Where did all of the people come from Not a father, mother, son or daughter of Bluffs when the multitudes gathered on that blocked and packed every street surely did not come from Council Bluffs alone. If they did then Council Bluffs must be accorded the palm for an enthusiasm that transcends anything in that line and distinguishes it from all rivals. When the parade had covered the territory marked out for it, it disbanded in a blaze of fireworks on the corner of Pearl and First avenue. Here a big platform had been erected for the accommodation of the speakers. The marching columns melted away into the crowd and helped to swell the ocean of faces that were already focused upon the platform. The mayor, members of the city council, county officials, prominent men from Omaha occupied the chairs on the platform. The Odd Fellows' and Dalbey's bands furnished music during the first part of the program although and Dalbey's bands furnished music during the first part of the program, although they were nearly tired out with the long march and continuous playing. He frankly confessed that he was too nearly overcome by surprise at the magnitude of the demonstration to do to the subject. The greatness of the en-thusiasm of the people of Council Bluffs The greatness of the enwould be reflected in the greatness of their effort to make the exposition an epoch in American history. He recalled reading once in a Congressional Globe a speech by General A. C. Dodge of Burlington, who was the delegate in congress for the territory of Iowa. That speech was delivered in 1837, The speaker said the utmost western limit of civilization was at Fort Des Moines. Today the Twin Cities are in the center, and the western limit is the Golden Gate. G. M. Hitchcock of Omaha was almost carried off his feet by the great popular demon-station he had witnessed. It showed that we were no longer from Omaha and Council Bluffs, but we are now all Transmississippians. In behalf of the people of Omaha, more now than ever the sister city of Council Bluffs, he wanted to thank the Iowa people through the people of this city for their splendid response when they were called upon to aid in carrying forward the great exposition scheme. Council Bluffs was the first city that sprang to the aid of Omaha, and lowa was the very first state to respond with favorable legislation. If the people of Council Bluffs had both moved promptly and with irresistible enthusiasm, Iowa would have remained inert, and without the aid of the great state of lowa con-gress would have refused to act, and the exposition would have been a failure. The first credit for the success, whatever it may be, belong to Council Bluffs and Iowa. He spoke of the great benefit the exposition would be to the great west. There were tens of thousands of discontented people seeking or ready to seek new locations, and this exposition will do for the west what the southern exposition did for Atlanta and the south, direct to us the footsteps of thousands of homeseekers. The advent of more people to Council Bluffs and Omaha means better times for all kinds of trades, business and classes of people. Here will e focussed the wonderful resources of these twenty-four western states, and by the de-cree of congress not only the eyes of the eastern and western worlds will be turned upon us, but the eyes of the whole world, for the exposition will be a national one Prof. H. W. Sawyer made one of the most brilliant talks of the evening. He said the "time's greatest offspring is the last," is as true of expositions as of republics. Phil delphia, New Orleans and Atlanta bave had what they called expositions, but, come to think of it, what did they have to exhibit, except sage fields, rabbit tracks and wooden nutmegs? These people lived before the revolution, and their country has grown gray and rheumatic. Not so with us. A few years ago the silence of these hills and valleys was unbroken, save by the Indian's warwhoop or the panther's scream. Less warwhoop or the panther's scream. Less than half a century ago, upon the very spot where the crowd stood, the simple child of the forest built his campfire. O'er the murky waters of yonder stream he plied his light canoe, wooing his dusky mate, while on youder bluffs the war chief assem bled his tribe in council. SWINDLING WINE DRINKERS.

Forged Labels Placed on Old Bottles Filled with Cheap Wines. "If people who follow 'brands' and makrs' names knew of half the swindles perpetrated with labels they'd be astounded, said a celebrated English wine merchant "Why, I know of a man, an ex-engraver, who can forge the brand of any wine in existence. This is his sole occupation. and working in league with him are clique of rogues who buy up quantities of empty wine and champagne bottles from GRAND

"Some of this gang have been wine mer-Mrs. Hayward had had trouble with her chants' assistants and understand bottling, husband, and she refused to longer keep and they fill the bottle with a low-priced. nd they fill the bottle with a low-prices but drinkable, port, claret, champagne, etc. and affix cleverly forged labels of the mos expensive brands, bearing the names of oreign growers.

"Not only are the bottles peculiar to each grower used, but they even procure the proper gold and silver foil from France, and as to corks, they know where to find a cork cutter to the trade who will supply any shape and kind required.
"Seals are easily imitated by taking an impression, and putting cobwebs on port wine bottles is an old dodge. They plant these spurious wines at certain restaurants and clubs, the wine buyer 'standing in.' I know more than one high-class restaurant where these imitations are constantly sold people dining there as genuine "So perfect are the forged labels that a nilitary officer actually paid these sharpers over $500 for some Madeira worth about nection with the hospital are unanimous in their denial of every allegation made by the the battle of Waterloo.

> ONCE A SLAVE, NOW A DESPOT. Rabah Goes Into the Rullog Bust-

ness and Makes a Hig Success. Hadi Arfau, a caravan trader, who has spent five years in Bornu, has furnished Reuter's correspondent at Tripoli with some particulars of the career of Rabah, formerly the slave of Zobehr Pasha, in Bornu. Rabah separated from Zobehr Pasha in Darfur, and first made himself master of Cuti. After continuous war he subjected the neighbors ing sultanate, defeating with 2,000 men a force of 12,000 sent against him at Kula, and subsequently, in a battle lasting from m. till sunset, routing an army of 50,000 men with great loss of life. Near Dekwa-where l'abah is now stationed—his force of 9,000 men was driven from its entrenchmeans by an army of 50,000 strong under powerful Chief Kiarl, all his family taken prisoners, and his stores and treasures saired. Rabah escaped. At nightfall he sized. Rabah escaped. At nightfall he allied his men, attacked Kiari next morn-Event Among Iowa Masons.

JEFFERSON, Ia., June 13.—(Special.)—

Extensive preparations are in progress for and recovered his family, followers and treasure. Kiari was beheaded two days later.

Rabah is described by Hadi Arfau as a association has been formed, known as the tall, spare negro, between 65 and 70, of Greene County Masonic association, and on simple tastes; he dresses like one of the 24th of this month a monster picnic, dervishes, whose cause he esponses. His to which all Masons in the county, or all-joining counties, are invited, will be held They are drilled like Europeans. All ivory, n a fine grove near this city. cold Glory? in Metal.

The item of the expense of keeping "Old Glory" floating every day over public buildings or schoolhouses where the daily display of the national banner is rendered obligatory, is not a small one. In East St. Louis, III., a company has been formed with a capital of $100,000 to go into the manufac-ture of sheet iron, zinc and other metal flags. The material from which the flags now in use are made is not very durable, and in the soft-coal burning states of the union the banner lasts at best but a few weeks, all depending on the weather, and after a week's use it becomes so dirty as to almost lose its identity. The stars and stripes, duly waving and apparently fluttering, will be painted on the metal and then enameled. When dirty the flag can be lowin use into ribbons.

Try to drive a hog through a certain hole in a fence as to help some people by trying to educate their tastes to something better than they have been used to. They won't see it. Even if you prove to them that it's the best they won't be convinced. They seem to think that the minute you make "a talk" about the superiority of one cigar over others in competition that it's simply a case of "bunco steering" for gain. But this isn't so with all. It's only a few, comparatively. We're not complaining. There are thousands of men who have grasped the opportunity of bettering themselves by smoking our "Sultana," Queen of all Cigars-glad to know that a cigar of such exceptional qualities was recommended to them. Most men don't need much urging when they fully understand all the benefit and de light that comes from smoking our peerless "Sultana."
