Justice Cook yesterday rendered a decision in a wood chopping case that has been in court for several days. L. Jonea and others brought suit against F. Christianson to recover the value of a number of cords of wood which it was claimed that he sold and had neglected to make full returns according to an agreement between the parties. Jones and his companions had engaged to cut a lot of wood on the lands engaged to cut a lot of wood on the lands of W. A. Mynster and were to give Mynster one-half of all wood cut. Christianson was employed by the choppers to haul the wood to market. The agreement was continued until Mynster discovered that he was get-ting no returns, and that the chappers were clearing away the brush and piling up his share of the wood in cord piles. The chop-pers laid the blame upon the hauler, and finally brought suit against him for the value of all the wood hauled. The evidence showed that Christianson had settled with the choppers and had paid them all but $1.20, and that they had forgotten to set-tle with the landlord. The court gave Jones a judgment for the amount named and livided the costs between the litigants.

More Trouble in the Taylor Family. The somewhat notorious Taylor family, Taylor appeared at the office of the chief of police with a sad story about the sudden dirappearance of Charies Coleman, a new husband of one of the Taylor girls. Coleman, he said, had dropped out of sight under circumstances that led him to believe that he had been kidnaped or foully dealt with in some manner that should interest the police. He left a description of the man and asked the police to help hunt him up, and to communicate the sad intelligence to the Omaha police department.

GIENWOOD VERDICT SETTLES THE CASE

Defense Sets Up that the State Has Had Its Day and Lost on the Issues Now Before the Jury.

Nearly the entire day was consumed in the present proceeding. When the care was first called for trial the defense offered a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that it was practically the same as the one under which Mr. Dickerson was tried and acquitted at Glenwood last June. The argument of the matter was from Judge Thornell yesterday for seven boxes of cigars, which they claimed from the stock of John C. Lee, which was taken possession of recently by Officer & Pusey.

Articles of incorporation of the Cripple Isaac Dickerson, Judge Smith expressed a deferred from time to time, and was only Isaac Dickerson. Judge Smith expressed a willingness to hear arguments on the claim of the defense, and the work was commenced yesterday morning. Colonel Dailey opened the argument for the defense. He took the position that the Glenwood trial was a bar to the present prosecution for two reasons, that this trial would be a violation of the constitutional provision that a citizen should not be placel in jeopardy twice for the same offense, and for the further reason that the Glenwood trial was a complete adjudication of the case, and that the verdict of acquittal was charged in the indictment.

Colonel McPherson took up the second feature of the defense and argued it at some length to the court. C. M. Harl made a lengthy argument for the state, and both sides cited a large number of authorities bearing on the case.

DICKERSON'S SONS TESTIFY. It was 5 o'clock when the argument of the law proposition was concluded and then the examination of witnesses was continued. E. J. Dickerson was called and directly contra-J. Dickerson was called and directly contra-dicted the evidence of two of the state's wit-nesses. F. R. Wilbern, the man who sold the hogs and got a balance of $40 in a deal with Isaac and E. J. Dickerson, swore for the state that he was in the office of I. & E. J. Dickerson on October 28, 1893, and that Isnac Dickerson told E. J. Dickerson not to write a check on the Cass County bank that deep at the bank was in bard lines. Wilbern lay, as the bank was in hard lines. Wilbern was positive of the date and could not be mistaken. When the defense was called Isaac Dickerson testified that he was in Chicago on that date and another witness testified that he saw Isaac Dickerson in Chi-cago on that date. E. J. Dickerson testi-fied that both he and his father were in Chicago that day and he gave a number of facts that served to call his attention and fix his memory as to the exact date. One of the incidents was the assassination of Carter Harrison, which occurred while the witness and his father were in Chicago. F. S. Crawford, an Atlantic newspaper man, testified for the state that he called on Isaac Dickerson on the morning after the bank failed and Isaac Dickerson told him that he had known all along that the bank was in hard lines, and that he had been in favor of closing the doors of the institution six months before the date of the failure. E. J. Dickerson testified that he was in the office and sat within a few feet of his father's desk when Crawford called and talked about the failure of the bank. He heard all of the conversation and repeated a good deal of it. He denied that his father had said to Crawford that the bank had been hard pushed for some time and that he had urged the closing of it some months before. A. W. Dickerson, the cashier of the broken bank, was called to the witness stand. He testified that he had heard the testimony of J. C. Yetzer. He said that no such meet-ing was ever held as the one in which Yetzer said that the witness and Isaac Dickerson and Yetzer talked over the proposed sur-render of the bank's charter and that A. W. Dickerson had said that his father could vote the Cooper stock and that he would fix the publication of the notice in the newspapers. He denied emphatically that Yetzer's evilence on these points contained one lota of

THAT NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION. The witness also explained the notice of dissolution of the corporation of the bank as a state institution which was prepared for the state auditor on November 16, 1892. He said he had prepared that notice himwhose members have figured in all sorts of self and had submitted it to Yetzer and the eases in the police and justice courts re- state bank examiner, Mr. Copeland, but had cently, have found some new trouble to not shown it to his father. He said that the worry the public over. Last night Zack day Copeland was at Atlantic his father Taylor appeared at the office of the chief and Yetzer came into the bank together.

Too Many Wives at Once. Dr. Nusum, a former physician of Crescent, has been arrested in Harrison county on the charge of bigamy. The doctor secured a divorce from one of his wives a year ago, and almost immediately after the separation married a young woman named Folsom in Hazel Dell township. The honeymoon was hardly over when the young wife left her husband and returned to the parental roof. A little thing like that did not disturb the doctor, and without waiting for the formality of a separation by the courts he wooed and won a Harrison county wife. He was marmittee to report such amendments and addoctor, and without waiting for the formality of a separation by the courts he wooed and won a Harrison county wife. He was marwon a Harrison county wife. He was married to the Harrison county woman last Tuesday, and three days after was arrested on a charge of bigamy, preferred by his wife, who lives in this county. He was placed under bail in the sum of $1,000 to appear for trial at the next term of the district.

Minds of Council Bluffs Women. There is a great deal of indignation among a large number of women in Council Bluffs on account of an unpleasant discovery that was made within the last few days. A week police. or more ago a tall and angular creature begun an active canvass in the city for the purpose of introducing a new and what was said to be a popular corset. The solicitor was supposed to be a woman of uncertain age. She was stylishly dressed, of good presence and proved to be a very successful canvasuar. She represented herself to be the inventor of the article she was selling, and also to be interested in its manufacture in Chicago. No question was raised until one sharp-eyed woman happened to notice that Nearly the entire day was consumed in the canvasser wore a heavy seal ring on the little finger of the right hand. She thought it odd that a woman should wear trial of the defendant constitutes a bar to a great big man's ring. This and some other things aroused suspicions that the canvasser might not be just what many other women had been led to suppose. So the woman resorted to the little trick that got Tom Sawyer into trouble. The canvasser was sitting in a low rocking chair with her knees spread wide apart. The woman picked up the corset, rolled it up in a neat, firm package, and stepping around in front of the canvasser tossed it into her lap. The knees came together like a steel trap. This was sufficient. The majron of the house knew that women do not make that sort of a movement when they wish to catch things tossed into their laps, and she showed the canvasser the door. She informed her husband of the occurrence when he returned in the evening and he acquainted the police with the facts. Additional facts were ascer-tained that left no doubt but that the canvasser was a man dressed in woman's clothes. The police were hunting for him all day yesterday, but were unable to find him. The latest information obtained was that he had gone to Omaha, still wearing neatly fitting and modestly appearing feminine attire. TANK IS NOW BEYOND REPAIRING

> Tinner Working on a Gasoline Car Creates a Violent Disturbance. A booming roar, like a discharge of artillery, followed by a violent shock, attracted a crowd to the vicinity of B. Grahl & Son's cornice works on Broadway yesterday. When the crowd rushed in they found the remnants of what had been a large galvanized gasoline tank scattered around the place and one of the workmen standing near by dazed, and his hair and beard showing unmistakable signs of having come into close contact with the flames. The tank, which was designed to hold several barrels of gasoline, had been brought into the shop for the purpose of having a leak repaired. It was supposed to be empty, and was consequently not handled very carefully. The leak was near the bottom, and as the outside of the tank was covered with ice it was placed on a trestle near the big stove to thaw out. It had been there for some time before the workman got ready to solder up the leak. The first touch of the hot soldering iron to the little hole ignited the gas that had evidently accumulated inside from the evapora-tion of a small quantity of the fluid that remained. The explosion that followed was remained. The explosion that followed was very violent. The whole top of the can was blown off, and a mass of flame shot upward to the roof of the building, while the bottom and sides of the tank were torn and twisted in every shape. The force of the explosion was upward, and the workman was kneeling down with his face about on a line with the bottom of the can. It was owing to this position that he examed serious owing to this position that he escaped serious injury, the sheet of flame and the flying metal going over his head. His face was slightly reddened and his bair and whiskers

The water works question was about the only topic of conversation in the city yes terday. It was a great surprise to the community at large that the ordinance looking to a reduction of tolls was not passed. A number of business men would like to see a re duction of water rates and are not backward in saying so. The proposed meeting of tax-payers, which it is expected will be held Thursday evening, will give some of them a chance to voice their sentiments.

Y. M. I. Indebtedness Distressing. The Young Men's Institute is a little over $1,000 in debt and it is possible that the organization will disband. When it was proposed to purchase the building now occupied by the young men on Twenty-fourth street, near O street, business men in the city sub-scribed $2,045. The total expenditures on the building amounted to $3,002. A loan of $1,000 was made by one of the banks and nine gen-tlemen interested in the enterprise went security. It now looks as if these gentlemen would have to pay the note besides paying some other bills. During the past year the institute gave several entertainments and on every one money was lost. Many of the young men who were members moved away from the city during the year. Others be-came discouraged and dropped out and now the few business men who stood good for the debts and put up the money are left in the lurch. Just what will be done has not been decided, but some way may be found to hold the organization together.

hot Through Both Lungs and Beyond Hope of Recovery-Elder Fleck Removed to the Jefferson Jail.

JEFFERSON, Ia., Jan. 28 .- (Special Telegram.)-Doctors say that John Brown, jr., one of the victims of the battle at Paton Sunday night, cannot possibly recover, having been shot through both lungs, and that t is a question of but a few hours when he will die The elder Fleck, who planned and headed the cold-blooded attack upon the Brown family, was removed to this city this morning by the sheriff, although his wounds are such as to have made this hazardous, were it not for the fact that trouble is feared from the people in the vicinity of Brown's home. There are ugly mutterings from that section of the county, and the sheriff is pre-paring to protect his charge in case of at-tack, which is not unlikely if Brown dies. George Fleck, the 16-year-old son, who carried the revolvers and did the bulk of the shooting, is under guard at Paton. No apprehension is felt on his account, as his father is regarded as the responsible party in the whole transaction.

RESUBMISSION'S FORMAL ENTRY.

Doubleday of Polk Presents the Resolution to the lown House. DES MOINES, Jan. 28 .- (Special Telegram.)-In the house today Doubleday of Polk introduced a resolution providing for the resubmission of the prohibitory amendment to the constitution. It was referred to the committee on constituional amendments. The house spent the greater part of the session in wrangling over a proposition to appoint twenty or more additional committee clerks, one for each standing committee. The resolution was finally declared out of order.

house: By Gorrell, providing for the systematic inspection by skilled veterinary sur-geons of all dairy herds; by Healey, requiring thirty days' notice of forfeiture of contract for the purchase of real estate; by Hospers, providing for the appointment of a commission to establish a uniform system of bookkeeping for county officers; by Hurst, prohibiting the cancellation of mortgages by all persons except the county recorder; by Lathrop, providing for an appellate court of three judges each, and dividing the state into two judicial districts.

Both houses of the legislature today received a flood of petitions asking that the age of consent be raised. The house passed the senate joint resolutions expressing symgress to act in the matter.

Creston will hold its annual city election 'n a few weeks, and will be called upon to elect five aldermen. Heretofore there has been a sentiment in favor of party lines, but this has disappeared and the disposition now prevails to elect the best men, irrespective of party, nationality or religion. Demise of "Billy" Crooks. CHEROKEE, Ia., Jan. 28 .- (Special.)-Billy Crooks, known as the "Hummer," is dead. He died Saturday evening at Hot Springs, Ark., where he went a short time ago for his health. Crooks, who was about 47 years of age, came to this county from Buchanan county, twenty-three years ago, and has resided here ever since. He was worth $25,000 at the time of his death, and leaves no will. As he was not married, the estate will go to his brothers and sisters, of which there are six or seven, the whereabouts of several of whom are known. His property consists of some valuable city lots at Minncapolis, a fine 120-acre farm in this county and several suburban lots in Cherokee. The remains will probably reach here to-
