ADJOURNMENT IS TAKEN INFORMALLY

Second Day's Work.

No Effort Made to Hold a Session, but Excentive Officers Transact All the Business that is to Be Done.

Between the exposition and the weather the American Association of Nurserymen tailed to have its adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon and as most of the members left for home last evening the convention was informally adjourned until it meets next year in Chicago. The nurserymen do not care much for parliamentary formalities, although there are several legislators among them. The president-elect, A. L. Brooke of North Topeka, is a member at present of the Kansas legislature and there are two ex-speakers prominently to the front of the association, Silas Wilson of Atlantic, Ia., exspeaker of the lowa house, and N. H. Albaugh of Tadmor, O., ex-speaker of the Ohio legislature. N. W. Hale of Knoxville has served his constituents in both the Tennesnce senate and house.

In the absence of a formal meeting the retiring president, Irving Rouse of Rochester, N. Y., and Secretary Seager declared the convention adjourned as they sat in the Millard hotel and watched the vigorous downpour of rain outside.

Most of the day was put in at the exposition. The members, all who had been accompanied to Omaha by their wives, taking Had any meeting been attempted a quorum in having a convention at all at that time, price. the attractions of the Columbian exposition proving too much of an inducement to the members to stay away. There were sominformal meetings, but never a quorum. Speaking of the Transmississippi Exposi tion Mr. Rouse, having seen it Wednesday night, said: "The electrical display beats everything I have ever seen and I have been to the Paris exposition, the World's fair and many other big things in this line." In his opinion the Transmississippl is up to the World's fair and also the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia, which he also of its exhibits.

Three Committees Selected. During the afternoon the new president,

Mr. Brooke, selected the three committees of the association, those on transportation legislation and tariff. He considers that on transportation the most important one because its particular duty is to look after the freight rates on shipments of nursery stock. By virtue of his office he is ex officio chairman of it. The work of correspondence, he said, will be commenced at once, and an effort will be made to get a meeting with the joint traffic committee at oral of the grand directors. A higher com-Chicago of the railroads in the western pliment could not be paid to the efficiency classification. The nurserymen will endeavor to secure a ruling in favor of bulk shipments of trees in less than carload lots, which has been painfully lacking They also want to have reduced the weight of bundles to less than 100 pounds, and will try to induce the roads to allow a rebate on packing material shipped in bulk. The transportation committee is entirely new in its membership.

Some changes have also been made in the other committees. Hon. Silas Wilson, stock features of the Dingley tariff bill, has been transferred to the committee on legislow that the important matters federal inspection and retaliation upon Canada are pressing upon the time of the C. L. Watrous of Des Moines, Ia., still continues chairman of the committee on legislation. Hon. N. W. Hale has been transferred from the transportation committee to that on the tariff. Both the tariff and legislation committees will do their utmost to bring about some sort of retaliation upon Canada, and, therefore, they will work together, more or less.

Legislation is Not Needed.

Mr. Albaugh seems to be of the opinion that no act of congress is necessary to bring about this result. Just before he started for home yesterday afternoon he said: "I do not think we will have to ask congress to take any action. All that will be necessary, so far as I can see, will be for the secretary of agriculture to stop Canadian trees from coming into this country." President Brooke differs with him in this par ticular. It is Mr. Brooke's conviction that before Canadian trees can be barred out the Dingley act will have to be amended or a bill passed separately,

"The secretary of agriculture cannot lay any embargo on Canadian fruit trees without an act of congress to sustain him," said Mr. Brooke, "and until something is done we cannot get back at the Canadian government. The tariff on fruit stock is, I believe $1 per 1,000 specific and 15 per cent ad valorem, and on other stock, except roses, it is 25 per cent ad valorem. We cannot say that this is very much of a duty against the Canadians or anybody clse, if they are able to compete with us at all. The fact is, American growers had captured their market. But our committees will get together as early as possible and see what can be done and where Canada's weakest point is whether nursery stock or something else." The action of the convention in refusing to allow a per diem to the members of the last legislative committee, however, may operate somewhat against its efficiency, Mr Albaugh thought the association would have to get along the best it could until its financial condition is improved. Its present cramped condition is due to ex-Treasure Whitney's shortage of $1,400. Mr. Albaugh intimated that it is rather probable that the members of the two committees would refuse to spend their time in Washington in Allied Associations.

The American Retail Nurserymen's Protective association held two short meetings yesterday and discussed matters of business. It has a membership of about forty and is a strictly retail organization of a business character. All the old officers were re-elected: President, J. W. Hill of Des Moines; vice president, F. H. Stannard M. Sherman of Charles City, Ia.

Another of the gatherings of the nursery men here has been that of the Western Nurserymen's association at the Mercer hotel. About twenty firms west of the Mississippi belong to it and two meetings are held during the year, one in June and the other in December, the officers being elected at the latter. Mr. Brooke is president of this organization, too. It fixes up the price lists for the dealers and it is accused of putting up the price of apple and cherry stock at this meeting, but Mr. Brooke says apple trees really went up themselves in the nathem along, went out to the grounds just ture of things. HEROINES OF JERICHO FINISH.

Twenty-Fourth Annual Session of the

The twenty-fourth session of the Grand Court of the Heroines of Jericho closed yesterday afternoon with the election of officers and a grand public installation last night at Central hall. The session has been one of the best in point of attendance and general interest that was ever held and the visiting delegates have nothing but words of praise for the hospitable treatment they visited, in about all its features and many have received at the hands of the Omaha Heroines of Jericho and their friends. More than 200 delegates attended the meeting and in spite of the unfavorable weather which has prevailed during the session the meetings have been exceptionally well attended Yesterday afternoon's meeting had been looked forward to by many of the delegates as one which would be quite animated, as here were reputed to be many candidates for the various grand court offices, but they were doomed to disappointment, for the officers of the year just closed were honored I by a re-election, with the exception of sev of the officers.

The officers for the next year are: Grane lost ancient matron, Mrs. L. A. Delanev. St. Louis; grand vice most ancient matron Mrs. C. A. Connor, Independence, Mo.; grand worthy Joshua, Rev. G. W. Guy, Topeka Kan.; grand treasurer, Mrs. R. F. Noland Palmyra, Mo.: grand secretary, Mrs. Mamie Stanton, St. Joseph, Mo.; grand inner gate keeper, Mrs. Lula Whitington, Kansas City grand outer gate keeper, Mrs. Maggie Douglas, St. Louis; grand directors, Prof. A. B who worked hard for the association at Moore, Columbia, Mo.; Prof. C. G. Williams Washington getting through the nursery Booneville, Mo.; Allen Gunnell, St. Louis; William Brown, Kansas City, William Jenkins, William Williams.

office of grand matron is particularly gratifying to her friends. She is a St. Louis the order in St. Louis and has always been a very active promoter of the work. During the last year she has been instrumental in establishing several new courts and in strengthening and uniting the courts which were already founded.

The order of the Heroines of Jericho was established in St. Louis twenty-four years ago, and as the next session of the grand court will be a silver jubilee there was no ittempt to secure the location of the session at any other place than St. Louis. The membership of the order is very large in St. Louis and in inviting the grand court to meet there next year the St. Louis courts assured the session that the silver jubilee should be a memorable one if it lay in the power of the St. Louis people to make it so. All business was finished at the afternoon ession, although it was necessary to proong the session until after 7 o'clock to dis pose of committee reports and other routine work. The installation of the officers was a very impressive and well carried out ceremony and was witnessed by an audience which taxed the capacity of Central hall. The hall was draped in flags in honor of the occasion and the bright colors of the officers' insignia contrasted prettily with the white gowns worn by most of the Herolnes. After the installation ceremonies were completed the remainder of the evening was given over to a general social time, all of the delegates being glad of the relaxation after the hard day's work. Today the Omaha Heroines and visiting sisters will meet at Central hall at 9 a. m. and will visit the exposition in a body. Many of the delegates will leave for home tomorrow evening and others will avail themselves of the opportunity to pay a longer visit to the Transmississippi,

FATHER WATTSON'S COOLNESS

Episcopul Priest Saves Hts Church from Destruction by His Prompt Action.

By the coolness of Father Louis Wattson rector, and Miss England, organist of St Paul's Episcopal church at Thirty-third and California streets, the church edifice was saved from destruction by fire last night and a panic among the inmates, with possible serious results, was averted. A big hanging lamp dropped from its place or the ceiling of the guild room into the midst of a number of young people engaged in choir practice and exploded, throwing burn ing oil in all directions.

The blazing fluid leaped in flames to th ceiling and spread out upon the floors and walls and burned fiercely. The occupants of the room were panic stricken, but were calmed by their pastor. Hastily ordering outside and cut wet bushes in which to bear out the flames the clergyman and the organwoman, was among the original founders of ist threw cloths about the lamp and carried it into the street. The flaming oil on the floor was whipped out with the wet bushes. About the time the flames had been subdued the fire apparatus from Twentyfourth and Cuming streets reached the

The only damage sustained was a charred floor and walls and a badly smoke stained ceiling. The clergyman's clothing, it is un derstood, was damaged somewhat by the flames. The fire ended the choir rehearsal The church is a small trame structure valued at $2,500, and its contents are valued at $900.

Zarifi ran away from her husband after robbing him, three years ago, with Alexander Dinny, a fierce mustached, Grecian gun spinner. Monday the husband saw her dancing on the Streets of Cairo and she was locked up at the central station and all the residents of the Streets of Cairo Zarifi was unable to eat in her prison cell, and the gay, gaudy dancing clothes she was arrested in were in strong contrast to her spirits. Turks, Syrians, Grecians, representatives of all Oriental nations haunted the station begging for the release of their queen. The husband was begged, implored and threatened, to with-Iraw his charges against his wife, but he was obdurate until yesterday afternoon, when, possibly fearing to be run through with a scimiter if he further held out, yielded, and the woman was released, as was also Dinny. HOW A WAR IS FOUGHT.

Illustrated by Pictures.

If you wish to properly understand the war news, it you wish to have a definite knowledge of naval affairs and the events that are occurring in the East and West Indies you can secure no better, no more reliable source of information than the official photographs of the United States navy, just issued by the Omaha Bee. The price is only 25 cents, and more valuable and timely information was never offered for the money. It is on sale at The Omaha Bee counting-rooms, or will be sent to any address on receipt of price.

The book consists of nearly 200 pages of views made by E. H. Hart, naval photographer, and the list of subjects embraces everything of interest pertaining to our navy, of which every American is justly eavy, of which every American is justly proud. First within the covers of this interesting work comes a map sixteen times as large as the book itself, showing on one side the Spanish possessions, and all adacent territory, while on the other side treated. Steamship lines, with the dis-tances intervening between different points are shown, and a close study of these maps will give one a thorough understanding of this territory, in regard to which the in-terest of the American public is now at fever heat. Then follow more than 200 rare pictures of the navy, its officers and equipment. The views are all authentic, and are the latest official photographs of our torpedo boats, torpedo boat destroyers, cruisers, battle-ships, gunboats monitors, rams aynamite cruisers, dispatch vessels, and other war craft, the whole embodying an authentic portrayal of the American navy as it exists today. A complete description of the contruction, displacement, size, speed, batteries, armor, crew and cost of each boat will enable the reader to form an accurate estimate of our fighting strength. Included with these are photographs of the leading

Spanish men-of-war, also fully described. By far the most interesting portions of the ook are views of the Maine, taken before he disaster in Havana harbor, showing the ife and discipline aboard a battleship, together with portraits of the officers and crew, supplemented by photographs taken after the explosion, depicting the divers at work, and other incidents in connection

Bec, June 9, 1898. Tomorrow We Begin the Greatest Slaughter Silk, mind you...

> Some day it's going to be hot. Some day it's going to stop raining. Some day the weather man will take compassion on the poor clothing dealers and then-well, we won't be the ones to raise our prices. We will continue to sell Alpaca Coats for 75 cents and Duck Trousers for a dollar, and fine Serge Coats for $2.25 and better ones—the finest for $3.25. We will continue to sell the great straw hats for a quarter and the great shirts for 45 cents, and the great Balbriggan (nit) Underwear for 25 cents a garment. We will also continue to sell, as long as they hold out, those great silk neckties, in greens and browns and mochas and burnt orange and other Oriental combinations for five cents each, 60c a dozen, six dollars for ten dozen. These ties were made up for us so we could make a little money on them and we have several thousand of them in several hundred patterns. You can see them in one of our 15th street windows and we want to impress you with the fact that they are silk, not cotton, and that the price is a nickel.
