Des Moines' Carnival Opens with Midway and a Circus-Christian Party Files Its Ticket-Reformers Meet.

DES MOINES, Oct. 2 .- (Special Teleram.) - State Labor Commissioner O'Bleness filed his blennial report with the governor today. The report shows that in factories employing more than five persons each 1,752 establishments employed 49,273 men and paid them $17,369,622, while in the fiscal year of 1898 1.625 establishments hired $5,429 employes and paid them $19,623,892; whereas in 1896 forty weeks was the average time the industries reporting were in operation. In 1897 those reporting were in operation forty-four weeks, while in 1898 they were in operation forty-five weeks. The statistics relating to strikes show that there were eighteen in 1897 and eleven in 1898 in Iowa, demonstrating the effect of good times. In both years 1,930 persons were involved and $112,854 was lost in wages. The report recommends co-operative railroading, such as is being tried in this state by the Illinois Central. The report recommends the publication by the state of a monthly labor bulletin.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURTS.

Several Defendants Indicted Arc Ar raigned and Plead Not Guilty.

The trial of the suit of J. F. Huntington against Attorney H J. Chambers was com menced yesterday afternoon in the district court before Judge Macy and a jury. Huntington sues for $779.23, being the amount of a promissory note and interest which the plaintiff alleges Chambers collected, deepite the fact that the note is his property. Huntington claims that the note, which was lighting the city. An attempt on the part for $500, was put by him as collateral with of Alderman Casper to couple with the mothe Kimball-Champ Investment company to secure a debt; that later he paid the debt but never received back the note, which port. The city clerk was instructed to rein some manner unknown to Huntington came into possession of the defendant. Huntfaith ington further alleges that for four years Chambers received interest on it from the maker and then collected the full amount The grand jury reconvened yesterday and at once got down to work on the business that had been left over from the previous session. The following defendants indicted the floor and said it was, in his opinion, not by the grand jury were arraigned and each necessary to have the tabulation read again, entered pleas of not guilty: James Cunningham, the negro charged with robbing lowest bid, and he believed that the council the houses of J.
