

SPOILS THE WHEELMEN'S DAY

Many Headed Management of the Exposition Makes Another Blunder.

ARRANGEMENTS AT THE GATES INCOMPLETE

Riders Unable to Secure Admission Through the Inability of the Several Departments to Get Close Enough Together.

The many-headed management of the exposition has come very near to making the wheelmen's day a complete failure...

Four weeks ago Chief Consul O'Brien made arrangements with President Wattles that wheels should be admitted today...

Shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning a big batch of the visiting wheelmen and wheelwomen were to be wagoned into town...

The party put itself in communication with Mr. O'Brien, who went at once to see President Wattles. The latter said that orders would be issued at once to admit the wheelmen...

By this time the gates were a very disjuncted lot of individuals, as they had been waiting for nearly two hours. Finally a big majority of them checked their wheels on the outside and went in...

"But it is too late," declared Consul O'Brien. "By the time the order reached there most of our visitors were in the grounds and had left their wheels outside..."

Blunders Come Fast. During all this time the wheelmen were arriving at the gates and were clamoring for admission...

Some of the men accepted the proposition, but more went home very angry, declaring that they had been deceived. The situation, however, was remedied a little during the afternoon...

The climax of the difficulty was reached, however, just before 7 o'clock, the hour fixed for the parade. Major Llewellyn, chief of the exposition police, had not been informed of any parade...
