Resolved by Abe Lincoln post, No. 29. Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Iowa, That we deplore the loss of our friend and comrade, whose genial smiles and encouraging words always gave light and pleasure in our midst. He entered the service March 10, 1864, in Company A, One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Illinois Volunteer infantry, and faithfully performed every duty assigned, and this was the highest order of soldierly conduct. He resided many years in our midst and we miss him as a comrade and frierd and brother gone from us. We condole with his family and keenly feel their sad bereavement and tender them our heartfelt sympathy in their hours of loneliness in the absence of the loved husband and father whose life has been tenderly devoted to their comfort and happiness.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be duly certified and transmitted to the family as a token of our love and esteem for the departed and sympathy for the surviving members of his family.

ROSS GAVE ROBBER A CHASE

Plucky Conductor Follows Highwaymen Mr. Tinley as secretary. Until He is Shot Twice.

POLICE UNABLE TO SECURE ANY CLUE

J. D. Laird, from Exeter, In., Taken Into Custody Upon the Story of a Witness in Bootlegging Case-Ross' Wounds Not Serious.

The police have been upable to secure any clue that would lead to the identification or arrest of the two highwaymen who held up and shot Motor Conductor Ross about midnight Saturday in front of the Bloomer school building on Willow avenue. The two bullets which lodged in the back of Ross' right hand were extracted yesterday morning and, except for the soreness of the wound, he was very little the worse for his exciting adventure.

The particulars of the hold-up as told by Ross yesterday show that it was a most daring one. Ross was accompanying a lady friend home and had reached the Bloomer school when they were stopped by two men whose faces were partially disguised by handkerchiefs as masks, who ordered him to hold up his hands. He complied with the demand, as the shorter of the two men had him covered with a revolver. While the taller fellow went through his pockets the other thug kept Ross covered, the revolver being within a foot of his face.

After rifling his pockets and securing about $25 in money and his gold watch and comment. chain the thugs started west on Willow avenue on the run. Just as they started to run Ross' companion tore the handkerchief partly off the face of the robber with the gun and thus was able to get a good look at his face. She is certain she would be able to identify him if she ever saw him after them. At Eighth street the pair separated, the taller of the two turning south avenue. Ross followed the fellow who turned south and was close on his heels when he saw a man coming toward them. He called out to him to catch the robber and the man made a grab at the fleeing thug. The robber stumbled, but quickly regained his feet. Ross continued the chase and at the alley between Third and Fourth avenue was within a few feet of him when the fellow stopped, drew his revolver and fired point blank at Ross. Ross threw out are in one district, while several more are had been presented. Finally, we succeeded his hands and the two shots hit him in the in the other. It would simplify matters to matter was satisfactorily settled to the back of the right hand. A third shot went wild.

This satisfied Ross and he decided to take no more chances, but returned to where he had left his companion. He then went to a doctor to have his wounds dressed and after calling at the police station was taken to St. Bernard's hospital, where Dr. Seybert removed the two bullets, which were firmly lodged in the muscles of the hand. It was fortunate for Ross that he was holding his hands in the position he did when the thug fired or otherwise the bullets would have entered his body with probably far more serious results.

Officer George Wilson, who had been attracted by the shooting, trailed the fellow who shot Ross from Fourth avenue and Eighth street to the Sprague Iron works at Tenth avenue, where he caught sight of the range was too long and the officer's hog, weighing between 1,000 and 1,100 near the foundry, which are overgrown with sunflowers ten feet high, and emaped.

Yesterday morning Leigh Ballenger, a son of Attorney H. A. Ballenger, while passing along Willow avenue, picked up a $5 bill and 30 cents in small change, which the robbers had evidently dropped after starting to run. The money taken from Ross consisted of three $5 bills, one $5 gold piece and

The governor expressed himself as being satisfied with the result, adding "it was a pleasant, harmonious meeting except as to the part played therein by the governor of Iowa, who was unable to get away from partisan blas and refused to alay aside party prejudices long enough to discuss the subject in hand, upon broad political and patriotic lines." tion is being given to the formation in which has taken from his mine $50,000 in ore which the best ore was plowed out with team and Four Yachts Capsize. TOLEDO, O., Sept. 24.—Lake Erie this afternoon witnessed the worst storm of the season, the wind blowing at the rate of seventy miles an hour. The blow came up about 4 o'clock and continued for an hour. Four yachts were capsized near the Maumee bay and the crews were rescued with difficulty. Considerable damage to houses is reported in northwestern Ohio.
