VERY NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH.

Mrs. T. J. Clark's experience in the storm yesterday morning.

The thunder storm that burst with such fury upon the city yesterday morning came dangerously close to Mrs. T. J. Clark.

Mrs. T. J. Clark, whose residence is on South First street, was milking a beautiful little Jersey cow.

The animal was in a pasture lot adjoining Fairmount park, standing close to a wire fence.

Mrs. Clark had scarcely finished her milking when the storm burst.

Big drops of rain were falling when she passed through the wire fence and started for the house.

The cow was a pet and was particularly fond of the animal pressed up against the wire fence for a parting caress.

Her mistress patted the velvety nose of the pet for an instant and admonished by the sharp lightning that the storm was close at hand.

She started rapidly for the house, but she had only gone a short distance when the lightning struck a little walnut tree close to the fence.

The current leaped from the tree to the fence and along the wire until it reached the cow and instantly killed her.

Mrs. Clark was severely shocked, but not injured.

The mother of the cow was sent into the country a few days ago, and the day after she was placed in the wagon.

The cow was killed by lightning in almost identical the same way.

The Manawa motor cars will begin to run Saturday.

Pastorage, L. P. Judson, 929 Sixth ave.

It was not due to any desire to prevent it that a driver of an Omaha brewery wagon was not guilty of killing a 10-year-old boy yesterday afternoon.

The boy is the son of Claus Thompson, a saloon keeper on Upper Broadway, and the driver of the wagon is at present unknown.

Along the street on Upper Broadway about 4 o'clock, the big team pulling the ponderous vehicle along at a lively trot.

The driver caught on behind and was swinging along, occasionally touching the pavement with his feet.

The wagon was empty and the engine was running at a steady pace.

The driver to see the boy, in some manner the boy's right leg was caught in the wheel and was carried against the boiler standard.

The driver of the wagon was shouting and screaming.

The boy, who was riding on the seat of the wagon, fell to the pavement, and by an accident that is difficult to account for when he was struck the granite pavement his feet dropped from the clutch of the wheel.

The wheels of the wheel were on a distance of a block, but they fell on deaf ears so far as the driver was concerned.

When they had any effect upon him it was to make him hasten his steps.

When the boy's head disappeared, the driver gave the horses an extra cut with his whip and sent them away at a swift pace.

The child was left lying on the pavement with his head in pain.

The driver occasionally looked back over his shoulder as he continued up the street.

The child was picked up and carried into Davis drug store and a physician summoned.

He was covered with mud and the blood was streaming from a cut on his leg.

Officers were called for the driver, but he managed to get out of town and escape arrest for the time being.

MADE IT A FAMILY AFFAIR

One Way to Settle Up the Sick Estate.

ADMINISTRATOR WAS EASILY SATISFIED

Indications that He was Interested to a More or Less Degree in Taking Care of the Property in Sight.

The detailed report of the administrator of the estate of C. H. Sick shows that it is profitable to be an administrator.

It is profitable to be an administrator, particularly if you have a partner to look after the legal business of the estate.

Frederic Benjamin of Avoca was administrator in question. He has made his final report and has been discharged.

The reports of the administrator are on file in the office of the clerk of the courts.

The estate in cash proceeds amounted to $1,015 and that Margaret Sick, the mother of the deceased, was the sole heir.

Of course the first thing necessary in the management of an estate like that is the appointment of a referee.

The referee, witnesses and stenographer's services aggregated $210.95.

Of this amount $140.00 was paid to the referee, $25 for referee's fee, and the balance $145.95 for stenographer's fees.

In this case the stenographer happens to be the wife of the administrator.

The final report there was an allowance of $50 for stenographer's fees, making a total of $225 for Mrs. Benjamin.

With this it is kind that it was necessary for the referee to get an attorney.

Administrator Benjamin picked out a good, careful law firm and gave the business to the committee and will be in charge.

D'S M'INES LITIGANTS INTERESTED

Will Depend Upon Equity Proceedings Supposed to Have Been Settled.

DES MOINES, May 27.—(Special Telegram)—Three churches in Des Moines, which are affiliated with the Dubs faction in the big Dubs-Eber fight in the Evangelical Church of North America, and which were turned out of their edifices by the decision that the Eber faction in the church proper, will go into court and renew the fight.

The members of the Evangelical church here were Dubsites. When the Eber faction was determined to be the church, and was given control of the property, the three churches here were all included and banished from the windows, as there were no congregations to use them.

At the conference for this district today it was determined to reopen the fight in the courts and endeavor by an equity proceeding to get the property restored.

The Evangelical people of the city are united in opposition to the Eber faction and will have nothing to do with it.

There are a number of other churches in the district in the same condition and they will join in the fight.
