Canny Scots Pay Due Homage to Memory of Their Native Bard.

ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH OF ROBERT BURNS

Clan Stewart Holds Its Sixth Annual Banquet and Ball-Feast of Good Things and Music of the Pipers. While Scotchmen live and periods roll, And this his natal day returns; While lightnings flash from pole to pole, Shall live the name of Robert Burns.

Thus spoke Clansman A. C. Graham as he bade a welcome to the guests last night at the sixth annual banquet and ball of Clan Stewart, No. 123, Order of Scottish Clans, in celebration of the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the birthday of their native bard, "Bobbie" Burns,

The banquet, which was attended by some 200 members of the clan and their families and friends, was held in Royal Arcanum hall, which was beautifully and elaborately decorated for the occasion with palms and potted ferns and other plants. The guests were seated at three long tables and during the serving of the banquet music was furnished by Albin Huster's orchestra.

After an elaborate menu had been enjoyed a program of addresses and music was carried out, A. Whitelaw, chieftain of the clan, acting as toastmaster.

H. J. Chambers had been assigned the principal address of the evening, his subject being, "Memory of Burns." He said in "Primarily, without undertaking to speak with learning and speaking only from the impulse of my own heart by putting myself in his place, i should say the average Scotchman would love Burns much for the same reason and in the same manner as he would cherish the name and memory of William Wallace. Both were deeply patriotic, both were efficacious and effective in upholding the liberty and light of their much beloved country. The highest ambition of either was to do his country's service. The same spirit that burnished the sword of Wallace inspired the pen of Burns.

Scotland loved Burns because Burns loved Scotland. And it may go without saying that every true Scotchman would devoutly love the man whose poetle genius bade him sing the loves, the joys, the rural scenes and rural pleasures of his own native tongue, and who in response to that calling. as he himself says, turned his wild, artless notes as she inspired.

"Viewed from a purely patriotic standpoint, then, the memory of Robert Burns inspired the loftiest panegyric and praise. Oh. there can be no wonder that the name of Robert Burns carries with it a halo of glory! No wonder that with the bare mention of his name every true son and daughter of Scotland is quickened to love! No wonder that it carries with it the loftiest praise from all nations and peoples wherever the philosophy of his songs has been heard!

Dr. F. C. Clark received word of the And 'as long as life hath sorrows and as UP IN UNITED STATES COURT. the name of Robert Burns be remembered

MATTERS IN DISTRICT COURT.

Guardian Affairs Occupy Some 01 Judge Smith's Time. The hearing in the matter of the estate of the late Jonathan Heywood of Garner township was continued yesterday in the district court by Judge Smith to enable the attorneys to file briefs. Seven law questions were raised in the demurrer to the plaintiff's petition and the judge stated he did not wish to pass on them off-handed, so instructed the attorneys to file briefs. Hon. L. F. Potter of Oakland, Ia., was appointed guardian of Johanna Svensdotter, an insane person living in Sweden who is heir to part of the estate left by John Lawson, who committed suicide in Omaha about a year ago. Two other sisters live in Minnesota. Lawson at the time of his death owned a large farm in Belknap township in this county and a quarter section of land in Texas, in addition to over $1,000 of personal property. He had just returned from Texas when he died by his own hand in Omaha. The estate is one of those that is subject to the collateral inheritance tax. The application for the appointment of a permanent guardian for Fritz Meyer was overruled. Meyer a few months ago was sent to the hospital as being insane, but becoming cured was recently discharged. At the time his brother, Henry Meyer, was appointed his temporary guardian and his final report as such was submitted and approved yesterday and he was discharged. The administrator of the estate of the late L. M. Aylesworth was allowed by order of the court $200 a year for his services and was granted permission to creet a monument over the grave of Ayleaworth at a cost not exceeding $300.

The administrator of the estate of the late Thomas Filling was authorized to sell the real estate.

Day & Hess made application for an order directing the county treasurer to pay them $56.39 on a judgment they had secured in 1893 against the incorporated town of Manawa. This sum they claim has come into the hands of County Treasurer Arnd since the incorporation of the town was dissolved. Their judgment was for $219. Judge Thornell will arrive this morning and preside for the balance of the term. The case of Baughn, executor, against Bealey and others is the first on the assignment for trial today. The grand jury is still grinding away, but is expected to make a partial report some time today.

M. W. FALL, ALJEIA, September 25, 1897. For seventeen years past I had been af-flicted with schatica and suffered every-thing. In trying to get relief I have gond to one doctor after another, the best I could learn of In Chicago and elsewhere, but found nothing to do me any good to amount to anything until I came to Dr. M. W. Balley, Osteopath, His first treatment helped me perceptibly and after eight treat-ments I feel so nearly well that I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Balley and Osteopathy. All suffering humanity should know about and try it.
