By People Who Have Succeeded.

THE SUNDAY BEE will shortly print a series of articles on that ever interest-ing topic, "How to Succeed." They will be written by experts in the various walks of life-men and women who have themselves succeeded, and therefore are qualified to tell others how it can be done.

Each of these articles will be based on the personal experiences and recollections of the writer, and will include the best advice he (or she) can give to young men or women who are aspiring to succeed in that particular profession or business. Following are some of the notable articles that will appear in this series-

How to Succeed as an Actress.-By Helena Modjeska, the Celebrated

Tragedienne. Madame Modjeska will give her personal experiences in her own words. She tells her method of studying every character she is to play on the stage until she feels herself to be the real woman whose words she is to speak; how she created her "Lady Macbeth," her "Portia," and other famous characters. No woman living is better qualified to tell young aspirants for stage honors how they may win them.

How to Succeed as an Orator.-By Col. Robert G. Ingersoll. In this ar-

agement to the new doctors. David S. Stephenson of the graduating class read a thesis on "The Family Physician." The de-grees were conferred by President W. P. Aylesworth of Cotner university. At the conclusion of the exercises the graduates and their friends partook of a spread at the Undel horal

A very inter-esting feature of the program was a talk on Indian manners, customs and cheracters by Mrs. T. H. Tibbles, herself an Indian woman formerly known as "Bright Eyes." At a meeting of the school board last night it was decided to seed down all of the school-house yards to blue grass and clover and otherwise beautify the surroundings of the schools.

The case of the state of Nebraska against Frank Hilton, ex-oil inspector, which was to have been heard in district court this week, has been continued to the next term. A case has come up in district court here involving the validity of contracts signed on Sunday. Some time ago Louis Poska signed stay bond with Ernest Hunger on a $558 gment. Now Poska comes into court and a for an injunction against the owner of the judgment to prevent him from levying on the property of Poska, the reason given for the application being that the bond was for the application being that the bond was signed on Sunday and is therefore void.
