SUPREME COURT SYLLABI

No. 900. Suit against Farmers' and Merchants' Insurance Company. Affirmed. Error from Lancaster County. SULLIVAN vs. FARMERS' AND MERCHANTS' INSURANCE COMPANY. When an application for an insurance policy is oral and no inquiry is made as to the character of the property to be insured, the property to be insured is presumed to be of the character of the property to be insured. The existence of incumbrances will not, in the absence of fraud, avoid the policy. A misrepresentation as to the amount insured, where the policy is conditioned that it will be void if the property is not insured for the full amount, is not a ground for rescission of the policy. The mischievous effect of giving an erroneous instruction to the jury is not sufficient to set aside a verdict. No presumption of law either concludes that a man is sane or that a woman had unmarital intercourse on a married man's bed. A jury might be authorized, in a proper case, to infer from the evidence an adulterous relationship from sporadic acts of a husband and wife. A husband and wife are presumed to be living together until the contrary is shown. A husband and wife are presumed to be living together until the contrary is shown. A husband and wife are presumed to be living together until the contrary is shown.
