Death of E. W. Jackson.

E. W. Jackson, one of the oldest ploneers of the city, died at his home, 710 First avenue, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Death was due to blood poisoning resulting from a slight injury.

Mr. Jackson was 68 years old, and for nearly fifty years has been a prominent figure in the social, political and business affairs of the city. In the early history of the city, when it required coolness and nerve to be an officer, he was chosen town marshal and for many years was the chief peace anal and for many years was the chief peace officer of the town. His life was full of interesting events. He was as aggressive in a business way as in other ways, and in the early days acquired a great deal of property. The location of Fairview cemetery was largely his work. Throughout his whole life he always enjoyed the respect and extraor of his follow towerners. whole life he always enjoyed the respect and esteem of his fellow townsmen. He leaves a wife and one daughter. Arrangements for the funeral have not been perfected. The body will be deposited in the handsome vault in Fairview, which he erected many years ago and in which lie the remains of his first wife.

ROYAL ARCANUM IN SESSION

Grand Lodge Meeting Attended by a Most Representative Gathering.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED YESTERDAY

Business of the Body Transacted in a Most Expeditions Fashion. Social Side of the Convention.

The red emblems of the Royal Arcanum were everywhere visible in the city yesterday, and although their luster was somewhat dimmed by the rain that fell steadily all day, there was no diminution of interest felt by the public in the seventh annual meeting of the grand council of the state. The fine Aroanum hall, where all of the sessions yesterday were held, was most beautifully decorated and contrasted brilliantly with the dismal conditions outside. All of the seasions were secret, but it was learned that the meeting, so far, has been one of the most successful in the history of the order in the state. During the afternoon session the work was exemplified by the initiation of twenty-five new members, who will be members of the local lodge. Among them were number of prominent business men in the

In the afternoon business session the work consisted of the election of new officers and the selection of the place for the next annual meeting. The new officers are: Representa-tive to supreme council, Fred W. Wilson, Ottumwa; alternate, I. M. Treynor, Council Bluffs; grand regent, L. R. SUPERINTENDENT FOR CITY PARKS

Proposition that Provokes a Protest from Ex-Commissioner Casper. It has been semi-officially announced that the Board of Park Commissioners will divide its responsibility for the care of the city parks with a park superintendent, who will be elected at the next meeting, and who will be given executive macagement of the parks, employ the workmen with the ap-proval of the board and superintend the work that will be done, and otherwise assume about all of the onerous part of the duties which have hitherto been discharged by the

which have hitherto been discharged by the members of the park board.

This arrangement does not please ex-Commissioner Casper at all, and he is very outspoken in his disapproval of the plan to divert any more of the park funds from the purpose originally designed, payment for actual work in the parks. "The board for years past has been doing all of this work without pay," said he, "and now when the new state law compels the people to pay the commissioners for the same services that have always been gladly given free it seems the new board wants to use some more of the funds with which to hire men to do its work. The plan ought not to be a bit pop-ular with the public. When the new incor-poration law was first drafted in the legislature it fixed the salaries of the commis-sioners at $500 a year each, and every one of our members stayed at home from church on the Sunday we received the intelligence and put in the day drafting a set of resolu-tions protesting against such unnecessary extravagance. We tried to have no salary at all attached, but after a long fight the best we could do was to have it reduced to $100 a year for each of the commissioners. It would have been much better to have ex-pended this money in the care and improve-ment of the parks. It is the city's misfor-tune if the new board is composed of bus-iness men whose time is too valuable to be given to the work, making it necessary for the first thing that will happen will be the refusal of the taxpayers to vote the park tax, and the commissioners will find themselves without funds to pay their own or anybody's else salary. I hope the new commissioners will not make any mistake in this direction."

MEETING OF THE PARK BOARD. Considerable Business of Interest is Transacted. The park commissioners held a meeting last night and took the action predicted by ex-Commissioner Casper, electing a superintendent to have charge of the parks. The new man is A. N. Lund. He is required to visit all of the parks and report to the new presi dent of the board, Commissioner Smith, and take all orders from him. It is intended that his zervices will do away with one extra man. His compensation was fixed at $50 a month and his term of office is limited to one year. The board appointed the policemen for the various parks. The veteran F. W. Lamb continued in charge of Fairmount and the con-trol of the zoological collections. L. H. Walline was re-elected to his old position as custodian of Bayliss. Fred J. Barnes was given charge of Cochran in place of J. M.

Chairman Smith reported that he had examined the high bridge across the motor track in Fairmount park and found it to be in a dangerous condition. It was ordered stand at the terminus of the motor track was too small and in the wrong place, and they decided to move it to a point above the fountain in the horseshoe in the west side of the park where it can be used for a speakers' stand. A new music stand will be lo-cated near the old site. It was decided to pave the parking on the Grand hotel and permit Macager Clark of state convention, the hotel to place a number of ceats there. The woman su will take their places.

The board ordered the purchase of a new flag for Fairmount, which on state occasions will be flaunted from the staff at the highest

Their Seaman Son is Safe. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young of this city read with a good deal of satisfaction yesterday the announcement that the United States cruiser San Francisco, with her con-sort, the New Orleans, had arrived safely at Hallfax. Their son Walter is a seaman aboard the San Francisco. Several letters were received from him before the vessels sailed, in all of which the belief was expressed that an attempt would be made by the Spaniards to destroy the vessels after they got to sea. One of the letters declared that the officers had positive information that three Spanish ships had been ordered at sea. The letters stated that the San Francisco's engines were badly crippled and the ship could not make more than nine knots an hour under ordinary steam, and with but half crews on both vessels he feared serious trouble.

A New Serial Story

"Ashes of Empire"

By Robert W. Chambers Author of "The Red Republic," "The Mystery of Choice," "Lorraine," etc, will appear in The Omaha Sunday Boe, Bezinning April 24.

The New York Sun says of Mr. Chambers:-"He never draws a weak or uninteresting character. They are all fascinating." Richard H. Stoddard writes: "Whoever has read him will see the hand of the master story-teller." The Literary World (London) says: "Mr Chambers is a past master in the art of sending the blood coursing in purest sympathy with the fortunes or exploits of his puppets."

"Ashes of Empire" is a story of the same qualities as "Lorraine," which drew from the critics the high praise above quoted.

Its opening chapter describes the flight of the Empress Eugenie from Paris after the disaster of Sedan (1870). Two young Frenchwomen, sisters-Yolette and Hilde-are incidentally introduced. Two young English war correspondents-Burke and Harewood-also appear, as accessories to the escape of the Empress. Around these four leading characters Mr. Chambers has woven a romantic love story-or rather two love stories in one.

The siege of Paris serves as the background and many of its most stirring scenes are described with a dramatic power that recalls Victor Hugo's famous pen-pictures of older battlefields. The chapter which gives an account of one of the great sorties made by the garrison of the besieged city and the battle of Lo Bourget, which followed, will quicken the pulse of every reader.

The two young war correspondents become separated in the pursuit of their respective duties; and the house in which Yolette and Hilde have their home is sacked by the Germans; and one of the two sisters is carried off by Speyer, a German spy, Harewood is wounded in the battle and is carried to the Nanterre fort. A professional criminal known as "The Mouse" and his pals, "Bibi" and "Mon Oncle," play minor but interesting parts in the complications that follow, and their characters are portrayed with the skill which Mr. Chambers acquired by his long residence in Paris and his close study of Parisian types. The story is brought to a pleasant conclusion with the reunion of the two war correspondents, and their marriage to Each installment of "Ashes of Empire" will be effectively illustrated by competent artists. It will be one of the great serial stories of the year.

The killing of Montgomery occurred on the public square of Maryville December 21, at noon, when the streets were crowded with people going home to treir dinners and children coming home from school and was witnessed by a large number of persons. Montgomery was a prominent business man and democratic politician, and Joyce is a wealthy retired farmer. Joyce had for some time suspected an undue intimacy between his wife and Montgomery. Early in the month of December Montgomery and Mrs. Joyce took the same train, and it was rumored they had gone to Omaha together.
