Favored. The idea of a stone yard, where city prisners can earn their board, instead of being kept by the city in idleness, seems to be ing next, the project will be sprung. It is thought that by means of a stone pile enough broken rock can be gathered to the state of th taking root, and at the meeting of the Board at the Paxton. broken rock can be gathered together in a short time to help out the South Twentyfourth street road through the bottoms

William Grube, an insane man, was ar-rested by Officer Thomas last evening and taken to the city jail. He will be brought before the insanity board. The explosion of a gasoline stove at the home of J. W. Winn, 320 South Nineteenth street, called the fire department out shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Slight damage. The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben have offered prize of a $20 gold piece for the best sugges-tion of a "theme" for their fall festivities. Letters should be mailed to box 777, and the competition will close February 10. Frank Brooglin, living at 1421 Howard street, was arrested last night at the instance of John J. Shannon for the larceny of a pair of gold cuff buttons, valued at $8. The trouble is said to have arisen over the payment of room rent. The memorial services of the Ancient Or-der of United Workmen will be held tomor-row evening by North Omaha lodge, No. 159, at Wolf's hall, Twenty-second and Cum-ing streets. Among the features are an il-lustrated lecture by John Liddell, an address by Grand Trustee Rev. E. L. Ely and an original poem for the occasion by the lodge poet, Charles W. Adams. The exercises will be opened at 8 o'clock. All friends of the order are invited to be present.

About Shoes

There is more chance to cheat in making shoes than in making anything else that men wear, and this chance is being taken advantage of by some manufacturers since the recent slight advance in leather. True, shoes are higher-but not so much as some dealers would make you believe-our shoes are made JUST AS GOOD as formerly-we will not allow the manufacturer to slight a shoe in order that we can make a few cents more profit on it. This IS NOT OUR WAY. We have established a reputation in our shoe business the same as in our clothing business-we know thousands of our customers TRUST TO US MORE THAN to their judgment as regards the quality and make of a shoe-and they come to us knowing that at "The Nebraska" they always get full value for their money-and more than elsewhere-they know WE GUARANTEE OUR SHOES and THAT'S ENOUGH for them.

Our new $2.50 Goodyear welts for spring, '96, are now coming in-All we have to say is that they are just as good as the many thousands which we have sold before-NEVER WAS THERE A BETTER SHOE placed on the market at that price.
