ONLY A LITTLE MISTAKE.

But it Caused an Uproar in Nine Rooms in the Hotel. "The other evening just before we changed watch." said the clerk at one of the hotels to the Times-Democrat, "a fat drummer came up and began figuring out his expense account for the day. He took the first piece of paper he could lay his hands on and didn't notice that it was the blank we use for keeping a memoranda for morning calls. The blank is arranged in columns headed by figures representing hours and half hours and he began his penciling in the 3:30 row. First he jotted down $1.50 for buggy hire, then 15 cents for stamps, 35 cents for carfare, $1.60 for express package, $1.10 for telegrams, 50 cents for a trunk strap, 5 cents for a paper and a quarter for messenger service. Down at the bottom, as an afterit, thinking to work it in somehow, I supclerk supposed, of course, that the calls had been left in the ordinary way and, while he was a little surprised at so many people wanting to get up at such an unearthly hour, he told the boys to wake Nos. 150, 15, 35, 160, 110, 50, 5 and 25 and carry a quart bot

It is expected that and chairs in front of the cafes in search of gar and cigarette ends, which they deftly harpoon by means of bent pins on the end of a stick, relates the Pall Mall Gazette. the megottiers, as they are called, are now about forty in number, bear strongly the trying to form a mutual protective syndicate. Their reason is that the police interfere with them too much, considering they are peaceable folk and that the craft, never a lucrative one, is thus rendered almost impossible. Such, it appears, is especially the case in summer, when the treets are clean and the best customers of the megottiers pick up their own tobacco. The fact that this is the bad season probably accounts for the present little agitation.

This singular trade occupies three classes of persons-the picker, the cleaner and the salesman. Everybody has seen the picker at work and observed how he combines begging therewith. In the evening the pickers meet at low wine shops in the Faubourg du Temple, where they find the cleaners awaiting them. Newspapers are spread on the tables and the cleaners set to work to undo the cigars and cigarettes. Meanwhile the pickers eat their bread and sausage and by spending three halfpence on a glass of wine obtain the right to sleep in the establish ment as best they can until 2 o'clock in the morning. At that hour the wine shops are But they open again at 3, when ooth pickers and cleaners enter and by ak ing another glass of wine each may sleep till the morning. During this interval or losing and opening the tobacco, put up in packets, has been handed over to the sales man, who disposes of it in workmen's quarters like the Place Maubert as the men pass on their way to work. The purchasers consist chiefly of masons, who all come from the country districts of Limousin and Creuse and are delighted to get a large packet of tobacco for 2-pence. There exist, moreover, real tobacco shopkeepers who purchase the vile stuff and mix it with good tobacco, the profits derived therefrom beng, naturally, considerable. This practice, however, does not exist to any great extent successful Scheme of a Novelty-Loving Man to Amuse His Friends. "I have a Chamber of Horrors at my lodgings," said a man about town, who takes great pride in his fantastically decorated apartments, to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "that has proven a tremendous hit with all callers. To be absolutely ac curate, it is a cabinet rather than a chamber, and consists primarity of an old cupboard. The history of the collection it con tains is somewhat peculiar, although it is not the history with which it is generally accredited. One day, when I was prowling around the place, I ran across a lot of old rubbish in the closet. It was such debris as old shoes, hats, broken crockery and so on and I was about to chuck it out, when I had an inspiration. I thereupon cleaned up the
