Mr. Kirkendall expressed some surprise at this portion of Geraldine's on management and that none but unio statement, and admitted that he had known nothing about Uirich resigning, although Geraldine stated that he had had the resiglabor be employed on the gounds. This resolution was prefaced by numerous "whereases," reciting that all former efforts ation for over two months. In this connection Mr. Rosewater stated to secure recognition had failed; that scab labor from the outside had been brought into that he had written to Ulrich after he learned of the alleged resignation, and he produced the city to take the work away from Omaha men; that a proposition to vote $100,000 of county bonds in aid of the exposition is a telegram he had just received in reply from Ulrich, reading: "I will do your work satis-factory. A letter follows." about to be presented to the vote s of Doug-las county. The demand for recognition was followed by a resolution declaring that all the allied trades represented in the Building Trades council would do all in their power being to the effect that after Ulrich's resig pation was received by Geraldine the latter came to the conclusion that the plan as to defeat the bond proposition unless accorded recognition on the exposition work. rawn by Ulrich was too expensive and con-

The adoption of this resolution was followed by a meeting of representatives of all the building trades' organization at Labor Temple Sunday afternoon, at which it was decided to inaugurate a strike on the exposition grounds. At this meeting the attitude of Geraldine came in for censure. STRIKE IS ORDERED.

Yesterday the strike order took effect and at the hour of commencing work the carpenters and staff men laid down their tools and walked out. The men demand carpenters and staff men laid down their tools and walked out. The men demand that eight hours chall constitute a day's work; that carpenters shall receive 30 cents per hour, and that none but union men shall be employed. The men say that the contractors have been paying carpenters but 20 or 25 cents per hour and that then have 20 or 25 cents per hour and that they have been hiring laborers to do carpenters' work such as laying floors, etc., and have been requiring all men to work nine or ten hours All of the men employed on the Manufactures building walked out and absolutely nothing is being done about the building. The few carpenters working on the Administration building walked out and two or three athers and one or two men employed in putting on the roofing material are all that are working about the building. The big Mines building was deserted, not a man be ing at work on it; a few men were engaged in setting up the boiler for the planing mill to be operated by Contractor Goldie for this building. The Machinery building was the Proposals for the erection of the Fine Arts uilding for the exposition were unsealed vesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The bids included figures on the entire construction of the building and all grading and finishing work. The proposal of Hamilton Brothers Omaha, was the lowest and they will probably be given the contract at the meeting of e executive committee today. The figures submitted were as follows: Hamilton Brothers, Omaha-For carp ry work, $26,414; deduct for piling, $950 time, ninety days. Watt & Henderson-For carpentry work $36,950; deduct for piling, $850; time, 12% days. Smith & Eastman, Chicago-For staff an plaster, $11,911. only one where any work was being done, a force of fifteen men being at work. Of this number four or five were union men and a conference was agreed on between the union representatives and all of the men employed.

VIEWS OF CONTRACTORS.

Contractor Hamilton of the Mines building said he intended to go ahead regardless of what the union did. He said he was under bonds to complete the building at a certain time and would employ non-un'on labor if cessary. He sold he was paying from 25 For Cd 30 cents per hour, according to a man's $1,000; necessary. ability, averaging about 28 cents per hour, P. and working ten hours a day. He also stated 420; that the union would only allow one laborer painti to five carpenters and he said he could work days. larger per centage of laborers to ad-Vantage

Contractor Goldie said he intended to b governed by what the local contractors do in the matter. He said he was delayed by the failure of some of his long timber to arrive and could wait a few days without any losa to himself until the matter is decided.

Contractor Strehlow said he had been em-ploying union labor all along and expected to continue doing so. The staff workers also have a few griev ances and say they will take advantage of the present strike to have a few adjustments on their own account. They complain that the staff contractors are employing green hands to do casting and other intricate portions of the staff work, paying them almost nothing and getting very inferior work. The staff men were recently organized into a union, and they say they are going to claim the protection and co-operation of the other unions.

URGE OTHERS TO STRIKE.

A mass meeting of the representatives of ne organizations in the Building Trades council, the striking workmen and a number of representatives of unions not directly concern d in the strike was held at Labor Tem ple yesterday atternoon. The meeting waa held behind closed doors and lasted all afternoon. When the meeting adjourned it proceeded in a body to the exposi-tion grounds with a view of inducing the men working for Hemilton Brothers on the Machinery building to quit work. There were about sixty men who started for the grounds, and they walked out in small groups.

When the grounds were reached they stood around in little knots, discussing the situa tion, but made no attempt to interfere with the workmen. Perfect order was preserved and the strikers made no attempt to talk with the men who were working or annoy th m in any way. They simply waited until 6 o'clock came and the men quit work for the day. Then the strikers approached those who had been working and talked and rea-soned with them, endeavoring to secure their co-operation and assistance in the controversy with the contractors. The success of this movement will heat be seen morning, when snother working day is com-

WOMEN AND THE EXPOSITION

Securing Funds for a Building fo the Children.

The executive committee of the Woman's Board of Managers held a session yester day for the purpose of making a report of its doings to the board, which meets to day. No business of importance was trans, acted, the meeting being devoted to a discussion of the things which have been done and which have been announced from time to time through the newspapers. The spe cial committee appointed to take charge o the collection of subscriptions for the Girls and Boys' building reported what had been done in the way of securing permission from the Board of Education to canvass the pub lic schools for subscriptions and the steps which have been taken to start active opera ions. The woman's board will meet at 11 o'clock today and will probably conclude its la bors in the afternoon.

Educational Committee is Coming. The October number of the American chool Board Journal, the official organ of the National Educational association, contains on its title page a full page cartoor representing the contest between Omaha, Washington, D. C., Los Angeles and Sait Lake City for the next meeting of the as-sociation. The school superintendents of these four cities are depicted as wise men of the desert who have followed the biazing star seen in the sky on the face of which are the magic letters "N. E. A." Each "wise man" carries a miniature building em-blematic of his city, Superintendent C. G. Pearse holding an exposition building in his right hand. A news item in another column onveys the information that Omaha and Salt Lake City will be visited some time dur ing the present month by the executive com mittee.
