

DEPEW IS DINED AND WINED

New Yorker and His Companions Sit at Table in the Gate City.

PLEASANT DINNER AT THE OMAHA CLUB

Prominent People from the Empire State Enjoy a Function—Exposition Comes in for Its Share of Praise.

"Here is to our distinguished guests; it is good that they are here. Here is to their families and their friends; may they live long and prosper."

To the music of tinkling, tinkling glasses and in sparkling ambrosial champagne or pure limpid water a hundred or more of native New Yorkers, gathered together in reunion from the Empire state of the country and the Gate City of the west, responded to this toast proposed by the venerable Judge Elmer Wakley.

Rarely in the history of the Exposition city has such a gathering come together as was assembled at the banquet table with the sumptuous dining rooms of the Omaha club on this occasion.

The entertainment was in keeping with the character of the guests. Amid the soft music of an excellent stringed orchestra, rich viands and rare wines were offered for their delectation.

Depew the Guest of Honor.

Hon. Chauncey M. Depew was the guest of the evening. He sat to the right hand of the toastmaster of the evening, E. M. Bartlett, and the rest of the visiting New Yorkers sat near the head of the table.

To the right of Mr. Depew were Senator Warner Miller and Captain J. M. Brinker, president of the Pan-American congress, Francis B. Thurber and Major Creighton Webb were on the more immediate left of the toastmaster.

"The first time that I met Nebraska was in 1888 when I attended the republican national convention. New York had carried me to this session as its unanimous choice for presidency. It was a fact well known that no nomination had been made in view of the peculiar situation without New York and New York seemed to have an excellent chance to capture the nomination.

TO CURE NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean, Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Interesting Experience of an Indianapolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think that their nerves are to blame, are surprised that they are cured by nerve medicine and spring remedies; the real seat of mischief is low situated; of the stomach is the origin to be looked after.

Nervous dyspepsia often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perspiration about the face, nor any weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ in some way. The heart palpitates and is irregular; in others, the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headache, still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite, with the accumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper of No. 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies to without any favorable result. They times gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, but I was disappointed with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles, for I have gained in flesh, sleep better, and am better in every way. The above is written not for notoriety, but is based on actual facts."

Respectfully yours, A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind. It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion, heartburn, constipation and headaches. Send for valuable little book on stomach diseases by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. All druggists sell full sized packages at 50 cents.

MAKES THE GOVERNOR MAD

Washington Revokes Order Putting Troops at His Disposal.

PROPOSES TO CALL ARM VOLUNTEERS

Some Reports from Indian Country Indicate More Trouble and Those From Old Sources Reassuring.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—The governor has notified Governor Davenport that it has revoked the order putting the companies of the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers at Duluth and at St. Paul under his orders. He had all preparations made to send the Duluth companies to the front at once to protect the settlers and was arranging to mobilize the remaining companies at St. Paul. He supposed that the revolution is due to General Bacon's message saying that the trouble was over and that there was no danger. He adds: "I shall pay no more attention to the War department. If necessary I will issue a call for volunteers, arm them with such guns as I can pick up, and let the government go to the devil. I am tired of doing business with Washington. There is too much red tape and too much delay. It is not an alarmist, but it is the way to be prepared. It will reassure the settlers and perhaps prevent an outbreak."

The following telegram was sent by Governor Clough today: H. C. Corbin, Washington: No one claims that reinforcements were needed at Walker. I have not been asked for assistance from that quarter, though I do not think that General Bacon's message is entirely correct. The people generally say so. The Indians claim that they have won and that is my opinion. The people all along the Frontiers are very much alarmed and are asking for assistance and protection from the War department. The soldiers are here and are willing and ready to go, but as you have revoked your order of yesterday you can do what you like with your soldiers. I will try to get along without any assistance from the department in the future. (Signed) M. CLOUGH, Governor.

The governor has received a message from Mayor John H. Nevers of Brainerd, Minn., saying: "I have seen Walker, Indians concentrating at Leech Lake in large numbers. Think they held council last night. Situation looks grave." W. F. Street wires the governor from Bemidji, west of Cass lake: "While I do not regard situation here as alarming, our people are much disturbed. If you could send village authorities 200 stands of arms they would be gratefully received. Red lake Indians reported irritable." A Journal Walker special says: There are now about 250 soldiers encamped at the agency. Troops landed about noon, but met with no opposition. The soldiers have gone into camp in squares overlooking the lake, which they have named Camp Wilkinson. A number of friendly Indians came in canoes from Bear Island this morning. They refused to talk of the hostilities and disclaimed any knowledge of their whereabouts. It is difficult to see how this matter is any nearer solution than it was a week ago. All the men but two for whom warrants are out are still at large on Bear Island, where dancing still continues. These men Marshal O'Connor is determined to have and the soldiers must get them for him.

Speech by Warner Miller.

Another of the visiting New York delegation to be called upon for remarks was Senator Warner Miller, who was asked to respond to the toast, "The Waterways of Our Country." He confined himself to a discussion of the Nicaragua canal scheme and naturally drifted into a discussion of the possible future colonization policy of this country after passing the following tribute to the exposition: "When I looked upon the exposition, was informed that it is the growth of but a few months, saw its beautiful sights and the products of nature which it displays, I was glad that it was a part of the country that can make so grand an exhibition in such a short time."

Senator Miller stated that people have become so well informed of the advantages that would result from the Nicaragua canal that it is useless to enumerate them. The most important are that it will give this country control of the commerce of the Pacific and reduce the sailing distance around the world one-third. The long trip of the Oregon proved what a great benefit it can become to this country and this fact is again emphasized by the long trip to the Oregon and Miller will have to make to reach Dewey at Manila.

"Of course the primary object of the canal will not be of warlike character," continued Senator Miller. "We are not seeking aggrandizement. But aggrandizement has been thrust upon us, and we will accept it as the world exists. It closes up the Gulf of Mexico and guards the mouth of the Mississippi river. It is said that we secured the island for humanitarian motives. It was not that at all. Do you suppose that we will ever let an independent power hold the island? Never. We have taken it and we will annex it, as we have already annexed Honolulu. This business of governing colonies is no longer a theory, but a condition. It therefore becomes us to prepare for it, and in no better way than by annexing the island of Cuba."

Senator Miller, however, insisted that the canal will be utilized more to promote commerce than war. He maintained that it is sure to be built and the only question now is whether it shall be built by American or foreign capital and asserted that it must be built for the benefit of this country to reap the full benefits.

Judge Metcalf of Buffalo responded to the toast of the "Pan-American exposition." He stated that this exposition is to be held in the year 1901, not more than four miles from Niagara Falls, the great power of which will be utilized in it. Exhibits from the Paris exposition of 1900 will be seen within its gates. The most prominent men in the Empire state are banded together to bring it to a successful consummation.

In responding to the toast of "Commercial Relations Between the East and West," Secretary W. R. Corwin of the Merchants' association of New York made a plea for the consolidation of the commercial interests of the country for the promotion of foreign trade. He pointed out that the country is manufacturing products for 119,000,000 people while the demand in this country comes from 75,000,000. The surplus is disposed of by individual companies and corporations, but the business interests have never been concentrated for the purpose. Those of Russia, France and Germany are doing so and are cutting down into the trade of England. This is the particular time when the United States should take similar steps, in the opinion of the speaker, because he believed that the government will retain Cuba and Porto Rico and possibly the Philippines. These possessions will open up the commercial interests to come into competition with other countries in foreign ports more easily.

Mr. Thurber of the Produce exchange of New York spoke much on the same lines in response to the toast, "Our Foreign Commercial Relations." Our Foreign Commercial Relations. He does not think that the manufacturing interests of the country have grown to such proportions that they must look for widened markets. In order to secure them concerted action is necessary. He spoke strongly in support of the introduction in the schools and colleges of a more extensive course in commercial education.

Power of the Press.

Edward Rosewater was called upon in response to "The Press." He said that at no time in the world's history was the power of the press so extensive. The axiom that "the pen is mightier than the sword" has been fully proved recently, for just as the press forced the war upon the country, so it is still fighting. It knows better than the generals and the strategists how the war is being waged.

(Continued on Sixth Page.)

MAKES THE GOVERNOR MAD

Washington Revokes Order Putting Troops at His Disposal.

PROPOSES TO CALL ARM VOLUNTEERS

Some Reports from Indian Country Indicate More Trouble and Those From Old Sources Reassuring.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—The governor has notified Governor Davenport that it has revoked the order putting the companies of the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers at Duluth and at St. Paul under his orders. He had all preparations made to send the Duluth companies to the front at once to protect the settlers and was arranging to mobilize the remaining companies at St. Paul. He supposed that the revolution is due to General Bacon's message saying that the trouble was over and that there was no danger. He adds: "I shall pay no more attention to the War department. If necessary I will issue a call for volunteers, arm them with such guns as I can pick up, and let the government go to the devil. I am tired of doing business with Washington. There is too much red tape and too much delay. It is not an alarmist, but it is the way to be prepared. It will reassure the settlers and perhaps prevent an outbreak."

The following telegram was sent by Governor Clough today: H. C. Corbin, Washington: No one claims that reinforcements were needed at Walker. I have not been asked for assistance from that quarter, though I do not think that General Bacon's message is entirely correct. The people generally say so. The Indians claim that they have won and that is my opinion. The people all along the Frontiers are very much alarmed and are asking for assistance and protection from the War department. The soldiers are here and are willing and ready to go, but as you have revoked your order of yesterday you can do what you like with your soldiers. I will try to get along without any assistance from the department in the future. (Signed) M. CLOUGH, Governor.

The governor has received a message from Mayor John H. Nevers of Brainerd, Minn., saying: "I have seen Walker, Indians concentrating at Leech Lake in large numbers. Think they held council last night. Situation looks grave." W. F. Street wires the governor from Bemidji, west of Cass lake: "While I do not regard situation here as alarming, our people are much disturbed. If you could send village authorities 200 stands of arms they would be gratefully received. Red lake Indians reported irritable." A Journal Walker special says: There are now about 250 soldiers encamped at the agency. Troops landed about noon, but met with no opposition. The soldiers have gone into camp in squares overlooking the lake, which they have named Camp Wilkinson. A number of friendly Indians came in canoes from Bear Island this morning. They refused to talk of the hostilities and disclaimed any knowledge of their whereabouts. It is difficult to see how this matter is any nearer solution than it was a week ago. All the men but two for whom warrants are out are still at large on Bear Island, where dancing still continues. These men Marshal O'Connor is determined to have and the soldiers must get them for him.

Speech by Warner Miller.

Another of the visiting New York delegation to be called upon for remarks was Senator Warner Miller, who was asked to respond to the toast, "The Waterways of Our Country." He confined himself to a discussion of the Nicaragua canal scheme and naturally drifted into a discussion of the possible future colonization policy of this country after passing the following tribute to the exposition: "When I looked upon the exposition, was informed that it is the growth of but a few months, saw its beautiful sights and the products of nature which it displays, I was glad that it was a part of the country that can make so grand an exhibition in such a short time."

Senator Miller stated that people have become so well informed of the advantages that would result from the Nicaragua canal that it is useless to enumerate them. The most important are that it will give this country control of the commerce of the Pacific and reduce the sailing distance around the world one-third. The long trip of the Oregon proved what a great benefit it can become to this country and this fact is again emphasized by the long trip to the Oregon and Miller will have to make to reach Dewey at Manila.

"Of course the primary object of the canal will not be of warlike character," continued Senator Miller. "We are not seeking aggrandizement. But aggrandizement has been thrust upon us, and we will accept it as the world exists. It closes up the Gulf of Mexico and guards the mouth of the Mississippi river. It is said that we secured the island for humanitarian motives. It was not that at all. Do you suppose that we will ever let an independent power hold the island? Never. We have taken it and we will annex it, as we have already annexed Honolulu. This business of governing colonies is no longer a theory, but a condition. It therefore becomes us to prepare for it, and in no better way than by annexing the island of Cuba."

Senator Miller, however, insisted that the canal will be utilized more to promote commerce than war. He maintained that it is sure to be built and the only question now is whether it shall be built by American or foreign capital and asserted that it must be built for the benefit of this country to reap the full benefits.

Judge Metcalf of Buffalo responded to the toast of the "Pan-American exposition." He stated that this exposition is to be held in the year 1901, not more than four miles from Niagara Falls, the great power of which will be utilized in it. Exhibits from the Paris exposition of 1900 will be seen within its gates. The most prominent men in the Empire state are banded together to bring it to a successful consummation.

In responding to the toast of "Commercial Relations Between the East and West," Secretary W. R. Corwin of the Merchants' association of New York made a plea for the consolidation of the commercial interests of the country for the promotion of foreign trade. He pointed out that the country is manufacturing products for 119,000,000 people while the demand in this country comes from 75,000,000. The surplus is disposed of by individual companies and corporations, but the business interests have never been concentrated for the purpose. Those of Russia, France and Germany are doing so and are cutting down into the trade of England. This is the particular time when the United States should take similar steps, in the opinion of the speaker, because he believed that the government will retain Cuba and Porto Rico and possibly the Philippines. These possessions will open up the commercial interests to come into competition with other countries in foreign ports more easily.

Mr. Thurber of the Produce exchange of New York spoke much on the same lines in response to the toast, "Our Foreign Commercial Relations." Our Foreign Commercial Relations. He does not think that the manufacturing interests of the country have grown to such proportions that they must look for widened markets. In order to secure them concerted action is necessary. He spoke strongly in support of the introduction in the schools and colleges of a more extensive course in commercial education.

Power of the Press.

Edward Rosewater was called upon in response to "The Press." He said that at no time in the world's history was the power of the press so extensive. The axiom that "the pen is mightier than the sword" has been fully proved recently, for just as the press forced the war upon the country, so it is still fighting. It knows better than the generals and the strategists how the war is being waged.

(Continued on Sixth Page.)

MAKES THE GOVERNOR MAD

Washington Revokes Order Putting Troops at His Disposal.

PROPOSES TO CALL ARM VOLUNTEERS

Some Reports from Indian Country Indicate More Trouble and Those From Old Sources Reassuring.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—The governor has notified Governor Davenport that it has revoked the order putting the companies of the Fourteenth Minnesota volunteers at Duluth and at St. Paul under his orders. He had all preparations made to send the Duluth companies to the front at once to protect the settlers and was arranging to mobilize the remaining companies at St. Paul. He supposed that the revolution is due to General Bacon's message saying that the trouble was over and that there was no danger. He adds: "I shall pay no more attention to the War department. If necessary I will issue a call for volunteers, arm them with such guns as I can pick up, and let the government go to the devil. I am tired of doing business with Washington. There is too much red tape and too much delay. It is not an alarmist, but it is the way to be prepared. It will reassure the settlers and perhaps prevent an outbreak."

The following telegram was sent by Governor Clough today: H. C. Corbin, Washington: No one claims that reinforcements were needed at Walker. I have not been asked for assistance from that quarter, though I do not think that General Bacon's message is entirely correct. The people generally say so. The Indians claim that they have won and that is my opinion. The people all along the Frontiers are very much alarmed and are asking for assistance and protection from the War department. The soldiers are here and are willing and ready to go, but as you have revoked your order of yesterday you can do what you like with your soldiers. I will try to get along without any assistance from the department in the future. (Signed) M. CLOUGH, Governor.

The governor has received a message from Mayor John H. Nevers of Brainerd, Minn., saying: "I have seen Walker, Indians concentrating at Leech Lake in large numbers. Think they held council last night. Situation looks grave." W. F. Street wires the governor from Bemidji, west of Cass lake: "While I do not regard situation here as alarming, our people are much disturbed. If you could send village authorities 200 stands of arms they would be gratefully received. Red lake Indians reported irritable." A Journal Walker special says: There are now about 250 soldiers encamped at the agency. Troops landed about noon, but met with no opposition. The soldiers have gone into camp in squares overlooking the lake, which they have named Camp Wilkinson. A number of friendly Indians came in canoes from Bear Island this morning. They refused to talk of the hostilities and disclaimed any knowledge of their whereabouts. It is difficult to see how this matter is any nearer solution than it was a week ago. All the men but two for whom warrants are out are still at large on Bear Island, where dancing still continues. These men Marshal O'Connor is determined to have and the soldiers must get them for him.

Speech by Warner Miller.

Another of the visiting New York delegation to be called upon for remarks was Senator Warner Miller, who was asked to respond to the toast, "The Waterways of Our Country." He confined himself to a discussion of the Nicaragua canal scheme and naturally drifted into a discussion of the possible future colonization policy of this country after passing the following tribute to the exposition: "When I looked upon the exposition, was informed that it is the growth of but a few months, saw its beautiful sights and the products of nature which it displays, I was glad that it was a part of the country that can make so grand an exhibition in such a short time."

Senator Miller stated that people have become so well informed of the advantages that would result from the Nicaragua canal that it is useless to enumerate them. The most important are that it will give this country control of the commerce of the Pacific and reduce the sailing distance around the world one-third. The long trip of the Oregon proved what a great benefit it can become to this country and this fact is again emphasized by the long trip to the Oregon and Miller will have to make to reach Dewey at Manila.

"Of course the primary object of the canal will not be of warlike character," continued Senator Miller. "We are not seeking aggrandizement. But aggrandizement has been thrust upon us, and we will accept it as the world exists. It closes up the Gulf of Mexico and guards the mouth of the Mississippi river. It is said that we secured the island for humanitarian motives. It was not that at all. Do you suppose that we will ever let an independent power hold the island? Never. We have taken it and we will annex it, as we have already annexed Honolulu. This business of governing colonies is no longer a theory, but a condition. It therefore becomes us to prepare for it, and in no better way than by annexing the island of Cuba."

Senator Miller, however, insisted that the canal will be utilized more to promote commerce than war. He maintained that it is sure to be built and the only question now is whether it shall be built by American or foreign capital and asserted that it must be built for the benefit of this country to reap the full benefits.

Judge Metcalf of Buffalo responded to the toast of the "Pan-American exposition." He stated that this exposition is to be held in the year 1901, not more than four miles from Niagara Falls, the great power of which will be utilized in it. Exhibits from the Paris exposition of 1900 will be seen within its gates. The most prominent men in the Empire state are banded together to bring it to a successful consummation.

In responding to the toast of "Commercial Relations Between the East and West," Secretary W. R. Corwin of the Merchants' association of New York made a plea for the consolidation of the commercial interests of the country for the promotion of foreign trade. He pointed out that the country is manufacturing products for 119,000,000 people while the demand in this country comes from 75,000,000. The surplus is disposed of by individual companies and corporations, but the business interests have never been concentrated for the purpose. Those of Russia, France and Germany are doing so and are cutting down into the trade of England. This is the particular time when the United States should take similar steps, in the opinion of the speaker, because he believed that the government will retain Cuba and Porto Rico and possibly the Philippines. These possessions will open up the commercial interests to come into competition with other countries in foreign ports more easily.

Mr. Thurber of the Produce exchange of New York spoke much on the same lines in response to the toast, "Our Foreign Commercial Relations." Our Foreign Commercial Relations. He does not think that the manufacturing interests of the country have grown to such proportions that they must look for widened markets. In order to secure them concerted action is necessary. He spoke strongly in support of the introduction in the schools and colleges of a more extensive course in commercial education.

Power of the Press.

Edward Rosewater was called upon in response to "The Press." He said that at no time in the world's history was the power of the press so extensive. The axiom that "the pen is mightier than the sword" has been fully proved recently, for just as the press forced the war upon the country, so it is still fighting. It knows better than the generals and the strategists how the war is being waged.

(Continued on Sixth Page.)

REMEMBER FURNITURE and DRAPERIES

A complete stock in every department. The equal to our present assortment has never been assembled.

Our styles are all new and exclusive and our prices are under any and all competition.

KINDLY INSPECT OUR LINE—

DEWEY & STONE FURNITURE CO. 1115-1117 FARNAM STREET.

NEW YORK'S FAIR DAY

(Continued from First Page.)

that even a railroad president may be a public-spirited citizen without betraying the interest or lessening the business of his company; that the money power is the concentration of the capital of the many at convenient centers of financial operations and that the money power is the cause of the rule of the Greek and Roman empires. I have read of civilizations and empires passing away, but I never thought that I would stand in the presence of the greatest nation of the past because of what they held and of the greatest nation of all time that was created from what they lost." Speech by Warner Miller.

Start with Prisoners.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 8.—A Walker, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: Mark Wagon and Bag-Dwain-Dung, the two Indians captured at Sugar Point on Wednesday, were taken to Duluth today in charge of Deputy United States Marshals Morrison and Tallman to appear before the United States court commissioner. The marshals were ordered to take the two men to the prisoners anywhere along the line of the Brainerd & Northern railway to shoot them.

Big Enough for Our Destiny.

Foreign critics say Americans boast of the bigness of their country. There is no use in boasting of the bigness of a country too large for a destiny never so manifest as today. Cuba is under our protection and certain to come under our flag by the vote of the people. What man has the right to hold in the Philippines will never be surrendered, and the markets of the far east are inviting us to compete with the nations of the world. Big as the country is, the future is bigger with duties, responsibilities and opportunities for our citizens. The sentimentalist declares that such a republic is not possible. After years of experiment and observation I have found that sentiment is less useful, is purer and is more effective than the hard, cold, unfeeling rule of the law. Big as the country is, the future is bigger with duties, responsibilities and opportunities for our citizens. The sentimentalist declares that such a republic is not possible. After years of experiment and observation I have found that sentiment is less useful, is purer and is more effective than the hard, cold, unfeeling rule of the law.

Officers Hold a Council with the Indians at the Agency.

WALKER, Minn., Oct. 8.—At the Indian council held at the reservation a demand was made by the government, through Indian Agent Smith, that the men concerned in the killing of soldiers near Bear Island be given up to answer the charge of murder.

Marshals O'Connor and 250 troops commanded by General Bacon will move to the agency on the reservation at 10 o'clock this morning. Bacon is anchored with the bags of ballast until 5 o'clock, when another ascension was made, which was equally as successful as the one of the early afternoon.

NEW YORKERS VISIT THE INDIANS.

Sham Battle Proves an Interesting Attraction for Them. All the New Yorkers viewed the sham battle fought by the Indians yesterday and after it was over they pronounced it one of the sights of a lifetime. Few of the distinguished visitors from the Empire state had ever seen western Indians and their methods of living in peace and war proved most interesting.

The battle was fought along the same old lines. Go-to-War looking after the interests of the Sioux, while Big Brave was the guiding star of the Blackfeet. There was a great deal of cheering made by the Sioux, routing their enemies and in turn their return charge of the Blackfeet, who had been reinforced by a lot of Indians who had been loafing down among the trees on the west side of the camp. The same old program was carried out and in the final charge the Sioux were outnumbered and routed, leaving their pretended dead upon the field.

Last Night's Congress.

There was a big and thoroughly animated crowd on the grounds last night and every feature was liberally patronized. The band concert was enjoyed by an audience that filled the plaza and when the crowd turned toward the other end of the grounds to see the fireworks it pretty nearly occupied the entire north tract. The concert was so enthusiastically enjoyed that every number demanded at least one encore, and in the end Mr. Jones was

Buy Your Exposition Admission Tickets Down Town...

Avoid Jubilee Week Tickets good only on date of Crush at the Gates sale may be purchased at the following places on and after Monday.

- Drug Store, Millard Hotel, Cor. 13th and Douglas. Kuhn's Drug Store, 15th and Douglas. Economical Drug Store, 16th and Farnam. News Stand Millard Hotel. News Stand Paxton Hotel. News Stand Dellone Hotel. News Stand Merchants' Hotel.

PRICE OF ADMISSION 50 CENTS.

Now We Have Got It. The Cancer Specialist.

The treatment is entirely different from any other cancer treatment in practice and is the only positive cure in existence. The cure is guaranteed or no pay, or in other words, no pay until the cancer is satisfactorily cured, where they have not been mis-treated by such as Plaster treatment, etc. Anyone afflicted with cancer write to Dr. Kegler, Springbrook, Iowa, with explanation of his case. The party will then be placed in direct correspondence with parties being cured of cancer of same nature and location. Write for testimonials. Explanations, etc., will be sent free of charge.

NEW YORKERS VISIT THE INDIANS.

Sham Battle Proves an Interesting Attraction for Them. All the New Yorkers viewed the sham battle fought by the Indians yesterday and after it was over they pronounced it one of the sights of a lifetime. Few of the distinguished visitors from the Empire state had ever seen western Indians and their methods of living in peace and war proved most interesting.

The battle was fought along the same old lines. Go-to-War looking after the interests of the Sioux, while Big Brave was the guiding star of the Blackfeet. There was a great deal of cheering made by the Sioux, routing their enemies and in turn their return charge of the Blackfeet, who had been reinforced by a lot of Indians who had been loafing down among the trees on the west side of the camp. The same old program was carried out and in the final charge the Sioux were outnumbered and routed, leaving their pretended dead upon the field.

Last Night's Congress.

There was a big and thoroughly animated crowd on the grounds last night and every feature was liberally patronized. The band concert was enjoyed by an audience that filled the plaza and when the crowd turned toward the other end of the grounds to see the fireworks it pretty nearly occupied the entire north tract. The concert was so enthusiastically enjoyed that every number demanded at least one encore, and in the end Mr. Jones was Attendance for the Week.

Table with columns for Week Ending, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Total, Average. Data for week ending October 8, 1898.

FAIRMONT, Neb., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The report from Geneva of a man being killed in Fairmont by a passing engine is untrue.