Other Southern Colonies Anxious to Effect Similar Arrangement-Terms of Convention Not Yet Announced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16 .- A reclrocity treaty between the United States and Great Britain in relation to trade between this country and the British colony of the Barbadoes was signed at the Department of State today by the representatives of the two governments. It is the first treaty framed under the Dingley law, and the first of the series of treaties which the British colonies to the south of this country are seeking to effect. John A. Kasson, special reciprocity plenipotentiary, signed for the United States and the British charge l'affaires, Mr. Tower, for Great Britain. The treaty is made for the term of five rears, with provision for an extension unless ither party should renounce it in the meantime. It is made strictly within the terms the section of the Dingley law which provides for a reduction of not more than 20 per cent of the regular duties on goods, wares and merchandise which may be agreed upon in relation to the reciprocal reductions given by other countries. The section is rather more pronounced than for some 0 per cent of the regular duties on goods, further permite goods to be taken from the dutiable list and placed on the free list. also for placing of goods on the free list for a term of years.

The act provides that the treaty is to be made by the president, by and with the consent of the senate and a clause is added that the reduced duties are to apply when such treaty shall have been duly ratified by the senate and "approved by congress." small and equally divided between buying by the senate and "approved by congress." Because this convention is a treaty and not a mere reciprocity arrangement and consequently like all treaties must be submitted to the United States senate for its erties. approval, the State department is precluded from making public its terms. Therefore, it is not possible to give with more than an approximate degree of accuracy the scope of the Instrument.

Articles Affected by Trenty. Articles Affected by Trenty.

In particular the department desires to addressed the newsboys in St. Louis, Inavoid the discussion of special articles included, as this is likely to lead to controversy. The information received from official quarters has shown that the chief articles of export from Barbadoes to the United States are sugar, molasses and maujak, the latter being a pitch much like asphalt. Sugar is the chief product of the islands and the chief export to this country, the trade last year reaching $2,038,610. The chief articles sent to the Barbadoes from the United States are foodstuffs, mainly flour, corn meal, salt beef, bacon, pork, bread and corn. The islands depend almost entirely on this country for their food supply. On the other hand they have been getting their manufactured goods almost exclusively from England. Our consuls have called attention recently to the market in the Barbadoes for canned goods, butter, preserves, cement, bicycles and carriages and electrical equipments. The treaty relating to British Guiana is absolutely about ready to be signed, all the essential features having been agreed upon. The negotiations have proceeded so far that one of the commissioners from Guiana, Mr. De Jongs, has departed, Sir Cavendish Boyle remaining to wind up the matter. The Jamaican negotiations began today and the officials express hopes that results may be secured as to this colony at an early day.
