No. 19335. Wigton against Smith. Reversed. Error from Madison county. Harrison, C. J.

1. A petition filed in this cause held to be a declaration against the individual members of a firm and not against the partnership. Hanna against Emerson, 45 Neb., 708.

2. The suit was instituted against the partnership and during its pendency a petition was filed in which the suit was changed to one against the individual members of the firm. Held, that the prior pleadings were of no further effect and there was an abandonment or a discontinuance of the action against the firm. The time within which an action on the claim might be instituted had expired at the time of the occurrences above set forth, a subsequent amendment of the petition to make it run against the firm was ineffectual and the bar of the statute of limitations a forceful defense as against this last petition.

sequent amendment of the petition is make it run against the firm was ineffectual and the bar of the statute of limitations a forceful defense as against this last petition.
