A gratifying report of the measure of suc cess attending the efforts of Special Commissioner R. W. Richardson in California has en received by the Department of Publicity and Promotion. Mr. Richardson says that the pects for a good exhibit from the entire state are more than flattering. After securing strong endorsements from leading people in the state, recommending the appointment of a state commission, Mr. Richardson says he called upon Governor Budd and had an extended conference with him. The resu't of this is contained in a letter to Mr. Richardson from the governor's private secretary, as follows:

"I am instructed by Governor Budd to in form you that after the presentation of your request that commissioners be appointed from this state to arrange for its representation at the Transmississippi Exposition, he has decided to appoint such commissioners, al-though no funds are available to enable them to arrange for an exhibition

The governor trusts that the commission ers whom he will appoint will, by their personal efforts, take such action as will be agreeable to the state of Nebruska, whose exposition the governor wisties the greatest success and which it would afford him the greatest pleasure to assist."

Mr. Richardson says this commission will probably be appointed early this week and will consist of seven of the most active men

LABOR AGITATORS AT THEIR WORK Efforts to Force a Strike Among Car-

For the past two or three weeks rumore of impending labor troubles at the expoeition grounds have been in circulation among those in touch with the exposition and in labor circles. These reports have been to the effect that the carpenters and painters were about to strike for a radical increase in the ecale of wages being paid. Some of these rumors had it that the carpenters would demand that their wages be increased from 30 cents per hour to 60 cents, and that the painters were considering a demand for an increase from 30 cents an hour to 50 or 60 cents. Rumor also had it that a time for making the demand had been agreed upon, and that a general strike would be ordered unless the demands were Investigation reveals that there is a good foundation for some of the rumors, but no such radical demand as outlined above is coentemplated at this time. At the three ast meetings of the Carpenters' union this matter has been discussed, and at the last meeting a motion to increase the scale from 30 cents per hour to 371/2 cents was defeated by a very clove vote.

Conservative members of the Carpenters' union say that this matter is being agitated by men who have been in the city but a short time, and by some who have been members of a union but a short time. One individual, in particular, belonging to the latter class, is charged with being responsi-ble for a great deal of the loud talk that has been going on recently. The conserva-tive members profess to believe that the efforts of the radicals will nto succeed, and that they are greatly outnumbered by the men who belong in Omaha and who were parties to the agreement whereby the expo-sition recognized union labor and will allow the the employment of none but union hibor on expesition buildings in return for an agreement that the union scale of wages in force at the time the stipulation was made should govern during the construction period. The agitation among the painters has been ie lines as that of the carpenters. The scale of wages for painters in the agreement between the labor representatives and the exposition management was fixed at 30 cents per hour, and the effort now being made is to increase this to 374 cents. The situation among the painters is substantially the same as with the carpenters, and the conservative members ex-press the belief that the agreement with the exposition will prevent any radical action

Whatever may be the outcome of the agitation among the painters, it is stated by one in position to know that this very agitation is directly responsible for the high figures in the bids submitted for painting the exterior of the exposition buildings. The bidders were cognizant of the fact that the painters, were talking about the fact that the painters were talking about demanding a radical increase in pay and the bids were made to cover such an emergency. The result is that these figures are so high that the idea of painting the exterior of the buildings has practically been abandoned. The painting of there buildings would have given employment to at least 200 men who will now be at leisture to discuss the necessity of demanding higher wages.

There have been slight misunderstandings between the carpenters and certain of the concessionaires on the Midway, who insist on working overtime without paying for it. These matters are in a fair way of adjustment, however, without serious trouble.

THIRTY-SIX STATES ARE COMING.

Promise of the Department of Publicity and Promotion Redeemed. The prediction made several months ago by the manager of the Department of Publicity and Promotion, and reiterated frequently since that time, to the effect that when the expenition opens there will be at entire exhibit of the states and territories of this union officially represented and participating, is now verified by actual returns. These show that all of the nineteen states in the transmississippi region and three of the territories, together with fourteen states outside of the transmississippi region, will participate officially in the exposition, making a total of thirty-six. When the roll of the states lying west of the Great Father of Waters in called on the opening day of the great exposition of the resources of this region, every state will be represented by an exhibit of its contribution to the vast treasure house, and of the twenty-six states in the union lying outside of the transmississippi region, over half of them will answer "preant."

In the last named class will appear the greatest states in the union, both in point least thirty-five of the states and territories

Seattle Soliciting Committee. The Seattle Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to solicit funds for an exhibit of the resources of the state at the exposition and this committee has been sending appeals to all sections of the state for contributions. At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week the com-mittee reported that the matter was receiving favorable attention in all quarters and it was decided to adopt the plan of asking subscriptions in installments, the payments covering the period during which the exhibit will be in course of preparation

Will Contribute an Essay. Dr. J. Trestel' of Mayence, Germany, has notified the exposition management that he will contribute an casay on the subject, "Arwill contribute an essay on the subject, "Artistic Architecture of America and Its Future." Dr. Trestel is a member of the Imperial Academy of Science at Vienna and of other educational institutions in Germany and France and it is expected that a paper on the subject named, from his pen, will be a most scholarly and valuable production.
It will be placed in the educational exhibit.

Georgia's Building Fund. A report received by the Department of Publicity and Promotion from Georgia states that the commission has a fund of $10,000 at its disposal for an exhibit and le making active preparations for a display that shall be a memorable one. The manificent state collection which is in the capitol building is being renewed and increased and the re-neurces of all parts of the state are being exploited in extended form, making the entire exhibit a most interesting one.

Whereas, On Sunday, the 3d day of April, in the year of our Lord 1898, in a wild mountain pass in the territory of Alaska, there occurred one of those terrible and awe-inspiring manifestations of nature, where a vast avaianche of snow fell, sweeping into the unknown world beyond fully two score of brave and adventurous men who had had the nardihood to brave the rigorous hardships of those cold northern mountains; and.

nd, Whereas, By such means it seemed good whereas, By such means it seemed good to our father in heaven to take unto Himself so unexpectedly and swiftly the soul of Curtiss C. Turner, vice president of the Sons of Omana, we fellow members of this society bow ourselves with resignation to this manifestation of the divine will.

Resolved, That we place hereby on the records of our society the sense of our own great loss, for he whom it has pleased God to call so swiftly from our midst had reflected honor upon our membership in that in civic and social life he had borne a faithful part. His interest in municipal affairs, his loyalty to his friends, his warm and generous nature made his influence extend beyond the narrow confines of ordinary social obligations.

To his family we extend our most sincere and deepest sympathy in this sad nour of their sorrow, and with his host of friends we share and mourn our loss.

GETS AN INJUNCTION. FELDER

secures a Restruining Order Against The first lawsuit involving the exposition has been commenced, Judge Scott having issued a restraining order yesterday afternoon on the application of A. E. Felder, the concessionaire of the Moorish village, a concession on the Milway. This order restrains the exposition authorities from interfering in any manner with the concession known as the Moorish village, and sets the matter for hearing before Judge Scott Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

This lawsuit grows out of the trouble between the Concessions department and the concessionaire of the Moorish village, which developed last week. The trouble had been brewing for some time, the exposition authorities insisting that Mr. Felder must file a bond as provided in his contract or have his contract forfeited and Mr. Felder declining to file a bond because he claimed a bond had been waived. He also charged that the Concessions department had in-fringed upon his contract by selling to other cessionaires certain amusements on which he claims to have a monopoly under his

"Old Maids' Convention." Twenty spinsters of the "Young Ladies' Single Blessedness society," bedecked with ruffles and frills, entertained a large crowd at Creighton hall last night. A meeting of the society was held and the members were given an opportunity to air their views on equal suffrage and other topics which are supposed to interest the maiden of uncertain age. In the reading of minutes and in several other parts of the program a number of local hits were gotten off with success. In the conclusion of this august society's meeting a man appeared, a man who could restore lost youth and who had a machine for turning faded blossoms into buds. One by one the spinsters were ground through this marvelous device and turned into such creatures as they chose. Some were turned into musicians, and it was here that an opportunity was afforded to introduce a number of excellent songs and other specialities.
