THE OMAHA DAILY BER: FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1897.

Transmississippi congress of 1895, attended by accredited delegates from the twenty-four states and territories of the great west. Fully appreciating the responsibility, as well as the high honor, conferred by the Transmississippi congress in naming Omaha as the place for holding this great exposi-tion of the products and resources, the man-ufactures, arts and industries of the trans-missippi country. The citizens of Nebraska-and particularly of her magnifi-cent metropolis-have done everything needful to make the great enterprise a suc-cess. The Transmississippi and Interna-tional Exposition association, a corporation organized for that purpose, has the work in charge. More than $20,000 in cash of the capital stock has already been paid in and the state appropriation of $100,000 is in the hands of the Board of Directors appointed by the governor. One of these robberies occurred in Weishartigan's saloon at Tenth and Dedge streets, where Farmer Haidt was beaten and obbed of $28. After considerable skirmishing the authorities finally arrested two men for this crime. One was T. J. McGovern, a well known printer of this city and secre-tary of the local typographical union, and the other, Dick Grandon. The only grounds for the arrest were that they were found in the vicinity of the saloon. The police soon learned that they had made a grievous mistake in arresting Mc-Govern and they promptly released him on the following morning. Grandon's reputa-tion, however, gave them reason for holding When we were closing out our tailoring department this spring we made our cus-tom goods to measure for $25, which was a cut of $15 to $20 on a suit. He told the officers that he was more fit for a hospital than for the jail, but the officers compelled him to leave his bed and accompany them to the police station.

MOTHER MAKE SAN APPEAL. Yesterday Grandon's mother appeared at police headquarters and demanded her son's release. Section 101 of the charter provides thit, "The department or board employing such laborers shall, at the end of each week, issue to said laborers time checks, to be furnished by the city comptroller, payable at the effice of the city treasurer when countersigned by the comptrolled or his deputy." The sectio orther provides that at the end of each further of the laborers so paid and that the warrant drawn for the same shall be made payable to the city treasurer to reimburse the treas

Klopp & Bartlett Company's Contrae Covers Unspecified Items.

The Advisory board collided with an unexpected snag yesterday afternoon when it met to award the contract for a lot of job printing and other supplies not included in the Klopp & Bartlett company contract. A number of bids had been obtained by Secretary Coburn, but before they were opened the Klopp & Bartlett company presented a com-munication in which they called the atten-tion of the board to the fact that their contract with the city contained the following general provision: "All supplies not herein specified to be furnished by the contractor at market prices, otherwise the city, at its option, may ask for bids." The contractors took the position that they were entitled under the contract to furnish the required supplies at regular market rates and that they could not be expected to enter into competition with other establishments.

Assistant City Attorney Scott advised the board that while the contract was not absolutely definite it would be wise to receive sition from the regular efore proceeding to ask fo

President Wattles yesterday said: "The Omaha Water company people tell us that they are ready and willing to supply us, but that they have not enough water to do so and cannot supply it without enlarging their plant; this they say they would not varranted in doing in the present unsettled condition of their relations with the city. I think they are perfectly correct in their position. No business man would be warranted in putting more money into his business when he didn't know whether h could continue doing business or would be forced to cease operations entirely within short time. Until the suit now pending in courts between the water company the city is settled one way or the other, the company cannot be expected to expend any more money in increasing its plant. The officers of the company have made us a very liberal proposition covering cur humediate needs, but they are not in a toution to enter interest. a position to enter into any agreement that will cover the entire water supply of the expesition. The layoon on the grounds will require about 11,000,000 gallons of water t fill it, not allowing for scepage or evapora-tion. Both of these items are considerable, so that a much larger amount of water will be required to fill the lagoon to star; with impossible to compute what amount will be required to keep the lagoon filled and keep the water from becoming stagnant. With its present plant the water company cannot possibly supply this amount of water. It would be a physical impossibility to do so without increasing its pump-ing capacity and the capacity of its mains. To do this would require a large expenditure of money and this brings us right back to the starting point."

In the opinion of some of the members of exposition executive committee the solution for the difficulty is for the exposithen management to proceed to lay water mains on the grounds, fellowing the street lines, and connect these pipes with the water company's mains after Judge Munger's decision is rendered. Attacked by a Steer.

Yesterday Will Parker had an exciting ex-perience on the road above Florence. He was driving to Omaha with his mother and encountered two men with a steer on the road. The steer was anchored to a long rope with a man before and another behind. As it came abreast the phacton in which the Parkers were riding it attacked them sav-agely and some lively hustling was made necessary. The only damage was to he phacton, which bears the marks of the mad-dened anima.'s horns. was driving to Omaha with his mother and
