OUTLOOK FOR THE LABORER

Spring Work is Keeping Mechanics Fairly Well Occupied.

UNSATISFIED DEMAND FOR FEMALE HELP

Labor Temple Able to Supply Places at Remunerative Wages to Many_Prospects for the Season.

An sir of quiet now hovers over Labor temple, in strong contrast with the latter days of the Waller regime. The bureau is now going forward quietly fulfilling its mission in the best manner possible. Though the managers are not making much fuss they are evidently accomplishing something,

The greatest demand the temple has to satisfy is that for really competent female help. The applications for girls to do housework are far in excess of the supply and there are now several good places at the disposal of the bureau which cannot be filled at precent, at least. The applications for positions are by no means numerous and many of those who do apply are evidently not everly anxious to find work, if they are to be judged by the objections raised to every place offered. Of these Superintendent Scott says there are two classes, one which would work if they could secure a place that was "real nice," the work not too hard and the hours of leisure numerous. The other does not want to work at all and files applications cut of curiosity or some ulterior motive. A little experience has enabled the superintendent to size up the different classes pretty accurately, and the two classes mentioned get little comfort or encouragement.

For girls who really wish places there is a steady demand and all such can be provided for without cost if they will only file their applications. It is purely a matter of charity and a desire to find work for every willing worker that actuates the Temple

Among the men the report is that just at present the tradesmen are fairly well occu-pied and in some lines there are few, if any idle men. Painters and paper hangers are particularly well employed at present with the annual spring cleaning up and redecorating. There is also a considerable demand for carpenters, bricklayers and plasterers in the same class of work, though there to as yet nothing big in eight for them this season. There are several large buildings in contemplation which, if they go through, will take care of the surplus in the line of the build-

What is true of the trades mentioned is largely the case among all classes of me-chanics. Spring work keeps them fairly well employed, though in the nature of things this cannot continue long, and unless some of the contemplated projects material-ize the condition will soon relapse into its former state. Laboring men are hopeful that the future will not be disappointing. The least favorable condition of all from the laboring man's point of view is the demand for day labor—unskilled workers. The annual spring cleaning up is affording some employment for this class, it is true, but just at present there is nothing in sight for them which promises steady employment at renumerative wages throughout the season. The season is young yet, however, and all are hopeful that before long something develop to lend a more roseate hue to the BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS MAY ACT. Possible that Members May Tear Bown a Railroad Bridge.

The Board of Public Works has a knotty question on its hands in connection with the ordinance which was recently passed by the council in regard to the bridge over Fourteenth street, occupied by the Union Pacific and B. & M. tracks. This ordinance is an amendment of an ordinance that was passed April 19, 1892. The first ordinance pro-vided that the wooden bridge should be replaced at once by a new structure which should stand on stone abutments, instead having an abutment in the center of the street, as is now the case, thus opening the street to its full width. The ordinance provided that the work must be done withte inety days. Although this action was taken four years ago no action has been taken by the railroad companies and the old wooden bridge still obstructs the eet. It is now said that bridge is in a dangerous condition, and that a serious accident is liable to occur at any time. The new ordinance provides that railroad companies shall construct an fron bridge at once, as called for in the previous ordinance, and that in case they fail to comply, the wooden bridge shall be torn down by the Board of Public Works. The ordinance has been approved by the mayor and transition to the board. mayor and transmitted to the board Commissioner Kaspar declares that the matter has been allowed to hang fire too long already, and unless the railroads proceed to comply with it at once, he is in favor of forcing matters by taking a gang of men and tearing down the old structure. The board was to have met at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon to decide what action it would take, but as the members were engaged in police court, the meeting was postponed.

GALVESTON CUP STAYS IN OMAHA Captain Foye Explains Why it Will Not Go to Savannah.

A rumor that Adjutant General Mabry of Texas, the custodian of the Galveston cup had, after investigation of all matters concerning the affair, finally ordered the cup to Savannah to be competed for at the dr.ll, to be held May 11-16, was extensively circulated about town Friday night and yesterday morn-to a Bee reporter Captain Foye of the Thurston Rifles said that he had received no word that Adjutant General Mabry had arrived at a final decision in the matter. Sev erai weeks ago he said the cup must go to Savannah. Captain Foye at once wrote him fully, stating the objections of the Thurston the principal objection being that the regulations stipulated that a challenge must be first received by the company holding the cup, and that the Thurston Rifles had received no challenge whatsoever.

When this fact was made known to the custodian of the cup, he at once began an investigation into the matter. The local organization has received no word that he has completed this investigation or decided the

Asked if the cup would go to Savannah, hould Adjutant General Mabry now decide that way, Captain Foye replied that it would not. He thought that the regulations meat first be complied with, and as yet no chal-lenge had been received from Savannah. Even should a challenge now be received, the cup would not go to Savannah, because suffi time would not intervene between the receipt of the notice and the drill.

Interesting Entertainment Planned for Thursday, May 1.

The good women of Omaha who are interested in the work of the Creche are highly pleased with the prospects for a most successful entertainment that will be given for the benefit of that institution at the Creighton theater on the evening of Thursday, May 7. With the daily work of the Creche and with the prospects of the establishment of a branch Creche at a no distant day, the managers feel more than ever the need of substantial support.

number of Omaha's fairest daughters.
"Nance Oldfield" is based on Charles
Reade's "Art: A Dramatic Tale." It makes a clever little comedy that abounds it which cannot help interesting. Anne Old field is an actress, who, through untiring de-votion to her art, has made an honorable name for herself throughout London. Alexander Oldwerthy is a young swain who been sent in from the rural parts by his father to learn the profession of law. Alexander sees the queen of the stage over whom all Lendon is wild, and it is all over with the poor lad after the first sight of her. He is completely infatuated, spends his days writing her love dittles, and his evenings in watching her perform, only to be s greatly wrought up that he hings around the stage exit for the momentary pleasure of seeing her. Through a mutual friend Nathan Oldworthy, Alexander's father, hears that his son is not studying the profession to master which he was sent to the metropolis, in fact, the love-sick swain cannot eat nor sleep nor do anything save think of the grace, the beauty, the majesty of the one whom he addres, but does not know. The elder Oldworthy proceeds at once to London for the purpose of breaking up the silly actress for having alienated the affections of his son away from the law, but before the interview with the woman is finished "barbarian" is completely subjugated. and it quite willing to believe the actress when she tells him she does not know his son, and to take her advice as to manner of curing the lad of his infatuation.

"A heroic remedy is applied, and so strong does it prove that the verse-maker is left much worse off than when he could not car nor sleep for his love and worship of the great actress. At first she had unwittingly caused him to love her. Now she had will fully dashed down all his hopes and cause him to hate her. The father implored the magic queen to now choose a middle course. As diffcult as it may be to imagine such result, it was accomplished. The story doe not end with a marriage. It doubtless gains by such an omission. It led to a very tender and lifelong friendship. And, how few cut of the great aggregate of love affairs lead to so high, or so good, or so affectionate a permanency as is a tender friendship!"
