Some Historical Excerpts. The history of this attempt at insurance session duplicate bills were introduced in the house and senate. The senate bill, S. F. 74, was introduced by Mr. Talbot on the 16th of January. At that time he claimed effort is now being made to defeat H. R. to be much in favor of the measure, and upon him was based the principal hope of are, and to do this the insurance lobby and those interested in getting the law passed. the officials from the state auditor's office. From this time on Senator Talbot's real to have his insurance bill passed cooled He readily saw that it would be well to shelve the senate bill and give the full right of way to the duplicate being considered in the house, although he still assured the vailed friends of H. R. 191 that he was with them heart and soul.

Delayed in Committee.

When the Weaver bill reached the senate after having passed the house by an almost unanimous vote it was delayed in the committee through the efforts of senators who had formerly said they were in favor of the immediate passage of such a measure. A strong fight was made to have the bill so lets are the best and most effectual cure amended as to be practically valueless as a revenue producer, and a stronger fight is now being made to have the bill killed.

The presence of the insurance lobby is having a strange effect on some members. Some whose political ambitions reach beyoud the confines of a mere representative reptitious appointments with prominent insurance men, and in more than one case an of the bill with its friends has been forgotten by the senator who went instead to fill a date with some member of the insurance lopby

The wiff of the insurance men and the auditor is becoming so open as to challenge the attention of the members not in the combine, and it is quite probable that when the Weaver bill comes up in committee of the whole next Monday there will be a prompt move to restore it to its original form and recommend it for immediate passage. Whether enough members have been hypnotized into a state where they are ready to favor the mutilated bill, or ready to vote for the defeat of the whole measure.
