Armour's Influence a Disturbing Factor in Wheat.

SMALLER DEALERS WERE EASILY SCARED

what appeared to be his manipulations the price declined 14c from Saturday's close Corn and oats suffered from free realizing and declined %c and %c respectively. Pro visions opened higher, but lost the advance and closed at practically unchanged prices Wheat at the opening was wild and prices irregular, but the buying sentiment was for the moment in the lead and some of the transactions were at the advance over the close of the day before. But it was seen found that Armour was a heavy seller. His brokers let the crowd have all it wanted at the opening and followed the market as it went off. For a time the trade readily absorbed all the offerings, but as there was realizing sales by the trade at large and by outsiders the market began to weaken. It also became evident early that there would not be as large i early that there would not be as large a decrease in the visible as expected and this tended to increase the weakness and there was a gradual decline of 1½c from the early price. But on the break the trade thought it discovered that Armour had changed his tactics and had turned buyer. His sales early, while the market was fluctuating between 65½c and 65c, were thought to have been fully 1,500,000 bu, but when the price had fallen to 61½c his brokers were mettive buyers and the market quickly to have been fully 1,500,000 but, but which to have been fully 1,500,000 but, but which the price had fallen to 6Fac his brokers were active buyers and the market quickly strengthened, notwithstanding the visible decrease was not half as large as expected, and the prices soon reacted nearly 1c. The strong points in the early news were an advance of id in the price at Liverpool, moderate gains at Farls and Ferlin and a correction of the Argentine wheat shipments for the week to 24,000 but instead of 216,000 but as reported Saturday. As against those matters, however, there were the northwestern receipts, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 724 cars, a big increase. The cold wave predicted for Sunday proved to be of a very mild type. Still the opinion is quite generally entertained that the plant has already suffered material injury and is at present in a very exposed condition. The market got another lively rally after that on a report of doubtful authenticity, raying that the present season's crop of Argentine wheat was too poor for sampment. The price reacted to 65½c on that and the still underlying fear of Armour manipulation. In fact, Armour was a considerable factor all through the session. The crowd was inclined to think that his open selling at the start was designed to deceive and this was strengthened by his buying attitude later. Not much attention was paid to the disappointment in the visible supply. May opened about ½c up at from 65½c to 65½c, fell gradually to 64½c, sold up to 65½c and at noon was down to 64½c. The market was easier during the last hour and there was free realizing and short selling, which gradually sent May off to 64½c, at which price it closed.

The tradition of the feature of it was the taking and the chief feature of it was the taking ually sent May off to 64%c, at which price it closed.

The trading in corn was moderately brisk and the chief feature of it was the taking of profits by people who had bought on Saturday. It opened strong in sympathy with wheat, but tended downward during the remainder of the day. The big increase in the visible supply, nearly 3,000,000 bu., had a decided weakening effect. May corn started practically unchanged at from 30%c to 30%c bid.

Outs were very weak, but active. From Oats were very weak, but active. From the first there were heavy offerings, long-principally realizing on their holdings and taking advantage of the recent advance. May opened unchanged at from 17%c to 21%c, sold at 22c, declined to 21c and closed at 21%c bid.

sold at 22c, declined to 21c and closed at 214c bid.

In provisions the light run of hogs gave the market a strong opening and quite a good trade was done at an advance of from 124c to 15c in May pork and from 74c to 10c in lard and 74c in ribs. The demand at those prices was quickly supplied and during the remainder of the session the crowd was gradually supplied with what they got orders for at gently declining prices. At the end May pork was selling at $10.924c, May lard at $6.05 and May ribs at $5.474c, being a rise of 24c for the day in pork and unchanged for lard and ribs. The estimates for Tuesday are: Wheat, 40 cars; corn, 375 cars; oats, 325 cars; hogs, 10.000 head.

HIDES AND TALLOW.

HIDES AND TALLOW.

According to the Chicago Shoe and Leather Review there is a feeling of weakness and despendency in country hides. The city dealers are between two fires. On the one hand there is the difficulty of convincing the butchers that hides are not gilt-edged property and on the other is the pronounced apathy and indifference of the tanners. Urban dealers say it is difficult to buy hides in the country at reasonable rates, and having secured them the difficulty of selling to the tanners is greater. Reports from Ekston are that hides are more plentiful there. There is a unanimity of opinion that hide values are likely to continue weak and depressed until there is a decided improvement in the demand for leather.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

Security Market Enjoyed a Decided Increase in Activity.
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.-The stock market tosy enjoyed a decided increase in activity, udged by recent records, and the volume of usiness was unusually well distributed. The large dealings covered both the railroads and industrials. Sugar led with 35,000, with St. Paul second with 31,300. The course of prices, a temporary setlack excepted, was uniformly toward a higher level, and buying was less exclusively professional than heretofore. A variety of influences predisposed the street to the bull side. The chance of any serious contention between this country and Great Britain that cannot be arranged diplomatically is now generally regarded to be remote. Then again, assurances of the successful carrying out of the new government loan is doubly assured, and in the best informed circles appreachasion of impedding stringency in the money market has been dissipated. Furthermore the easy tendency of money rates is expected to soon extend to the market for commercial paper, where at present the inquiry for even choice grades is only nominal.

the inquiry for even choice grades is only nominal.

The opinious are now more generally confident of favorable developments at Thursday's meeting of the anthractic coal presidents. Great interest is being attached to the progress that is being made in the efforts to settle the long drawn difficulties of the leading mining and carrying companies. It is expected that in the event of a sottlement on permanent lines the rearganization of the Reading would be readily hurried through, and the well known policy of the bankers in charge is to work up a favorable sentiment through manipulation of the general market. A weaker tendency in the sterling exchange market is believed to have effectually disposed of the question of gold exports up in an exchange basis for the immediate rature. London prices came higher and fairly large buying for foreign account was noted in this market. A number of favorable exhibits of railroad earnings which came to sand, and notably the St. Paul figures for December, showing an increase in reas of $561,128 and an increase in net of $335.611, exerted a decidedly stimulating influence upon the speculative sentiment. The market opened strong and gains app. aching a point were scored early in a number of instances. The upward movement was checked by sales to take profits before noon and by vigorous drives against Sugar and Tobseco, forcing those stocks down 1%6; 2% per cent respectively. The decline in the first was based upon the now very familiar report of the probable increase by the German exporters of the commodity.

The declines in the general list were not heavy, but many shares receded to below Saturday's closing figures. About 1 o'clock, however, a raily started, which carried stocks to the best figures of the day, with St. Paul, Reading, Leather preferred and Rock Island most conspicuous in the active list. Consilidated Gas solid particles and strong at general substantial improvements. The railway bond market was active and strong, with Reading issues leading at advances of %61% per stamped, and $1,000 Tennessee settlement is were dealt in.

The Evening Post's London financial cable-gram says: The stock markets were good to-day on the effect of Mr. Chamberlain's speech. Investment stocks were strong and home rails were booming. Americans were more active, with a general rise and a good tone, but closed under the best. There was, however, only professional dealing. A further rise in bands was noted. I gather that upwards of a million sterling in gold will probably be shipped from here by the Majestic on Wednesday. Two millions of Chillian 4½ per cent treasury bills were placed on the market at par today by Rothschilds. The Paris and Bedin markets were firm.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKET

Very Light Receipts of Cattle and Hogs Even for Monday.

SCRAMBLE FOR THE MEAGER OFFERINGS

Cattle Buyers Rush Prices Up in the Effort to Secure Everything in Sight-Hogs Go the Same Way.

MONDAY, Jan. 27. Receipts for the days indicated are: Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, Horses January 23... January 22... January 21... January 20... CATTLE-There were hardly enough cattle here to make a market, only twenty-eight loads being reported in the yards.

eight loads being reported in the yards. It was the lightest run of cattle of any day since the first of the year. Other markets were reported better and the position of the sellers was strong, with light receipts and good demand on their side.

The market could be summed up in a very few words—the buyers wanted cattle and they went out and bought them without letting the matter of price stand in the way. The result was an advance in values on all kinds of killing cattle, amounting, on an average, to about fee. As usual on such markets, the advance was uneven, some cattle selling way up, while others were not so fortunate. Some good hay-fed westerns brought $4.10, but they were good stuff. Some fairish native steers sold at $3.65 and $3.85. In the line of butchers' stock there were some right good grain-fed western heifers that reached $3.50, while as high as $3.30 was paid for cows. The market was active at the advance and everything changed hands in short order.

The trade in stockers and feeders was of very little importance for the lack of cattle of that description. The few sold at good strong prices. Representative sales:

IT PLEASES GENERAL MANDERSON

Plan to Change Infantry Formation a Favorite Idea with Him. There has been recently introduced into ongress a measure providing for a change in the present organization of infantry regiments, and the proposed change is the subject for discussion among military men everywhere. If the measure is adopted the present division of a regiment into ten companies drawn up into a single battalion would panies drawn up into a single battalion would be abandoned and the organization of the regiments so changed as to provide for twelve companies divided into three bat-talions of four companies each. General Manderson is enthusiastic over the proposed change. In fact, he introduced a resolution with this end in view no less than these times while he was a member than three times while he was a member of the United States senate. Each time the measure passed the senate, but it lacked the support of a sufficient number of repre-sentatives to become a law. Before the Forty-eighth congress General Manderson made an extended argument in favor of the change, and that speech is receiving con-piderable attention now that the matter has been brought up again.

"This single battalion organization is a most suicidal one," said the ex-senator to a Bee reporter recently. "It was all right when the old-fashioned muzzle loader was used to have the ranks of infantry as solid as possible. The guns employed then, as in the civil war, could not carry more than 300 yards with any degree of accuracy, but today the use of a gun that will carry surely two miles makes absolutely neces-sary the employment of a three battalion organization. By this method the regiment going into battle would present a front of two battalions, with open ranks, while the third battalion could be held back of the other two to be used where the need for it should prove greatest. With the long range guns now in use the men, drawn up in one long line, as in the single battalion now the custom, would stand no chance at all custom, would stand no chance at all. The fact that the United States, Persia and China are the only nations today that employ the single battalion principle of infantry organization is sufficient to demand a change to suit the modern arms now in general use. With China and Persia we are in nice use. With China and Persia we are in nice company, aren't we? The efficiency of the breech loader is many times that of the old time muzzle loading gun, and the efficiency of a regiment of infantry in battle today would probably be ten times that of a regiment in '61. It is necessary that we change our formation for battle to suit this increased efficiency, and I'm glad that there is a renewed effort to introduce the three battalion arrangement."

RAILROADS AND THE PUBLIC Address of Mr. Rosewater Before th

Edward Rosewater spoke yesterday afternoon before the social and political science department of the Omaha Woman's club on the subject, "Railroads and Their Relation to the Public." This is not one of the large departments of the club, but on this occasion the number of visitors made it ad-Mr. Rosewater spoke for over an hour. Sketching briefly the history of great inter-national roadways of the ancient world, he dwelt at length upon the great revolution in the way of transportation which the last seventy years has witnessed. He said it was a great mistake to allow any individual or corporation to control the destinies of people as is the case when they hold in their power the whole result of the people's industry. Congress has the right to compel fair toll and square dealing with all, because "no railroad can be terminal in any state," but forms a part of a great international highway. Eventually it will be best for congress to purchase and control the railroads, but this is not now expedient. to assume this control during the civil war. The buildings of railroads has been a matte of speculation and there are probably 50,00 miles more than are needed in the United States. It is paying the interest on rail-read debts that is causing most of the present financial depression.

Mr. Rosewater spoke at length upon the greatest evil arising from these great cor-porations. In order to protect themselves they find it necessary to ramify the whole country with their agents. Every legislature swarms with their lobbyists, until now they centrol so much representation that no law which is the wish of the majority can be Mr. Rosewater's remarks were frequently interrupted by expressions of approbation and as he closed he was greated by hearty applause.

Two weeks from today the department will hear an exposition of the question from a prominent railroad official. 9999999999999999999999
