

ALL WILL SOON BE SERENE

Announcement that Chicago-St. Paul Roads Will Join Passenger Association.

PASSENGER RATES WILL THEN BE FIRM

Lines Expected to Join by August 21. When Meeting to Fillicate Event and Transact Business Will Be Held.

"From inside sources," said the general passenger agent of one of the Omaha roads, "I have learned that the Chicago Great Western, Wisconsin Central and Minneapolis & St. Louis roads will very soon join the Western Passenger association, and by so doing will bring into the association every line of any consequence operating in the west and northwest."

Information to this effect has been awaited by railroad men here, especially officials of the Burlington, Northwestern and Milwaukee, for some time and the announcement now made that the desired end is soon to be reached is indeed gratifying. Passenger circles throughout the west have been perturbed ever since the organization of the association because of the failure of a few roads to enter into an agreement. One by one all the lines have joined, until only these three remained out, and great pressure has been brought to bear upon them. As long as they have been out of the association there has been a feeling of unrest and uncertainty among the roads belonging to the association, whose lines operated in the same territory covered by these roads. Rates between Chicago, St. Paul and the northwest were especially unstable, and there was but little question that cutting and slashing was going on among the lines having no agreement. Of course, the lines in the association had no recourse except to use every endeavor to win the consent of the officers of the outside lines to join the combine, and there is no doubt that success has at last crowned their efforts. The three lines above mentioned—the Chicago Great Western, Wisconsin Central and Minneapolis & St. Louis—were at first treated with some contempt by the older roads, and the impression was created that they were considered as weak lines. They demonstrated the fact, however, that by lowering the rates they could get and, apparently, satisfactorily handle the business. It is now expected that a change of tactics, and not until this change was brought about and the roads treated with the same courtesy as the old established lines was there any indication of drawing the lines into a satisfactory agreement.

SWEARS HE WAS HELD UP

Iowa Man Has an Exciting Experience in the Tenderloin District Friday Night.

Svend Aargaard of Cedar Falls, Ia., tells the police that he was relieved of about $25 in cash Friday night in an alley on Ninth street between Douglas and Farnam. He exhibits some pretty ugly cuts in his clothing, which he says were made during the mixup. His coat is cut in two places, a large circular cut having been made under the right arm and a long slash on the right side. The hip pocket of his trousers is cut open and there is a long incision down the left leg. He says that he was drinking Friday night and remained up town until after 10 o'clock. He then went to a saloon on Ninth street. After he had gone a few steps he avers that a man accosted him and told him to come up the alley as he had something to tell him. Up the alley another man stepped out with a revolver and poking it into his face told him to throw his hands in the air, a proceeding that Aargaard was not slow to do. He claims that about $3 was taken from him. After this occurrence he lay down in the alley and went to sleep and did not awaken until about 8 o'clock. The officers are inclined to think that the story is a "pipe dream." They think the man was intoxicated and did not know what became of his cash. A watchman who is on duty in the alley says he did not see any men around there at the time the complaint avers that the transaction was taking place.

MOVE TO WELCOME THE SOLDIERS.

Union Pacific Official Suggests that Omaha Tenders a Reception. "The people of Pennsylvania, who have chartered a special train to carry the members of the Tenth Pennsylvania to their homes from San Francisco after their muster-out, have selected as the lines over which this train will run the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Northwestern and Pennsylvania," said an official of the Union Pacific passenger department. "It seems to me that it would be an appropriate and commendable thing for Omaha to give these soldiers a rousing welcome and reception as they pass through the city. If an arrangement could be made for a reception of this character our road would be only too glad to so arrange the scheduled time of the train that it would reach this city at a convenient hour and give sufficient time for a rousing reception."

HE BITES AT THE OLD BAIT

Takes a Check on Security and Lets a Confidence Man Have His Cash. Peter Hansen has lost faith in humanity and is suspicious of every man, woman and child in the universe. The cause of this loss of confidence results from an encounter he had Friday with a flashily dressed man who hired him to go to Norfolk as a watchman. He first met the man at Fifteenth and Douglas streets and he agreed to go to Norfolk. He said he would go over to Council Bluffs and draw what money was coming to him, go to South Omaha and pack his trunk and be ready to go in the afternoon. He came back and found his man waiting for him. This new employer had to go upstairs and pay some insurance before he went away. "How much money have you, Hansen?" asked the man. "I have $35," was the reply. "Well, let me take it until I can get this check for $450 cashed," said the man. "I will leave it with you as security." The confidence man then climbed the stairs and was the last seen of him. Hansen still has the check and the officers are looking for the flashily dressed stranger.

Walking Delegate Fares Badly at the Hands of William Schrum, a Plumber.

William Schrum, a plumber who works for John Roe & Co., at Fifteenth and Howard streets, was arraigned in police court yesterday upon the charge of assault and battery. A. H. Brown is the complaining witness and he states that he went to the place where Schrum was working Friday afternoon with a notification from the plumbers' union. He states that after he presented the letter Schrum struck him over the head with a club and kicked him after he was knocked down. It seems that there has been some trouble in the union and the notification directed Schrum to appear before the organization to answer to charges of violation of the rules. Schrum says that he had some words with Brown and that Brown jabbed at him with his umbrella.

RETAILERS IN THE CITY

Some of the Country Merchants Who Visited the Local Jobbers During the Week.

The first week of the retailers' excursion to the Omaha jobbing market brought in quite a number of country merchants and there is every indication that more of them will visit Omaha during the next thirty days than have taken advantage of any of the previous excursions. The feeling in the trade is the best that has been experienced in years and when the proprietors of small country stores drop in and buy bills of goods that run into four figures the jobbers are convinced that business in the small towns of Nebraska and Iowa is booming. Most of the visitors took time to visit the exposition during their stay and they all declared that their fall trade will be something unprecedented.

ONLY WAITING FOR A SITE

Big Agricultural Implement House Ready to Come to Omaha When a Building is Secured.

The prospective addition of one of the biggest implement establishments of Council Bluffs to Omaha jobbing interests has now become a certainty, contingent only on ability to secure a satisfactory building. Positive instructions have been received from the home office to locate in Omaha as soon as possible, and the local representatives of the company are now looking for a location. They want a four-story and basement brick building at least 65x125 feet, somewhere in the jobbing district. They are ready to buy the lots and put up their own building, or they will lease a satisfactory building for a long term if some local capitalist wants to build it. Any further information in regard to the matter can be obtained from Secretary Ut of the Commercial club.

In this connection there is a flattering prospect that another of the big implement houses across the river will follow into Omaha as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made. During the last two or three years the sale of agricultural implements in Nebraska has been something tremendous. The big firms are beginning to discover that Omaha is their natural market and that the jobber who is on this side of the river gets the first chance at the customer. The result is a general tendency to look for locations on the Nebraska side, and members of the Commercial club who are familiar with the situation assert that there is every reason to expect that Omaha will be the center of the implement trade of this section within another year.
