STRONG SQUADRON GOING TO EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 .- If the Navy department contemplates any further change in the composition of the eastern squadron which was destined for a cruise to Spanish waters, the matter has not taken form as powerful assistance afforded to the Spanish This statement applies to the commanders of the ships of this squadron, as well as to the ships themselves, and the stages. Creating a New Station. It will be possible also, with the ships at the Navy department's disposal, to carry out a long cherished project for the creation of a new station in the south Pacific, with a base probably at Valparaiso or Callao. Under this plan of reorganization there will be forts of the populist officials of the county openings for several officers of flag rank and to oust him on the pretext that his office was thus it is expected that there will be less friction than heretofore between these officers. More clearly than ever it is now perceived to be the strong right arm of the country and the naval officials are congratulating themselves that they were able to resist the pressure brought to bear at one time upon them to expose this tremendous force to dissipation by profitless attacks upon fortified ports. A distinguished naval officer today called attention to the fact that most serious results might have followed the disclosure of the demoralization of our army at Santiago had not the navy been at hand to protect it. Notwithstanding the best efforts of censorship over telegraph and mails, it is believed that the Spanish government had acquired knowledge of the situation at Santiago, but was powerless to profit by it for the reason that the navy blocked the way and prevented the dispatch of reinforcements and supplies to the Spanish army in Cuba, the lack of which obliged General

Toral to surrender.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 .- A good deal of the breakdown of Captain Clark of the Oregon. Not the slightest information has reached here as to the nature of the captain's illness; all that is known is that Commodore Watson, his immediate superior. ordered a medical board to examine him with the result that he was condemned and ordered home. It does not follow from this that the captain's collapse is permanent, and his splendid physique and usually vigorous health afford reasonable ground for the belief that he will regain his health in the north. Captain Barker, who was in command of the Newark, has been assigned to the command of the Oregon in place of Captain Clark. The vacancy in the command of the Newark has not been filled as yet. Captain Barker was one of the original members of the Naval War board and in that capacity rendered valuable services in preparing the navy for the excellent work accomplished by it. He commanded the Oregon while it was attached to the Pacific station, preceding Captain Clark.

BABY COVERED SORES & SCALES

Could Not Tell What She Looked Like. Got Worse with Doctor's Medicine. Could Not Sleep From Intense Itching.

CURED IN ONE MONTH BY CUTICURA

When my baby was four months old her skin broke out, and I thought it was ring-worm. I took her to a doctor and he said it was Eczema. He gave me medicine to give her, but she kept getting worse all the time, and you could not tell what she looked like, her little face and hands were so covered with sores and large scales. It got under her little finger nails. She was the worst looking sight I ever saw. I heard of CUTICURA REMEDIES, so I thought I would try them. Before I tried them we got no rest at night. She could not sleep it itched so. After I gave her CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I saw a change in a seek. It commenced to dry all up and she would sleep all night, and when it was drying up the skin all cracked open, so then I got CUTICURA (ointment) and Cuticuna Soap, and in one month the had not one sore on her face, and I don't think it is any more than justice to let you know what it has done for my baby. She now is fifteen months old and has got beautiful skin. She doesn't even have a pimple of any kind, and she is as fat as pudding.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS FORMING Laboring Men's Organization Not Ye Complete-Sixth Warders Elect Their Officers.

The permanent organization of the Labor ng Men's Republican club was postponed at the meeting in Odd Fellows' hall on Foureenth near Dodge last night until Thursday evening next. The reason for putting it off exertion that the invitation to swell the ranks of the club is open to all workingmen, whether they are members of labor organizations or not. S. C. Walkup and Theolore Bennett were continued as temporary resident and secretary, respectively, until the permanent organization is effected, the latter being also instructed to act as temporary treasurer.

The motion to postpone action came from A. J. Herold, who thought a larger hall should be secured than the one then occupled. Charles Singer suggested Thursday night as insuring a better attendance than Saturday night. K. S. Fisher favored postponement until then, explaining that the invitation to the laboring men was not fully understood and that it would be better to leave no doubt whatever as to the invitation being a general one, to organized as well as inorganized labor. S. J. Broderick at first was in favor of going right ahead and permanently organizing, but in consideration of the point raised by Mr. Fisher, he also urged postponement. Mr. Fisher said organized labor is in a position now to repay the tripartite fusionist nominee for governor, Poynter, for his open antagonism to organized labor in connection with the Nebraska building at the exposition. An adtime stated, Messrs. E. G. Peterson, C. F. Robertson and S. J. Broderick being chosen littee on hall.

At the coming meeting the committee on by-laws and rules is to report. It consists of W. R. Wilson of the First ward. Anton Sidl of the Second, J. H. Henderson of the Third, Charles Singer of the Fourth, G. A. Freeman of the Fifth, Scott McWilliams of the Sixth. Fred Nelson of the Seventh A. I. Herold of the Eighth and J. A. Beverly of the Ninth, Mr. Beverly being the chairman. Ward committees have also been appointed.

Sixth Ward Club Organizes. The republicans of the Sixth ward held their regular annual meeting last night in Idlewild hall and elected officers for the coming year. R. B. Carter was chosen president, E. C. Woolcot vice president, F. C. Craig secretary and William Askwith treasurer. Every republican present was allowed to vote, no matter whether he belonged to the Sixth ward club or not, and harmony and good feeling prevailed throughout. John H. Van Dusen of South Omaha was present and was called upon for a speech. He made a few remarks on the staunchness and solidity of the republican party and said he believed the party would again triumph got out of it with no greater damage than in the state and that a republican governor would be chosen by the people. Prof. J. A. Gillespie made a short address on the past, present and future of the party, both in the state and in the nation.

After the conclusion of these speeches i was decided to hire Idlewild hall during the entire campaign and to hold meetings on Saturday night of each week.

City Engineer Honored.

City Engineer Rosewater has received official notice from New York of his election for two years as one of the seven members constituting the nominating committee of officers of the American Society of Civil Engineers. This ordinarily is considered an honor, but it is especially so in view of the fact that Mr. Rosewater did not attend the annual convention and was wholly ignorant of the action taken until notified.

Sanitary Precautions.

RAINS THE ONLY STREET CLEANERS

Newspapers Follow Speedily the American Occupation - People Who Fled Flocking Back to the City.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 27 .- (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)-The dirty condition of this city, the heaps of refuse that cover the streets, the maledorous alleys and the lack of sanitary arrangements and drainage of any description are all matters that will require remedying if this is to become an American should be remembered that the weeks of blockade, the fear of bombardment, the scarcity of food and the general demoralization existing in a besieged town have done much to add to the conditions of filth and poor sanitation that normally prevail. For generations the people have lived Telegram.)-C. D. Loose ,a farmer living regardless of the first rules of hygiene; the lower classes are ignorant of all precautionary measures and it is not surprising when our American officers issue an order through the civil governor of Santiago, stating that all houses must be at once machine when the horses started, inflicting thoroughly cleaned, inside and out, the order is disregarded. Orders are constantly issued to the people to report at once the death of any one in their household and threats of fine and enforced labor as a punishment carry little weight. Extreme measures will have to be taken to bring about a proper condition of affairs in this respect and it will take many months of example and stringent enforcement of regulations to bring the people to an observance of what is clearly best for their health.

In the military hospital of the city there were on July 26 562 cases of the prevalent malarial fever, 121 cases of dysentery, 86 cases of diarrhoea, 274 cases of aenemue and 19 cases of yellow fever. The yellow fever cases are all among the Spanish soldiers. A week ago there were six cases of this fever and among the total of nineteen cases there have been six deaths since the American occupation. Sixteen of the ous of having it thoroughly understood to all 488 wounded Spanish soldiers in the hosmen who earn their livelihood by their own pital have died since the United States troops took possession of the town. To the city of Santiago there is this advantage from the rains of the wet season: The water rushes down the steep streets and sweeps away all manner of refuse and rubbish. Flushing the streets as the rains do is like flushing the sewers in an American city.

Newspapers Starting Up. Since July 1 and until July 23 this city was without a daily paper. On July 23 the Espectador made its first appearance and printed the full Spanish text of President McKinley's proclamation to the people of Cuba. The Espectador is running a series of articles on New York City, this subject being supposedly of prime interest to its readers at this time. A three-column article on the inscriptions of the Egyptian obelisk in Central park appears in the last issue and the publisher promises the Declaration of Independence of the United States in the near future. Espectador enoys the distinction of being the only Spansh paper published in this island free of Spanish censorship.

A newspaper printed in Spanish and English is promised soon, and Company F of the Thirty-third Michigan volunteer infantry has brought out a paper called Company journment was accordingly taken until the F Enterprise, which is the first American paper published in the city of Santiago de Cuba. Already the enterprising American is who awaits but a sure and remunerative opportunity, and there is the man who buys up bargains in American horse flesh from sick or wounded officers going home, hoping to sell the animals at a profit. The first steamer from the United States has brought many men to look over this new field for business opportunities, and there will American sharpness and enterprise pitted against the Cuban and Spaniard. If Santiago prospers and money is easy there will be a good field here for the gambler and his outfit, if the laws will allow him to operate. With prosperity and a good hotel there is promise in Santiago of a wide open town that will be a sure attraction to men of a certain stamp.

The arrival of so many strangers in Santiago during the last two weeks has taxed the town's accommodations, which were never ample, to the utmost. The lack of anything like proper hotels and restaurants will continue to be a detriment to the city until some one with a knowledge of what Americans want steps in and opens a hotel.

Many Strangers Coming In. The Anglo-American club of Santiago, an institution founded over three years ago by the English speaking residents of this place, has been the salvation of many Americans since the occupation. The club affords a limited number of cool, clean rooms to American officers and correspondents. Many of Santiago's American visitors will remember most gratefully the club's cool garden and the stone paved shower bath. Since three days after the occupation the club has served meals and, while what is eaten comes mostly in cans, the long white table set twice a day with china plates and bottles of wine has been a most welcome sight to many an officer who has ridden in from the front to experience the novel sansation of a ivilized meal. Old friends meet at this common center and the fighting of the 1st, 2d and 3d of July is told and told again by men who were on the right or the left, or who came up late. Naval officers from the ships have come to the club dinner and then their brother officers from the field hear tales of what the ships have done.

Many of the refugees from Santiago and the eastern end of Cuba, who slipped over to Jamaica during the troublous times, are coming back. Opportunities to do so are scarce, however, as steamers are not frequent from Jamaica, but slowly the town is filling up and the country people are coming in to buy certain necessities. But their money is not plentiful as yet. They depend upon the crops of sugar and coffee and tobacco and until agricultural work is resumed and the money that was sent back to Spain for safe keeping during the war finds ts way back to Cuba under an assured confidence in the future, money will not be as easy as it was in the old days.

ART AT THE EXPOSITION

A picture of great interest to people who enjoy paintings and to those who like to observe the way in which a master works noted Spanish painter, Mariano Fortuny.

It is very badly placed in the middle of upon it and one is obliged to stand immediately over it in order to see it, but it more points as possible to use when the case than repays one for the effort. The picture is painted with all the sparkle, brilliancy and prodigious dexterity which characterize Fortuny's work. In the foreground a young graceful folds is dancing the enticing Flemish dance.

This dance-the "flamanco"- is probably reminiscence of the early part of the six-Emperor Charles V. who had been born and of asphalt paving he found in Omaha. He bred in the Netherlands and who introduced said the Kansas City municipal authorities many Flemish customs in Spain. The gyp- had been devoting considerable energy this ied it in Spain and dances it with such of it is in prospect. He said paving in charm and seduction in Carmen. The dancing girl is painted with wonder-the face is as exquisite as a miniature, yet the other figures are but little more than suggested, with two or three spots of color to indicate where the man is to be painted. But with such absolute knowledge and skill has the painter placed these three or four strokes of the brush that we know the color and texture of his clothes and the position he will have when finished.

The background is a gray wall with green trees and vines covering half of it; a large handsome jar, some potted plants in bloom are just against the wall, while in the foreground is indicated the corner of a fountain and the formal pavement of a garden. Perhaps this was painted in the court of his Moorish palace in Granada, where the painter spent the years 1870-72 reveling in rich color effects and painting in the Alham-

Fortuny loved light and color and whatver shone-arms, fatences, glass, marbles, pronzes, etc. His effects of full sunlight falling upon white walls relieved by transparent shadows are almost magical. His touch was nervous and distinguished. Some one has said that his "pictures have no depth of sentiment and the human beings are not more important than the inanimate objects. All is superficial, but far from prosate, and the barbaric splendor of the effect dazzles and amazes the sight. Fortuny's style was distinctively his own and although he has many followers and imitators today his manual skill has not been equaled by any modern painter. One can no more compare him to Millet, the primtive poet and painter of the struggle of he humble man with his labor, than one can compare the polished Theophile Gautier with Charles Dickens. His passionate delight in the pleasures of the eye was the first and most necessary gift of the true painter which he possessed; he had a close sympathy with the physical part of life. which the ancient Greeks felt, but which many painters of today have lost in their effort to be literary or to be sensational. At the Stewart sale in March several of Fortuny's pictures were sold for very large sums. Mr. Clark of Montana bought "The Posing of the Model"-one of the masterpieces of this prestidigitator of the brushfor $75,000. And yet Fortuny was but 36 years old when he died in Rome in 1874! From a poor boy in Reus-in Cataloniahe had risen to be one of the most famous, most courted artists of his day. His magnificent studio in Rome was the center of a brilliant artistic group, among whom were Meissonier, Gerome and Regnault, the French painter and patriot, who, at the age of 30, when he laid down his life for his country, was already famous as an artist. Regnault in writing of his first visit at Fortuny's studio said: "I spent the day before yesterday at Fortuny's. What water colors and what oil paintings! He is the master of us all." ETHEL EVANS.

J. H. Sutherland, editor of the Herald at Tekamah, and J. F. Nesbit of the same place, were in Omaha today. Mr. Nesbit represented his county in the legislature two years ago and will probably receive renomination at the hands of the republicans. Mr. Sutherland said the drift of the reports in his section was that Hayward was in the lead for governor, although there was a strong local feeling there in favor of B. S. Baker of this city. The county convention will be held new Monday and he says there are no indications at this time that any attempt will be made to instruct the delegates on this question.

J. E. Boyd, an attorney at Oakdale, has been visiting the exposition. Mr. Boyd says he will have about 10,000 bushels of grain as the result of the year's work on bis farm, which is rented on the division plan. He reported crops in good condition n Antelope county, with average yields the rule. He thought the improved conditions in business affairs would enable the republicans to carry that county next Norember, although he doubted their ability to elect their candidate for the legislature, as in this they are tied up with another county.

HUNTING UP MISSING MEN Police Have Plenty to Do Looking After People Who "Disappear" for the Time Being.

Omaha is looked upon by all sections of the country as being the destination of the majority of the people who mysteriously disappear from their homes. Messages by the dozens are received daily by Chief Gallagher from anxious parents, wives and sweethearts, from all sections asking for information about missing relatives. majority of the letters are from wives, whose husbands have forsaken them. A great many are from the heart-broken fam illes of farmers who leave their homes with R. Cecil, City Comptroller Hans Lund, City | a wad of money to see the exposition. Usually in these cases the police run across the missing man in some hotel recovering from Buildings Wallace Lowe, Chief Clerk Sam | the effects of too much "after lamp light" sight-seeing. A dozen or more of these kind of cases were uncarthed by the police during the last week.

Search for missing boys occupies a great deal of the attention of the police. are, however, easily located, being usually found about the expesition grounds seeing the curious sights that caused them to leave their homes. The answer to inquiries of parents that their boys are here usually results in some relative being dispatched to Omaha to take them home.

Missing husbands are never sought afte by the police unless some some of a criminal charge is made against them. No criminal

MICROBE OF BALDNESS.

How It Attacks and Works Ruin to the Hair.

Mons, Sebourand, former pupil of M. Pasteur's school, has found the mights microbe that makes men and women less their hair—the little beast who is responsible for the shiny pute of the unfortunate baldhead, says the New York Herald. He describes it as a minute, coloriess bedy, pointed at both ends, and increasing in numbers by constantant division into two, and since the divisions do not always immediately broak off, long chains frequently form, each link being a distinct mibrobe.

The pestiferous organism congregates in colonies of enormous numbers in the upper part of the hair follicle below the epidermis, and just where the sweat giant joins the follicle. At this point there is somewhat of an enlargement, and in this little cavity it finds a convenient habitat. Each colony is wrapped up into a kind of cocoon by fatty matter from the sebaceous gland; the cocoons vary in size, and are easy to obtain by squeezing the skin at the mouth of a gland. The coil of fatty matter which is ejected when a "blackhead" is forced out of the skin by pressure is simply an enormous cocoon holding within it myriads of this bacing within it myriads of this bac-

The microbe of baldness has been iso-lated and grown as a culture on a sult-able medium, when it appears as a color-less form, changing later into one of brick-red hue. But how is it that this microbe, not being at the root of the hair, but at some distance above it in the causes the bair to fall out? Ita method of attack is as follows:

The root, though weakened by the poison, sends up another hair to replace the fallen one, but the new outgrowth begins life feebler and poorer than its predecessor, so it, too, only with greater speed, becomes a victim.

This course of events, occurring, as it does, simultaneously in hundreds of adjacent hair follicies, naturally result in complete baldness.

To prove that this microbe is the cause and not merely the accompaniment of

After the microbes had multiplied and developed the microbes had multiplied and developed he filtered the liquid through porcelain, and believing that, if his theories were true, the filtered liquid would contain the substance they preduced poisonous to the hair, he took a rabbit and inoculated it deeply under the skin with the fluid. As he hoped, the rabbit speedily began to lose its fur and in six
