Enperintendent Gets Things at the Grounds Moving Rapidly.

CCMPLETING EXPOSITION BUILDINGS

Finishing Touches on Some All that is Now Needed-Government Work Goes Ahead Rapidly-Working Out Details.

The beneficial effects of the creation of the office of superintendent of the exposition is plainly to be seen by a visit to the grounds. The work is proceeding with more energy than was apparent when every branch of the work was under a separate head and marked progress is being made in every line. Superintendent Foster has been in of fice just a week and has devoted his entire time to the Department of Buildings and Grounds, gathering up the many threads in that department, and getting the work thoroughly organized. He now has the matter well in hand and has commenced the operation of pushing things to the fullest extent. He announces that if he is allowed to carry out his plans he will have no difficulty in completing all preparations and having everything in readiness to open the gates promptly on time.

The beginning of the end in the preparation of the ground of the main court has just been commenced. A force of men has been put to work laying sewers to carry the storm water from the main buildings into the lagon and as soon as this work is com-pleted the underground electric conduits for carrying the electric light wires will be laid, completing the underground work in the main court. The laying of walks and the completion of the embellishment of the main court will follow this work rapily. The frost is almost entirely out of the ground on the morth side of the lagoon, but on the south side the ground is frozen to a depth of over two feet. Work will be commenced on the north side first in order to give the and other influences a good opportunity to thaw the ground as much as possible. PUSHING THE BUILDINGS.

The buildings in the main court are rapidly nearing completion. The Mines and Ma-chinery buildings are practically finished, little except the finishing touches remain-ing to be done to these buildings. The Agriculture, Manufactures and Liberal Arts uildings are all in an advanced stage and but a short time will be required to com-plete all the work on them. The Art build-ing is ready for the staff contractors, and they will commence work on them within a very short time. A large force of men will be put on this building, and it will be finished in a very short time. The carpenter work is entirely completed, the skylights are finished and the staff work on the building is of such a nature that but little time will be required for its completion. The greater part of the embellishment of the building is to be sculpture and Sculptor Bringhurst of St. Louis is now working on this. A series of high relief panels will extend entirely around the building just below the cornice, pane's showing processionals of ar vorkers of all arts and all periods. pediments will enclose groups of statuary comprising a scatted female figure surrounded by various art workers bringing their handl ork for judgment. Flanking the pediment will be groups of symbolic composition repre senting history, literature and science. Crowning each pediment will be a single figure representing Fame. Scattered all about the building, above the cornice, will be groups of cherubs, eagles and shields. GOVERNMENT WORK.

The Government building is making the most remarkable progress. It is under contract to be completed by April 1, and Engiwhich are to make exhibits in the building that exhibits may be shipped at once, as the building will be ready to receive them by the time they can arrive. The building is with this condition. the time they can arrive. The building is entirely under roof, except the dome, and already the Government building is one of the landmarks on the grounds. It can be seen from down-town with great distinctness, and when the upper portion is covered with staff, it will form a most imposing sight. A staff statue, "Liberty Enlightening the World," fourteen feet in height, will surmount the dome, the pedestal on which the figure will stand being 150 feet from the ground. Alll of the models, except the groups of statuary which will flank the base of the dome, have been received, and the greater portion of the staff is made and is ready to put on the building. This will be the only building to be covered entirely with staff. There will be no plastering on the outside of the building, the entire exterior being covered with staff. The plain surfaces will be covered with slabs of the white staff and the building will be dazzling in its whiteness. The ornamentation of both in-terior and exterior is ornate in the extreme and is on a massive order that is both beautiful and very impressive. Every detail is worked out to a nicety, and the building promises to be the handsomest structure on CONSTRUCTING COLONNADES. The colonnades which flank the Mirror and connect the Government building with the Art building on the south and the Agricul-ture building on the north are nearing completion. The carpenter work on the south colonnade is nearly finished, and that of the north colonnade is nearly as far advanced. The colonnades flanking the Administration rch, were completed some time ago.

The colonades and pavilions forming the exedra at the east end of the main court are under construction and are making good headway. The effect of the ornamentation of this exedra will be very pleasing. There will be a high central pavilion spanning the space between the approaches at either side and two smaller pavilions at each side. The colonnades between these pavilions will form segments of circles and the effect as seen from the west end of the lagoon will be very department, who has charge of the installa-tion of the fountain which is to occupy the center of the main floor of the Nebraska building, has commenced work on the base of the fountain. It will occupy a space about fourteen feet square in the center of the main floor. The basin will be decorated on the outside with staff and lined with sheet lead. A handsome iron fountain will occupy the center of the basin and the whole vill be decorated with handsome plants. The Illinois building is in the bands of the staff contractor. The staff is nearly all made and a large force of workmen have commenced putting it on the building.

for the Annual Convention. The Travelers' Protective association, national organization of commercial travelers, will hold its annual meeting in Omaha at such a time that the delegates and visitors to the convention will be able to par ticipate in the opening of the exposition The executive committee met in St. Louis

Saturday of last week and fixed the date of the meeting for May 31 and the remaining four days of the week. There are usually about 300 delegates to be meetings of the national organization. and the number of visitors usually swells the attendance to from 1,500 to 2,000. Nearly all of the members bring their wives an families with them, thereby increasing the number considerably. The travelng men will undoubtedly take a prominent part in the ceremonics of the opening of the exposition and will assist in giving the enterprise a good start. Those interested in the exposition are greatly pleased that the traveling men will hold their convention at an early stage of the exposition, because, it is argued, they will be scattered over the entire length and breadth of the country within a very few days after the convention is over, and will circulate the reports of the exposition faand wide, being a most effective advertise ment of the merits of the show.

BIDS ON TRANSPORTATION BUILDING Contractors Make Offers for Its Im mediate Erection Bids for the construction of the Transporafton and Agricultural Implement building were opened at the office of the Department of Buildings and Grounds at noon yesterday There were only three bids, each of these being for the complete building, including the necessary plastering. The style of architecture adopted for the north tract obviate the use of staff, the buildings being in the style known as mediaeval, or Swiss farm architecture, the heavy timbers being exposed and the intervening spaces covered with rough plaster. This building is to be about 400x500 feet in size and one story in height, except in the center, where a clear story will carry it to the height of two stories.

These were the bids: R. C. Strehlow, $37. 75; Westlake Construction company, $41,692; William Goldle & Sons company, $37,440. These bids were laid before the executive ommittee yesterday afternoon and Goldle & Sons were awarded the contract for the con struction of the building.

Topeka Wants the Building.

A rather novel proposition comes from Topeka, Kan. The citizens of that town have raised a fund of $16,000 for an auditorium building and a proposition has been made to the exposition management by which the money will be turned into the fund for a Kansas exhibit, provided the exposition management will agree to turn over to Topeka the material in the Audi-torium building on the exposition ground for removal to Topeka, where they propose to reconstruct it. By this means they hope to secure a fine exhibit at the exposition neer Farnan, the government engineer in charge of the construction, says the building the ready before that time. He has altoward an exhibit if the people of the

They propose to cometrue mining tunnel extending into the bowels of the earth for a considerable distance and showing the various methods of mining. It is intended to show, in a graphic way, the appearance of a tunnel running through all kinds of rock; the different methods of bracing" will be shown, and the meaning of the terms winzes, up-raises, inclines, cross cuts and all the other vernacular peuliar to the mining business. The proposition of these people will be before the executive committee at an early date for consideration. Southern California is Alive. Notwithstanding the action of the commercial bodies of San Francisco in decidng to make no effort to have a California exhibit at the exposition, the counties of southern California are taking energetic action for an exhibit of the resources of that portion of the state, with a very flattering prospect of success, regardless of what is lone by the more northern counties. The supervisors of Los Angeles county have appropriated $1,500 toward a fund for a Los Angeles exhibit and a fund of $10,000 has been raised for an exhibit. Active work is being done in San Bernardino, San Diego,

Riverside and Orange counties, and commitees have been appointed in these counties to raise funds. Woman's Club Quarters. Mrs. Draper Smith of Omaha, secretary of the Nebraska Federation of Woman's clubs, has withdrawn the application filed by her making good progress, the gicders having with the Nebraska Exposition commission, on placed entirely across the street. The in which she requested that the federation uperstructure will follow rapidly and the nifre structure will soon be enclosed.

Governor Black has announced the names the gentlemen who are to compose the New York commission for the Transmis-New York commission for the frankling sissippi and International Exposition. They need no introduction in the world of business and little, if any, commendation to the general public. Here is the list: Chauncey M. Depew, John Jacob Mstor, W. Seward Webb, Henry B. Nodaway county, Missouri, has organized an exposition committee and this body is now engaged in raising a fund of $2,500 to provide for a county exhibit at the exposiasked to appropriate $500 for this fund and the Commercial club of Maryville has ap-propriated a like amount. The scheme is making good progress and a good exhibit is said to be assured.

"In the event of war with Spain or any other country at the present time," said A. N. Keeler of St. Louis last night at the Millard, "2,800 able bodied men could be sent to the front from Missouri within fortyeight hours after a call for the National Guard, but the most of them would have to go unarmed. What few arms are now in their possession were obtained from the federal government. The state has never seen fit to foster the militia and the funds appropriated have never been suffi-cient to provide comfortable and adequate quarters for the regiment. The present war scare, however, may arouse the states of

Last winter they killed off seventy-five of a hard of 500 an-telope, and during the summer just past they destroyed many fawns and elk calves. It is intended to kill off enough of the coyotes to prevent them from hunting in packa hunters and gamekeepers are ployed at the park. It takes a clever hunter, acquainted with the brunts and habits of the animals, to catch a poscher. Many unscrupulous persons make a business of poaching upon the national preserves, actually selling the meat of their stolen game on the outskirts of the reservation. A buffalo skin, formerly purchaseable at $1, now brings a good price, and a buffalo head, mounted, is worth at least $250. Elk are shot by the poachers for their horns, which are worth from $10 to $75 a pair. The government is just now doubling its efforts to prevent poaching and it deals harshly dam Morrell Heads the List of Those Who Are to Examine Tonsorial Artists as to Their Qualifientions.

BARBER AND PLUMBER BOARDS NAMED

The resolution by which the Union Pacific railroad company is given permission to erect temporary passenger and baggage accommodations at Tenth and Marcy streets was passed by the city council last night. It was qualified by a provision that requires Mayor Moores appointed John Matthlesen sistant license inspector. It was referred to the committee on judiciary. Williams were designated by Mayor Moores | bonds to Thomas H. McCague on his bid as the board for the examination of barbers under the ordinance recently passed. The appointments were confirmed without reference. Similar action was taken on the ap-pointment of Charles H. Kessler, master

plumber, and W. E. Thatcher, journeyman plumber, as members of the board for the examination of plumbers FROM BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS. City Engineer Rosewater submitted the ollowing communication relative to the differences between the Board of Public Works and the council relative to expenditures in that department. It was referred to the committee on street improvements and viaducts:

To the Honorable, the City Council of the City of Omaha—Gentlemen: In compliance with resolution of your honorable body calling for monthly estimate of labor and material needed for street work for the month of March, I respectfully submit, for the same reason as heretofore stated, that it is impracticable to make any accurate estimates without knowing the weather that will be encountered or the character of work which under resolutions will be permitted to be done, or provided for. The expenditures for street work during the month of March, 1897, when all the present members, with perhaps one exception, were members, with perhaps one exception, were members of the city council, was $5,237. How much less than this will be needed this year will depend, as already stated, upon conditions and circumstances over which the board has no control. There are eighty miles of paved streets requiring to be cleaned, and 450 additional miles of streets and alleys to be kept in repair. It resolves itself, therefore, to the degree of cieanliness that will satisfy your honorable body and the extent to which streets will be allowed to be torn up by storms without timely repair. The Board of Public Works heretofore in this city, as in every other city, has been given latitude of judgment in protecting the interests of the public in the execution of their sworn duties. It is only in the exercise of such judgment, within reasonable limits, that the best and most economical service can be rendered to the city. Last year the streets of the city were universally admitted to have been placed in better condition for traffic than for many years. The board was under no restraining order, nor did it expend any money for which the city failed to receive an equivalent. Although the season was brief, a system was devised for the first time whereby every piece of work was echecked, its cost recorded, and every piece of lumber and other material purchased was accounted for in every detail. All thi nittee on street improvements and viaducts:

cient to provide comfortable and adequate quarters for the regiment. The present war scare, however, may arouse the states of the union, because I believe that Missouri's neglect is not alone to a sense of the value of the National Guard as an organization in times of peace, and result in more generous appropriations to build up and maintain a first class National Guard."

"One of the most important purposes for which the Yellowstone National park is maintained," said W. L. Carson of Livingston, Mont., "is to preserve certain rare specimens of animals which are threatened with extinction. The buffalo is doomed, of course; not more than 200 specimens now survive in the whole country, out of all the millions that roamed the plains fifty years ago. Happily, the other creatures in the reservation are increasing. There are immense numbers of antelope and elk—not less than 20000 of the latter—and the cost of work, as well as its deterioration.

In the general public interest we ask the co-operation of the legislative with the executive departments.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

ANDREW ROSEWATER, Chairman. The city engineer also suggested the desirability of a systematic series of tests and analysis of asphalt pavements. He urged that in this a record could be kept of the formula used in each section of payement and the comparison of results would show which were the most satisfactory. This was referred to the committee on paving and sewerage. The contracts and bonds for the Dodge, North Twenty-fifth and Wirt street paving districts were submitted by the Board of Public Works and referred, pending the is sue of the remaining $25,000 in intersection

OMAHA, March 1 .- To the Editor of Ti Bee: Is it not disgusting that ministers of the gospel, impulsed by some motive, preach to their congregations the advisability closing the gates of the exposition on Sun days from a nonreligious standpoint, and is place of expounding to them the divine wor, and pointing out to them the one thin needful? Jeremiah xxiii, 31. Is it not im posing and uncalled for that ministerial ci-cles shall prescribe to the exposition autho ities whether or not the exposition shall be open or closed to visitors on Sundays? Are the expostion directors not men of though and judgment and capable of looking to the interest of the people and employes without receiving good advice from a body not at a concerned in the matter? Is it not beyon thought to pronounce such directors who are members and officeholders of some evan-gelical church ripe for expulsion, when for some reason they favor the Sunday opening of the exposition? Have not all Christians the full privilege of keeping away, far away from the exposition grounds on Sundays' What difference is it to the nonchristian whether or not he attends the exposition of Sundays? What will be the consequence if the church penetrates the rights of the state? Will not then the state sooner or later look after its interest in the church? What a sad and deplorable spectacle will it be when state and church are thus entangled, that oathbound officers of the church shall seek the interest of the church in state affairs and outhbound officers of the state shall intrude into the church sanctuary to find some benefit for the state? Should not the freedom for state and church so cautiously and wisely set apart in the constituper and remain unmolested, in spite of all demonstrations on the part of ill-guided and would-be reformers? Does not Sabbath breaking mean on the part of the minister of the gospel to manifest false doctrine in word and deed and on the part of the lay-man to despise God's word and preaching, by not hearing, believing and living the same is not Sabbath breaking on part of the many in progress every Sunday and always not alone in exposition dealings, but i to His kingdom, the church-John xvili, Has not the church a higher and more im portant mission than to meddle with th gates of the exposition on Sundays? etc, J. We want to increase our trade in boys' and children's suits. We think there are too many mothers in Omaha who are wedded to the high price illusion and we want to change their minds. The quickest way we know of to do it is to show 'em. That's the Missouri way. Today, on our second floor, we will be ready to show 'em three distinct novelties in little boys' suits-Junior, Knicker and Reefer style. One of these is a fine Scotch novelty for little tots 4 years to 8, and it is about as swell a suit as ever got West of New York. The price in swell stores would be five dollars, maybe six, but in this store the price will be three dollars just to show that we put on no airs. Novelty No. 2 is a beautiful creation for boys of the same age, intended to bring somewhere from four to five dollars according to the notion of the storekeeper, but our notion is $2.75- Novelty No. 3 is a three-piece suit-coat, knee pants and vest-for boys 8 years of age and over, and our price will be four dollars and a half. We are positive that equally good suits can be bought around town for seven dollars and we are equally positive that no store sells them for less than six dollars except one. Their price is five ninety-eight.
