the stocks at Minicapolis and Duluth was reported and Snow in his report estimated the crop of wheat at 564,000,000 bushels, considerably over the government estimate. With these bearish items longs began to unload on the market and the price steadily declined. St. Louis, which for some days had been a strong support to the local market, let go of a long line. Less important liquidating was done by local and other outside traders. December declined to 72½c. There was some covering by shorts at the decline, and this and buying against puts caused a reaction in December to 72½c, but the liquidation was too general for the market to stand up under and December again declined to 72½72½c, at which it closed. May wheat ranged at 75½c to 764,076½c and closed at 75½c. Concago received 140 cars, 4 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth, 1,014, against 859 last week and 1,019 a year ago. Total primary receipts were 1,284,000 bushels, as compared with 1,771,000 bushels a year ago. Atlantic port clearances of wheat and flour amounted to 719,000 bushels a year ago. Atlantic port clearances of wheat and flour amounted to 719,000 bushels a year ago. The bigher price of the English market was taken as an evidence that the increase in freight rates will come out of British pockets rather than from here. The local price was helped by an impression quite generally prevailing that crop estimates have been too liberal. Owing to the scarcity of cars the shipping business was slow. Local receipts were 36 cars. New York reported 14 loads taken for export. December opened at 30½630½c, ranged from 30c to 20¼c and closed ¼c higher at 30½630¼c. The entire range was only ¼c. Receipts here were 261 cars. Clearances were 269,000

The market in general followed corn. The untire range was only \(\frac{1}{2} \)c. Receipts here were 261 cars. Clearances were 299,000 \)bushels. Snow put his estimate of the crop at \(859,000,000 \) bushels, compared with his estimate of 709,000,000 bushels last year. December ranged from \(23\)\(672\)\(3\)\(622\)\(6

Packers Maintaining Prices Though Hides Are Deteriorating.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Shoe and Leather Review tomorrow will say: About 89,000 hides were sold this week in Chicago and from the branch packing houses on the Missouri river. The packers are very strong in their views of values and, desplie the fact that hides are daily becoming longer-haired and less destrable, the prices on all selections are well sustained. Native sters are strong at 134c and Texans are held at 13c, with bids of 133c made and declined.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—WOOL—He Boston Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:
The activity in wool has continued throughout the week and the sales, which approach in volume those of last week, have been pretty well divided among the dealeig. The mills are still running to their full capacity and the steady consumption of the raw material keeps manufacturers steadily in the market, although they are less than a few weeks ago. The whole trend of values is still upward. London of other aw material keeps manufacturers of a little less eager buyers than a few weeks ago. Probably their immediate needs are less than a few weeks ago. The whole trend of values is still upward. London continues strong and our prices are not yet on a par with those prevailing there. Sales for the week are 5,364,169 pounds domestic and 628,000 pounds domestic and 12,635,900 pounds last week and a total of 5,897,000 pounds last week and a cotal of 1,961,000 pounds for the corresponding week last year. The sales to date show an increase of 122,372,100 pounds domestic and 12,635,900 foreign.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—COTTON—The market for cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 569 points and at no time during the day raillied to the close of yesterday, while the lowest point of the session halloss of 19 points was apparent. Large lines of cotton purchased around 6½c for January were liberated and more courageous bears aggressively attacked the market under the firm conviction that the backbone of the bull movement had been broken. Considerable cotton of the pyramid order came out from time to time. One prominent Wall street firm was reported to have sold nearly 50,000 bales under stop orders. Speculation was feverishly active with the market and at times very excited. The principal source of bear inspiration was the cable news announcing weakness in Liverpool, with prices at one time 3 12-64d lower. The market closed barely steady at a net loss of 16019 points.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—DRY GOODS—Demand continued good for all staple cottons. Some large bids were turned down today from converting and jobbing trades. Sellers were withdrawing from the market in important quarters. Brown sheetings and drills were not quoted higher, but previous prices declined in some instances. Three-yard drills sold at 54c, four-yard sheetings at 44c. But these were extreme prices. Regular print coths quieter. Demand for narrow and wide odd goods at full prices; bleached cottons strong; coarse colored cottons also strong. Staple prints firm. Burlans firmer than a week ago, but not quotably higher.
