

AROUND THE BANQUET BOARD

Commercial Club Members Hold Their Monthly Meeting.

TOASTS HELP TOUNG OUT THE EVENING

Speakers Tell of What is Being Done to Push Omaha and the Exposition to the Front.

The meeting of the Commercial club last night was another of the big successes which the monthly gatherings have gradually been becoming during the last twelve months.

The supper was served promptly at 7 o'clock. The menu, as at all suppers of the past, was made up of Nebraska-grown products.

President J. E. Baum was the first speaker, his topic being "The Commercial Club." He devoted his remarks to the efforts that are being made to induce local and outside capital to go into local manufacturing enterprises.

FROM OMAHA TO THE GULF.

Judge Ben E. Baker gave a humorous account of the recent trip of the club from Omaha to Port Arthur, and related a number of anecdotes which implicated members of the club in various humorous situations.

The response to the toast "What Can Each Member Do for the Club?" was made by John Green. Among some of the duties devolving upon members, said the speaker, "is to meet in the club parlors as often as possible to exchange suggestions for the mutual advancement and improvement of the club."

More was to have been said about the response to the toast, "Around the Circle in Fourteen Days." Rev. Butler, however, was absent on account of illness and the toast was assigned to W. H. Green, the conductor of the trip.

The final toast on the programme was "The Exposition and the Beginning of a New Development for Omaha," and was responded to by John L. Webster.

The speaker said that the exposition marks a transition from the industrial civilization, which began with the pioneers, to the metropolitan civilization of Omaha.

...AMUSEMENTS...

That the public craves novelty in its theatrical entertainment was shown anew last night by the splendid and amusing performance of Mr. Mansfield's new Bernar Shaw play at Boyd's.

If the people went looking for some new thing in play-writing they got it, beyond a ready-made one, in "Arms and the Man," Mr. Bernard Shaw, having given the world a taste of his quality in "Arms and the Man."

The first act of the play seems a bit tedious, but it is essential to a proper understanding of the character of Dick. Without that picture of bigotry, intolerance and hypocrisy he would be a monster and well to the good of the country that he is not.

FUTURE OF BEEF MARKET

One Problem that the Dealers Cannot Solve.

At the present time beef cattle are bringing very fair prices, and where the cattle were good to start with, and where the feeders secured for cattle to be placed on feed, and that the present offerings are light, is the basis upon which is founded the belief in higher prices for fat cattle.

Nebraska Clothing Co

We told you yesterday that our new spring suits will not be marked down in August or July. They won't. They are marked down now. The prices on them are so low now that you will be only too glad to pay them, for no house on earth will be able to show you as good goods for the same prices, no matter how long you wait.

"What of the cattle market?" is the question that every business man who expects to sell goods in a cattle feeding country of the west is asking these days.
