Adjutant General Barry Holds that the Militin of the State Can Be Taken Into the Regular Army's Ranks.

LINCOLN, March 23 - (Special.)-Since the telegram of Governor Holcomb to a New York paper, relating to the calling out of the National Guard by the president in case of war, was given to the public there has been some discussion as to the soundness of the position taken by the governor. It has been held by some that there is no authority for ordering the state militia outside the state and that when the members enlist the state and that when the members enlist they take an oath which binds them to obey the orders of the commander-in-chief, who edge, while Miss Walsh will study art in this state is the governor, and that they Paris. Both will return to Lincoln in time do not enlist in the military service of the United States. On the other hand, it is asserted that the militia of all the states is dell—T. A. Fisher, M. S. Hostetter, J. R. under the command of the president and that Buchanan, W. E. Hitchcock, Harry G. Ruth. he has the authority to call upon them for any service benefiting the country in time

The question is an old one and is raised at this time by parties entirely outside the National Guard. It was to make more clear and specific the duties of the militia that the amendments to the law were made by the last legislature. Under the old law pro-viding for the enlistment of the guard the oath taken by each member was as follows:

oath taken by each member was as follows:

I do hereby solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will bear true allegiance to the United States and the state of Nebraska and that I will support the constitution thereof; that I will support the constitution thereof; that I will serve the state of Nebraska faithfully in its military service for the term of three years unless sooner discharged, or I cease to be a citizen thereof; that I will obey the orders of the commander-in-chief and such officers as may be placed over me and the laws governing the military forces of Nebraska. So help me God.

In the new law the oath was chenged to

In the new law the oath was changed to read as follows:
I do selemnly swear (or affirm) that I will bear true allegiance to the United States of America and to the state of Nebraska; that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies and opposers, whomsoever; and that I will observe and obey the orders of the president of the United States, the governor of this state and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to the rules and articles for the government of the army of the United States and of this state. So help me God. In the new law the oath was changed to

This new outh shows that each member holds himself to be under the direct com-mand of the president of the United States. Adjutant General Barry says that while the members of the guard were all cullsted and took the oath under the old form, the new form was in effect immediately upon being placed on the statute books and the members of the guard are now bound by the new oath the same as if they had taken it at the time of their enlistment.

HOLCOMB FAVORS INTERVENTION. War talk and warlike preparations in the east prompts the newspapers of that section to often call upon the governors of the states for their opinions on the matters of public interest. Governor Holcomb last evening received the following telegram: NEW YORK, March 22, 1898.—Governor Silas A. Holcomb: Will esteem favor if you will kindly telegraph us at our expense few words your opinion of action of cabinet to-day deciding to favor intervention in Cuba.

To this the governor wired the following answer:

The World, New York City: I heartily endorse any action by our government looking toward intervention in Cuban affairs. Believe it to be justified by present conditions on grounds of humanity and demanded by our christian civilization.

There has been a move on foot for some time to have a number of the cedar streets of Lincoln paved with brick, and to get the work done in time so that when eastern people who visit the exposition at Omaha come down here they will find the city in a more presentable condition. To this end a petition has been circulated among the property owners along Eleventh street to have the paving done in that part of town. The city council as yet has taken no action, but in anticipation of such a move a man named Walsh, who owns property on Eleventh street, has filed a petition the district court and asked for an infunction to prevent the council from order ing the new pavement. OPINIONS ON THE BARTLEY CASE. Surprise Expressed at the Ruling of the Supreme Court.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 23 .- (Special.)-Now that people have recovered from their surprise caused by the action of the supreme court in granting a rehearing in the Bartley case, public comment regarding the same is becoming more general. Any number of people with whom The Bee correspondent has talked express their views in emphatic terms, Others say that Bartley, no more than any of the other offenders, should be given advantage of all legal and statutory benefits, but that care should be taken that a too lib-eral interpretation of technicalities favoring his case be allowed. Among the leading Beatrice republicans who expressed opinions regarding the matter were the following: Hon. Alexander Graham: "I do not see anything alarming in the action of the supreme court granting the request of Judge Sullivan for a rehearing in the Bartley case. I understand the action taken to have been clearly within the practice of the court. If Judge Sullivan believed the court had not fully understood the law, or had not properly defined it. I presume he had the right to request a rehearing, which out of courtesy was granted. However, public interest seems to have been somewhat excited over the matter occasioned, no doubt, partly from the surprize caused by its coming from an unexproceed source and from the disposition to at-tribute to it some political significance. It is well understood the 'great reform gang' desires very much to keep the Joe Bartley business to the front, as it has been a great source of supply for their political ammunition wagons, and just as the fusion press and political hustlers who infest the state capitol thought they had a plan arranged to frighten the public into the belief that the wicked republicans were engaged in a conspiracy to turn Bartley loose, Judge Sullivan seems to have concluded that he would like a little light on a subject already very thoroughly and carefully revised and a decision handed down, thus opening up the whole matter which the public hoped had been settled. Just what Judge Sullivan sees in the former action of the court to call from him such a request is of course not plain to the public. It is hoped the court will settle the public. It is nopen the the matter very speedily."

ished. The rehearing does not indicate a new trial is to be granted. Rehearings are often granted without the court reversing itself. The court has done, and will do. what it believes to be right, regardless of any political or improper consideration."

Senator George A. Muritiy: "I was somewhat surprised when I noticed that the supreme court had granted a rehearing in the Bartley case. While I believe there is almost universal satisfaction with the re sult reached and, politically speaking, it would be a disastrous mistake to reverse the ver-dict and judgment of the Omaha tribunal that convicted Bartley, nevertheless if the supreme court believes it has erred in affirmng the lower court, it should act upon its onviction and promptly reverse it he sentence is generally regarded as an extreme one, yet it must be remembered that it is no more than commensurate with the crime. It has given the people of the state a salutary lesson that our courts are able to administer rugged justice. It has lkewise exerted a great moral influence. For these reasons it would be almost a misfortune if it should now be discovered that the trial court erred and for that rea-son its decision should be reversed and ne good influence flowing from it wholly

J. E. Cobbey, jr., United States commis-sioner: "I am firmly of the opinion that the verdict should stand and one need only quote he unmistakable language of Judge Norva in his opinion to verify such belief. Without going into this point extensively I would refer readers of The Bee to those lines where he says, 'The evidence in the case is sufficint to sustain a conviction of the embezzlement of the money of the state,' and again in closing, 'We have scrutinized these records and given the questions thereby presented the most careful investigation at our command and the conclusion is irresistible that more than this could be asked on the ques-more than this could be asked on the quesion? There is ample evidence that the court made an unusually careful and exhaustive search of the case and that it was carefully considered upon the lines of objection raised by the defense, and that therefore the decision should be regarded as a most able one. The length of the opinion and the points elucidated plainly shows this. It was the occasion of no little surprise to me when I learned a rehearing had been granted though fully appreciating the undoubted right of the court to do so." NEBRASKA CITY, March 23 .- (Special.)-Following are some local opinions on the recent action of the supreme court granting a rehearing in the Bartley case:

Colonel William L. Wilson, president of the Nebraska City National bank: "I am not a lawyer and cannot understand what motive Judge Sullivan could have in asking for a rehearing, I can only conjecture. Bart-ley's case was a thing of the past when he jerity of the people were pleased that justice was at last being meted out to rogues. rehearing doubtless means a new trial for Bartley. A new trial means one or more stubborn men on the jury, acquittal follows, and the inducement is held out for some fumanner without fear of punishment. Let well enough alone ought to be as wise for courts to do as for individuale, and Eartley's conviction was certainly well enough."

C. W. Seymour, prominent lawyer and excity attorney: "I do not think that the result of the rehearing in the Bartley case will cause any great sensation, as it now seems to do. The granting of a rehearing loes not necessarily grant a new trial, and only signifies that some point has been made in the motica for a rehearing that the court desires to have reargued. Or it may be that Judge Sullivan, who has just come upon the Judge Sullivan, who has just come upon the bench, wishes to have the case reargued. I read the opinion of Judge Norval, and it is simply unanswerable, and, in my opinion, the judgmen of the court will be the same. But whatever the judgment is it will be according to the well settled principles of law. Judges Norval, Harrison and Sullivan are magnificent lawyers, and are as good and honest men as ever sat upon the supreme bench. The people of this state have nothing to fear from them." ing to fear from them."

Many people suffer from piles, because after trying the many lotions, salves and cintments without relief or cure, have come to the conclusion that a surgical operation is the only thing left to try and rather than submit to the shock and risk to life of an operation, prefer to suffer on.
