YOUNG WOMEN END THEIR SCHOOL DAYS

Interesting Commencement Exercises at Brownell Hall_Rev. John Williams Denounces the Chase Resolutions as a Sham,

The commencement exercises of Brownell ball were held yesterday morning and three young women were duly graduated. There were essays, plano and vocal solos, the presentation of medals and other prizes and the distribution of diplomas, according to an immemorial custom. But these time-honored observances did not constitute the principal feature of the occasion. The conclusion of this echolastic year marked the termination of the principalship of Rev. Robert Doherty, who, for the past twenty-two years, has presided over the institution. Rev. Doherty had a commencement of his own and the addresses that were in reference to his commencement were of such a nature as to rob the exercises of the dullness sometimes characteristic of such occasions.

The excitement commenced when Clement C. Chase came to the front, and, after making an excuse for his father, who was unavoidably detained, read a set of resolu-tions drafted by Mr. Chase, senior, and adopted by the board of trustees of Brownell hall. They recited at length the many good deeds performed by Rev. Robert Doberty while principal of Brownell hall, mentioned the great growth of the school under his administration and congratulated him upon the excellent management with which he had governed the school.

NOT ON THE PROGRAM. Rev. Doherty acknowledged his grateful-ness for the resolutions, and called upon his friend and a warm friend of the school, Henry W. Yates, to respond. Mr. Yates said that he had been one of the charter members of the board of trustees and had watched the growth of Brownell hall ever since its birth at the time when Nebraska was about to throw off her territorial form of government. He praised Rev. Doherty for his faithfulness there, and said that there were but few points in the state where his name was not revered, so well and favorably known was he. He assured the principal that he would take away the love of every scholar and every scholar's parent who had been associated with him.

Rev. John Williams made a characteristic address, and denounced the Chase resolutions in no mild terms. He said the resolutions were a sham, and that he hated sham as ardently as he hated the devil. He said that had the board of trustees stood behind the principal, instead of writing flowery reso-lutions, it would not now be necessary for Brownell hall to lose its most faithful friend and guide. He asked what the board of trustees had ever done to help the school, but no answer was forthcoming. He predicted a brilliant future for the school, but said that the school would have lost in the meanwhile a loving friend and a principal who could not be excelled by any new man. He was glad he was not the rector of Brownell hall. Had he been, he should have returned the Chase resolutions to the trustees, thanked them politely for the same, and requested them to keep them, as he did not want them. REV. DOHERTY RESPONDS.

There was a buzz of excitement as Rev There was a buzz of excitement as Rev. Williams spoke these words, and when he had concluded, he was heartily applauded. Rev. Doherty made a brief reply, rehearsing the financial history of the institution he was about to leave. He declared that every financial obligation he had assumed when he took charge of the school had been discharged. All the business relations, he declared, had been satisfactorily concluded. During the past few years the school had not been attended so well as it should have been. In tended so well as it should have been. In the twenty-two years he had been associated with the school, not $1 toward the running school would go on and prosper.

Another set of resolutions, commending Dr. Doherty on his faithful service to the school, were received from the alumni as-sociation and read. A number of old pupils, not graduates, sent their kind regards and a handsome sliver bowl to their old friend and instructor. Mrs. Windsor of the faculty was esented with a fine set of prayer books resented with a line set of players rom her former pupils. The graduates were Misses Margaret Edith

Smith, May Hetzel and Lillian McCracken. All were attired in becoming gowns of white, and after their individual parts in the program were presented with great quantities of roses of many kinds, including some longstemmed American beauties, carnations and other brilliant floral offerings. Miss Smith's were especially numerous, and none of the fair graduates were able to carry away their floral presents by themselves. The program included admirably rendered youal solos by Miss Sarah. rendered vocal solos by Miss Sarah Bowen, Miss Doherty and Miss Burham; plane solos by Miss Smith, Miss Lansing and plane soles by Miss Smith, Miss Lansing and Miss Hetzel. Miss Lillian McCracken read a well prepared essay on "Wordsworth's Mission." The essay of Miss Smith, "The Influence of Hawthorne's Early Life on His Writings," in which especial attention was called to his study of Bunyan and Milton and his similarity in style to them, showed most careful preparation and was distinctly and enjoyably delivered. A march by the and enjoyably delivered. A march by the Misses Cady, McCauley, Sears and Koerper concluded the interesting program. You Can Be Well

The search has been fruitless, It is said that the footprints found about the saloon where the shooting occurred cor-responded with a pair of shoes found in the barn and which are said to belong to the elder Kestner. The shoes were found beneath an old lounge. The value of this bit of ev-idence is not considered very great, however. because there were no marks on the shoes of the prints which would make it conclusive.

Officer Glover is still at the Clarkson bos pital and was reported yesterday to be much improved. It is not thought, however, that he will be able to appear in police court next Friday at the preliminary hearing of the Kestners. The physicians have begun to extract the shot in the officer's hip. This could not be done before on account of his weakened condition

J. W. Eller, who has been retained by the prisoners as their attorney, was questioned yesterday about defense. He stated that under the circumstances he did not consider that any defense would be necessary. He said the evidence so far given out was in sufficient to hold the men for murder.

Prints Showing the Condition of Sherman Avenue Paving Before Repairs Were Made Are Stolen from Laneaster.

Fifteen valuable negatives and prints, showing the condition and the structure of the Sherman avenue paving, have been stolen the structure of the sherman avenue paving, have been stolen the structure of the sherman avenue paving, have been stolen the sherman avenue paving the structure of the sherman avenue paving the sherman avenue from the photograph gallery of Hahnemann we are very thankful. We rounded up all Lancaster, 1518 Dodge street. There is a whole lot of mystery connected with the fileft, which the police have been engaged values than you have ever even dreamed of. The black dress goods. Think of a jam of. The black dress goods.

The photographer had been taking the negatives for some time past, while repairs were being made on the Sherman avenue paving. They showed the cracks that appeared in the paving, the damage that had been done to it by the traffic and the weather, the manner of repairs and a whole lot of other things regarding its present condition.

Lancaster was employed to make the plates by the Barber Asphalt and other asphalt companies, that have been fighting Hugh Murphy, the contractor who laid the pave The asplialt used on Sherman evenue is called California asphalt, and it differs in many respects from the Trinidad asphalt, which the other asphalt companies of the country have been using. It differs par-ticularly in the price, which is much lower, and that is the principal reason why the asphalt companies have been fighting Murphy. The plates and prints were to have been used to show that the California product was not good and lacked wearing qualities. Murphy had been giving the asphalt companies quite a run in the past year.

Lancaster's loss by the theft of the plates is considerable. He says that he would not have taken $100 apiece for them, largely for the reason that they cannot now be duplicated, as the repairs have all been made. Besides that, he had some $600 or $700 worth of orders on hand for prints, and these, of course, he cannot now fill. He also loses the money that he expended in taking the nega-

Whoever got the plates wanted them badly. The front door of the gallery on Dodge street was forced open with some sort of a tool. The crime is supposed to have been committed last Saturday morning between 4 and 5 o'clock. At that time the people located underneath the gallery, which is on the second floor of the building, heard some one going up the state. The practive and one going up the sinirs. The negatives and the prints of the paving were the only things wanted. This was shown by the fact that not another thing in the gallery was taken away. The room where the negatives were kept was entered, the fifteen plates were taken, and every other plate in the shop was left behind.

Photographer Lancaster has his suspicions regarding the parties who committed or instigated the theft. He says that some sensational arrests will be made in the near

He paid especial attention to the streets paved with a macadam consisting of six inches of Sherman decomposed granite. This is the same material that is being tried by the Board of Park Commissioners at Jefferson square. In Denver it is used on a number of streets which carry heavy traffic and with uniform success. The granite seems to possess the property of cohesion and makes a wearing surface almost equal to asphalt. The question of using this material on some of the streets is being considered by the Board of Public Works.

Prof. Rhymer has written a piece of music that he has styled the Transmississippi march. It will be submitted to the executive committee of the exposition association and if approved will be played upon the streets. Contractor Corby began work on the new Capitol avenue sewer yesterday. Assistant City Engineer Stenger is looking after the nstruction. Robert Houghton has been assigned by the Board of Public Works as in-walking together in the road about 100 yards from the church when they were struck by the lightning. It is believed that the steel corsets worn by the three that were killed were the chief cause of their death, as Miss Yesterday afternoon the Nebraska Telephone company completed its line to Elk Creek, Johnson county, a distance of eight miles from Tecumseh. From Elk Creek the company will build to Table Rock, reaching that point the latter part of the present week. Dr. J. Fourness-Brice of S. S. "Babe" Woods visited the police station Sunday night with a cut and battered head and face. His wounds were sewed up, after which he was able to go home. He alleged that he had received his injuries at the hands of Andy McCarthy, a newcomer to the city. McCarthy has not been located.

William and Stella Meyers, a marriewilliam and Stella Meyers, a married couple, were arraigned in police court yesterday on the charge of vagrancy. The couple pleaded guilty and were discharged on the understanding that they at once leave the city and never return. They have been arrested several times since their arrival in the city some morths ago.

These Suits are in eight differens patterns of all wool homespuns, cassimeres, cheviots and tweeds. Some are faced back to the armpits with the same materials as the outside and many have topelled vest pockets and fly front vests. They are new stytes specially made up for this season, and are the same qualities as would be so'd for $7.50 and eight dollars at The Nebraska if we had the time to sell them in the regular course of trade. We've marked them $5.75 to close.
