

SUNDAY SWARMS AT DEPOTS

Local Passenger Stations the Centers of Maelstroms of Humanity.

CURRENTS CONVERGE WHERE TRAINS STOP

Odd Fellows Make Up the Bulk of the Great Thrang that Comes on the First Day to Have a Good Start for the Week.

The limited space in the union depot shed was more congested yesterday afternoon than was any station during the Peace jubilee week.

Planned for the new union passenger station, which the Pennsylvania railroad proposes to build at Pittsburg, have been prepared. The estimated cost is $1,704,700 and the new building will occupy the site of the present depot.

A. C. Bird, general traffic manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, returned to Chicago last evening in private car, after spending several enjoyable days at the exposition.

A suit for $15,000 damages has been brought against the Pullman Palace Car company by J. M. Edmondson of San Antonio, Tex. It is claimed that while asleep in his berth he was drenched with water during a rainstorm, owing to a hole in the roof of the car and that he contracted a severe cold, which resulted in consumption.

Actual work on the Utah & Pacific, from Milford, Utah, west to the state line, a distance of seventy-five miles, was begun at Milford, October 3, and is now in progress.

The contract calls for the completion of one-half mile of track each day and it is expected to have the line ready for operation from Milford west thirty-five miles by December 15 and to the state line by April 15 of next year.

GUNS OF HISTORIC INTEREST

Two Cannon at the Exposition Which Have Had a Varied Experience in the Fortunes of War.

Ten splendidly wrought brass cannon from Santiago de Cuba have recently been placed in position near the front of the Government building. An expert has examined them and pronounced them remarkably fine specimens of ancient cannon. They were all manufactured in the gun factory of Douay, France, long before its name was changed to Lille.

BUILDER OF LINCOLN CAR DIES

W. H. H. Price, Who Was Foreman of the Government's Car Shops.

W. H. H. Price, the last of the builders of the old Lincoln car, now exhibited at the Transmississippi Exposition by the Union Pacific railroad, died at his home near Fort McPherson, Ga., on October 8. It had been his hope to visit the exposition and again see the historic relic that he helped to build, but during his illness of the last weeks he was unable to do so.

BURGLARS CONFESS GUILT

Sam Maza, Fred Schneider and Edward Knott Own Up to Their Raids on the Clothing Store.

Sam Maza, Fred Schneider and Edward Knott, the young men who were arrested early yesterday morning for the burglary of the United States Clothing company, 1415 Douglas street, weakened during the afternoon and confessed their guilt to the police captain. They admitted that they had broken into the store on ten different occasions and had carried away, altogether, a large amount of goods.

He reported his suspicion at the police station and Detectives Dillon and Welsenberg were detailed to spend a portion of each night in the store. For several nights they watched without discovering anything wrong, but early yesterday morning they heard an upper window softly swing open. The window is about ten feet from the floor and is hung on a hinge opening upon an outer staircase.

The third man, Sam Maza, made his escape and was not apprehended until 6 a. m. He was known to be on intimate terms with the captured burglars and was implicated in a burglary last winter which occurred at the fruit stand on Sixteenth and Harney streets. All the robbers are under 20 years of age.

BOUND TO SEE IT ALL

extended program carried out on North Dakota day, Commissioner Powers will deliver an address, which will probably be responded to by some of the exposition officials. In addition to the exercises, North Dakota wheat will be featured in a way that is entirely new. Miss Ford, secretary to the commission, will superintend the culinary department and will serve warm biscuits to all who attend. The biscuits will be made of North Dakota No. 1 hard wheat and will be buttered with butter from the creameries of the state.

MAP OF SIXTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What a Geographer Knew of the United States in 1833.

While it is not an exact reproduction of the most interesting things seen at the exposition showing the development of the transmississippi country is an old map of the United States, owned by Gilbert E. Purdie, publisher of the Tioga County Herald, Newark Valley, N. Y. Mr. Purdie was at the exposition last week on his way home from a visit with relatives in the western portion of Nebraska and while there he secured this old map. The map is of date 1833 and was published by J. Carpenter of New York City. It is in colors, and prays for an opportunity to visit the exhibit of his father's map, where they might handle a real hot pitchfork. The weather had little or no effect upon the illusions and the people who played the parts appeared to be just as happy as they were last July.

COMPLIMENTS CAPTAIN MERRER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 14.—To the Editor of The Bee: Considering the many notices which will have appeared in your valuable paper with reference to the Indians, your note on "New Yorkers Saw Indians in Sham Battle" was concise and to the point. Expressing my own opinion, I must say it was highly interesting as well as instructive, it being only a question of time when we will be no longer favored by the presence of these aborigines.

ONE OF THE NEW YORKERS

There remains but one more butter scoring contest before the close of the exposition. The Miami and Chicago butter shows of the last week of the month and the indications are that there will be more butter exhibited at that time than upon any former occasion. This is due to the fact that the cooler weather is favorable for good butter making and also to the manner in which the butter shows at a scoring is purchased by some local dealer, who will pay from 1 to 2 cents above the top market price and not ask any questions regarding quality or quantity.

NEBRASKA DAY PROGRAM

The following program is announced for the Nebraska day exercises on Wednesday, August 18. The program will consist of a band concert, a choir, a quartet, a solo, a vocal solo, a happy day, a rustic dance, a Christian sister, a prayer, and a benediction. The program will be tendered to Governor Holcomb and staff at the Nebraska building, at which a musical program will be rendered and Nebraska apples will be distributed free at the Horticultural building during the day.

WHAT THIS WEEK'S DAYS PROMISE

Several Very Interesting Events on the Program for the Exhibition.

Although the Jubilee week of the exposition is past, there is no indication that public interest will abate. The remaining days are amply provided with features of wide and commanding interest and with the certainty of low railroad rates, they have been made at any time since the show opened, the management is confident that nothing but the most severe weather can prevent the last two weeks from being one of the most profitable periods of the exposition. During the present week, the program offers every incentive to local attendance. The low railroad rates will leave no excuse for anyone to stay away and they will undoubtedly bring thousands of people for a second visit. From now on it will be nearly as cheap to come to the exposition as to remain at home and the big show will not be a dead issue until the gates close early on the morning of November 1.

LOCAL BREVITIES

The receipts of the cafe at the Boys' and Girls' building on Wednesday of this week, Nebraska day, will be turned over to the treasurer of the Old Ladies' home and the children's home of this city.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

On the night of August 15 the city council passed an ordinance granting a twenty-five years' franchise to the Omaha Gas company. It was stated at that time by representatives of the company that work would commence inside of thirty days and that customers would be supplied before cold weather set in. It is now two months since the passage of the ordinance and not a trench has been dug.

Prior to the passage of the last ordinance representatives of the Citizens' Gas company obtained an injunction against the Omaha Gas company on the ground that the franchise of the latter company was defective. From what can be learned it appears that this injunction still holds until the supreme court decides the case, even though a new franchise were obtained. By the terms of the injunction the Omaha Gas company was restrained from opening streets or laying mains here, so that until this case comes up for a final hearing there is little likelihood of the Omaha company commencing operations. Officers of the Citizens' Gas company are not prepared to commence work just now and the chances are that it will be some time before the stores on N street are illuminated with gas.

The recent improvements at the local electric light plant have improved this service so much that a great many people have lost interest in the gas problem.

REPAIRING TWENTY-FOURTH STREET.

Repairs to the asphalt pavement on Twenty-fourth street are progressing rapidly. While the weather has been almost too cool for the successful laying of asphalt, the work done so far has been entirely satisfactory to the city engineer. Acting under instruction from the city council Engineer Boal inspected the work several times a day. Not only does he do this, but he has followed the places on the pavement which must be repaired. When this work is completed and accepted by the city it is thought that the $9,000 guaranty will be released. Barret and some other members of the council favor demanding an extension of the guaranty for the reason that a portion of the pavement was laid too hard, consequently it will not wear as long as that laid with more oil. The stretch of pavement particularly complained of is on the west side of Twenty-fourth street from A to J streets. An effort will be made, it is understood, to have the paving company agree to extend the guaranty on this stretch or else take it up and relay it next spring.

CALLS ATTENTION TO STOCK YARDS.

The stock yard company is sending out hundreds of postal cards to stockmen all over the west calling attention to the stock show at the exposition. Particular mention is made of the special price of $1,000 which has been offered by Manager Kenyon for the best bacon hog. These hogs will be judged from a packer's standpoint by buyers from the stock yards. A long-bodied, thin hog, weighing in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, is the kind of an animal required to produce lean bacon and small lean hams. The demand for this kind of meat is constantly on the increase and an effort is being made to induce hog raisers in this section to breed this kind of an animal. Twenty-one raisers of bacon hogs have exhibits at the exposition and the display is considered an exceptionally good one.

HOSPITAL REPORT.

Mrs. John L. Martin, secretary of the South Omaha Hospital association, has issued a report showing the donations for August and September and also the number of patients received and discharged. Armour & Co. sent a check for $114.75 to pay for the treatment of patients from January 1 to the end of September and Manager Kenyon of the stock yards company sent a donation of $50. Twelve patients were received in August and three discharged. In September six patients were received and nine discharged.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education is on the hills for tonight. It is expected that the contractors will formally turn the new building over to the board. In case this is done there may be some discussion about the liability for the delay. Certain members of the board hold that the contractors can be held for $10 per day for each day's delay since September 12, while others do not think this is possible owing to the fact that no bonus was offered the builders. Most of the new seats are in position and it is thought that all of the new rooms will be ready today or tomorrow.

MURDER NEAR GLENDALE.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—Near Glendale today James Donovan, aged 22, was murdered by William Ceraus, aged 22. They had been drinking together in Glendale and when they returned to Ceraus' country home Donovan became very disorderly, finally assaulting Ceraus, when the latter shot him dead.

CHLOROFORM CAUSES HIS DEATH.

Dr. Schindel and Davis held an autopsy on the remains of Arthur Shriver Saturday night. While the opinion of the physicians will not be given out officially until the inquest today it is understood that death was caused by an overdose of chloroform.

There was not one square inch of skin on his body unaffected. He was one mass of sores, and the doctors were faithful. In removing the bandages they would take the skin with them, and the poor child's screams were heart-breaking. After the second application of SHEDSKIN (ointment) I saw signs of improvement, and the sores to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but now he is entirely cured.
