INCREASING INTEREST IN ATHLETICS

Princeton's Track Team Contemplates Participating in the Olympic Games at the Paris Exposition in 1900.

For over a week the crimson of Harvard and the blue of Yale have both waved over the waters of the Thames and interest in the increase for the final struggle, to take place June 25.

The one question now to be settled is whether the Harvard eight is as fast as the crew that Yale sent to the Thames.

There has been some chance for comparison, as the same crew which has formerly obtained has been related somewhat.

Roughly speaking, Yale has the best of it as far as 'Varsity is concerned, but the Harvard four-oared crew is rowing in much better form than their rivals.

It is a conservative statement that Yale had not so nervous a race in 1893 as the condition of their crew. The Yale eight up to date has not shown any remarkable speed.

The crew, in a word, is not up to the expectations of the coaches. The coaches had expected a great deal of this eight, first, because it is a veteran eight, and second, because it has received some coaching.

The Harvard eight is a big crew of young men and the Yale eight is a crew of young giants. The Yale men have had more experience in rowing than the Harvard and they look like veterans.

Every man in the Yale boat, with the exception of Brown, No. 2, has rowed in a 'Varsity eight. Brown was a member of last year's freshman crew and of the 'Varsity foot ball team of the last two seasons.

There is not a man in either boat who has any physical imperfection. The two eights are remarkable in the physical development of the men. Both crews are trained down very fine, and if the men were not fine types of athletes, they would undoubtedly have been many cases of overtraining before this.

There will be much less difference noted in the styles of rowing exhibited by the two crews in this year's race. Harvard has this year modified the English rigging, so that it is almost the same as Yale's rigging. Both crews are using the narrow-bladed English oars and both have gone back to the American method of rigging the slides directly over the keelson.

The Harvard crew has discarded the old-fashioned English tholepins, and has returned to the swivel oarlocks, which all Americans use. Harvard has lengthened out her slides from sixteen to eighteen inches, while Yale has lengthened hers from sixteen to seventeen inches.

Several wealthy alumni of Princeton have conceived the idea of sending a track team to Paris to compete in the Olympic games next summer. They do this with the hope of boomerang a class of sport which has been admittedly weak at the Tiger college.

Princeton scores 29 points, while this '98 Princeton only 11 points were secured.

The track management announces that the preliminary games will include gymnastic, fencing, aquatics, bicycling, polo, climbing, archery and skating; field races consisting of distances of 100, 400, 800 and 1,500 meters; broad and high jumps, pole vault, shot, discus and hammer events, in all of which Princeton will be represented.

There is an extraordinary interest being manifested among sports and men of all callings over the coming of the new heavyweight champion of the world, Jim J. Jeffries. He will be at Boyd's opera house Tuesday evening and the prospects are that the theater will be taxed to its fullest capacity. While everybody wants to see the man who lowered the colors of Bob Fitzsimmons. The show, while it will be a mighty interesting one, will be of short duration. Jeffries will box four rounds with Jim Daly and illustrate his fight with Fitz.

Proceeding this there will be a six-round bout between Paul Murray, the middleweight, and a big unknown from Indianapolis.

The success of the Omaha High school team in its recent game at Tarkio shows that there was no excuse for the High school not having a team in the field all year. With two first-class pitchers and several good hitters they would have been fairly successful against all the neighboring teams, and probably have made a good record for themselves instead of letting base ball take a backward leap as was done.

On June 30 at the League of American Wheelmen's meet and Cyclists' carnival at Pachelomee, Long Island, an attempt will be made by Charlie Murphy to ride a bicycle a mile in less than one minute behind a railroad locomotive. The referee has been made at St. Louis in '93 by E. E. Anderson, but he failed by about three seconds, his time being 1:03. The engine will draw one car, to the rear platform of which will be attached a specially constructed wind shield, and the platform of the car will be hoisted, and a broad white line painted to guide the rider. The timers will be men well known in the cycling world for their efficiency in this line. To prevent any possibility of error in either start or finish, the crossing of the lines will be announced by an electric bell sounded by a specially designed striker. The track will be planked between the rails with smooth-surfaced boards for a distance of two miles, three-quarters of this for the start, the measured mile, and one-quarter for the finish.

The next contest of importance in the pugilistic world will be the fight between George (Kid) Lavigne, the champion lightweight of the world, and Frank Erne. Both men are now in training and the battle will take place at the Hawthorne Athletic club's city limits. This is the place where James J. Corbett and Kid McCoy were to have fought last September. It is a mammoth affair, seating nearly 15,000 persons, and is likely to be billed when the two best men in the lightweight division get together next month.

Reports from Lavigne's quarters at Oceanic, N. J., are to the effect that the champion is already to weight and that he is doing his work at his own private gymnasium, and he has introduced a new system of training. He does his work between the hours of 4 and 8 in the morning and 7 and 8 in the evening. During the heated part of the day he lounges about in the gymnasium in the orchard in the rear.

The Hawthorne Athletic club is giving a prize purse of $7,500 for this battle. Fitzsimmons is still the middleweight champion of the world, although this may be slight consolation for a man who so recently lost the heavyweight laurels. Should Fitz adhere to his determination to retire from the pugilistic arena the middleweight title would be claimed by McCoy, who has time and again asserted his willingness to defend the title against all comers. This, of course, brings Tommy Ryan to the front again, with a challenge to again meet the Kid to battle for the honors.

It is at the present time in the best of condition as he has been training right along with Jeffries for several weeks. The Syracuse boxer was very seriously disappointed over the falling through of his match with Mysterious Billy Smith, which was to have taken place June 14. Smith was overcome with the heat while training with Jeffries.

The next big mill for the heavyweight championship will be the Jeffries-Sharkey go which W. A. Brady and Tom O'Rourke, representing James Jeffries and Jim Sharkey respectively, have arranged for October 23. The fighters agree for a contest for the championship of the world under the following conditions:

Contest shall be twenty-five rounds for a decision and shall take place on October 23, 1899. The principals agree to accept the best inducements offered before midnight September 1, 1899, and if held in New York the contest is to be strictly under the interpretation of the Marquis of Queensberry rules and the men shall be permitted to fight with one hand free, each protecting himself in the breakaway. They are to part as the command of the referee. Soft bandages are to be allowed, but they must be satisfactory to the referee and the opposing principal.

The gloves shall not weigh less than five ounces and each principal shall be permitted to furnish his own gloves, which are to be turned to the referee for his approval at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight and to remain in his custody until the men enter the ring.

The official timekeeper of the club must be satisfactory to both principals and each contestant will be allowed one timekeeper. George Sibley was agreed upon as referee. The winner shall take the entire purse.

The agreement provides that if either man shall suffer a defeat between now and the time of the acceptance of the purse the match will be canceled off. After the club articles are signed neither man shall engage in any contest except with his sparring partner or shall forfeit the amount he has deposited.

On the signing of these articles each man shall post $2,500 with Al Smith, who shall be the final stakeholder, said forfeit to stand as a guarantee of good faith and to be paid to the contestant who has lived up to this agreement. The club securing the contest shall not $5,000 to be divided between the two men in case the club fails to fulfill the contract. Each fighter agrees to post $5,000 in all, which is to be forfeited in case of the failure to live up to these and the club's articles. This forfeit of $5,000 will be divided between the club and the principal who has lived up to the agreement. Bids for the contest are to be made to Matt Clum and they must be accompanied by cash deposit or a certified check for $2,500. The club will be required to post $2,500 additional when the contestants sign their club articles. The parties mutually agree to contest at Omaha. The referee shall have the power to decide any and all points which may arise that are not covered by these articles of agreement.

It is agreed that if the contest takes place at Lenox Athletic club on the Congo island below the platform of the race will be hoisted, and a broad white line painted to guide the rider. The timers will be men well known in the cycling world for their efficiency in this line. To prevent any possibility of error in either start or finish, the crossing of the lines will be announced by an electric bell sounded by a specially designed striker. The track will be planked between the rails with smooth-surfaced boards for a distance of two miles, three-quarters of this for the start, the measured mile, and one-quarter for the finish.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SUNDAY, JUNE 25, 1899.

Prospects Bright for the Fourth of July with Denver.

The Omaha Cricketer club will play two games with Denver on Monday, July 3. The first will be pitched promptly at 11 p. m. On July 4 the game will commence at 10:30 and continue, with an interval for lunch, till 3:30 p. m.

The indications point to Denver being a very strong batting team, but the bowlers will be proportionately weak. The advent of the great Gloucestershire player, Fairbanks, has infused no end of confidence into the Colorado men, but Taylor has not yet got over the reverse, sustained by the local men in Denver, and it is determined will go for anything he will knock them off his own bat.

Captain Francis having gone east, the plotting of the Omaha men will devolve upon the Professor. Responsibility of this sort seems to suit the player from our sister city across the water, if we may judge from recent performance. It is well, too, that he should be broken in before the more important contests in Winnipeg.

Perhaps it is well to state that admission to the Emmett street grounds will be free and that women will find ample shade in the well appointed pavilion of the club.

The following, taken from the Winnipeg Free Press, will be of interest to club members: "Judging by the correspondence read at the meeting of the local executive last night, it is evident that our friends below the line intend bringing up a team of great promise to take home with them the international championship. Omaha especially will have a strong aggregation of cricketers. Local men, however, are confident of getting together a thoroughly representative Manitoba team which will put up a great game. The prospect is bright, and it is not surprising that the Omaha men are already signifying their intention of being present and other well known provincial cricketers are in training for the honor of representing the Manitoba wilderness against the attack of the willow-wielders of the states.

At last night's meeting details were advanced another step. The boundaries on both grounds will be indicated by flags and lime-marked lines. Particular attention is being paid to the preparation of the woad and no detail will be neglected that would in the least add to a first-class exhibition of the game."

ABOUT HORSESAH HORSEMAN

News Notes and Comment on Those Who Are Interested in Pacers and Trotters.

The old rivals, Mascon and Hal Pointer, met at Geneva, N. Y., last week, in the free-for-all, and Mascon won the race, one heat being paced in 2:13 1/4. After finishing last in the first heat Hal Pointer was drawn.

The directors of the Kansas City Driving Park association have purchased a tract of land containing thirty-seven and one-half acres, situated between Tracy and Woodland avenues and Forty-fifth and Forty-seventh streets.

The Columbus (O.) Grand Circuit meeting program carries a cool $40,000, every cent of which will be paid to the horsemen, as soon as won. For the added class purses the Columbus association sticks to the old plan of races, three in five, but the purses are $2,000 right through. There are nine of these newly announced $2,000 purses, for trotters and pacers, with $1,000 reserved for specials. Not a single purse offered at this meeting is for a less amount than $2,000, and as the Columbus track is one of the finest ever made, the meeting there this year will doubtless be one of the best of the Grand Circuit series.

The Kentucky Futurity to be decided this season has sixty-nine entries, while the Transylvania has twenty.

The stables of the Keystone Stock farm were recently moved to Dubuque to train for the approaching races.

Davenport and Independence, Ia., and Joliet, Ill., failed to secure entries for their early-losing stakes, which shows that there is a scarcity of light harness horses, or else that the owners have decided to race their horses on eastern tracks. In view of this condition it is evident that easy money awaits these owners who are going to race on tracks in the west.

Bob Kneeb's working his way back to the track and has quite a string of trotters and pacers at Riverside Park, S. D., which he expects to race this fall.

The Missouri State fair will be held at Sedalia this year, and a great deal of attention will be paid to the speed part of the show.

BRIEF BASE BALL GOSSIP

Amateur Base Ball is Having Quite a Boost in Omaha and Vicinity.

The St. Louis team had hard luck on its recent eastern tour, as it had to play in a badly crippled condition against some of the best clubs. In spite of this they won four out of ten games.

A double-header will be played today at St. Louis between Cleveland, New York and Louisville. A special will run over from Cleveland, carrying both teams, besides a number of Cleveland fans.

The permission was asked from the War department to erect a grandstand to accommodate the great crowds that weekly congregated at old Park streets, and the baseball team play with the other local and territorial organizations. Last week the crowd was so large as to almost interfere with the players, and it is to remedy this that Mogy has decided to build the stand.

The game for this afternoon is between Metz Bros. and the Yukon Grid. The Originals have been reorganized under the name of the Omaha Brewing association team, with Buck Keith as manager, and have secured the old Nonpareil park, at Fifteenth and Vinton streets, as their grounds. Games will be played every Sunday. The best of order will be preserved, and as the grand stand is shaded by a row of big trees in the afternoon, it makes a very comfortable place to view a game of amateur ball. Today Keith's team will meet the Armour team from South Omaha. It is said that the Armour team has several of Chicago's crack amateurs who have come over to work at the Armour plant.

Considerable opposition is being aroused to the manager in the players of the National League are reserved. President Hart of the Chicago club proposes a radical change. His plan is to have players released at regular intervals by all clubs, so that each team can have a chance to get the good men at a reasonable price. Then there would be no monopoly of stars as there is at present, and no such condition of affairs could exist as that which now makes it possible for one club to win the pennant year after year, because it can buy the best players through exchange or sale without its own consent. "I would have players serve one club for a regular term of years," said Mr. Hurt, "and then I would so arrange matters that they could be released and be at the disposal of other organizations. Five

Problem No. 61 from the Literary Digest, an end-game from actual play between A. S. Stepanov (White), the Russian expert, and an amateur. The game had reached the position below with White a piece, player 1 B x K P. If White captures the R he loses B x P. If B moves he loses the R, and if B moves he loses the B. The play proceeded:

(a) Kt-K4 is usual; B-Q x P ch. Kt-K3 (b) Why not B x P? (c) It seems that Black might have pushed his advantage and won this game after the tenth move.
