FUNERAL OF COLONEL DAILEY.

Obsequies Largely Attended by Friends of the Late Lawyer.

The funeral of Colonel D. B. Dailey yesterday afternoon was largely attended. None of the courts were in session, and not only the committee of fifteen lawyers desigmated by the Bar accoclation to represent it were present, but nearly every attorney in the city attended. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. P. McDonald, rector of St. Paul's and Rev. T. J. Mackay of Omaha. Colonel Dalley was a member of nor officers on the republican ticket. This charge was frequently made, but in not a single instance could it be justified. The same story was in circulation all day con-St. Paul's, and his pastor spoke most feel-ingly of his long connection with the church cerning Alderman Casper, and during the day it was substantiated. The counting of the ballots proceeded with the customary slowness and at 11 o'clock the result was still in doubt as to and his character as a Christian gentleman. Dr. Mackay, who was his pastor for many years and his close personal friend, paid a high tribute to his character. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. The pallbearers were: A. T. Flickinger, Harry Haworth, Jacob Sims, Judge W. I. Smith, C. G. Saunders and S. T. McAtee. The body was burled in Walnut Hills cemetery. The funeral cortege was headed by the High School cadets and the Dodge Light Guards, with guns and full equipment. At the grave, after the ceremonics were over, a military and his character as a Christian gentleman some of the candidates. There was none whatever, however, concerning the head of the ticket. The counting of the straight tickets left no room for doubt that Victor Jennings was elected by a handsome ma-jority over C. B. Randlett, the republican after the ceremonies were over, a military salute was fired by both companies.
