His Employment Contrary to Charter and Ordinance.

WERE GOOD OMAHA MEN FOR THE POSITION

Legal Phases of the Question Discussed-Kennard and Benawa Not Worrying-He Gets His Pay.

Wednezday afternoon Mayor Broatch approved the salary appropriation ordinance, even to the item of $166.66 in favor of Charles C. Brown of Indiana, who has been substituting for City Engineer Howell.

Mr. Brown lost no time in heading off any possible action that might prevent him from getting his money. His warrant was among the first issued, and as soon as it was in his possession he hastened over to the office of the city treasurer, where it was converted into cash.

The action of the city council in continuing to allow the salary of assistant city engineer to attach to a resident of another state is severely criticised by taxpayers and others, who contend that Omaha salaries should go to Omaha men. The critics assert that there are at least half a dozen men in Omaha who are taxpayers and who would be perfectly competent to perform the duties of assistant engineer. It is therefore asserted that the employment of Charles C. Brown as assistant engineer is a direct violation of section 17 of the city charter, which says: "The mayor and council shall have power to create any office or employ any agent they may deem necessary for the government and best interests of the city, and to prescribe and regulate the duties, powers and compensation of all officers, agents and servants of the city not herein provided for, But all such agents, officers and servants employed or appointed under this act, so far as practicable, must be qualified voters of said city."

NOT FOR OMAHA MEN. The proposition that it is not "practicable" to employ any other man than Mr. Brown is considered ridiculous. It is urged that it is the plain intent of the charter that no outside man should be employed unless no competent local man should be found. It is a fact that there are several local engineers whose competency to fill the office is un-questioned. But they were informed that they had no chance to get the position. Among the Omaha men who are mentioned as fully competent to perform the duties of assistant engineer there are half a dozen who are without exception property owners and taxpayers.

Charles G. Carpenter, Alva J. Grover and Charles E. Howes filed applications asking for the position. These applications were well endorsed, but this did not count.

Charles G. Carpenter has been a resident of Omaha for ten years. During eight years of this time he was employed as an engineer in the city engineer's office, and for a long time he was in charge of the saver construction. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and is said to be a competent engineer, one who is familiar with every detail of the Omaha department.

Alva J. Grover is well known as a resident of Omaha and as an engineer of ability. He is familiar with city work and it is claimed that no objection could be raised against his appointment as assistant engineer. Charles E. Howes was formerly deputy county sur

Tom Shaw who was for years connected with the city engineering department, but was dismissed by Howell, was mentioned for the place. It is also asserted that even if none of these men were agreeable to the administration it could have done no better than t retain Mr. Stenger, whose record as assistant engineer was unimpeachable.

J. M. Wilson, the present teacher of mathein the Omaha High school, was also alluded to as a man who could satisfactorily fill Mr. Brown's shoes. He is a graduate of the engineering department of the Renssaeler Polytechnic institute at Troy, N. Y., one of the most noted institutions of the kind in the United States. He has been a citizen of BROWN NOT A RESIDENT. "The so-called acting assistant engineer, Charles C. Brown, is not a citizen of Ne-braska; he is not an officer, not having been appointed and confirmed to any office recognized by law. Beyond all this, he has been and still continues advertising himself in engineering journals as having headquarters in Indianapolis.

"Beyond all this, and independent of the

"Mr. Howell not only violates the law himself, by thus keeping two offices contrary to his cath and drawing two salaries, but he ignores the law in certifying to the pay of a man in a capacity that is not provided by either the charter or ordinances. He still further violates the resolution, unani-mously passed by the city council, 'that none but citizens be given employment.'" COUNCILMEN IN THE DEAL. But however the taxpayers may regard seir action, members of the city counci declare that they propose to continue their present policy. Councilmen Kennard and who constitute a majority of the ommittee on finance, said yesterday that they took the ground that the c (y engineer could do as he pleased and they would con-tinue to approve the payment of Brown's Kennard said that the expenses of the city ngineer's office were only $600 a month nd he thought so long as the department was maintained on that basis the council cught to pass a vote of thanks to Engineer Howell, instead of questioning any of his appointments. He had no objection to giving Howell a chance to wind up his other husi-ness, so long as the Omaha engineering department was being conducted as economic ally as it was at the present time.

Benawa declared that when a man wanted to have a "private secretary," he ought to have the selection himself, as he was the man interested. He also alluded to the fact that the office was not costing as much now as it had in previous years, and this was a sufficient reason why the appointment of the engineer should not be disturbed. Both councilmen contended that the resolution of Councilman Prince, which provided that no outside man should be appointed to mun'el-pal office, was impracticable and had no standing at law.

EXTENT OF COUNTY CHARITY

Almost Fifteen Hundred Families Helped Every Month.

SOME FIGURES ON RATIONS ISSUED

ystem of Investigation Believed to Have Reduced Deadbeating to the Minimum-Recent Case of Gross Imposture.

Some idea of the magnitude of the business transacted at the "county store" may be gained by a glance at the amount of the various kinds of groceries dispensed to the outside poor during a month. The report for the month of February, which has just been filed in the office of the county clerk. shows the following totals of the staples which form the entire stock in trade of the store, no luxuries being provided. The figures represent pounds and include only such meal, 3,465; cornmeal, 8,570; bacon, 8,375; soap, 4,793; salt, 1,591. The report from yard. Each month when these reports are received the county commissioners discuss ways and means for reducing this drain, but no method has yet been discovered that brings it below the figures quoted. There are now 1,477 families dependent upon the county. The commissioners say that each applicant for assistance is required to make a full statement of his case, and his state-ments are afterward verified by a personal examination, made by one of the county agents employed for that purpose. The commissioners say they believe that deception and trickery have been reduced to the mini mum, and that if any objection would hold against the method employed it would be rather to the effect that the supervision was too rigid than otherwise. The applicants for aid, after being thoroughly investigations gated, are notified that they will be given supplies at certain times, and will not be allowed to apply for assistance at any other times. The majority of applicants are given supplies once each month or once each two weeks, there being very few who receive aid at shorter intervals.

Notwithstanding the care exercised, a case

Notwithstanding the care value of the par-s discovered now and then where the parhave been receiving aid are entitled to it. A case was discovered re-cently of a man who had been coming to the store frequently with other people and acting as interpreter for them, they not being able above asking for aid for himself, claiming to be employed and was able to take care of nimself. Agent Askwith's suspicions were aroused, however, and a few days ago, when one of the women who had always been accompanied by this man came into the store alone, Mr. Askwith asked her a few ques-tions and discovered that Mr. Man had been compelling these ignorant people to give him one-half of the supplies they received from the county. As he had a large number of "clients" his story about not being dependent upon the county for assistance was correct to a certain extent. The goose that was laying golden eggs for him is now taking a BUSINESS COMES BEFORE POLITICS General Manderson Not Ready to Talk on Thurston's Letter.

General Manderson returned from Washington early yesterday. He stopped at his office a moment and proceeded directly to his home. Shortly before noon he ventured down town, and found a host of friends patiently awaiting their turn to see him. There were those who wanted to talk politics; there were railroad men who wanted his opinion in various matters, and there were those who had just dropped in to extend their compliments and invite him to their homes. He received numerous congratulations, both on his announcement of himself as a presidential can-didate, and his success in the land grant matter, in which the Burlington is closely interested.

The general received these comunications in good spirit, and seemed to have even more cheer about him than usual. Concerning the land grant bill, he remarked: "Yes, one has a right to feel good when the president approves a measure against the emphatic opposition of the attorney general."

When asked if he had read Senator Thurston's latest effusion General Manderson replied that he had. He said that although it contained some statements that justified comment, he should not discuss the matter at present. He said that he found an un-usually large amount of business on his desk, and as nearly all of it demanded his immediate attention, he could not think of talking on the political situation for severa Decided Against the City. The supreme court has affirmed the finding of the district court in the case brought by Alexander McGavock against the city on appeal from the award of damages fixed by the appraisers on account of the construction of the Tenth street viaduct.

McGavock was the owner of a lot 40x66 feet, situated on the west side of Tenth, fifty-two feet north of Marcy street, being under the viaduct as now constructed. The appraisers appointed by ex-Mayor Cushing to find the damages sustained by the property owners by reason of the construction of the viaduct, awarded McGavock damages in the sum of $400. He appealed from the award and the case came up for trial in March, 1892. After a stubbornly contested trial the jury found that McGavock had sus-tained damages to the amount of $2,374.50, including interest. The case was appealed by the city, with the result stated. City At-torney Connell stated yesterday that the result of this case could not have any effect on any other case connected with the

Seventeenth Street Property Owners
Comesting Court.
The property owners on Seventeenth street, between Vinton and Castellar, have gone into court to restrain the collection of a tax for the one-half cost of grading that street, and the order has been maned by Judge Scott,

This street was graded last year by order of the city council, the ordinance ordering the work having been passed over the veto of the mayor, and in accordance with the importunities of certain property owners on the lower end of the street who had been unable to secure the necessary three-fifths frontage to a petition for grading to be paid for entirely by the property owners along the street. Among the head pushers of the scheme was a saloon keeper who owns con-siderable property in that section and who also has a large number of votes to deliver when the occasion demands. It was repre-sented at the time that the "little job" would cost the city "only about $850," and that the property owners were willing to pay one half, but could not afford to pay the cost. From the petition filed in the case now in court it appears that the one-half cost has grown from a theoretical $850 to an actual $3,326.20.

The appraisers appointed to fix the amount articles and amounts as were actually issued to families dependent upon the county, viz. Flour, 39,275 pounds; sugar, 6,683; coffee. 1,834; tea, 794; beans, 6,782; rice, 1,862; oatcourt at sums ranging from $10 to $75 per lot. Subsequently the city council, sitting soap, 4,793; sait, 1,591. The plaintiffs claim that the same property cannot be both benefited and damaged by the same operation and the levy is alleged to be null and void for that reason.

BILLY HUSTON WAS DISCHARGED Found Not to Have Violated Civil Rights Bill.

Billy Huston, the restaurant keeper, was lischarged yesterday on a complaint charging him with violating the civil rights The hearing of the case occurred come time ago, when a large number of witesses were called by Huston and several by N. P. Washington, the complainant. The rguments were heard yesterday. Judge forden dismissed the case because he thought hat the evidence was not sufficient to convict, holding that from the evidence, Washington could have had a meal in the restaurant, had he so desired, but that being requested to change his seat, he thought he and been insulted. In the case a point was raised that the civil rights bill was practically invalid, due to the fact that under the law it was pro-vided that a convicted person should be fined, but no provision was made for commitment in case the fine was not paid. It was held that therefore the court could not collect the fine, as it could not enter up a judgment. The case would have been appealed on this point if a conviction had been secured, and Judge Gordon said that this had something to do with his decision.

TEACHERS WILL NOT RESIGN. Few, if Any, of Them Are Inclined to Quit.

The report that has been going the rounds that there was danger of a wholesale seces sion of High school teachers on account of the action of the city council in restricting the school levy to 5 mills is the subject of considerable amusement in educational circles. It is stated that the only danger of any such proceeding occurred early in the winter, when the schools were involved in a matrimonial epidemic, but that contagion has now abated, and there are prospects of seri ous results in only a few scattering cases. Superintendent Pearce says that the idea of resignations among High school teachers is an entirely new one, and that it has no foundation. He apprehends that if there should be a radical reduction in salaries a few of the best teachers might seek more lucrative positions, but since no such action is contemplated, the danger is remote. It ing Omaha, but he denies that he has any definite plans of this sort.

The men who have the warrants are very indignant. They say that the banks have entered into a conspiracy to take advantage of them and extort a big profit. Richard Mansfield and the New York Garrick Theater company will present "Beau Brummell' at the Creighton theater tonight, and will be seen in "A Parisian Romance" tomorrow evening. Mr. Mansfield's appearance here at this-time has been looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by theater-goers, for not only his individual work, but his productions as well are conpidered as representing the highest form of dramatic art we have in this country. As to Mr. Mansfield's own genius as an actor there is no question. We have no other artist in his class in the way of varied dramatic expression and unique versatility in the portrayal of positive character. It is doubtful if all Europe possesses an actor whose artistic versatility is so great that he can play "Prince Karl" one night and "Richard III" or "Shylock" the next, and portray both characters so truthfully and so powerfully as to hold his audiences enthrailed by his art throughout.

Mr. Mansfield brings to Omaha his entire Garrick company, of which he is especially proud, and which is said to be the highest

'Beau Brummell' will be presented with all the scenery, furniture, assessories, lights, etc., that were used at the recent revival of that popular play at the Garrick theater. There will be no Saturday matines.
