ARMENIAN LEADERS HAVE SURRENDERED

Explain that They Took Possession of Bank to Intimidate the Powers and Are Allowed to Leave the Country.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Aug. 28.—Travelers who have arrived here from Constantinople say that the state of anarchy continues at the Turkish capital and that the number of persons massacred in the streets reaches into the thousands.

LONDON, Aug. 29 .- A dispatch to the Chroniclo from Rome says that private letters just received from Constantinople state that the Turkish government is on the eve of being overturned and that a provisional government will be appointed.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Constantinople says that on Thursday it was estimated that from 3,000 to 4,000 persons had been killed in the riots in the different portions of the city. All Europeans en route for this city have been turned back by the cordons of troops occupying the public places, the wharves and bridges. The wholething could be stopped in an hour if the government desired, but the members of the mob pretend to have received permission to loot, burn and destroy the Armenian quarters for a certain period of time. It is feared that there will be serious trouble in the provinces

A dispatch to the Times from Athens says graphic fashion the scenes in the harbor at the time of their departure. Several Armenians seeking refuge on board the foreign steamers were pursued by Moslem fanatics and students from the Mahommedan schools in boats. In every instance the Armenians were killed outright by the zealots. One Armenian almost reached the Italian steamship when he was struck on the head by an anchor. He sank into the waters of the Golden Horn and was never seen again.

MADRID, Aug. 28.—The Spanish minister at Constantinoole reports that the Mussulmans killed hosts of Armenians during the rioting of Wednesday and dragged their bodies through the streets.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 28.—When the Armenians seized the Ottoman bank on Wednesday last Mr. Edgar Vincent and some of the other directors escaped to the roof and when the troops arrived the latter fired haphazard at everybody appearing at the windows; thus several clerks who were try-ing to escape were killed. While this fighting was proceeding hundreds of Mussulmans, armed with cudgeis and led by the over the whole city, especially in the Pera sioners. Mr. Vincent went to the Yildiz klosk yes terday evening to see the sultan, and he was there a message was received from the revolutionists, saying that they were willing to surrender on condition they were allowed to leave the country. Mr. Vincent accordingly returned to the bank and par-leyed with the leaders of the Armenians The Armenians had revolvers in their hands and told him they held two of the directors and a number of they had seized the bank in order to demonstrate, not against the Turks nor the banks, but against the powers who had abandoned the Armenians. They added that they had selected the Ottoman bank because it was the most suitable place and expressed their willingness to surrender provided they were allowed to retain their revolvers while yielding up the bombs in their possession and receiving safe conduct out of the couny. These terms were agreed upon and e Armenians surrendered last night and were conveyed on board Mr. Vincent's yacht

PITCHED BATTLE AT WEWOKA.

Indians Try to Expel the Squawmen und a Fight Follows. WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 28.—One hundred and fifty squawmen and 300 full blooded Indians and half breeds had a pitched battle in the streets of Wewoka in the Seminole reservation in the Indian Territory yesterday. In the fight, three fullbloods and two half breeds were killed and several wounded on both sides. A reign that passengers just arrived on the steamers of terror ensued. Troops from Fort Carey from Constantinople describe in a vivid and were summoned and their prompt arrival saved great slaughter, as the Indians had retired to prepare for a more vigorous attack on the white men. It is thought now that the troops are able to preserve order. The trouble which ended in the bloody encounter has been in progress for some time. At the last meeting of the Seminole council a law was passed ordering the im-mediate expulsion of all white men from the reservation. For years it has been the rule for white men to go into the country and marry squaws, thus getting a right to sixty acres of land each. Being shrewder than the Indians, the white men secured the best lands and drove the full-bloods to the poorest. This condition is what brought about the passage of the law of expulsion. The efforts of the Indian police to put into effect the order of expulsion are Steel Billet Pool is Afraid of Metal Brokers' Importunity. PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.-The meeting of the steel billet people, otherwise the American Bessemer association, which was scheduled for this city, was changed suddenly to Cresson, and it is now in session there. The reason for the change is said to be the desire to avoid the importunities of the metal brokers for certain changes.

As this is the first month that the pool has been in actual operation, the meeting is regarded as important. Considerable basic open hearth steel has been rolled by mem-bers of the pool at prices lower than the pool price of Hessemer, and it is said that prices for basic open hearth will be fixed, which will be higher than for Bessemer The allotment basis will also be members favor lower prices, no reduction is

With gold at the present figure, it is further stated, it is probable that the bank will permit a further withdrawal of £8,000,000 or even £10,000,000 before taking protective measures.

He gave sta-tistics to show that the republicans had always been the friend of silver, and they were now endeavoring to place it back through the efforts of international agreement. Woodmansee of the league, who could not be here, as follows:

Major McKinley: We come to you as the executive committee of the National League of Republican Clubs, instructed by the Milwankee convention, to assure you that the league clubs in every state in the union are loyal to you and active in their support of the principles for which you stand. To the end of the campaign you will find every league man at his post doing all in his power for the success of the republican party. I do not need to tell you the details of our organization. We are proud of the fact that you have been one of us and in sympathy with our methods ever since the organization of the league in 1887. You know, sir, that the national league is composed of clubs from every state. Its active membership at this time is over 2,000,000 voters. It has ever been only for the success of the party and its principles, and has never attempted to interfere with nominations nor appointments. In that sense we are not "practical politicians". The league is formed on the here, as follows:

terfere with nominations nor appointments. In that sense we are not 'practical politicians.' The league is formed on the fact that it is the duty of every citizen to study public ques ions and, having so studied them, it is his privilege to assure in the most effective way at his command the practical success of the policies and principles he deems best for the good of the whole country. Our motto is "Educate and Organize!" It has been the method of the clubs to study and discuss public questions between campaigns, to present republican doctrines to young men about to cast their first vote and to new voters at the time when they have leisure to study dispassionately. Faith bailt up in this manner and founded on truth cannot be disturbed by the excitements and impulses of a campaign. Beautifum so method are of a campaign. Republicans so made are republicans from conviction and not easily led astray. They are stalwart fighting republicans, for they fight for the principles which they earnestly believe are essen-

From these clubs we bring you greeting. You wear upon your coat, sir, the button of the private who fought not for money nor for glory, but for principle and integrity of the union. We wear the republican army, who are fighting to day, not for office nor for fame, but for principle and the honor of the privates of the republican army, who are fighting to day, not for office nor for fame, but for principle and the honor of the nation. You will remember, sir, how the army looked to General Grant, its lender, in whom the soldiers had implicit confidence. We, your troops, look to you as our leader, always in the front of the fight, never dismayed by reverse, bold, argressive and sure to lead us to victory. From the farms of the northwest to the plantations of Louisiana, from the groves of California to the mines and as many republicans up a camber of the workers are unwavering and that the plain people believe your success their success. DEMANDS AMERICAN POLICY.

Major McKinley responded:

Mr. Goodnoe and Gentlemen: It gives me great pleasure to greet at my home this large committee representing the republicans of the United States. I know something of your worth and work. I know how in former campaigns the splendid services of the young republicans of the country have contributed to bring us to most signal triumphs. I am glad to hear from your spokesman, fresh from your national convention, that the republican party and the republican cause this year are to have your united, aggressive and unfaltering support, and I am sure that that support, connected with the support which will come from all classes of our fellow citizens everywhere, will give to the national ficket and to our party a triumph the like of which we have not had for many years. We cannot overestimate the value of the young man in pollics and I would not have believed if Mr. Goodnoe had not told me that they were not practical politicians. (Laughter.) My experience with them has been that they have been politicians of the most practical sort known in American politics.

Gentlemen, you never had a worthler cause to strive for than you have this year. The financial honor of the country and the prosperity of all its people are enough to inspire every American heart to the best possible effort. (Applause.) I have seen somewhere an inquiry: "Cannot the United States establish a financial system of Hs own; is it too weak and dependent to do that?" I answer: "The United States now has a financial policy which, in the main, it has been pursuing since the beginning of the government, which it does not mean to change until it can find a better one. Those who make the inquiry are usually against the American policy of finance, and they are insisting that we shall adopt the financial policy of Chima and Mexico. I hope it will not be thought an evidence of lack of national spirit or national independence that we decline to accept their propositions. (Applause.)

(Applause) UNITED BRETHREN CALL A delegation of 300 people from the East Ohio United Brethren conference followed closely upon the call of the league committee. Bishop J. S. Mills made the presentation for the party. He said:

Governor McKinley: It is our pleasant fortune to be in annual session in your beautiful city. We have called at your home to pay our respects to and express our fortune to be in annual session in your beautiful city. We have called at your home to pay our respects to and express our good wishes for our distinguished citizen. We love our country and would have no east, no west, no north, no south but a land in which all classes dwell together as mutual helpers—cohelers of a common inheritance, coworkers in securing a common destiny bound together by a patriotism stronger than death and the joy of all life. We believe in civic righteousness, justice to the humblest, as well as the highest citizen in the land; obedience to law from all alike, and good men to sit in authority over us. Some of these men enlisted with you in the service of our country, in the time of its peril; they wish to look upon the face of their illustrious comrade. We all have read of your blameless life, your noble patriotism, your distinguished public services and your exalted national ideas. Therefore we are delighted to bring you the greeting of our people and to wish you success.
